Notice.

GOVERNMENT ESTATE SAHEBAN BAGICHA.

NOTICE is hereby given that the second instalment of rent due from the holdings of Government estate Saheban Bagicha falls due on the 28th March 1884. Any rent not paid on or before that date will be recovered by sale of the tenures themselves under Act XI of 1859.

The date of payment of the first instalment has been fixed to be the 28th September. No further notice regarding these dates will be given in future.

C. C. STEVENS, Collector.

24-Pergunnahs Collectorate, the 12th March 1884.

Notification.

IT is hereby notified for information of the public that a duplicate receipt for an amount exceeding Rs. 20 is liable to a stamp duty of one anna under Article 23 (a), Schedule I of Act I of 1879, and should, under section 16 of the Act, be stamped before or at the time of execution. If the duty payable on the duplicate receipt is denoted by an adhesive stamp, such stamp should be cancelled so that it cannot be used again. Any person signing a duplicate receipt when the amount exceeds Rs. 20 without the same being duly stamped, is liable to be criminally prosecuted under section 61, Act I of 1879, and punished with a fine which may extend to Rs. 500; and any person neglecting or omitting to effectually cancel the adhesive stamp and in payment of stamp duty renders himself liable to a fine which may extend to Rs. 100.

The attention of banking, mercantile, and trading community is especially drawn to the requirements of the law on this point.

G. M. GOODRICKE, Collector of Calcutta.

Calcutta Collectorate, the 13th September 1883.

Notification.

THE right of selling Non-judicial Stamps up to, and inclusive of, the value of Rs. 50, and Court-fee Stamps up to, and inclusive of, the value of Rs. 75, for the official year 1884-85 at the undermentioned places will be put up to auction at this office at 12 o'clock on Saturday, the 29th March 1884. The license for sale of Non-judicial Stamps, and those for sale of Court-fee Stamps, will be separately sold—

High Court, Original Side.
„ „ Appellate Side.
Calcutta Collectorate.
Custom House.
Police Court.

The vendors who may be appointed will be allowed the usual discount on all purchases made by them from this office. They will be required to pay one month's fee in advance, and one month's fee on the first day of each month for which it is due.

A vendor not acting up to his bid or surrendering his license before the expiry of the official year 1884-85 will forfeit his advance fees.

The vendor who may be appointed to sell stamps either at the High Court or at this Collectorate shall be required to keep a stock of Rs. 10,000, or such amount as the Board of Revenue may direct, not exceeding Rs. 10,000. If he fails to do so his license will be liable to cancellation entailing forfeiture of advance fees.

The Collector does not bind himself to accept the highest or any offer which may be made, but reserv to himself a discretion to select the candidate who may appear best qualified.

The following are the limits within which the auction vendors will have the exclusive right of selling Non-judicial Stamps:—

The Indian Law Reports.

Published under Authority.

THE "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Office of the Legislative Department at Calcutta, except the copies for officials in the Bengal Presidency, which are distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the copies for subscribers registered by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co., which are distributed by that firm; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

On and from the 1st January 1884, the terms of subscription and sale will be reduced as follow :—

Notes on Forestry,

By C. F. Amery,

Deputy Conservator, Forests, N.-W. Provinces.

THIS little work, published with the approval of the Government of India, treats of the general principles of forest management in all its branches, and is recommended not only to forest officers, but to all who are interested in the progress of forest management in this country.

May be obtained of Messrs. King, King & Co., Bombay, and of Messrs. Wyman & Co., Calcutta. Price Rs. 3-8, or including postage, Rs. 4. Or of the publishers, Messrs. Trübner & Co., Ludgate Hill, London. Price five shillings.

Notice.

THE following Reports of the Bengal Meteorological Department, issued by orders by the Government of Bengal, can be supplied to the public at the prices annexed :—

1*st*.—Bay of Bengal Daily Report giving observations taken at 17 stations on or near the coast of the Bay, with a chart and summary. This is published in connection with the Calcutta Storm Signal Service. The report giving 10 A.M. observations of the day is distributed by noon in Calcutta after 4 P.M. Price to subscribers in Calcutta, Rs. 2 per mensem.

2*nd*.—Bengal Daily Report containing observations taken at 30 meteorological stations, and transmitted to Calcutta by weather telegrams, with a brief summary of the weather in Bengal during the preceding 24 hours. The report giving the 10 A.M. observations of each day is printed in time for the evening mail. This report for the present will only be published during the south-west monsoon, i.e. from May, 15th, to November, 15th. Price Rs. 2-8 per mensem, including postage.

3*rd*.—A Weekly and Monthly Statement of Meteorological Observations taken at 38 observing stations, and of rainfall recorded at 160 sub-divisional stations, together with summaries of the more important features of the meteorology of the past week or month of the province, and of the distribution of the rainfall and its variation from the normal. Price of the Weekly Report, including postage, Rs. 6 per annum, payable in advance, and of the Monthly Summary Report, Rs. 2 per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions payable to the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal for the Bay of Bengal Daily Report, and to the Accountant and Treasurer, Bengal Secretariat, for the other reports.

John Eliot,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES BILL.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as re-amended by them, is by order of the President published for general information :—

We, the members of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities in Bengal, have the honour to report as follows :—

When our preliminary report on the Bill was presented on the 21st of March last, the Council was pleased to direct, in accordance with our recommendation, that the Bill should be republished, and should be referred back to us for further consideration and report. We have accordingly further considered the Bill, and the papers noted in the margin, which have been communicated to the Legislative Department in connection with the Bill as provisionally amended. In submitting our preliminary report, we had occasion to observe that there had not at that time been a sufficient expression of public opinion on the Bill to justify our putting forward any final proposals. But ample time has since been given for the consideration of the subject, and the papers which we have received show that the questions arising out of the Bill have been fully ventilated and discussed. It therefore appears to us that the time has come when we may invite the final decision of the Legislature upon the scheme which we desire to submit.

Extract from Administration Report, Suburban Municipality, for 1882-83.

The orders of the Secretary of State, disallowing the proposals of the Bengal Government regarding the establishment of a Central Board, have made it necessary that we should revise the wording of those sections of the previous draft which referred to the powers and duties of the Central Board. In modifying these sections, we have generally reverted to the provisions of the existing law, and have substituted, in some places, the Local Government, and in other places the Commissioner of the Division, for the Central Board. In lieu of the sections which directed that the Municipal Commissioners should act under the general guidance of the Central Board, and that disputes between the Central Board and the Commissioners should be referred for the orders of Government, we have inserted two sections adopted from Act XV of 1883, giving certain powers to the local officers, and the Government, in the event of the Municipal Commissioners acting in contravention of the public interests, or making default in the performance of their duties.

The scheme of the municipal constitution, as proposed in the Bill now submitted, does not materially differ from that put forward in the former draft. The principal change we have introduced is a clause which provides that if the Commissioners are unable to agree upon the election of one of their own body as Chairman, they may apply to the Government to appoint a Chairman. We think that a system of election should be the rule, and that of nomination should be the exception; and we were formerly inclined to the opinion that when the right of election had once been conceded, it should not afterwards be withdrawn. But it has been strongly urged upon our consideration, in several of the communicated papers, that the Local Government ought to reserve the power, at least in the last resort, of excluding from the privilege of election those municipalities which might show themselves unfit to exercise it. We have accordingly provided that, in the extreme cases in which it may be found necessary to supersede a municipality, the Government may direct that, on the expiry of the period of supersession, the municipality shall be placed in the first or second schedule of the Bill.

In determining what municipalities shall be allowed to exercise the privilege of election, we have considered the opinions, but have not in every case been guided by the recommendations of the local district and divisional officers. We imagine that the principle will generally be accepted, that it is desirable to leave to municipalities the greatest possible freedom of action, so long as precautions are taken to ensure that the liberty accorded to them will be rightly used. It is in the application of the principle that differences of opinion will be found. In our view, the necessary precautions do not lie in the direction of restricting the power of the rate-payers to elect their own representatives, or of the Commissioners to elect their own Chairman. We should prefer to attain our object by providing, first, that the Magistrate shall have full opportunities of knowing what the municipality is doing, or resolving to do; secondly, that power shall be reserved to restrain a municipality from doing any specific act which may be dangerous to the public peace, or injurious to the common interest; thirdly, that measures shall be possible by which a municipality may be compelled to perform any specific duty which it may have neglected to fulfil; and fourthly, that a municipality which may show persistent neglect or incapacity shall be liable to be superseded for such time as the Government may direct. To these safeguards we are disposed to attach much importance; and we have not only included them in the Bill, but have emphasized them by classing them together under a sub-head of "Control" in that part of the Bill which describes the constitution of the municipality. But when these precautions have been taken, we are of opinion that the privilege of election may be allowed to the great majority of municipalities. There may be some towns in which the burden of municipal work is such as to make it unlikely that a non-official Chairman would consent to undertake it; there may be some in which the existence of party-spirit makes it desirable that the Government should retain the appointment of Chairman in its own hands; and there may be others in which exceptional circumstances justify a departure from the ordinary rule. But, generally speaking, it appears to us that a complete elective system may safely be given to municipalities situated at the head-quarters of districts, and of the more advanced sub-divisions; and we have framed the schedules accordingly. We propose that the Vice-Chairman should in every case be an elected officer. But we think it advisable to guard against the repeated re-election of the same person; and we therefore propose to enact that a Vice-Chairman, who has served for two terms of office, shall not be eligible for re-election on the next recurrence of a vacancy.

The Bill leaves it to the Local Government to lay down rules for the conduct of municipal elections, and for the qualifications of voters. As our proposals in this respect have in some quarters been misunderstood, we wish to explain that our object has been, on the one hand, to allow a large freedom in the framing of rules to meet the varying circumstances of different localities; and, on the other hand, to guard against the possibility of rules being made which would practically nullify the principle of representation. At present there is no property qualification in Burdwan, and candidates need not reside within municipal limits, if they reside within three miles of such limits. Section 15 of the Bill does not lay any obligation on the Government to impose a property qualification, or to confine the franchise to actual residents. It only says that if a property qualification is imposed, it shall not exceed a limit of Rs. 1-8 a year. The proviso which declares that every qualified voter shall also be deemed qualified for election has been subjected to much adverse criticism. But, on full consideration, we desire to adhere to this clause in its present form. The objection raised to it is, that citizens of the better classes will decline to sit with men of a lower social grade. But we do not think that this objection would be met by requiring candidates for election to be rate-payers to the amount of Rs. 5 or Rs. 6, and hardly any one has proposed a higher amount than this. In Serampore the qualification for a candidate is Rs. 10, and the scheme has worked badly, though Serampore is a place better adapted than most other towns for the introduction of the principle. "In Serampore," says the Commissioner, "the property qualification has operated injuriously."

We have modified section 46, and have introduced after it a new section to provide for the employment of Government servants by the Municipal Commissioners. This new section is taken from Act XV of 1883.

In the sections relating to taxation we have made little change. Our proposed definition of a "holding" has not met with general approval; but those who have criticised it have failed to suggest any definition which would, in our opinion, be preferable. The Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling has represented that the section which makes the letting value of the holding the basis of taxation is inconvenient in its application to Darjeeling, where it is the usual practice to let houses furnished. We have not thought it advisable to enact that the value of a holding shall be deemed to include the value of furniture let with it, but we have inserted words, at the Deputy Commissioner's request to assimilate Darjeeling to Dacca as regards the maximum limit of assessment.

It has been suggested to us that the procedure laid down in sections 120 and 121 of the re-amended Bill for the recovery of rates and taxes should be shortened and simplified, and that a fee might properly be levied for the service of the notice of demand. We have considered the point, and we desire to adhere to the procedure prescribed by the Bill, which is in accordance with the existing law. Considering the class of officers to whom the collection of municipal taxes is ordinarily entrusted, we think there would be danger of abuse if they were vested with more summary powers, and it appears to us to be reasonable that the first notice of demand should be served free of charge to the tax-payer.

We mentioned in our preliminary report, that we desired to invite an expression of opinion upon the point whether the sections regarding conservancy and sanitation, which are embodied in Part V and Part VI of the Bill, should be retained as portions of the substantive law, or should be struck out of the Bill, and be reproduced in bye-laws suited to the circumstances of each municipality. We find a marked preponderance of opinion in favour of retaining these sections in the Bill; and as the reasons assigned for this conclusion appear to us to be valid, we recommend that the sections in question should remain part of the Bill. We have introduced in Part VI two new sections giving special power to the Commissioners to refuse sanction to the erection of new houses, or to the occupation of new houses which are not certified to be properly drained. It has been represented to us that such regulations are urgently required in Darjeeling. It will be observed that these sections will not come into force except on the special application of the municipality for their extension.

In Part VII we have made some changes which are calculated, in our opinion, to render this part of the Bill more generally suited to the conditions under which municipalities in the mofussil are likely to avail themselves of these provisions of the law. The sections, as originally drafted, were taken from the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1876, which contemplates a supply of filtered water, and a general connection with dwelling-houses in the town. It has been represented to us that the water need not in all cases be filtered, and that some municipalities may desire to lay down water in the streets, but may not be able to give a house-supply. We have modified the sections accordingly. A doubt has been expressed whether the provisions of Part VII would be applicable to towns (such as Darjeeling), which have already supplied water at the cost of the municipality, and we have been urged to insert words expressly including such towns within the operation of Part VII of the Bill. But we feel no doubt that the wording of the Bill as it stands is sufficient to provide for these cases. It will only be necessary for the Municipal Commissioners of Darjeeling (or of any other town similarly circumstanced) to apply in the prescribed manner for the extension of Part VII (either wholly or partially) to their municipality, and they will then be entitled to levy the water-rate authorized by section 85 of the re-amended Bill.

We have made some verbal alterations, which are not of sufficient importance to call for particular mention. We are not of opinion that the changes which we have introduced, at this second revision of the Bill, are such as to make re-publication necessary, and we desire to recommend that the Bill be passed as now amended.

MAHOMED YUSUF.

The 7th January 1884.

THE determination of the question whether a Municipality can properly be endowed at once with a "complete elective system," or whether it is better for the people that such a system should be gradually developed, should depend on considerations involving intimate local knowledge and a just appreciation of the existing circumstances in each case, such as cannot be expected from this Council.

I would therefore leave it to the Lieutenant-Governor, as the more qualified authority, to judge in the case of each Municipality whether the Commissioners and the Chairman (respectively) should from the first be elected.

In introducing a scheme which must be attended by such important effects, but which is founded on no acquired experience, and on no analogy of success under similar circumstances, I would give to it elasticity, by leaving the widest discretion to the Executive Government to adapt its course to the varying circumstances which may hereafter arise in each Municipality, by limiting, as may be necessary from time to time, the full elective system, even though it has once been introduced, without first creating the friction which must attend the suspension of the body of the Commissioners under section 64 of the Bill.

The 11th January 1884. H. L. DAMPIER.

I SIGN this report with a reservation in regard to schedule II. Having made such large provision for control from the outside by the officers of Government, we may, in my judgment, allow all Municipal Boards to elect their own Chairmen,—subject to the approval of Government,—except in cases where

(1) the interests involved in the efficient administration of the Municipality are so important, or the circumstances are so special, that it is necessary that Government should appoint the chief executive authority of the Municipality.

(2) the existence of party spirit renders it desirable that Government should retain the appointment in its own hands.

The Suburbs of Calcutta and Darjeeling come under the first category: Barripore and Santipore come under the second. Where neither of these conditions exists, it appears to me that, if men can be found to serve as Municipal Commissioners at all, they may be trusted to exercise ordinary discretion in electing their own Chairman. If they make an improper choice, it can be disallowed by Government: if they wish to have the services of an officer of Government, who is not on the Board, they can ask Government to appoint one. But, just as an official, if appointed Chairman from the outside, should be the nominee of Government and not of the Commissioners, so a member of the Board, if appointed to be its Chairman, should be nominated by the Commissioners themselves and should not even appear to be forced upon them as the nominee of Government. I can see no object in withholding from the Commissioners the chance of making a proper choice, or in depriving them of a discretion which we have ample means of checking should it be abused. In places where no official is available, and where no one of the Municipal Commissioners is capable of directing its deliberations and conducting its executive functions,—which in such a case would be necessarily small,—there should be no Municipality.

COLMAN MACAULAY.

I SIGN this with reservations.

RE-AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Municipalities within the territories subject to the Government of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal: It is enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. This Act may be called the "Bengal Municipal Act, 1884;" and it shall come into force on such date as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct, not being more than three months after the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette, with the assent of the Governor-General.

But any notification, order or rule, and any appointment to an office, may be made, or election held, under this Act at any time after it shall have received the assent of the Governor-General, but shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Enactments repealed.

2. On the commencement of this Act, the enactments specified in the sixth schedule shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof;

But this repeal shall not revive any office, authority, or thing abolished by any such enactment, or affect the validity of anything done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation or liability accrued, before the commencement of this Act.

And all rules and bye-laws prescribed; assessments, valuations, measurements, divisions, and appointments made; powers conferred, and notifications published under any such enactment; and all other rules (if any) now in force and relating to the matters hereinafter dealt with, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to have been respectively prescribed, made, conferred, and published hereunder.

And all references to any such enactment shall (so far as may be practicable) be deemed to be made to this Act.

And all proceedings now pending, which may have been commenced under any such enactment, shall be deemed to be commenced under this Act.

In respect of all the matters aforesaid, the Commissioners under this Act shall be substituted for the Commissioners elected or appointed under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876.

Existing Municipalities.

3. Every place which has been constituted a Municipality under the provisions of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, and has not been withdrawn from the operation of the said Act before this Act comes into force, shall, from the time when this Act shall come into force, be deemed to be constituted a Municipality under the provisions of this Act.

All property of late Commissioners vested in Commissioners under this Act.

4. All property, moveable and immoveable, and all interest of any kind whatsoever, derived under any of the enactments specified in the sixth schedule, or otherwise, and vested in, or held in trust for, the late Commissioners under the said Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, shall become vested in the Commissioners and their successors; and all rights of whatsoever description used, enjoyed or possessed by the late Commissioners under any such enactment shall become vested in the Commissioners for the purposes of this Act.

Act not to be extended to cantonments without consent of Governor-General.

5. Notwithstanding anything contained in section three, this Act shall not take effect in any cantonment without the consent of the Governor-General in Council previously obtained, nor shall the Local Government extend this Act, or any part thereof, to any cantonment without such consent.

Interpretation.

6. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"Carriage."

(1) "Carriage" means any wheeled vehicle with springs, used for the conveyance of human beings, and ordinarily drawn by animals.

"Year." (19) "Year" means a year beginning on the first day of April, or on such other date as may hereafter be fixed for any Municipality by the Local Government by notification in the Calcutta Gazette.

PART I.

OF THE CREATION OF MUNICIPALITIES.

Existing Commissioners and existing rates and taxes temporarily continued.

7. In every place which, in accordance with the provisions of section three, becomes a Municipality under this Act, every person who has been appointed or elected to be a Commissioner for such place under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, and who is holding office as such Commissioner at the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to be a Commissioner duly appointed for such Municipality until such time as the election or appointment of Commissioners in respect of such Municipalities shall take effect under the provisions of this Act. And in every such place in which a rate on the annual value of holdings, or a tax upon persons, or a tax upon carriages and animals, or a fee upon the registration of carts, or tolls on roads, or on ferries, or a fee under Bengal Act VI of 1878, may have been levied by the Municipal Commissioners before the commencement of this Act, it shall be deemed that the said rate, tax, fee or tolls have been duly imposed under this Act, and such rate, tax, fee or tolls shall continue to be levied accordingly until the Commissioners at a meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall otherwise direct.

Local Government may extend Act.

8. Except as is hereinafter otherwise expressly provided, this Act may be extended by the Local Government by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, and in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and fifty-eight, to any town or village not being within the limits of the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court at Fort William in Bengal, from such date as may be specified in such notification; and save as is hereinafter otherwise provided, this Act shall take effect in such town or village on the date so specified, and the said town or village, within the limits mentioned in such notification, shall be deemed to be created a Municipality for the purposes of this Act:

Provided that at least six weeks before publishing any notification as aforesaid, the Local Government shall cause to be published in the town or village concerned a notice of its intention to declare the said town or village to be a Municipality, unless good reason to the contrary be shewn within one month.

Any objections which may be made to the proposed measure shall be duly considered by the Local Government, before it causes to be issued the notification declaring the town or village to be a Municipality under this Act.

Every notification declaring a town or village to be a Municipality shall specify whether the name of such Municipality shall, or shall not, be inserted in the first or second schedule of this Act, and shall further specify, subject to the provisions of section thirteen, the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality.

Variation of limits and power to withdraw from operation of Act.

9. The Local Government may, on the recommendation of the Commissioners at a meeting, by a like notification, at any time vary the limits of any Municipality or sub-divide any Municipality into two or more Municipalities, or withdraw any town or village from the operation of this Act.

Conditions on which Municipality may be created.

10. This Act shall not be extended to any town or village, unless the Local Government shall have been satisfied that three-fourths of the adult male population of such town or village are chiefly employed in pursuits other than agricultural; and that such town or village contains a number of inhabitants not being less than three thousand, and an average number of not less than one thousand inhabitants to the square mile of the area of such town or village.

Local Government may unite places to a Municipality.

11. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that any place in which three-fourths of the adult male population are chiefly employed in pursuits other than agricultural, shall be united with any town or village as aforesaid for the purposes of forming a Municipality:

Provided that no such place shall be so united unless some part of such place be situated within the distance of one mile, from some part of such town or village.

Every such declaration shall specify the boundaries of every place so to be united.

Every town or village with which any such place is united, and all places so declared to be united with any such town or village, shall be deemed, for purposes of taxation, and for all other purposes, to form part of one and the same Municipality.

Land between Municipality and place united to form part of Municipality.

12. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, whenever the Local Government shall declare any place or places as aforesaid to be united with any town or village for the purpose of forming one Municipality, the Local Government may similarly declare that any land by which any such place is separated from the town or village with which it is united, and any land by which any such place is separated from any other such place which is united with the said town or village, shall be deemed to form part of the Municipality for all purposes other than those of taxation.

And such declaration shall specify the exterior boundaries of the entire Municipality as constituted under this and the last preceding section.

PART II.

OF THE MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES.

Of the Constitution of the Municipality.

Number of Commissioners.

13. The number of Commissioners of a Municipality constituted before the passing of this Act shall be such number as may be specified by a notification of the Local Government, to be issued immediately after the passing of this Act, and to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The number of Commissioners of each Municipality created under the provisions of section eight of this Act shall be such number as is specified in the notification of the creation of such municipality:

Provided that the number of Commissioners of a Municipality shall in no case be more than thirty or less than nine:

Provided, further, that no act of the Commissioners, or of their officers, shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only that the number of the Commissioners did not, at the time of the performance of such act, amount to the number specified in the notifications aforesaid.

Constitution of body of Commissioners.

14. Two-thirds of the number of the Commissioners of each Municipality, fixed by such notification, shall be elected as hereinafter provided by male persons, resident within the limits of such Municipality, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years.

The remaining one-third of such Commissioners shall be appointed by the Local Government immediately after the result of the election hereinbefore mentioned shall have been notified to the Local Government, and such appointment shall take effect from the date on which such election takes place:

Provided that the number of persons holding salaried offices under the Government, and appointed as Municipal Commissioners, shall not bear a larger proportion than one-fourth to the total number of Commissioners elected and appointed under the provisions of this Part:

Provided also that in cases where the whole number of Commissioners is not evenly divisible by three or by four, the one-third or one-fourth shall be ascertained by taking the number next below the whole number, which is evenly divisible by three or by four, as the number to be divided.

Rules to be laid down for election.

15. For the purposes of the aforesaid election of Commissioners, the Local Government, with respect to each Municipality, shall lay down such rules, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, as it shall think fit, in respect of the division, where necessary, of each Municipality into wards, and the number of Commissioners to be elected for each of such wards, the qualifications required to entitle any person to vote for a candidate for such election, and in respect of the mode of election. And the Local Government may at any time cancel any rule made by it under this section:

Provided that every male person who is at the time of such election, and has been for a period of not less than twelve months immediately preceding such election, resident within the limits of a municipality, and who

(1) has, during the year immediately preceding such election, paid, in respect of any of the rates imposed by this Act, an aggregate amount of not less than one rupee eight annas; or,

(2) being a member of a joint undivided family, one of the members of which has, during the year immediately preceding such election, paid in respect of any of the rates imposed by this Act an aggregate amount of not less than one rupee eight annas, is a graduate or licentiate of any university, or holds a certificate as a pleader or a mookhtear, or holds any office or employment carrying a salary of not less than fifty rupees per mensem, shall be entitled to vote at the election of Commissioners of such Municipality:

Provided further that every person who shall be entitled to vote at the election of Commissioners of a Municipality shall be deemed to be qualified for election as a Commissioner of such Municipality.

On failure of election, Commissioners to be appointed by Government.

16. If the persons entitled to elect Commissioners for any Municipality fail within the time prescribed by the last preceding section to elect the whole number of Commissioners allotted for election to such Municipality, the Local Government shall appoint one or more Commissioners to complete the number so allotted as aforesaid.

Government may exclude Municipality from elective system.

17. Every Municipality mentioned in the first schedule of this Act shall be excluded from the operation of the three last preceding sections: and, in any Municipality so excluded, the whole number of the Commissioners shall be appointed by the Local Government; subject, however, to the proviso contained in the third clause of section fourteen.

It shall be lawful for the Local Government at any time to remove the name of any Municipality from the said schedule.

Ad-interim Vice-Chairman and Commissioners.

18. The Local Government may appoint any persons to be ad-interim Vice-Chairman and Commissioners, pending the date on which the election of Commissioners shall take effect under the provisions of this Part.

Resignation of Commissioner.

19. The Local Government may from time to time accept the resignation of any Commissioner appointed or elected under this Act.

Removal of Commissioner.

20 The Local Government may, if it thinks fit on the recommendation of the Commissioners, remove any Commissioner appointed or elected under this Act, if such Commissioner shall have been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, or of any disgraceful conduct.

Commissioner who neglects to attend meetings, or is convicted of non-bailable offence, to cease to be Commissioner.

21. Any Commissioner who, without having obtained permission from the Commissioners, at a meeting, shall have omitted to attend six consecutive meetings of the Commissioners, and any Commissioner who shall have been convicted of a non-bailable offence, shall cease to be a Commissioner.

Tenure of office of Commissioner.

22. Every Commissioner shall vacate his office at the end of three years from the first day of the year next following the date of his appointment or election as such Commissioner.

When Commissioner may be re-appointed or re-elected.

23. Any person who has resigned the office of Commissioner, under section nineteen, or who has ceased to be a Commissioner in consequence of his failure to attend meetings, as provided in section twenty-one, may be at any time re-appointed or re-elected a Commissioner; but no person removed by the Local Government from his office under section twenty, or who has ceased to be a Commissioner in consequence of being convicted of a non-bailable offence, may be elected or re-elected a Commissioner without the sanction of the Local Government.

Appointment of Chairman.

24. The Local Government shall appoint the Chairman of every Municipality mentioned in the second schedule of this Act.

Every Municipality, the name of which is not included in the said schedule, shall, at a meeting, elect one of its Commissioners to be Chairman; or may, at a meeting attended by not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners, request the Local Government to appoint a Chairman.

The Local Government may at any time remove the name of any Municipality from the said schedule.

His status and tenure of office.

25. Notwithstanding anything in section thirteen contained, every Chairman appointed or elected under the last preceding section, if not already a Commissioner of the Municipality of which he shall have been appointed or elected Chairman, shall, from the date of his appointment or election, during the term of his office, enjoy all the rights and privileges of a Commissioner of the Municipality to which such appointment or election relates, but shall not be reckoned in calculating the proportions of one-third and one-fourth under the provisions of section fourteen. The Chairman shall hold office for three years from the beginning of the year next following his appointment or election.

Every Chairman shall be eligible for re-appointment or re-election, and may at any time be removed from the office of Chairman by a resolution of the Commissioners at a meeting in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners have given their votes.

Election of Vice-Chairman.

26. The Commissioners at a meeting shall elect one of their own number to be Vice-Chairman. He shall hold office for three years from the beginning of the year next following his election, and shall be eligible for re-election on the expiration of his term of office.

Provided that a Vice-Chairman, who has been re-elected on the expiration of his term of office, shall not be again eligible for re-election on the next occurrence of a vacancy.

The Vice-Chairman may at any time be removed from the office of Vice-Chairman by a resolution of the Commissioners at a meeting in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners shall have given their votes.

Appointment or election of Commissioner, Chairman or Vice-Chairman for unexpired term of office.

27. If any Commissioner, Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be unable to complete his full term of office, the vacancy caused by his resignation, or removal or death shall be filled by the appointment or election, as the case may be, of another person; and the person so appointed or elected shall fill such vacancy for the unexpired remainder of the term for which such Commissioner, Chairman or Vice-Chairman would otherwise have continued in office.

Allowances of Chairman and Vice-Chairman.

28. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman of any Municipality may, should the Commissioners think fit, receive such allowances out of the Municipal Fund as shall from time to time be fixed at a meeting by the Commissioners.

Commissioners incorporated.

29. The Commissioners shall, in the name of their Chairman, by the description of "The Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of ," be a body corporate, and have perpetual succession, and a common seal, and in such name shall sue and be sued.

Such common seal shall have the name of the Municipality engraved thereon in legible characters in the English language, and also in the vernacular of the district.

Of the property of the Commissioners.

Public roads, &c., vested in the Commissioners.

30. All roads, bridges, tanks, ghats, wells, channels, and drains in any Municipality (not being private property, and not being maintained by Government or at the public expense), now existing, or which shall hereafter be made, and the pavements, stones and other materials thereof, and all erections, materials, implements, and other things provided therefor, shall vest in, and belong to, the Commissioners.

But the Local Government may, from time to time, by notification, exclude any road, bridge, or drain from the operation of this Act, and may cancel such notification wholly or in part:

Provided that, if the cost of the construction of the work shall have been paid from the Municipal Fund, such work shall not be excluded from the operation of this Act without the consent of the Commissioners at a meeting.

Commissioners may, with consent of owners, take over and repair roads, &c.

31. The Commissioners at a meeting may agree with the person in whom the property in any road, bridge, tank, ghat, well, channel or drain is vested to take over the property therein, or the control thereof, and after such agreement may declare, by notice in writing put up thereon or near thereto, that such road, bridge, tank, ghat, well, channel or drain has been transferred to the Commissioners;

Thereupon the property therein, or the control thereof, (as the case may be,) shall vest in the Commissioners, and such road, bridge, tank, ghat, well, channel or drain shall thenceforth be repaired and maintained out of the Municipal Fund.

Existing hospitals, schools, rest-houses, &c., may be vested in the Commissioners.

32. Every hospital, dispensary, school, rest-house, ghat and market, not being private property, or the property of a religious institution or society, and all medicines, furniture, and other articles appurtenant thereto, not being such property which at and after the commencement of this Act shall be found within any Municipality may, by order of the Local Government duly published on the spot, be vested in the Commissioners of such Municipality; and thereupon all endowments or funds belonging thereto shall be transferred to, and vested in, such Commissioners as trustees for the purposes to which such endowments and funds were lawfully applicable at the time of such transfer:

Provided that no such order shall be published until one month after notice of the intention to transfer such property shall have been published in the Calcutta Gazette, and within the Municipality in the vernacular language of the district.

Transfer to be conditional in certain cases.

33. If the Commissioners at a meeting shall, after publication of a notice, as is mentioned in the last preceding section, object to the transfer to themselves of any hospital, dispensary, school, rest-house, ghat or market, on the ground that their funds cannot bear the charge, then such transfer shall not be made save under such conditions as the Commissioners at a meeting may agree to accept.

Power to purchase, lease, and sell lands.

34. The Commissioners at a meeting may purchase or take on lease any land for the purposes of this Act, and may sell, let, exchange, or otherwise dispose of any land not required for such purposes.

Land may be taken up under Land Acquisition Act, 1870.

35. The Local Government, on the application of the Commissioners that any land be acquired for the purposes of this Act, may, on being satisfied that the Commissioners are in a position to pay for such land either at once or in such instalments as the Local Government may think proper, notify under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, or any similar Act for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes, that such land is required for a public purpose, and may cause such land to be acquired under the provisions of such Act; and on payment by the Commissioners of the compensation awarded under such Act, the land shall vest in them for the purposes of this Act.

Commissioners to pay cost of such land.

36. The Commissioners shall be bound to pay to the Government the cost of any land which may be acquired for them on their application under the provisions of the last preceding section.

Mode of executing contracts.

37. The Commissioners may enter into and perform any contract necessary for the purposes of this Act.

Every contract made on behalf of the Commissioners of a Municipality in respect of any sum exceeding five hundred rupees, or which shall involve a value exceeding five hundred rupees, shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners at a meeting, and shall be in writing, and signed by at least two of the Commissioners, one of whom shall be the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, and shall be sealed with the common seal of the Commissioners.

Unless so executed, such contract shall not be binding on the Commissioners.

Of the Mode of transacting the Business of the Municipality.

Commissioners to meet ordinarily once a month.

38 The Commissioners shall meet for the transaction of business (if there be any business to be transacted at their office, or at some other convenient place, at least once in every month, and as often as a meeting shall be called by the Chairman, or, in his absence, by the Vice-Chairman

If there shall be no business to be laid before the Commissioners at any monthly meeting, the Chairman shall, instead of calling the meeting, give notice of the fact to each Commissioner three days before the date which is appointed for the monthly meeting.

And at other times on special requisition.

39. The Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, shall call a special meeting on a requisition signed by not less than three of the Commissioners.

Who to preside at meetings of the Commissioners.

40. The Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman shall preside at every meeting, and, in the absence of both the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, the Commissioners shall choose some one of their number to preside.

Questions to be decided by majority.

41. All questions which may come before the Commissioners at a meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes.

Casting vote.

In case of equality of votes, the President shall have a second or casting vote.

Quorum.

42. No business shall be transacted at any meeting of the Commissioners unless such meeting has been called by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, nor unless a quorum shall be present.

A quorum shall be, in any Municipality in which the Commissioners are more than fifteen, five; in any other Municipality a number being not less than one-third of the entire number of Commissioners.

Adjourned meeting.

If, at the time appointed for a meeting, or within one hour thereafter, a quorum is not present, the meeting shall stand adjourned to some future day to be appointed by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, and three days' notice of such adjourned meeting shall be given. The members present at such adjourned meeting shall form a quorum, whatever their number may be Minutes of proceedings.

43. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings of the Commissioners shall be entered in a book to be kept for the purpose, and shall be signed by the President of the meeting, and such book shall be open to the inspection of the tax payers.

Powers of Chairman.

44. The Chairman shall, for the transaction of the business connected with this Act, or for the purpose of making any order authorized thereby, exercise all the powers vested by this Act in the Commissioners:

Provided that the Chairman shall not act in opposition to, or in contravention of, any order of the Commissioners at a meeting, or exercise any power which is directed to be exercised by the Commissioners at a meeting.

Chairman may delegate his duties to Vice Chairman.

45. The Chairman may, by a written order, delegate to the Vice-Chairman all or any of the duties or powers of a Chairman as defined in this Act, subject to such restrictions as may seem fit to him, and may at any time by a written order withdraw or modify the same:

Provided that nothing done by the Vice-Chairman, which might have been done under the authority of a written order from the Chairman, shall be invalid for want of or defect of such written order, if it be done with the express or implied consent of the Chairman previously or subsequently obtained.

Appointment of subordinate officers.

46. The Commissioners at a meeting shall from time to time decide whether a paid Secretary, Engineer or Health Officer is required or not, and what number of subordinate officers, servants, and collectors of taxes or tolls may be necessary for the Municipality, and shall from time to time fix the salaries to be paid to such persons respectively out of the Municipal Fund, and the allowances to be granted to such persons during absence on leave.

Subject to the scale of establishment decided upon by the Commissioners under this section, the Chairman shall have power to appoint such persons as he may think fit, and from time to time to remove such persons and appoint others in their places:

Provided that no person shall be appointed to an office, the salary of which is fifty rupees per mensem or upwards, without the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting; and that no officer, whose salary is more than twenty rupees per mensem, shall be dismissed without such sanction.

Pensions, &c., to Government officials

47. In the case of a Government official employed by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may—

(1) If his services are wholly lent to them, contribute to his pension, gratuities, and leave allowances in accordance with the rules of the Government Civil Pension and Leave Codes for the time being in force; and

(2) If he devotes only a part of his time to the performance of duties in behalf of the Commissioners, contribute as above in such proportion as may be determined by the Local Government.

Security from officers or servants.

48. The Commissioners may take such security as they may think proper from any officer or servant in their employ.

Of Ward Committees.

Power to appoint Ward Committees.

49. The Commissioners at a meeting may divide any Municipality into Wards, and thereupon appoint, or cause to be elected, for each Ward, not less than three proper persons, whether such persons be or be not Commissioners for the time being, to be members of the Ward Committee; and the Commissioners at a meeting may define the limits of the Ward for which any Ward Committee may be appointed or elected.

Commissioners may lay down rules for election.

50. The Commissioners at a meeting may lay down rules, not being inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, in respect of the qualifications required to entitle any person who is not a Commissioner to stand as a candidate for such election, and to entitle any person to vote for any candidate, and in respect of the mode of election; and the Commissioners may at any time cancel any rule made by them under this section for such election.

Election of Chairman and Vice-Chairman Ward Committee.

51. Each Ward Committee may, for each year if it sees fit, elect its own Chairman and Vice-Chairman (if necessary) from among its own number:

Provided that if one or more Commissioners are members of the Ward Committee, the Chairman of the Ward Committee shall be a Commissioner.

Commissioners may delegate powers to Ward Committee.

52. The Commissioners at a meeting may delegate to a Ward Committee such of the powers of Commissioners under this Act as to them may seem fit; and such Ward Committee, within the limits of its ward, as defined by the Commissioners at a meeting, may exercise all or any of such powers, and shall be liable to all the obligations imposed by this Act on Commissioners in respect of such powers.

All acts done, orders issued, and assessments made, by Ward Committees, shall be subject to the control and revision of the Commissioners at a meeting, who may at any time withdraw all or any of such powers.

Certain sections applicable to transaction of business by Ward Committees.

53. The provisions of sections thirty-eight to forty-five (both inclusive) shall, as far as possible, be applicable to the transaction of business by Ward Committees, and the Commissioners shall sanction the establishments of Ward Committees in accordance with the provisions of section forty-six.

Removal, resignation, and appointment of members.

54. All questions regarding the removal, resignation, and appointment of members of Ward Committees shall be settled by the Commissioners at a meeting.

Liability of Commissioners and Ward Committees.

Personal liability of Commissioner or member of Ward Committees.

55. No Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall be personally liable for any contract made, or expense incurred, by or on behalf of the Commissioners.

Every Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall be personally liable for any wilful misapplication of money entrusted to the Commissioners to which he shall knowingly have been a party, and he shall be liable to be sued for the same.

56. No Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract made with the Commissioners, or shall receive any pecuniary gratification for any services rendered to them; and if any Commissioner shall be so interested, or shall receive such gratification, he shall thereby become disqualified to continue in office as a Commissioner, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees:

Penalty on Commissioners and others interested in contract.

Provided that no person shall, by reason of being a shareholder in, or a member of, any incorporated or registered company, be deemed interested in any contract entered into between such company and the Commissioners.

But no such shareholder or member shall act as a Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee in a matter relating to any contract entered into between such company and the Commissioners.

57. No Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall vote on any question which regards exclusively the assessment of himself, or the valuation of his property, or of the property for which he is manager or agent, or his liability to any tax.

Commissioners disqualified from voting on certain questions.

Control.

58. All resolutions passed by the Commissioners under the following sections, that is to say—

(a) under section twenty-four for the election of a Chairman;

(b) under section twenty-five for the removal of a Chairman from office;

Appointment, &c., of Chairman subject to approval of Government.

(c) under section twenty-eight for the grant of allowances to a Chairman or Vice-Chairman:

shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

59. A copy of the minutes of the proceedings of all meetings of the Commissioners, referred to in section forty-three shall be forthwith forwarded by the Commissioners to the Magistrate of the district.

Copy of minutes to be sent to Magistrate.

60. The appointment by the Commissioners of subordinate officers, as provided by section forty-six, shall be subject to the following rules:—

(a) No appointment, of which the salary is Rs. 200 per mensem or upwards, shall be created or abolished without the sanction of the Local Government.

Sanction to appointment of subordinate officers.

(b) No person shall be appointed to, or dismissed from, an office the salary of which is Rs. 100 per mensem or upwards without the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division.

61. The Magistrate of the district, or the Magistrate in charge of the Division of the district in which a municipality is situate, may enter on and inspect, or cause to be entered on and inspected, any immoveable property occupied by the Commissioners, or any work in progress under their direction; and may call for and inspect any document which may be, for the purposes of this Act, in the possession or under the control of the Commissioners.

Magistrate's power of inspection.

62. (1) The Commissioner of the Division or the Magistrate of the district may, by order in writing, suspend within the limits of the division or district (as the case may be) the execution of any resolution or order of the Commissioners of any Municipality, or prohibit the doing within those limits of any act which is about to be done, or is being done, in pursuance of, or under cover of, this Act, if, in his opinion, the resolution, order, or act is in excess of the powers conferred by law, or the execution of the resolution or order, or the doing of the act, is likely to lead to a serious breach of the peace, or to cause serious injury or annoyance to the public or to any class or body of persons

Power to suspend action under Act.

(2) When a Commissioner or Magistrate makes any order under this section, he shall forthwith forward a copy thereof, with a statement of his reasons for making it, to the Local Government, which may thereupon rescind the order or direct that it continue in force with or without modification, permanently or for such period as it thinks fit.

63. (1) If at any time it appears to the Local Government on the report of the Magistrate of the district, or of the Commissioner of the Division, that the Commissioners of any Municipality have made default in performing any duty imposed on them by or under this or any other Act, the Local Government may, by an order in writing, fix a time for the performance of that duty.

Powers of Local Government in case of default.

(2) If that duty is not performed within the period so fixed, the Local Government may appoint the Magistrate of the district to perform it, and may direct that the expense of performing it shall be paid within such time as it may fix, to the Magistrate from the Municipal Fund.

(3) If the expense is not so paid, the Magistrate, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, may make an order directing the person having the custody of the balance of the Municipal Fund to pay the expense, or so much thereof, as is, from time to time, possible, from the balance, in priority to any or all other charges against the same.

64. If the Commissioners of any Municipality are not competent to perform, or persistently make default in the performance of the duties imposed on them by or under this Act or otherwise by law, or exceed or abuse their powers, the local Government may by an order published, with the reasons for making it, in the Calcutta Gazette, declare such Commissioners to be incompetent, or in default, or to have exceeded or abused their powers, as the case may be, and supersede them for a period to be specified in the order.

Power to supersede Commissioners in case of incompetency, default or abuse of powers.

65. When an order of supersession shall have been passed under the last preceding section, the following consequences shall ensue:—

Consequences of supersession.

(a) All the Commissioners shall, as from the date of the order, vacate their offices as such Commissioners.

(b) All the powers and duties of the Commissioners shall, during the period of supersession, be exercised and performed by such person or persons as the Local Government may direct.

(c) All property vested in such Commissioners shall during the period of supersession, vest in the Government.

On the expiration of the period of supersession specified in the order, it shall be lawful for the Local Government to direct that the Municipality shall be entered in the first schedule, or the second schedule, or in both the first and second schedules; but otherwise the Commissioners shall be re-established by appointment and election, and the persons who vacated their offices under clause (a) shall not be deemed disqualified for appointment or election.

PART III.

Of the Municipal Fund.

What shall constitute the Municipal Fund.

66. All sums received by the Commissioners, and all fines paid or levied in any Municipality under this Act, and all other sums which, under the sanction of Government, may be transferred to the Commissioners, shall constitute a fund which shall be called the Municipal Fund, and shall, together with all property of every nature or kind whatsoever, which may become vested in the Commissioners, be under their control, and shall be held by them in trust for the purposes of this Act.

Payment on account of interest on loans and establishment.

67. The Commissioners shall set apart and apply annually out of the Municipal Fund,— firstly, such sum as may be required for the payment of the interest which may fall due on any loan contracted by the Commissioners;

secondly, such sum as they are by this Act required to provide for payment of their own establishment, including such contributions as are referred to in section forty-seven;

thirdly, such sum as the Local Government may direct towards the cost of audit, and towards the cost of establishments in any office of account or in any treasury:

Provided that the total amount which any Municipality may be required to pay on this account shall not in any year exceed two per centum on the amount of the Municipal Fund for such year.

Purposes to which Fund may be applied.

68. After the said sums have been set apart under the last preceding section, the Commissioners at a meeting shall, as far as the Municipal Fund permits, from time to time cause roads, bridges, tanks, ghats, wells, channels, drains and privies, being the property of the Commissioners, to be maintained and repaired, and the Municipality to be cleansed; and may, subject to such rules and restrictions as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe, apply the Municipal Fund to any of the following purposes within the Municipality, that is to say—

(1) the construction and improvement of roads, bridges, squares, gardens, tanks, ghats, wells, channels, drains and privies;

(2) the supply of water, and the lighting and watering of roads;

(3) the erection and maintenance of offices, and other buildings required for municipal purposes;

(4) other works of public utility calculated to promote the health, comfort or convenience of the inhabitants;

(5) the construction and repair of schoolhouses, and the establishment and maintenance of schools either wholly or by means of grants-in-aid;

(6) the establishment and maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries;

(7) the promotion of vaccination;

(8) the maintenance of a fire-brigade;

(9) and generally to carrying out the purposes of this Act:

Provided that no portion of the Municipal Fund shall be applied to the establishment and maintenance of any school, hospital or dispensary, or to the promotion of vaccination, unless such application be sanctioned by the consent of a majority of the Commissioners present at a meeting specially convened for considering such application, or held after special notice has been given that such application will be considered at such meeting.

The Commissioners may do all things, not being inconsistent with this Act, which may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

Contribution to other Municipalities.

69. With the consent of two-thirds of the Commissioners obtained in writing, and with the sanction of the Local Government, the Commissioners may contribute a portion of the Municipal Fund towards the expenses incurred in any other Municipality, or elsewhere, for any of the purposes mentioned in the last preceding section; or towards the salary of any officer under another authority whose services are employed by them; and also towards the expenses of making, maintaining, and repairing any work for the improvement of a river or harbour (by whomsoever such work may be done).

But no contribution shall be made under this section to any work unless the same is calculated to benefit the inhabitants of the contributing Municipality.

Account books to be kept open and quarterly statement published.

70. The account books of the Municipality shall be open to the inspection of any tax-payer at the office of the Commissioners on a day to be fixed in each month.

An account shewing the receipts and expenditure during the quarter, arranged under the proper heads and duly balanced, shall be prepared immediately after the close of each quarter, and shall, with the account books, be open to the inspection of any tax-payer.

A similar account shall be prepared for each year as soon as possible after its close, and shall be open to inspection as aforesaid.

Annual estimates to be prepared.

71. The Commissioners, at a meeting held at least two months before the close of the year, shall prepare in detail estimates shewing the probable receipts and expenditure during the ensuing year and the objects in respect of which it is proposed to incur such expenditure.

Estimates to be published.

72. Copies of the estimates and translations thereof in the vernacular of the district shall be lodged in the Municipal office or offices.

During fourteen days after the estimates shall have been so lodged in the said offices, of which due notice shall be locally published, the estimates and translations in the vernacular of the district shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by any tax-payer of such Municipality who may desire to inspect the same.

Any written suggestion which may be deposited in the office of the Commissioners shall be recorded and laid before them for consideration at the next meeting.

Estimate to be transmitted to Magistrate.

73. After the expiration of the said fourteen days, and after such revision as may appear requisite, the estimates shall be transmitted to the Magistrate of the district.

Magistrate may record remarks.

74. The Magistrate may either forward the estimates to the Commissioner of the Division, or may return them to the Commissioners with such remarks and suggestions as he shall think fit to record. And the Commissioners at a meeting shall take into consideration the Magistrate's remarks, and shall either adopt his suggestions, or shall record in writing their reasons for refusing to do so: and the estimates shall thereupon be returned to the Magistrate for transmission to the Commissioner of the Division.

Power of Commissioner as to estimates.

75. The Commissioner of the Division may either sanction the estimate as it stands, or sanction it after making such alterations therein as may seem to him fit, or may cause it to be returned to the Commissioners for such modifications as he may think necessary; and when such modifications have been made, the estimate shall be re-submitted for ratification to the Commissioner of the Division:

Provided that the Commissioner of the Division shall not raise the total of the proposed expenditure above the sum shewn by the estimate to be at the disposal of the Commissioners.

Estimate of expenditure may be revised.

76. The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, revise any estimate of expenditure with the view of providing for any modifications which they may deem it advisable to make in the appropriation of the amount at their disposal, and such revised estimate shall be published and forwarded in the manner hereinbefore prescribed; and the Magistrate and the Commissioner of the Division may deal with such revised estimate in the manner provided above.

Disbursement of expenditure sanctioned in estimate.

77. After the estimates of the Municipality for the year shall have been sanctioned as above, the Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, by a general or a special resolution, authorize the expenditure of any sum provided in such estimates, or any part of such sum, for the purpose to which it has been assigned in such estimate.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the Local Government may lay down such rules as it may think fit, limiting or regulating the powers of any Municipality in respect to the expenditure of money, for purposes which are provided for in the budget estimates of the year.

Power of Local Government, if work estimated to cost more than Rs. 5,000.

78. If any work is estimated to cost above five thousand rupees, the Local Government may require the plans and estimates of such work to be submitted for its approval, or for the approval of any officer of Government, before such work is commenced; and may require statements of the progress and completion of such work, with accounts of the expenditure on the same, to be submitted from time to time, in such form as it may prescribe, for its approval, or for the approval of such officer.

Disbursement of excess expenditure.

79. It shall not be lawful for the Commissioners to authorize the expenditure on any object during the year of a sum in excess of that which has been sanctioned in the estimate of the year, or in a revised estimate, for such object; but if it be found necessary in the course of the year, the Commissioners may recommend to the Commissioner of the Division that the allotments which have been made to the different heads of the estimate shall be modified by transfer of any amount from one head to another, and the Commissioner of the Division may sanction such transfers of allotment.

An annual report of proceedings, &c., to be submitted.

80. The Commissioners shall, at such time and in such form as the Local Government shall direct, furnish annually a report of their proceedings and statements of the works executed by them, and of all sums received and expended by them.

The report and any orders which may be passed thereon by Government shall be open to the inspection of the tax-payers at the office of the Commissioners, with the account books and the quarterly and the annual accounts.

Form and audit of accounts.

81. The municipal accounts shall be kept in such form, and shall be audited each year in such manner as the Local Government shall direct.

Custody of the Municipal Fund.

82. Unless the Local Government shall otherwise direct, all sums received on account of the Municipal Fund shall be paid into a Government treasury, or into any bank or branch bank used as a Government treasury in or near to the Municipality, and shall be credited to an account to be called the account of the Municipality to which they belong:

Provided that the Commissioners may invest any moneys not required for immediate use either in Government securities, or in any other form of security which may be approved of by the Local Government.

Orders for payment of money.

83. Unless the Commissioner of the Division shall expressly extend (as he is hereby empowered to do, on the recommendation of the Commissioners) the limit of the powers of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman in this behalf, all orders for the payment of money from the Municipal Fund, if for a sum not above five hundred rupees, shall be signed by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman; and all orders for larger sums by both of the said officers, or by one of the said officers and another Commissioner.

No such orders shall be issued otherwise than for the payment of money of which the expenditure has been authorized by the Commissioners at a meeting, as provided in section seventy-seven.

PART IV.

OF MUNICIPAL TAXATION.

Alternative tax upon persons or holdings.

84. The Commissioners may, from time to time, at a meeting convened expressly for the purpose, of which due notice shall have been given, and with the sanction of the Local Government, impose within the limits of the Municipality one or other, but not both, of the following taxes :—

(a) a tax upon persons occupying holdings within the Municipality according to their circumstances and property within the Municipality :

Provided that the total sum to be raised by such tax in any year shall not exceed the sum which would be produced by an average rate of two rupees and four annas per annum for each holding, and that the amount assessed in respect of the occupation of any one holding shall not be more than eighty-four rupees per annum ; or

(b) a rate on the annual value of all holdings situated within the Municipality :

Provided that such rate shall not exceed seven and a half per centum on the annual value of such holdings, except within the Municipalities of Dacca and Darjeeling, in which it shall not exceed ten per centum on such annual value ; and provided also that no rate shall be imposed on any holding of which the annual value is less than six rupees.

Additional taxes.

85. The Commissioners may, from time to time, at a meeting convened as aforesaid, and with the sanction of the Local Government, order that the following tax, fee, tolls and rates, or any of them, be levied within the limits of the Municipality in addition to either of the taxes mentioned in the last preceding section :—

(a) a tax on carriages, horses, and other animals named in the fifth schedule;

(b) a fee on the registration of carts ;

(c) tolls on ferries and (subject to the provisions of sections one hundred and fifty-seven and one hundred and fifty-eight) tolls upon bridges and metalled roads ;

(d) a water-rate not exceeding six per centum on the annual value of holdings when the houses and lands are situated in streets supplied with water, and not exceeding five per centum when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied ;

(e) a lighting rate not exceeding three per centum on such annual value ;

(f) a fee for the cleansing of latrines :

Provided that the taxes mentioned in clauses (d), (e), and (f) shall not be levied in any Municipality unless the provisions of Part VII in respect of clause (d), or of Part VIII in respect of clause (e), or of Part IX in respect of clause (f), shall have been extended wholly or partly to such Municipality in the manner hereinafter provided.

Of the Tax on Persons.

Assessment list to be prepared.

86. When it has been determined that a tax shall be imposed on persons occupying holdings within the Municipality, according to their circumstances and property, the Commissioners, after making such enquiries as may be necessary, shall cause to be prepared an assessment list which shall contain the following particulars, and any others which the Commissioners may think proper to include :—

(a) name of the street or road in which the holding is situated ;

(b) number of the holding on the register ;

(c) name of the person occupying the holding, whether such person be assessed or exempted from assessment ;

(d) description of the holding, and of the property within the Municipality, with profession or business of the person assessed ;

(e) amount of annual assessment ;

(f) amount of quarterly instalment ;

(g) if the occupier of the holding is exempted from assessment, a note to that effect.

The tax upon persons shall be payable in quarterly instalments by persons occupying holdings.

Such tax shall not be assessed or levied on any person in respect of the occupation of arable lands or of any building which is used exclusively as a place of public worship.

Duration of assessment.

87. Save as is herein otherwise provided, every assessment of the tax upon persons shall take effect from the beginning of the year next following that in which the notice required by section one hundred and eleven is published, and shall be valid for three years and until the beginning of the year next after the date on which a new assessment or valuation may be published, or until the assessment and valuation be revised and amended :

Provided that when this Act is extended to any place, the first assessment may take effect from the beginning of the quarter next following that in which the said notice shall be published.

Assessment of public buildings.

88. In any Municipality in which the tax on persons is imposed, no tax shall be assessed on any person in respect of his occupation of any holding which is the property of Government and used for the purposes of a public building, but a rate of seven and a half per centum shall be assessed on the annual value of every such holding, to be ascertained in the manner prescribed by section one hundred, and such rate shall be payable by Government.

Procedure if aggregate amount of rates assessed on any person exceeds Rs. 84 per annum.

89. Whenever any tax shall have been assessed on any person, in respect of his occupation of two or more holdings, and the aggregate of the amount so assessed upon him shall exceed eighty-four rupees per annum, such person may, within fifteen days of the publication of the notice required by section one hundred and eleven, apply to the Commissioners to cancel such assessment, and to substitute for the total amount of tax so assessed upon him, in respect of the said holdings, a rate to be calculated at seven and a half per centum on the annual value of such holdings; and the Commissioners shall thereupon substitute such rate; and for the purpose of calculating the amount of such rate, shall determine the annual value of the said holdings in the manner prescribed by section one hundred.

Every rate imposed under this section shall be payable by the occupier of the holdings so rated.

Power of exemption.

90. The Commissioners may exempt from assessment any person who may by them be deemed too poor to pay the tax; but the name of the occupier of every holding shall be included in the assessment list, whether he be assessed or exempted from assessment.

Power to apply for reduction of assessment in altered circumstances.

91. If any person mentioned in the assessment list shall at any time after the publication thereof have ceased to occupy any holding, in respect of the occupation of which he has been assessed, or if the means and property in respect of which he has been so assessed shall have been reduced, the Commissioners may on his application exempt him from his assessment, or may revise the same; and such exemption or revision shall take effect from such date as the Commissioners may direct.

Power to alter assessment.

92. The Commissioners may, at any time after the publication of the notice required by section one hundred and eleven, assess any person who was without authority omitted from the assessment list, or whose liability to assessment has accrued thereafter, and may enhance any assessment which appears to them to be inadequate, and to have been so made owing to mistake or fraud.

Any assessment or enhancement made under this section shall take effect from the beginning of the quarter next following that in which such assessment or enhancement is made.

Procedure on change of occupation.

93. The Commissioners may at any time substitute for any name mentioned in the assessment list the name of any new occupier of a holding, and may assess the tax on such person, and such person shall be liable to pay such assessment from the date on which his occupation of the holding commenced.

Assessment on vacant holdings when to cease.

94. If any holding shall become vacant in the course of the year, the assessment on account of the occupation of such holding shall cease to have effect from the first day of the quarter next following that in which it became vacant.

Of the Rate on the value of Holdings.

Commissioners to determine the valuation of holdings.

95. When it has been determined that a rate shall be imposed on the annual value of holdings, the Commissioners, after making such enquiries as may be necessary, shall determine the valuation of all holdings within the Municipality as hereinafter provided.

Duration of assessment.

96. Save as is herein otherwise provided, such valuation shall be valid for three years from the date on which it first takes effect in the Municipality, and until the beginning of the year next after the date on which a new valuation may be made, or until the valuation be revised and amended.

Buildings exempted from tax.

97. The rate on the value of holdings shall not be assessed or levied on any holding which is used exclusively as a place of public worship, or which is duly registered as a public burial or burning ground under section two hundred and sixty.

What returns may be required for ascertaining annual value.

98. The Commissioners, in order to prepare the valuation list, may, whenever they think fit, by notice, require the owners or occupiers of all holdings to furnish them with returns of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, at any time between sunrise and sunset, may enter, inspect, and measure any such holding after having given forty-eight hours' previous notice of their intention to the occupier thereof.

Penalty for default in furnishing return.

99. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required to do so, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further daily fine not exceeding five rupees for each day during which he shall omit to furnish a true and correct return; and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Commissioner or any person appointed by the Commissioners as aforesaid, from entering, or inspecting, or measuring any such holding, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Annual value of holding how to be ascertained.

100. The gross annual rent at which any holding may be reasonably expected to let, shall be deemed to be the annual value thereof, and such value shall accordingly be determined by the Commissioners, and entered in the valuation list:

Provided that, if there be on a holding any building or buildings, the actual cost of erection of which can be ascertained or estimated, the annual value of such holding shall in no case be deemed to exceed an amount which would be equal to seven and a half per centum on such cost, in addition to a reasonable ground rent for the land comprised in the holding:

Provided further that, in estimating the annual value of a holding under this section, the value of any machinery that may be on such holding shall not be taken into consideration.

Determination of rate of tax on holdings.

101. Subject to the provisions of section eighty-four, the Commissioners, at a meeting to be held before the close of the year next preceding the year to which the rate will apply, shall determine the percentage on the valuation of holdings at which the rate shall be levied, and the percentage so fixed shall remain in force until the order of the Commissioners determining such percentage shall be rescinded, and until the Commissioners at a meeting shall determine some other percentage on the valuation of holdings at which the rate will be levied from the beginning of the next year:

Provided that when this Act is first extended to any place, the first rate may be levied from the beginning of the quarter next after that in which the percentage has been fixed by the Commissioners at a meeting.

Preparation of valuation and rating list.

102. As soon as possible after the percentage at which the rate is to be levied on the next year shall have been determined under the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall cause to be prepared a valuation and rating list, which shall contain the following particulars, and any others which the Commissioners may think proper to include :—

(a) name of the street or road in which the holding is situated ;
(b) number of the holding on the register ;
(c) description of the holding ;
(d) annual value of the holding ;
(e) name of owner ;
(f) amount of rate payable for the year ;
(g) amount of quarterly instalment ;
(h) if the holding is exempted from assessment, a note to that effect.

The rate upon holdings shall be payable in quarterly instalments by the owner of the holding.

Power to assess upon a house consolidated tax for house and land on which it stands.

103. If any house belongs to one owner, and the land on which it stands and the adjacent land which is usually occupied therewith, belongs to another, the Commissioners may value such house and land together and may impose thereon one consolidated rate.

The total amount of the rates shall be payable by the owner of the house, who shall thereafter be entitled to deduct from the rent which he pays for the land such proportion of the rate so paid by him as is equal to the proportion which such rent bears to the annual value of the holding.

If the owner of the house and the owner of the land do not agree in respect of the proportion of the rate so deducted by the owner of the house, the Commissioners shall, on the application of either party, make an award declaring the amount payable by each, and such award shall be final.

Tax due from non-resident owner may be recovered from occupier and deducted by him from his rent.

104. If the sum due from the owner of any holding remains unpaid after the notice of demand has been duly served, and such owner be not resident within the Municipality, or the place of abode of such owner be unknown, the same may be recovered from the occupier for the time being of such holding, who may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by or recovered from him :

Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any holding for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Power of Commissioners in cases of excessive hardship.

105. Whenever, from the circumstances of the case, the levy of the rate on any holding in the Municipality would be productive of excessive hardship to the person liable to pay the same, the Commissioners at a meeting may reduce the amount payable on account of such holding, or may remit the same.

Application for reduction of assessment.

106. If the value of any holding shall be diminished from any cause beyond the control of the owner thereof, the owner thereof may apply for reduction of the valuation of the same.

Power to revise valuation and assessment.

107. The Commissioners may, at any time after the publication of the notice required by section one hundred and eleven, value and rate any holding which was without authority omitted from the valuation and rating list, or which has become liable to valuation and rating after the publication thereof ; and may enhance the valuation and rating of any holding which may appear to have been insufficiently valued or rated through mistake, oversight or fraud ; and may re-value and re-assess any holding the value of which has been increased by additions or alterations to any building thereon.

Any rate imposed or enhancement made under this section shall take effect from the beginning of the quarter next following that in which the rate shall be imposed or enhancement made.

Power to revise assessment list.

108. The Commissioners may, at any time substitute for any name mentioned in the valuation and rating list, the name of any person to whom any holding mentioned therein shall have been transferred.

Such person shall be liable to pay the rate payable on such holding from the first day of the quarter next after the date of the transfer.

Remission or refund on account of vacant holdings.

109. When any holding has been vacant for sixty or more consecutive days during any year, the Commissioners shall remit, and, if the rate has been paid, shall refund, one-half of so much of the rate of that year as may be proportionate to the number of days the said holding has remained unoccupied :

Provided that the owner of such holding, or his agent, has given to the Commissioners notice in writing of the vacancy thereof.

The amount of tax to be remitted or refunded shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice.

Penalty.

110. Whoever, being the owner of any holding for which a remission or refund of the rate has been made under the last preceding section, fails to give notice of the re-occupation of such holding within ten days of such re-occupation, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount of rate payable quarterly on such holding.

Of general provisions relating to the tax on persons and the rate on holdings and to the recovery of the same.

Publication of notice of assessments.

111. When the assessment list of the tax upon persons, or the valuation and rating list of the rate on the annual value of holdings, shall have been prepared or revised, the Chairman shall sign the same, and shall cause it to be deposited in the office of the Commissioners, and shall cause the notice in form (A) or the notice in form (B) of the third schedule (as the case may be) to be published in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and fifty-eight.

Application for review.

112. Any person who is dissatisfied with the amount assessed upon him, or with the valuation or rating of any holding, or who disputes his occupation of any holding, or his liability to be assessed, or rated, may apply to the Commissioners to review the amount of assessment, valuation, or rating, or to exempt him from the assessment or rate.

Procedure upon review.

113. Every application presented under the last preceding section shall be heard and determined by not less than three Commissioners, who shall be appointed in that behalf by the Chairman. The Commissioners so appointed, after making such inquiries as they may deem necessary, may pass such order as they shall think fit in respect of such application.

The decision of such Commissioners, or of a majority thereof, in such cases shall be final.

Limitation of time for application of review.

114. Unless good cause shall be shewn to the satisfaction of such Commissioners for extending the time allowed, and save as is otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no such application shall be received after the expiration of one month from the date of publication of the notice required by section one hundred and eleven relating to the list containing the assessment, valuation, or rating in respect of which the application is made, or after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of service of the first notice of demand for payment at the rate in respect of which the application is made, whichever period shall last expire.

Assessment to be questioned only under Act.

115. No objection shall be taken to any assessment or rating, nor shall the liability of any person to be assessed or rated be questioned in any other manner or by any other authority than in this Act is provided.

Office hours for payment of taxes.

116. By notification to be posted up in their office, the Commissioners shall declare at what hours of each day (not being a Sunday or other recognized holiday) the office shall be open for the receipt of money and the transaction of business.

Tax payable in advance.

117. The amount due by any person on account of the tax on persons, or the rate on holdings, shall be deemed to be the amount entered in the lists, the notice relating to which is published under section one hundred and eleven, unless the amount entered in such lists is subsequently altered by the Commissioners as provided in this Act; in which case the amount to which the assessment or rating is so altered shall be deemed to be the amount due.

Every instalment of such tax or rate shall be deemed to be due on the first day of the quarter in respect of which such instalment is payable.

Receipts to be given.

118. For all sums paid on account of any tax or rate under this Act a receipt stating the amount and the tax or rate on account of which it is paid shall be given, signed by the tax-collector, or by some other officer authorized by the Commissioners to grant such receipts.

Bill and notice of demand to be presented

119. At any time within six months after any sum has become due on account of any tax or rate, the Commissioners shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the said sum, which shall contain a statement of the period and of the tax or rate on account of which the charge is made.

If the amount mentioned in such bill be not paid on presentation thereof, a notice of demand in the form marked (A) in the fourth schedule, with copy of the bill appended thereto, shall be served on the person liable to pay the same, and such notice of demand may be served at any subsequent time:

Provided that no charge shall be made in respect of the service of such notice.

Such notice shall be signed by the Chairman or an officer authorized in that behalf, and shall be served by a person authorized to receive payment.

If not paid in fifteen days, process of distress may issue.

120. If any person, after service upon him of such bill and notice, shall not, within fifteen days of the service of such notice, or from the date of any order made on an application for review under section one hundred and thirteen, pay the sum due, either to the Commissioners at their office, or to some person authorized by them to receive the money, or shew to the Commissioners sufficient cause for not paying the same, the amount of the arrear due, with costs on the scale shewn in the table of fees marked (B) in the fourth schedule, may at any time within three months after the date of service of the said notice, or of the order made on an application for review as aforesaid, be levied by distress and sale of any moveable property belonging to the defaulter, except ploughs, plough-cattle, tools, or implements of agriculture or trade, wherever found, or of any such moveable property, subject to the same exceptions, which may be found within the holding in respect of which such defaulter is liable to such tax or rate.

If the said property or any part thereof belong to any person other than the defaulter, the defaulter shall be liable to indemnify the owner thereof for any damage he may sustain by reason of such distress, or by reason of any payment he may make to avoid such distress or any sale under the same.

Distress how to be made.

121. Every warrant of distress and sale under the last preceding section shall be issued by the Commissioners, and shall be in the form marked (C) in the fourth schedule.

Distress shall be made by actual seizure of moveable property, and the officer charged with the execution of the warrant shall be responsible for the due custody thereof.

Such officer shall make an inventory of all moveable property seized under the warrant, and shall give not less than ten days' previous notice of the sale, and of the time and place thereof, by beat of drum, in the Municipality or Ward in which the property is situated, and by serving on the defaulter a notice in the form marked (D) in the fourth schedule:

Provided that if the property is of a perishable nature, it may be sold at once with the consent of the defaulter, or without such consent at any time after the expiry of six hours from the seizure.

122. The officer charged with the execution of the warrant may, under the special order of the Commissioners, between sunrise and sunset, break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, in order to make the distress, if he has reasonable ground for believing that such house contains any moveable property belonging to the defaulter, and if, after notification of his authority and purpose and demand of admittance duly made, he cannot otherwise obtain admittance:

Officer may break open door.

Provided that he shall not enter or break open the door of any room appropriated for the zánaná, or residence of women, which, by the usage of the country is considered private, except after three hours' notice and opportunity given for the retirement of the women.

123. If the sum due be not paid with costs before the time fixed for the sale, or the warrant be not discharged or suspended by the Commissioners, the moveable property seized shall be sold by auction, at the time and place specified, in the most public manner possible, and the proceeds shall be applied in discharge of the arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned on demand to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure; or if unclaimed for a period of twelve months, shall be transferred to the Municipal Fund.

Sale how to be conducted.

The tax-collector or other officer authorized in that behalf shall make a return of all such sales to the Commissioners in the form marked (E) in the fourth schedule.

Return of sales.

124. All officers and servants of the Commissioners, and all chaukidars, constables, and other officers of Police, are prohibited from purchasing any property at any such sale.

Certain persons prohibited from purchasing at sales.

125. The Commissioners shall cause a regular account to be kept of all distresses levied, and sales made, for the recovery of taxes under this Act.

Commissioners to keep account of distresses and sales.

126. If no sufficient goods or chattels belonging to a defaulter, or being upon the premises in respect of which he is assessed or rated, can be found within the Municipality, the Magistrate may, on the application of the Commissioners, issue his warrant to any officer of his Court for the distress and sale of any personal property or effects belonging to the defaulter within any other part of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate, or for the distress and sale of any personal property belonging to the defaulter within the jurisdiction of any other Magistrate whatsoever, and such other Magistrate shall endorse the warrant so issued, and cause it to be executed, and the amount, if levied, to be remitted to the Magistrate issuing the warrant, who shall remit the same to the Commissioners.

Sale of property beyond limits of Municipality.

127. No distress or sale made under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser on account of any error, defect, or want of form in the bill, notice, summons, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto.

Distress or sale not unlawful for want of form.

128. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize thereby the whole or any part of any tax, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Commissioners may bring suit instead of distraining or on failure of distress.

129. The Commissioners may order to be struck off the books the amount of any tax or rate which may appear to them to be irrecoverable.

Irrecoverable taxes.

Of the Tax on Carriages, Horses, and other Animals.

130. When it has been determined that a tax on carriages, horses, and other animals specified in the fifth schedule shall be imposed, the Commissioners at a meeting shall make an order that every carriage, horse, and every other animal of the kind specified in the said schedule which is kept or habitually used within, or which is let for hire within or without the Municipality, and habitually used within it, shall pay the tax, and shall cause such orders to be published in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and fifty-eight.

Tax on carriages, horses, and other animals.

Such order shall be published at least one month before the beginning of the half-year in which such tax shall first take effect; and shall specify at what rates, not exceeding the rates given in the said schedule, such tax shall be levied.

But such tax shall not be imposed on—

(a) horses or ponies belonging to officers doing regimental duty, at the rate of one animal for each officer;

(b) animals exempt from any Municipal tax under section 25 of the Indian Volunteers' Act, 1869;

(c) carriages or animals belonging to Government, or to the Municipality or for keeping which for the execution of their duty an allowance is made by the Government or by the Commissioners to any of their officers;

(d) animals used by, or exclusively for the purposes of, any regiment;

(e) horses or ponies used by police officers, at the rate of not more than one for each officer;

(f) carriages, the wheels of which do not exceed twenty-four inches in diameter;

(g) carriages or animals kept for sale by any bonâ fide dealer in such carriages or animals, and not used for any other purpose.

131. Any order of the Commissioners imposing a tax under the last preceding section shall continue in force until rescinded, and the tax shall be levied at the rates specified in the order published as aforesaid; unless and until the Commissioners at a meeting, held not less than fifteen days before the end of the year, make and publish an order specifying any different rates at which the tax shall be payable for the ensuing year.

Tax so fixed to continue in force until altered.

132. In any Municipality in which a tax has been imposed under the last preceding section, the owner of every carriage, horse, and other animal specified in the said schedule shall, within the first month of each half-year, forward to the Commissioners a statement in writing, signed by him, containing a description of the carriages, horses, and other animals liable to the tax, for which he is bound to take out a license.

Licenses how to be obtained.

Such owner shall, at the same time, pay to the Commissioners such sum as shall be payable by him for the current half-year for the carriages, horses, and other animals specified in such statement, according to the rates specified in any order for the time being in force under the two last preceding sections.

133. If any person acquires possession, at any time after the commencement of any half-year, of any carriage, horse, or other animal specified in the schedule, in respect of which no license has been given for such half-year, he shall forward a statement as above required within one month of the date on which he may have acquired possession thereof, and shall pay such amount of the tax as shall bear the same proportion to the whole tax for the half-year as the unexpired portion of the half-year bears to the half-year; and such amount shall be calculated from the date on which such person may have acquired possession as aforesaid.

Proportionate tax on carriages, &c., acquired during half-year.

134. On receiving the amount of the tax due as aforesaid, the Commissioners, or some person authorised by them in that behalf, shall give to the person paying the same a license for the several carriages, horses, and other animals for the period in respect of which the amount is received.

On payment of tax, Commissioners to give a license.

Such license shall be for the current half-year and no longer.

135. Whenever the owner of any carriage, horse, or other animal liable to pay the said tax is not resident within the limits of the Municipality to the Commissioners of which the tax is due, the person in whose immediate possession the carriage, horse, or other animal is for the time being kept shall take out a license for the same.

Carriage, &c., liable to tax although the owner be absent.

136. Whoever keeps, or is in possession of, any carriage, horse, or other animal, without the license required by the three last preceding sections, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

Penalty.

137. The Commissioners, at their discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers and other persons keeping carriages or animals for hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages or animals so kept by such person, in lieu of the tax at the rates specified in any order made by the Commissioners under sections one hundred and thirty and one hundred and thirty-one.

Commissioners may compound with livery stable-keepers.

138. The Commissioners shall, from time to time, cause to be prepared and entered in a book, to be kept by them, and to be open to the inspection of any person interested therein, a list of the persons to whom, during the then current half-year, a license has been given, and of the carriages, horses, and other animals in respect of which they have paid the tax.

List of persons licensed to be prepared.

139. The Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter and inspect any stable or coach-house, or any place wherein they may have reason to believe that there is any carriage, horse, or other animal liable to the tax, for which a license has not been duly taken out.

Power to inspect stable, &c., and to summon persons liable to the payment of the tax.

And the Commissioners may summon any person whom they have reason to believe to be liable to the payment of any such tax, or any servant of such person, and may examine such person or servant as to the number and description of the carriages, horses, and other animals in respect of which such person is liable to be taxed.

140. On proof being given to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that a carriage, horse, or other animal for which a license has been taken out for any half-year has ceased to be kept or to be used within the Municipality during the course of such half-year, the Commissioners shall order a refund of so much of the tax for the half-year as shall bear the same proportion to the whole tax for the half-year as the period during which such carriage, horse, or other animal has not been kept or used in the Municipality bears to the half-year; but no such refund shall be allowed unless notice be given to the Commissioners within one month of the time when such use of such carriage, horse, or other animal ceased, and the Commissioners shall pass no order for refund until after the close of the half-year in respect of which the refund is claimed.

Refund of tax in certain cases.

Of the Registration of Carts.

141. The Commissioners at a meeting may make and publish an order that every cart, which is kept or habitually used within, or which is let for hire within or without the Municipality and habitually used within it, shall be registered by the Commissioners with the name and residence of the owner; and shall bear the number of registration in such manner as the said Commissioners shall direct:

Registration and number of carts.

Provided always, that such order shall be published at least one month before the beginning of the half-year in which such order for registration shall be enforced.

This section shall not apply to carts—

(a) which are the property of the Government or of the Municipality;

(b) which are kept without the limits of the Municipality, and are only temporarily and casually used within such limits;

(c) which are kept in Howrah or within the Suburbs of Calcutta.

Fee for registration

142. The registration of carts under the last preceding section shall be made, and the numbers assigned yearly or half-yearly, upon such days as the Commissioners shall notify, and such fee as they shall from time to time fix and notify, not exceeding four rupees if the registration has effect for a year, and not exceeding two rupees if the registration has effect for half a year, shall be paid for each registration.

Proportionate payment of fee.

143. Any person becoming possessed of any cart which has not been registered for the then current period of registration, shall register the same within one month of the date on which he may have become possessed thereof, and the Commissioners shall grant registration in any such case on payment of such amount of the fee as shall bear the same proportion to the whole fee for the current period of registration as the unexpired portion of the current period of registration bears to the whole of such period; and such fee shall be calculated from the date on which such person may have become possessed as aforesaid.

Transfer of ownership.

144. When the ownership of any registered cart is transferred within any period of registration, it shall be registered anew within one month of the transfer in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred, and a fee not exceeding four annas shall be paid for every such last-mentioned registration.

Penalty.

145. Whoever keeps, or is in possession of, a cart not duly registered as required by the three last preceding sections, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such registration, exclusive of the amount so payable; and whoever, being the owner or driver of any cart, shall fail to affix thereto the registration number as required by section one hundred and forty-one, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Seizure and sale of unregistered cart.

146. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered without having caused the same to be registered, the Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may seize and detain such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of seizure in the conveyance of any passengers or goods); together with the animals drawing the same, and all police officers are required, on the application of the Commissioners, or of any servant of the Commissioners duly authorized in that behalf, to assist in the said seizure.

After such seizure, the Commissioners shall forthwith issue a notice in writing that after the expiration of ten days they will sell such vehicle and animals by auction at such place as they may state in the notice; and if any registration fee, together with the cost arising from such seizure and custody, remains unpaid for ten days after the issue of such notice, the Commissioners may sell the property seized for payment of the said fee, and of all expenses occasioned by such non-payment, seizure, custody and sale.

Any balance that may remain out of the proceeds of the sale shall be returned, on demand, if made within twelve months, to the owner of the property; and if unclaimed after such period, shall be credited to the Municipal Fund:

Provided that if, at any time before the sale is concluded, the person whose cart has been seized shall tender to the Commissioners, or to the person authorized by them to sell the cart, the amount of all the expenses incurred, and the registration fee payable by him, the Commissioners shall forthwith release the cart so seized.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the surplus of the sale proceeds of a cart seized under this section may be devoted to the payment of any fine imposed under the last preceding section; and any cart which has been seized under this section may be sold for the realization of any such fine.

Of Tolls on Ferries.

Existing public ferries.

147. The Local Government may, with the consent of the Commissioners, make over to the Commissioners any existing public ferry within or adjacent to the limits of the Municipality, to be administered by such Municipality until the Local Government shall otherwise direct.

Every ferry, while so administered, shall be deemed to be a Municipal ferry, and the profits derivable therefrom, or such part of the profits as shall be agreed upon between the Local Government and the Commissioners, shall be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

Other ferries may be declared to be Municipal.

148. The Commissioners may also, with the sanction of the Local Government, declare that any other ferry within, or adjacent to, the limits of the Municipality is a Municipal ferry, and the profits derivable therefrom shall thenceforward be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund:

Provided that due compensation shall be made by the Municipality to any person for the loss which he may have sustained in consequence of such ferry being declared to be a Municipal ferry.

The amount of compensation due in such cases shall be ascertained and awarded by the Magistrate under the provisions of section four of Bengal Act 1 of 1866 (to amend certain provisions of Regulation VI of 1819), or any similar law for the time being in force.

Duties of Commissioners in regard to such ferries.

149. Every Municipal ferry shall be maintained by the Commissioners, and they shall do all things necessary to provide for the safety and convenience of travellers, and the safety of property to be conveyed on such ferry.

Rate of tolls to be established and published.

150. When it has been determined to impose tolls on Municipal ferries, the Commissioners at a meeting shall make and publish an order specifying the ferries, and, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, the rates at which such tolls shall be levied.

Such rates may from time to time be varied with the like sanction.

When persons crossing river not liable to toll.

151 No person shall be liable to pay any toll for crossing any river or stream at or near a Municipal ferry, unless he avails himself of the means provided by the Commissioners for crossing such river or stream.

Cancellation of ferry lease, &c.

152. Every lease of a ferry given by the Commissioners as hereinafter provided shall be liable to be cancelled at once, if it shall appear to the Commissioners at a meeting that the lessee has failed to make due provision for the convenience or safety of the public within fifteen days after being required to do so by a notice in writing from the Commissioners.

On the cancelment of a lease, the Commissioners may take possession of all boats and other appliances which have been used by the lessee in the working of the ferry; and may either retain the same permanently on payment of a fair price to the proprietor, or may retain them for such time as may be necessary, not exceeding three months, until they can make arrangements for such other boats and appliances as may be necessary, in which case the Commissioners shall pay a fair price to the owners for the use of the said boats and appliances:

Provided that within a week of taking such possession, the Commissioners shall be bound to give notice to the said lessee of their intention to retain the said boats and appliances permanently, or for a period to be specified in the notice.

Toll must be prepaid.

153. Any collector or lessee of tolls, or his agent, may refuse to convey any person or goods across a Municipal ferry until the proper toll has been paid, and may require any person who refuses to pay the toll to leave the boat and to remove his goods from it.

Penalty.

Any person who refuses to leave a Municipal ferry-boat or to remove his goods therefrom when required to do so under this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

Keeping of unauthorised ferry.

154. No person shall keep a ferry-boat for the purpose of plying for hire within a distance of two miles above or below any Municipal ferry without the previous sanction, of the Commissioners, if he plies within the limits of the Municipality, of the Magistrate of the District, if without such limits, or of the Magistrate of the District and the Commissioners, if one of the two banks between which he plies is within, and the other bank is without, such limits.

This section shall not apply to any private ferry which may be in existence at the commencement of this Act.

Penalty.

155. Whoever keeps a ferry-boat contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been required by a notice in writing to desist from such offence.

Of Tolls on Bridges and Roads.

Existing toll-bars.

156. The Local Government may, with the consent of the Commissioners, make over to the Commissioners any existing toll-bar within the limits of the Municipality, to be administered by the Municipality until the Local Government shall otherwise direct; every toll-bar while so administered shall be deemed to be a Municipal toll-bar, and the profits derivable therefrom, or such part thereof as shall be agreed upon between the Local Government and the Commissioners, shall be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

Commissioners may establish toll-bar.

157. The Commissioners at a meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, may establish a toll-bar and levy tolls on any bridge or metalled road which they may have constructed after the commencement of this Act, or at any place within the Municipality adjacent to such bridge or metalled road at which tolls may conveniently be levied on vehicles and animals passing over such bridge or road; and the profits derivable therefrom shall be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund:

Provided that no such toll-bar shall be established, or tolls levied, otherwise than for the purpose of recovering the expenses incurred in constructing such bridge or road, and in maintaining such bridge or road in repair for the five years next after the construction thereof, together with interest on such expenses as hereinafter provided.

Commissioners to publish expenses, &c., of toll-bars.

158. Whenever a toll-bar shall have been established, and tolls shall be levied, as provided in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall at the end of each year publish, by causing it to be posted up at their office, an abstract account shewing—

(1) the amount of expenses incurred in the construction of such bridge or road, and in the maintenance of the same;

(2) the amount of interest which has accrued due thereon, at the annual rate of six per centum; and

(3) the amount which has been received from the profits of the said toll-bars since its establishment; and as soon as such expenses and interest shall have been recovered as aforesaid, such toll-bars shall be removed, and tolls shall no longer be levied on such bridge or road.

Rates of tolls to be established and published.

159. When it has been determined that tolls shall be levied on any such bridge or road, the Commissioners at a meeting shall make and publish an order, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, specifying the rates at which such tolls shall be levied.

Such rates may from time to time be varied with the like sanction.

Power of collector or lessee in case of refusal to pay toll.

160. Any collector or lessee of tolls may refuse to allow any person to pass through any Municipal toll-bar until the proper toll has been paid.

Penalty for refusing to pay or avoiding payment of toll.

161. Whoever, having driven any vehicle or animal (not exempted from toll) through a toll-gate, refuses to pay the toll, or, with intent to evade payment of the toll, fraudulently avoids passing through such toll-gate, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

In case of non-payment of toll, vehicle, &c., may be seized and sold.

162. If the toll due on any vehicle or animal is not paid on demand, the person authorized to collect the same may seize such vehicle or animal, or any part of its burden, of sufficient value to defray the toll, and shall give immediate notice of such seizure to the Commissioners.

After such seizure, the Commissioners shall forthwith issue a notice in writing that, after the expiration of ten days, they will sell the property seized by auction at such place as they may state in the notice; and if any toll, together with the cost arising from such seizure and custody, remain undischarged for ten days after the issue of such notice, the Commissioners may sell the property seized, for discharge of the toll, and of all expenses occasioned by such non-payment, seizure, custody and sale.

Any balance that may remain out of the proceeds of the sale shall be returned, on demand, if made within twelve months, to the owner of the property; and, if unclaimed after such period, shall be credited to the Municipal Fund:

Provided that if, at any time before the sale has been concluded, the person whose property has been seized shall tender to the Commissioners, or to the officer appointed by them to sell the property, the amount of all the expenses incurred and of the toll payable by him, the Commissioners shall forthwith release the property seized.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the surplus of the sale proceeds of any property seized under this section may be devoted to the payment of any fine imposed under the last preceding section; and any property which has been seized under this section may be sold for the realization of any such fine.

Of general provisions relating to Tolls on Ferries and Roads.

Lease of ferry or toll-bar.

163. The Commissioners may grant a lease of any Municipal ferry or toll-bar for any period not exceeding three years.

Table of tolls to be hung up.

164. A table of tolls legibly written in the vernacular of the district shall be hung up, in some conspicuous position at each end of every Municipal ferry, and in some conspicuous position near every Municipal toll-bar, so as to be easily read by all persons required to pay the toll.

Penalty.

165. Whoever, being a toll-collector or lessee of a Municipal ferry or toll-bar, neglects to hang up a table of tolls as required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been required by a notice in writing to desist from such offence.

Composition in respect of toll.

166. The Commissioners, or the lessee of any Municipal ferry or toll-bar, may compound with any person for a certain sum to be paid by such person for himself, or for any vehicles or animals kept by him, in lieu of the ordinary toll payable.

Exemptions.

167. No tolls shall be paid for the passage of troops on the march, or of animals or vehicles employed in the transport of such troops; or of military or Government stores, or the persons in charge of them;

or of military or police officers, or of any public or Municipal officer on duty, or of any person in their custody, or of any property belonging to them or in their custody, or of any vehicle or animal employed by such persons for the transport of such property; or of conservancy carts or other vehicles, or animals belonging to the Commissioners, or of the persons in charge of them;

or of any animals, whether belonging to Government or otherwise, which are attached to a regiment or a Military Department, and which pass through a toll-bar, provided that tolls shall be leviable for conveying such animals over a ferry; and the Commissioners or their lessees shall not be bound to allow any person or thing not specified above, to cross a ferry or to pass a toll-gate without payment of the prescribed toll.

But the Commissioners at a meeting may exempt any other class of persons or things from payment of the said toll; and in granting a lease of any ferry or toll-bar may stipulate that any Municipal servants and property and any other persons or things shall be allowed to pass without payment of the toll.

Police officers to assist.

168. In all cases of resistance to the person authorized to collect tolls, police officers shall assist when required, and for that purpose shall have the same powers as they have in the exercise of their ordinary police duties.

Penalty for taking unauthorized tolls.

169. Whoever, being authorized under this Act to collect tolls, demands or takes any higher tolls than the tolls authorized under this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and in default of payment to one month's imprisonment.

Commissioners may be appointed to collect tolls in a navigable channel.

170. If the Local Government has declared that the provisions of the Canals' Act, 1864, or any other similar law for the time being in force, are applicable to any navigable channel which passes through the limits of a Municipality, it may, with the consent of the Commissioners, appoint the Commissioners to collect tolls, as provided in section eight of the said Act, until the Local Government shall otherwise direct; and the profits derivable therefrom, or such part thereof as shall be agreed upon between the Local Government and the Commissioners, shall be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

In such case, the Commissioners shall exercise all the powers vested by such Act in the Collector.

Local Government may order Commissioners to cease levying tolls.

171. The Local Government may at any time order that the Commissioners, or any person authorized by them, shall cease to levy any tolls under the last preceding section, and may at any time withdraw such order.

PART V.

MUNICIPAL REGULATIONS WHICH SHALL BE GENERALLY IN FORCE IN ALL MUNICIPALITIES.

General.

Operation of this Part.

172. The provisions of this Part shall be in force in every Municipality, unless and until the Local Government shall otherwise direct.

173. The Local Government may, at any time, make an order directing that all or any of the said provisions shall not be in force in any Municipality, or in any part thereof; and the provisions mentioned in such order shall cease to be in force in such Municipality, or part thereof, from the date specified in such order.

Local Government may order provisions of this Part to be not in force in any Municipality.

The Local Government may at any time cancel or modify any order made under this section.

174. Whenever it is provided in this Part or in Part VI that the Commissioners or the Commissioners at a meeting may require the owners or the occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of any land, to execute any work or to do anything within a specified time, such requisition shall be made, as far as possible, by a notice to be served as provided in sections three hundred and fifty-six and three hundred and fifty-seven, on every owner or occupier who is required to execute such work or to do such thing; but, if there be any doubt as to the persons who are owners or occupiers, such requisition may be made by a notification to be posted up, on, or near, the spot at which the work is required to be executed or the thing done, requiring the owners or the occupiers, to execute such work or to do such thing within a specified time; and in such notification it shall not be necessary to name the owners or occupiers.

Procedure, when owners or occupiers required to execute works by Commissioners.

Every requisition as aforesaid shall give notice to the persons to whom it is addressed that, if they fail to comply with the requisition, or to prefer an objection against such requisition as provided in the next succeeding section, the Commissioners will enter upon the land and cause the required work to be executed, or the required thing to be done; and that in such case the expenses incurred thereby will be recovered from the persons who are required in such requisition to execute such work or do such thing.

175. Any person who is required by a requisition as aforesaid to execute any work or to do anything, may, instead of executing the work or doing the thing required, prefer an objection in writing to the Commissioners against such requisition within five days of the service of the notice or posting up of the notification containing the requisition; or, if the time within which he is required to comply with the requisition be less than five days, then within such less time.

Person required to execute any work may prefer objection to the Commissioners.

Except as provided in the next succeeding section, such objection shall be heard and disposed of by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

176. If the objection shall allege that the cost of executing the work or of doing the thing required will exceed three hundred rupees, such objection shall be heard and disposed of by the Commissioners at a meeting; unless the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall certify that such cost will not exceed three hundred rupees, in which case the objection shall be heard and disposed of by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman:

Procedure if person objecting alleges that work will cost more than Rs. 300.

Provided that in any case in which the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall have certified his opinion as aforesaid, and the objection shall in consequence thereof have been heard and disposed of by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, the person making the objection may, if the requisition made upon him is not withdrawn on the hearing of his objection, pay in the said sum of three hundred rupees to the Commissioners as the cost of executing the work or the thing required; whereupon such person shall be relieved of all further liability and obligation, in respect of executing the work or doing the thing required, and in respect of paying the expenses thereof; and the Commissioners themselves shall execute such work, or do such thing, and shall exercise all powers necessary therefor.

177. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman, or the Commissioners at a meeting, as the case may be, shall, after hearing the objection and making any inquiry which they may deem necessary, record an order withdrawing, modifying, or making absolute the requisition against which the objection is preferred; and if such order does not withdraw the requisition, it shall specify the time within which the requisition shall be carried out, which shall not be less than the shortest time which might have been mentioned under this Act in the original requisition.

Chairman, &c., may make order after hearing objection.

178. If the person making such objection be present at the office of the Commissioners, the said order shall be explained to him orally; and if such order cannot be so explained, notice of such order shall be served as provided in section three hundred and fifty-six on the person making the objection; and such explanation of, or service of, the notice of the said order shall be deemed a requisition duly made under this Act to execute the work or do the thing required.

Order to be explained orally.

179. If the person or persons required to execute the work or to do the thing fail, within the time specified in any requisition as aforesaid, to begin to execute such work or to do such thing, and thereafter diligently to continue the same to the satisfaction of the Commissioners until it is completed, the Commissioners or any person authorized by them in that behalf may, after giving forty-eight hours' notice of their intention by a notification to be posted up on or near the spot, enter upon the land and perform all necessary acts for the execution of the work or doing of the thing required; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners or by the occupiers, if such requisition was addressed to the owners or to the occupiers respectively, and by the owners and the occupiers, if such requisition was addressed to the owners and the occupiers.

Power of Commissioners on failure of person to execute work.

180. Whenever any expenses incurred by the Commissioners are to be paid by the owners of any land as provided in the last preceding section, the Commissioners may, if there be more than one owner, apportion the said expenses among such owners in such manner as to the Commissioners may seem fit.

Commissioners may apportion expenses among owners.

And whenever any such expenses are to be paid by the occupiers of any land, as provided in the last preceding section, the Commissioners may, if there be more than one occupier, apportion the said expenses among such occupiers in such manner as to the Commissioners may seem fit.

Apportionment among owners and occupiers.

181. Whenever any expenses incurred by the Commissioners are to be paid by the owners and occupiers of any land, as provided in section one hundred and seventy-nine, the Commissioners may apportion the said expenses among the said owners and occupiers in such manner as to the Commissioners may seem fit.

Recovery of expenses incurred or fee chargeable.

182. Any expenses incurred, or fee chargeable, by the Commissioners under this Part or Part VI, may be recovered from the person liable to pay the same as an arrear of tax under sections one hundred and nineteen to one hundred and twenty-eight (both inclusive)

The demand for such expenses or fee shall be made by notice at any time within three months from the date on which the amount thereof shall have been ascertained.

Occupier may recover cost of works executed at his expense from owner.

183. Whenever any works or any alterations and improvements of which the Commissioners are authorized by this Part or Part VI to require the execution, are executed by the occupier on the requisition of the Commissioners, or are executed by the Commissioners, and the cost thereof is recovered from the occupier, the cost thereof may, if the Commissioners shall certify that such cost ought to be borne by the owner, be deducted by such occupier from the next and following payments of his rent due or becoming due to such owner, or may be recovered by him in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Liability to pay expenses or fees may be contested in Civil Court.

184. Any owner or occupier of land may contest his liability to pay any expenses or fees under this Part or Part VI, or may contest the amount which he has been called upon to pay, in a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction:

Provided that the fact of such action having been instituted shall be no bar to the recovery of the said amount, in the manner provided by section one hundred and eighty-two.

Damages and compensation how to be determined.

185. Where any damages or compensation are by this Act directed to be paid by the Commissioners, the amount, and if necessary, the apportionment of the same, in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction.

Method of proceeding before the Court.

186. In any such case which is to be determined by such Court, such Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, such Court may hear and determine such question, and, for that purpose may examine such parties or any of them, and their witnesses, on oath or affirmation; and the cost of every such inquiry shall be in the discretion of such Court, which shall determine the amount thereof.

Recovery of damages by distress.

187. If the amount of damages or compensation ascertained in the manner above described be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered under a warrant of such Court by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

Of Sewage, Offensive Matter, Rubbish, Privies, and Drains.

Establishments for removal of sewage, offensive matter and rubbish.

188. The Commissioners shall provide all establishments, cattle, carts, and implements required for the removal of sewage, offensive matter and rubbish.

Hours and mode of removal of offensive matter.

189. The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, by an order published as prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-four, appoint the hours within which it shall be lawful to remove offensive matter and the manner in which the same shall be removed, and may provide places convenient for the deposit thereof, and may require the occupiers of houses to cause the same to be deposited daily, or at other stated intervals, in such places, and may remove the same at the expense of the occupier from any house if the occupier thereof fails to do so in accordance with this Act.

Mehters must give one month's notice if they leave the service of the Commissioners.

190. Whenever such order shall have been published, no mehter, or other servant of the Commissioners employed to remove or deal with sewage, offensive matter or rubbish, shall withdraw from his duties without the permission of the Commissioners, unless he has given notice in writing not less than one month previously of his intention so to withdraw.

Any mehter, or other such person who, after the said publication, withdraws from his duties without giving such notice as aforesaid, shall be liable to rigorous imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month, and shall forfeit all salary which may be due to him.

Commissioners may appoint hours for placing rubbish on public road.

191. The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, by an order published as prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-four, appoint the hours within which only every occupier of any house or land may place rubbish on the public road adjacent to his house or land in order that such rubbish may be removed by the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may charge such fees as they may think fit in respect of the removal of such rubbish, with the consent of the occupier of any house or land, from such house or land, or in respect of the removal from such public road of any rubbish which has accumulated in the exercise of a trade or business.

Drains, privies, &c., under control of Commissioners.

192. All drains, privies and cess-pools shall be subject to the inspection and control of the Commissioners.

193. The Commissioners, or any officer authorized by them in that behalf, may inspect all privies, drains and cess-pools at any time between sunrise and sunset, after six hours' notice in writing to the occupier of any premises in which such privies, drains or cess-pools are situated, and may, if necessary, cause the ground to be opened where they or he may think fit for the purpose of preventing or removing any nuisance arising from such privies, drains, or cesspools; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner or occupier of such premises.

Inspection of drains, privies, and cess pools.

194. Whenever the Commissioners are satisfied that the existence of such privy, drain or cess-pool is attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants of the neighbourhood, they may direct the use of such disinfectants or deodorants as they shall specify in such privy, drain or cess-pool in such quantities, or for such time as they shall think fit. The Commissioners shall, if necessary, themselves supply such disinfectants or deodorants for such use at cost price, and the expense thereby incurred shall be considered as an arrear of tax, and be recoverable as such from the owner of such privy, drain, or cess-pool; or the Commissioners may, if they think fit, order that such expense shall be paid from the Municipal Fund.

Commissioners may direct the use of disinfectants or deodorants for such drains, privies, &c., as are in a noxious state

195. The Commissioners may provide and maintain, in sufficient numbers and in proper situations, common privies and urinals for the separate use of each sex, and shall cause the same to be kept in proper order and to be properly cleansed.

Common privies.

196. The Commissioners may license such necessaries for public accommodation as they from time to time may think proper.

Licensing of public necessaries.

197. Whenever any land being private property, or within any private enclosure, appears to the Commissioners, by reason of thick or noxious vegetation or jungle, or inequalities of surface, to afford facilities for the commission of a nuisance, or by want of drainage to be in a state injurious to health, or offensive to the neighbourhood, the Commissioners may require the owners or occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of such land, within fifteen days, to clear and remove such vegetation, or level such surface or drain such land:

Provided that if, for the purpose of effecting any drainage under this section, it shall be necessary to acquire any land not being the property of the person who is required to drain his land, or to pay compensation to any other person, the Commissioners shall provide such land and pay such compensation.

Power to require owners to clear noxious vegetation and to improve bad drainage.

198. All sewage, rubbish, and offensive matter collected by the Commissioners from roads, privies, sewers, cess-pools, and other places, shall be the property of the Commissioners, who shall have power to sell or otherwise dispose of the same; and the money arising from the sale thereof shall be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

All rubbish collected to be the property of Municipal Commissioners.

199. All existing public sewers, drains, and other conservancy works, shall be under the direction and control of the Commissioners, who shall have power to construct any further works of that nature which they may consider necessary.

Sewers, drains, &c., under control of the Commissioners.

Of Bathing and Washing Places and Tanks.

200. All streams, channels, water-courses, tanks, reservoirs, springs and wells, not being private property, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be under the direction and control of the Commissioners.

All public streams, &c., to be under direction and control of the Commissioners.

201. The Commissioners may, by order published at such places as they may think fit, set apart convenient tanks, or parts of rivers, streams, or channels, not being private property, for the supply of water for drinking and for culinary purposes: and may prohibit therein all bathing, washing of clothes and animals, or other acts calculated to pollute the water set apart for the purposes aforesaid; and may similarly set apart a sufficient number of the same for the purposes of bathing; and a sufficient number for washing animals and clothes, or for any other purpose connected with the health, cleanliness, or comfort of the inhabitants.

The Commissioners may similarly take such order as they think fit with the private portion of any stream or channel used as a part of the public water-supply.

Bathing places, &c.

202. The Commissioners may require the owners or occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of any land, within eight days, or such longer period as the Commissioners may fix, to cleanse any water-course, private tank, or pool therein, and to drain off and remove any waste or stagnant water which may appear to be injurious to health or offensive to the neighbourhood:

Provided that if, for the purpose of effecting any drainage under this section, it shall be necessary to acquire any land not being the property of the person who is required to drain his land or to pay compensation to any other person, the Commissioners shall provide such land and pay such compensation.

Power to require unwholesome tanks on private premises to be cleansed or drained.

Of Obstructions and Encroachments of Roads.

203. The Commissioners may close temporarily any road or part of a road for the purpose of repairing such road, or for the purpose of constructing any sewer, drain, culvert, or bridge, or for any other public purpose:

Provided that the Commissioners so closing any road shall be bound to provide reasonable means of access for persons occupying holdings adjacent to such road.

Whenever, owing to such repairs or constructions, or from any other cause, any road or part of a road, shall be in a state which is dangerous to passengers, the Commissioners shall cause sufficient barriers or fences to be erected for the security of life and property, and shall cause such barriers or fences to be sufficiently lighted from sunset to sunrise.

Power to close a road or part of a road for repairs, or other public purpose.

Removal of future obstructions or encroachments in road.

204. The Commissioners may issue a notice requiring any person to remove any wall which he may have built, or any fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment, which he may have erected in, or on any road or open drain, sewer, or aqueduct, after the date on which the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, or the District Towns Act, 1868, or the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, as the case may be, took effect in the Municipality; or in case neither of the said Acts was in force in the Municipality before the commencement of this Act, then after the date on which this Act may have been extended thereto; and if such person shall fail to comply with such requisition within eight days of the receipt of the same, the Magistrate may, on the application of the Commissioners, order that such obstruction or encroachment be removed; and thereupon the Commissioners may remove any such obstruction or encroachment; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person who erected the same.

No person shall be entitled to compensation in respect of the removal of any wall, fence, rail, post, or other obstruction under this section.

Procedure when person who erected obstruction cannot be found.

205. If the person who built or erected the said wall, fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment is not known, or cannot be found, the Commissioners may cause a notice to be posted up in the neighbourhood of the said wall, fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment, requiring any person interested in the same to remove it, and it shall not be necessary to name any person in such requisition; and if the said wall, fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment, be not removed in compliance with the requisition contained in such notice within eight days of the posting up of the same, the Magistrate may, on the application of the Commissioners, order that such obstruction or encroachment be removed; and thereupon the Commissioners may remove any such obstruction or encroachment, and may recover the cost of such removal by sale of the materials so removed.

Any surplus of such sale proceeds shall, on demand, be restored to the owners of such materials, and, if unclaimed, shall, after the lapse of one year, be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

Projections from houses erected in future to be removed.

206. The Commissioners may give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any house requiring him to remove or alter any projection, encroachment, or obstruction erected or placed against or in front of such house which may have been so erected or placed after the date on which the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, or the District Towns Act, 1868, or the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, as the case may be, took effect in the Municipality; or in case neither of the said Acts was in force in the Municipality before the commencement of this Act, then after the date on which this Act may have been extended thereto, if the same overhangs the road, or juts into, or in any way projects or encroaches upon, or is an obstruction to the safe and convenient passage along any road; or obstructs or projects or encroaches into or upon any aqueduct, drain, or sewer in such road;

and if such owner or occupier shall fail to comply with such requisition within eight days of the receipt of the same, the Magistrate may, on the application of the Commissioners, order that such projection, encroachment, or obstruction be removed or altered, and thereupon the Commissioners may remove or alter such projection, encroachment or obstruction, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner or occupier so making default.

No person shall be entitled to compensation in respect of the removal of any projection, obstruction, or encroachment under this section.

Effect of order made under sections 204, 205, 206.

207. Every order made by the Magistrate under sections two hundred and four, two hundred and five, or two hundred and six shall be deemed to be an order made by him in the discharge of his judicial duty; and the Commissioners shall be deemed to be persons bound to execute such orders of a Magistrate within the meaning of Act XVIII of 1850 (for the protection of Judicial Officers).

Houses projecting beyond line of road or drain when taken down to be set back.

208. Whenever any house, part of which projects beyond the regular line of a road, or drain, or beyond the front of the house on either side thereof, shall be burnt down or otherwise destroyed, or shall be taken down in order to be rebuilt or repaired, the Commissioners may require the same to be set back to, or beyond, the line of the road, or drain, or the line of the adjoining house, and may pay reasonable compensation to the owner of such house if any damage shall be thereby sustained.

Fallen house, &c., obstructing road or drain, to be removed by owner.

209. Whenever any private house, wall, or other erection, or any tree, shall fall down and obstruct any public drain or encumber any public highway, the Commissioners may remove such obstruction or incumbrance at the expense of the owner of the same, or may require him to remove the same within such time as to the Commissioners shall seem fit.

Power to trim hedges and trees bordering roads.

210. The Commissioners may require the owner or occupier of any land within three days to trim or prune the hedges bordering on any road, and to cut and trim any trees overhanging any road and obstructing the same or causing damage thereto.

Of General Conservancy and Improvement.

Wells, tanks, &c., to be secured.

211. If any well, tank, or other excavation, whether on public or private ground, be, for want of sufficient repairs or protection, dangerous to passengers, the Commissioners shall forthwith, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a temporary board or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and may require the owners or occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of the land on which such tank, well or other excavation is situated, forthwith properly to secure or protect such well, tank or other excavation.

Houses, &c., in a ruinous or dangerous state.

212. If any house, wall, structure, or any thing affixed thereto, be deemed by the Commissioners to be in a ruinous state, or in any way dangerous, they shall forthwith, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and may require the owners or occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of the land to which such house, wall or structure is affixed, forthwith to cause such repairs to be made to such house, wall or structure as they may consider necessary for the public safety, or to remove such house, wall, structure or thing affixed thereto.

Power to enter upon possession of houses so repaired.

213. If the Commissioners shall have caused any repairs to be made to any house or other structure, and if such house or other structure be unoccupied, the Commissioners may enter upon possession of the same, and may retain possession thereof until the sum expended by them on the repairs be paid to them.

Sale of materials of houses, &c., pulled down.

214. The materials of anything which shall have been pulled down or removed under the provisions of section two hundred and twelve may be sold by the Commissioners, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied, so far as the same will extend, to the payment of the expenses incurred.

Any surplus of such sale proceeds shall, on demand, be restored to the owner of such materials, and, if unclaimed, shall, after the lapse of three years, be carried to the credit of the Municipal Fund.

Stray dogs to be killed at certain appointed periods.

215. The Commissioners may, by published order, appoint from time to time certain periods within which any dogs without collars, or other marks distinguishing them as private property, found straying in the roads or beyond the enclosures of the houses of the owners of such dogs, may be destroyed; and such dogs may be destroyed in accordance with such order.

Commissioners may offer rewards for destruction of noxious animals.

216. The Commissioners at a meeting may offer rewards for the destruction of noxious animals within the limits of a Municipality.

Names of roads and numbers of houses.

217. The Commissioners at a meeting may cause a name to be given to any road and to be affixed in such place as they may think fit, and may also cause a number to be affixed to every house; and in like manner may from time to time cause such names and numbers to be altered.

Penalties.

Offences under sections 191 and 217.

218. Any person who, in any Municipality—

(1) places, or allows his servants to place, rubbish on a public road at other than the times appointed by the Commissioners under the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-one; or

(2) destroys, pulls down, defaces, or alters any name or number put up by the Commissioners under the authority of section two hundred and seventeen, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees.

Occupier not removing filth, &c.

219. Any person who, in any Municipality—

(1) being the occupier of a house in or near a public road, keeps, or allows to be kept, for more than twenty-four hours, or for more than such shorter time as may be prescribed by a bye-law, otherwise than in some proper receptacle, any dirt, dung, bones, ashes, night-soil or filth, or any noxious or offensive matter, in or upon such house, or in any out-house, yard or ground attached to and occupied with such house, or suffers such receptacle to be in a filthy or noxious state, or neglects to employ proper means to cleanse the same; or

Offence under section 196.

(2) keeps any public necessary without a license from the Commissioners under section one hundred and ninety-six; or having a license for a public necessary, suffers such necessary to be in a filthy or noxious state, or neglects to employ proper means for cleansing the same; or

Not keeping private drain, &c., in proper order.

(3) being the owner or occupier of any private drain, privy or cess-pool, neglects or refuses, after warning from the Commissioners, to keep the same in a proper state; or

Offence under section 201.

(4) disobeys an order passed by the Commissioners under the provisions of section two hundred and one; or Erecting obstruction.

(5) encroaches upon any road, drain, sewer, aqueduct, or water-course by making any excavation; or by erecting any wall, fence, rail, post, or other obstruction, shall, for every such offence, be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees.

Disobeying requisition under sections 204, 206 or 210.

220. Whoever, being an owner or occupier of any house or land within a Municipality, fails to comply with a requisition issued by the Commissioners under the provisions of sections two hundred and four, two hundred and six, or two hundred and ten, shall be liable, for every such default, to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further penalty, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day during which the default is continued after the expiration of eight days from the date of service on him of such requisition.

Disobeying requisition under sections 197, 202, 211, or 212.

221. Whoever, being an owner or occupier of any house or land within a Municipality, fails to comply with any requisition issued by the Commissioners under the provisions of sections one hundred and ninety-seven, two hundred and two, two hundred and eleven, or two hundred and twelve, shall be liable, for every such default, to a penalty not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further penalty, not exceeding twenty rupees, for every day during which the default is continued after the expiration of eight days from the date of service on him of such requisition.

PART VI.

Of Special Regulations.

Operation of Parts VI, VII, VIII, IX or X.

222. No provision contained in this Part, or in Parts VII, VIII, IX or X, shall apply to any Municipality, unless and until it has been expressly extended thereto by the Local Government in the manner provided by the next succeeding section.

Local Government may order the provisions of these Parts to be in force.

223. The Commissioners may apply, in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting specially convened to consider the question, to the Local Government, to extend to the Municipality all or any of the provisions of this Part, or of Parts VII, VIII, IX or X; or to exclude from the operation of the said provisions, or any of them, any place within the Municipality.

And the Local Government may thereupon order that such provisions shall be in force in the said Municipality.

Publication of order.

224. Every such order shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Commissioners shall, within fifteen days of such publication, cause a copy of the same, with a translation thereof into the vernacular of the district, to be posted up at their office, with a notice of the date on which such order shall take effect, and shall cause the same to be published as prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-four.

And the said provisions shall come into force in the Municipality from the date so fixed:

Provided that the date so fixed shall not be less than fifteen days after the publication under the said section, or more than three months after the publication of the order of the Local Government as aforesaid in the Calcutta Gazette.

Local Government may cancel or modify order.

225. The Local Government, on a similar application made by the Commissioners, may at any time cancel or modify an order made under section two hundred and twenty-three and such cancellation or modification shall be published, and shall take effect in the manner prescribed by the last preceding section.

Of Privies, Drains, and Excavations.

Commissioners may require owner or occupier to repair drain, &c.

226. The Commissioners may require the owners or occupiers, or the owners and occupiers of any land, within fifteen days, to repair and make efficient any drain, privy or cess-pool, or to remove any privy or close any cess-pool which is situated on such land.

Privies must be properly enclosed.

227. Every person constructing a privy shall have such privy shut out by a sufficient roof and wall or fence from the view of persons passing by, or residing in, the neighbourhood: and the Commissioners may require any owner or occupier of land on which a privy stands to cause the same to be shut out from view as aforesaid within fifteen days.

Unauthorized drains leading into public sewers may be demolished.

228. If any person, without the written consent of the Commissioners first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such branch drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person making or altering such branch drain.

Commissioners may require owner to drain land.

229. If any land, being within one hundred feet of a sewer, drain or other outlet into which such land may, in the opinion of the Commissioners, be drained, is not drained to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, the Commissioners may require the owner, within one month, to drain the said land into such sewer, drain or outlet.

Group or block of houses, &c., may be drained by a combined operation.

230. If it appear to the Commissioners that a group or block of houses may be drained or improved more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer, drain or other outlet already exists within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Commissioners may cause such group or block of houses to be drained and improved by a combined operation; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recovered from the owners of such houses in such proportions as shall to the Commissioners seem fit.

Commissioners may alter any drain, &c., made contrary to their orders.

231. If any branch drain, privy or cess-pool be constructed contrary to the directions and regulations of the Commissioners, or contrary to the provisions of this Act; or if any person, without the consent of the Commissioners, constructs, re-builds or unstops any branch drain, privy or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, the Commissioners may cause such amendment or alteration to be made in any such drain, privy or cess pool as they think fit, or may cause the same to be removed; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such drain, privy or cess-pool was improperly constructed, re-built or unstopped.

No latrine to be constructed within fifty feet of a tank.

232. No person shall, without the written permission of the Commissioners, construct or keep any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain or other receptacle for sewage, or other offensive matter, within fifty feet of any public tank or watercourse, or a tank or watercourse which the inhabitants of any locality use.

The Commissioners may require any owner and occupier upon whose land any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain or other receptacle so situated exists, or may hereafter be constructed, to remove the same within eight days.

Construction of privy.

233. No person shall, without the written permission of the Commissioners, construct a privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any road or drain. The Commissioners may require any owner or occupier upon whose land any such privy exists to remove the same within eight days.

234. The Commissioners at a meeting may, by a general order, prohibit the making of excavations for the purpose of taking earth or stone therefrom, or for the purpose of storing rubbish or offensive matter therein, and the digging of cess-pools, tanks or pits without special permission previously obtained from them.

Power to prohibit excavations.

If any such excavation, cess-pool, tank or pit is made after the issue and publication of such order without such special permission, the Commissioners may require the owners and occupiers of the land on which such excavation, cess-pool, tank or pit is made, within eight days, to fill up such excavation.

Of Obstructions and Encroachments on Roads.

235. The Commissioners at a meeting may determine on the removal or alteration, as they shall think fit, of any projection, encroachment or obstruction which may have been erected or placed against, or in front of, any house or any road within the limits of the Municipality before the date on which the District Municipal Act, 1864, or the District Towns Act, 1868, or the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876, as the case may be, came into force in the Municipality, or in case neither of the said Acts was in force in the Municipality before the commencement of this Act, then before the date on which this Act may have been extended thereto.

Removal of existing projection from houses.

Notice in writing shall be given to the owner or occupier of such house requiring him to remove or alter the said projection, encroachment or obstruction, or to shew cause before the Commissioners why he should not be required so to do; and if such owner or occupier shall fail to comply with such requisition within thirty days of the receipt of the same, or if after such owner or occupier shall have shewn cause against being required to remove or alter the said projection, encroachment or obstruction the Commissioners shall make an absolute order directing such removal or alteration; and if such owner or occupier shall fail to comply with such order within fifteen days of the date of the same, the Magistrate may, on the application of the Commissioners, order such projection, encroachment or obstruction to be removed or altered; and thereupon the Commissioners may remove or alter such projection, encroachment or obstruction.

The Commissioners shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by any removal or alteration under this section.

In determining the amount of compensation, the value of the land shall not be taken into consideration.

236. Every order made by the Magistrate under the last preceding section shall be deemed to be an order made by him in the discharge of his judicial duty, and the Commissioners shall be deemed to be persons bound to execute such orders of a Magistrate within the meaning of Act XVIII of 1850 (for the protection of Judicial Officers).

Effect of order made under the last preceding section.

237. The Commissioners may grant permission to any person to deposit any moveable property on any road, or to make an excavation in any road, or to enclose the whole or any part of any road, and may charge such fees as they may fix for such permission:

Leave to deposit materials on, or to excavate or close a road.

Provided that such person undertakes to make due provision for the passage of the public and to erect sufficient fences to protect the public from injury, danger or annoyance, and to light such fences from sunset to sunrise sufficiently for such purpose.

238. Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, shall, if any public road will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the road, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night:

Hoards to be set up during repairs.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Commissioners, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

Of Building Regulations.

239. The Commissioners at a meeting may direct that, within certain limits, to be fixed by them, the external roofs and walls of huts or other buildings which are about to be erected, or the roofs or walls of which are about to be renewed or repaired, shall not be made of grass, leaves, mats, or other inflammable materials.

Roofs and external walls not to be made of inflammable materials.

240. Before beginning, within the limits of any Municipality, to build or re-build any house, the person intending to build or re-build such house shall give to the Commissioners notice thereof in writing, with a general description of the building proposed to be erected. The Commissioners may, if they think fit, require the person giving such notice to submit to them a plan, shewing the levels and width at which the foundation and lowest floor of such house are proposed to be laid, by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Commissioners, and the Commissioners may direct that such house shall not be commenced without their sanction.

Notice of new buildings to be given to the Commissioners.

241. Within fourteen days after receiving such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of foundation; or if they disapprove thereof, they shall fix other levels and width of foundation in lieu thereof within the same time.

Commissioners to signify disapproval within fourteen days.

242. If such building as is mentioned in section two hundred and forty be begun or made without sending such notice, and, (if a plan is required) such plan, as are mentioned in the said section, or at any levels different from Houses built without notice, or contrary to provisions of this Act, may be altered by the Commissioners.

those fixed by the Commissioners, within the said fourteen days, or in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may require the owner or occupier to cause such building to be altered or demolished, as the case may require.

If Commissioners fail to signify approval, &c., within fourteen days, parties may proceed without.

243. If the Commissioners fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation shewn on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels and width of foundation within fourteen days after receiving such plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or re-build the house therein referred to, according to the levels and width of foundation shewn on such plan:

Provided that such building or re-building be otherwise in accordance with this Act.

The word "house" in this and the three last preceding sections does not include a hut.

When Commissioners may refuse permission.

244. On notice being given to the Commissioners under section two hundred and forty, the Commissioners may refuse to sanction the building of the house, unless it be shown to their satisfaction that proper provision can be made for drainage and latrine accommodation in the holding, or in the neighbourhood thereof: and if, after such refusal, the house shall be built or begun to be built without the sanction of the Commissioners, they may require the owner or occupier to cause such house to be demolished.

New house to be approved before occupation.

245. The Commissioners may prohibit the owner of any new house to let the same for occupation, until the drainage and latrine accommodation of such house shall have been inspected and approved by the municipal officers appointed for the purpose.

Erection of new huts to be under the control of the Commissioners.

246. It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add any hut or shed to any range or block already existing, or to enlarge any existing hut, without previous notice to the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may require such huts or sheds to be built so that they may stand in regular lines, with a free passage or way in front of and between each line, of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavengering, and with such number of privies, and with such means of drainage, as to them may seem necessary, and at such a level as will admit of such drainage, and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest street.

Power to direct removal of huts built without notice.

247. If any such huts or sheds be built without giving such notice to the Commissioners, or otherwise than as required by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may require the owners of the land on which such huts and sheds are built, and the occupiers of such huts and sheds, to take down and remove the same within one month, or to effect such alterations as they may deem necessary.

Of Sanitary Measures with regard to Blocks of Huts.

Power of Commissioners to inspection of huts.

248. Whenever the Commissioners at a meeting are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts within the Municipality is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause the locality to be inspected by two Medical Officers, who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said block of huts; and shall specify, if necessary, in the said report, the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

On receipt of report, Commissioners may cause notice to be served.

249. On receipt of the said report, the Commissioners at a meeting may require the owners or occupiers of the huts, or at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, to carry out and execute, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the aforesaid report or any portion thereof respectively, and if such owner, owners, or occupiers shall fail to comply with such requisition, the Commissioners themselves may execute all or any of such works.

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

250. The Commissioners at a meeting may order that any expenses payable in respect of any work done by them in consequence of the failure of the owners or occupiers to execute such work when required to do so under the last preceding section, shall be recovered by instalments from the person liable to pay the same; or if it should appear to them that the said person is unable by reason of poverty to pay the same, may order the same, or any portion thereof, to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Sale of huts.

251. If any of the said huts be pulled down, the Commissioner shall cause the materials of each hut to be sold separately, if such sale can be effected, and the proceeds shall be paid to the owner of the hut, or, if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, shall be held in deposit by the Commissioners, until the person interested therein shall obtain the order of a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction for the payment of the same.

If Commissioners fail to act, Local Government may take steps.

252. In case the Commissioners should omit to take any action under sections two hundred and forty-eight and two hundred and forty-nine, or, in the opinion of the Local Government, should fail to give proper effect to the provisions thereof, the Local Government may cause any block of huts to be inspected by the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal, who shall make a report in writing to the Local Government on the sanitary condition of the locality; and in the event of his reporting that the sanitary condition of the locality is such as to be attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, shall specify the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

On receipt of report, Local Government may order Commissioners to serve notice on owners.

253. On receipt of the said report, the Local Government may order the Commissioners to require the owners or occupiers of the huts, or the owner of the land on which such huts are built, to carry out and execute, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Local Government for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the said report, or any portion thereof respectively; and a requisition made by the Commissioners in accordance with such order shall be deemed to be a requisition made under section two hundred and forty-nine.

If Commissioners make default in carrying out order, Local Government may carry it out.

254. If the Commissioners make default in carrying out the said order of the Local Government, the Local Government may appoint some officer to perform the same, and such officer may exercise such powers as the Commissioners or the Commissioners at a meeting might have exercised in respect of the execution of the required works, and in respect of the recovery of the expenses incurred thereby, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon the Commissioners by section two hundred and fifty-one and the expenses incurred by such officer in the execution of the said works shall, subject to the provisions of section two hundred and fifty, be paid by the owners or occupiers of the huts, or the owner of the land, as the Local Government may direct.

Of the Regulation of the Sale of Food, Drink, and Drugs.

Markets, slaughter houses, &c., to be properly drained.

255. Every owner, or occupier, or farmer, of any place for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, or vegetables, or of any slaughter-house, within the limits of a Municipality, shall cause such drains to be made therein as shall be considered sufficient by the Commissioners, and (if required so to do by the Commissioners) shall cause all the floors and drains to be paved with stone or burnt brick, and shall also cause a supply of water to be provided, sufficient for keeping such place or slaughter-house in a clean and wholesome state.

Sale of unwholesome food or drink.

256. Any Magistrate, on the application of the Commissioners or any of their officers, setting forth that there is just cause to believe that any article which has been rendered, or has become noxious or unfit for use as food or drink for man, is in the possession of any person for the purpose of being sold or offered, or exposed for sale, within the limits of a Municipality, as food or drink for man, may grant a warrant to enter upon the premises of such person, and to search for and seize such article; and if it appear to the said Magistrate that the same is noxious or unfit for such use, he shall order it to be forfeited and disposed of in such way as to him shall seem proper.

Power to Commissioners to enter and inspect markets, shops, &c., and to seize unwholesome articles exposed for sale.

257. The Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any market, buildings, shop, stall, or place used for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables, corn, bread, flour, wine, spirits, butter, ghee, or other food or drink, or as a slaughter-house, and may examine any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink which may be therein; and in case any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink appear to be intended for the food or drink of man, and to be unfit for such food or drink, may seize the same;

and if it appear to a Magistrate that any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink is unfit for the food or drink of man, he shall order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for such food.

Registry of shops for sale of European drugs.

258. No shop or place shall be kept for the retail sale of drugs recognized by the British Pharmacopœia, not being also articles of ordinary domestic consumption, unless the same shall have been registered in the Office of the Commissioners. Any keeper of such shop or place failing to register the same within two months after this section shall come into force, or within two months from the date of the establishment of such place, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees. The Commissioners shall, upon registration, grant the keeper of such shop or place a license which he shall be bound to display in some conspicuous part of his premises.

Certificated dispensers.

(2). No person shall compound, mix, prepare, dispense, or sell any drug in any such registered shop or place unless he be duly certified as a fit person to be entrusted with such duties under rules to be hereafter made for that purpose by the Local Government:

Provided that the provisions contained in clause (2) of this section shall not come into operation until after the expiration of a period of six months from the publication of a notification to that effect in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government.

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to apply to the sale of drugs used by practitioners of indigenous medicines, whether these are recognized by the British Pharmacopœia or not, when such drugs are not sold in a shop or place where medicines recognized by such Pharmacopœia are dispensed upon prescription.

Inspection of drugs.

259. The Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any place kept for the sale of drugs, or in which drugs are sold, and if they have reason to suspect that any drug in the said place is adulterated, or by reason of age or the effect of climate has become inert or unwholesome, or has otherwise become deteriorated in such a manner as to lessen its efficacy, to change its operation, or to render it noxious, may remove the same on giving a receipt therefor, specifying the nature and quantity of the drug removed, and its approximate value; and if it appear to a Magistrate that the said drug removed as aforesaid is adulterated or has become inert, unwholesome, or deteriorated as aforesaid, he may order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to him may seem fit.

Compensation if drug be not adulterated.

If it shall appear to the said Magistrate that the drug so removed is not adulterated or has not become inert, unwholesome, or deteriorated as aforesaid, the person from whose shop or place it has been taken shall be entitled to have it restored to him, and it shall be in the discretion of the said Magistrate to award him such compensation as he may think proper, not exceeding the actual loss which has been sustained.

If the drug removed as aforesaid is not brought before a Magistrate, it shall be restored to the person from whose shop or place it was taken, and such person shall be entitled to compensation for any actual loss which he may have sustained by the removal of the said drug.

Of Burial and Burning-Grounds.

Registration of existing burial and burning-grounds.

260. Within three months from the date on which this and the six next succeeding sections may come into force as provided in section two hundred and twenty-four every place which is used as a burial or burning-ground for corpses shall be registered as such by the owner thereof in the office of the Commissioners, but no fee shall be charged for such registry.

No burial or burning-place henceforth to be formed without leave of Government or of Commissioners.

261. No burial or burning-ground, whether public or private, shall be made or formed, or, having lapsed into disuse, shall be again used as such, otherwise than with the permission of the Commissioners, or under the authority of the Local Government.

Commissioners may order certain burial or burning-grounds to be closed.

262. If it shall appear to the Commissioners at a meeting that any public or private burial or burning-ground is dangerous to health or offensive to the tax-payers, or to the inhabitants of the neighbourhood, and also that a suitable place for interment or burning, as the case may be, exists within a convenient distance, and is open and available to the inhabitants of the Municipality, the Commissioners shall give public notice of their intention to close such burial or burning-ground, and shall consider any objections which may be preferred within fifteen days of the publication of such notice; after considering such objections they may, by notification to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the ground, appoint a time, not being less than two months, for the closing of such burial or burning-ground.

If any building is attached to, and used in connection with, a burning-ground closed under this section, the Commissioners shall, if the owner of such building make an application to them in that behalf, take over the same on payment of a fair price therefor.

Prohibition to bury or burn in unregistered ground.

263. After the expiration of the three months, as mentioned in section two hundred and sixty, no corpse shall be buried or burnt otherwise than in a place which is borne on the register of the Commissioners as an open burial or burning-ground; but the Commissioners may grant special permission for a corpse to be buried or burnt elsewhere.

Power to burn or bury corpse after a certain time at expense of estate of deceased.

264. If the corpse of any deceased person shall, for a period of not less than twenty-four hours remain unburnt or unburied, the Commissioners shall cause such corpse to be burnt, buried, or otherwise disposed of, and the expense incurred for, and incidental to, the burning, burial, or disposal of such corpse shall be recoverable as a debt due from the estate (if any) of such deceased person. In every such case the corpse shall be disposed of, so far as may be possible, in a manner consistent with the religious tenets of the deceased.

Commissioners may provide places to be used as burial or burning-grounds.

265. The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, out of the Municipal Fund, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide fitting places to be used as burial or burning grounds, and may impose a fee not exceeding two rupees upon every corpse buried or burnt within such burial or burning grounds.

Commissioners may provide for burial of paupers free of charge.

266. The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, out of the Municipal Fund, provide for the burial and burning of paupers free of charge, within the limits of the Municipality.

Of certain Offensive and Dangerous Trades or Occupations.

Certain offensive and dangerous trades not to be established within limits to be fixed by the Commissioners without license.

267. Within such local limits as may be fixed by the Commissioners at a meeting, no place shall be used without a license from the Commissioners, which shall be renewable annually, for any of the following purposes, namely—melting tallow;

boiling offal or blood;

skinning or disembowelling animals;

as a soap-house, oil-boiling house, dyeing-house;

as a tannery, slaughter-house, or kiln for making bricks, pottery, tiles or lime;

as a manufactory or place of business from which offensive or unwholesome smells may arise;

as a yard or depôt for trade in hay, straw, wood, thatching-grass, jute, or other dangerously inflammable material;

as a store-house for kerosine, petroleum, naphtha, or any inflammable oil or spirit;

as a shop for the sale of meat; or as a lodging-house or a serai.

Such license shall not be withheld unless the Commissioners have reason to believe that the business which it is intended to establish or maintain would be offensive or dangerous to persons residing in or frequenting the immediate neighbourhood.

The Commissioners may levy a fee in respect of such license and may impose such conditions upon the license as they may think necessary.

Commissioners may, in certain cases, order the use of slaughter-houses and the carrying on of dangerous and offensive trades, to be discontinued.

268. If it be shewn to the satisfaction of the Commissioners at a meeting that any place licensed under section two hundred and sixty-seven, is a nuisance to the neighbourhood, they may, notwithstanding anything contained in the said section, give notice to the occupier to discontinue the use of such place within one month after the date of such notice.

Milkman, &c., not to keep animals or cattle without license.

269. Within such limits as the Commissioners at a meeting may determine, no milkman, cartman, livery stable-keeper or keeper of hackney carriages shall keep any horses, ponies, or cattle, exceeding in number ten heads, for the purposes of trade or of business, except in a place licensed by the Commissioners.

Such license shall be taken out half-yearly, in the first and seventh month in every year.

It shall be in the discretion of the Commissioners in meeting to grant any such license subject to such conditions as they may think fit

270. The Commissioners may provide public stables for the accommodation of horses and cattle, and may direct that, within such limits as they shall at a meeting determine, no person shall keep horses or cattle exceeding in number ten heads, for the purposes of trade or business, except in such public stables.

Commissioners may provide public stables.

The Commissioners may charge such reasonable fees as they shall think fit for the use of such public stables.

271. Within such limits as the Commissioners may direct, no person shall keep any pig-stye not being shut out from a road by a sufficient wall or fence, and in no place within such limits shall more than ten pigs or more than twenty sheep or goats be kept without the written permission of the Commissioners.

Conditions for keeping pig-stye.

The Commissioners may charge an annual fee not exceeding two rupees for such permission, and may impose such conditions in respect of such permission as they may think necessary.

Penalties.

272. Any person constructing a privy within a Municipality, and failing to have it shut out from view, as in section two hundred and twenty-seven required, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Failing to shut out privy from view.

273. Whoever erects a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or adds to any hut or shed, or to any range or block already existing, contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and forty-six; and whoever fails to remove such hut, block of huts, or shed, when required by the Commissioners to do so, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding five rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Erecting huts without notice.

274. If any owner, occupier or farmer of any place for the sale of meat, poultry, fish or vegetables, or of any slaughter-house, within the limits of a Municipality, after notice in writing given to him by the Commissioners that such place or slaughter-house is defective in any of the particulars specified in section two hundred and fifty-five, and requiring him to remedy the defect specified within not less than thirty days, makes default therein, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which such default is continued after the expiration of the period mentioned in such notice.

Disobeying requisition under section 255.

275. If any person, in order to provide for the passage of water, or for any other purpose, shall, without the consent of the Commissioners, dig or cut up any public road or thoroughfare, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees, and shall in addition be bound to pay the expenses incurred in filling up any excavation made by him or on his behalf in any such public road or thoroughfare.

Cutting up road for passage of water.

276. Whoever, within a Municipality,—

(1) without the permission of the Commissioners, throws or puts, or permits his servants to throw or put, any sewage or offensive matter on to any road, or who throws or puts, or permits his servants to throw or put, any earth, rubbish, sewage or offensive matter into any sewer or drain belonging to the Commissioners, or into any drain communicating therewith; or

Throwing rubbish into sewers.

(2) causes or allows the water of any sink, sewer or cesspool, or any other offensive matter belonging to him or being on his land, to run, drain, or be thrown or put upon any road, or causes or allows any offensive matter to run, drain, or be thrown into a surface drain near any road; or

Allowing water of any sewer, &c., to run on any road.

(3) constructs a latrine, urinal, cesspool, house-drain or privy, in contravention of the provisions of sections two hundred and thirty-two or two hundred and thirty-three; or Constructing latrine, &c., in contravention of sections 232 and 233.

(4) without the written permission of the Commissioners, digs or makes, or causes or suffers to be dug or made, any excavation, cesspool, tank, or pit, in contravention of the provisions of section two hundred and thirty-four, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees.

Making excavations.

277. Whoever, within a Municipality, fails to comply with a requisition issued by the Commissioners under the provisions of sections two hundred and twenty-seven, two hundred and thirty-two, or two hundred and thirty-three, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding five rupees, for every day during which he shall continue to make such default after service on him of such requisition.

Disobeying requisition under sections 227, 232 and 233.

278. Whoever, within a Municipality,—

(1) without the written consent of the Commissioners previously obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners by this Act; or

Altering, &c., drains leading to public sewers.

(2) constructs any branch drain, privy or cesspool contrary to the directions and regulations of the Commissioners or contrary to the provisions of this Act; or, without the consent of the Commissioners, constructs, rebuilds or unstops any drain, privy or cesspool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up or not to be made;

Making drains contrary to the orders of the Commissioners.

shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

279. Whoever, in a Municipality,—

(1) begins to build, or to take down, or alter or repair, any house contrary to the provisions of sections two hundred and thirty-eight or two hundred and forty-four, or lets a house for occupation contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and forty-five; or without license, erects or sets up any board scaffolding or fence whatsoever; or who

Offence under sections 238, 244, 245.

being licensed, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition; or who does not, while such hoard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night; or who does not remove the same within eight days, when directed by the Commissioners; or

Offence under section 267.

(2) without a license uses any place for any of the purposes specified in section two hundred and sixty-seven; or

Offence under section 269.

(3) being the holder of a license under section two hundred and sixty-nine, breaks the condition of such license; or

Offence under section 271.

(4) keeps any pig-stye, pigs, sheep or goats contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and seventy-one;

shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

280. Whoever, within a Municipality,—

Keeping horses, &c., without license.

(1) being a milkman, cartman, livery stable-keeper or keeper of hackney carriages, keeps any horses, ponies or cattle without such license as is prescribed in section two hundred and sixty-nine; or

Offence under section 270.

(2) after the issue of an order under section two hundred and seventy, keeps horses or cattle, exceeding in number ten heads, for the purposes of trade or business, except in such public stables as in the said section specified, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

281. Whoever, within a Municipality, after the expiration of the period mentioned in section two hundred and sixty-three, knowingly buries or burns, or causes, procures or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse in or on any ground not registered as a burial or burning ground, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Burying or burning corpse in unregistered grounds.

282. Whoever, within a Municipality, uses any such place as is mentioned in section two hundred and fifty-eight, without the same being registered, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Offence under section 258.

283. Whoever, within a Municipality, not being the holder of such certificate as is mentioned in section two hundred and fifty-eight, clause (2), shall compound, mix, prepare or sell any drugs in any registered shop or place, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each offence; and any owner, occupier or keeper of any such shop or place, who shall employ any such uncertified person to perform any one or more of such duties, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and shall be further liable, at the discretion of such Magistrate, to forfeit his license:

Uncertificated persons dispensing drugs.

Provided that this section shall not come into operation until after the expiration of a period of six months from the publication of a notification to that effect in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government.

284. Whoever, within a Municipality, after the expiration of the time specified in a notice issued by the Commissioners under the provisions of section two hundred and sixty-eight, uses or permits to be used, the place specified in such notice in such a manner as to be a nuisance to the neighbourhood, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding forty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Disobeying notice under section 268.

285. Any Magistrate before whom any person is convicted of an offence contrary to the provisions of this Act relating to the use of any place for a purpose for which a license is required, or of the non-observance of any of the bye-laws relating thereto made under this Act, in addition to the fine which may be imposed on such person under this Act, may suspend, for any period not exceeding two months, any such license, and the Commissioners, upon the conviction of any person for a second or other subsequent like offence, may cancel his license.

Suspension or revocation of license, &c.

PART VII.

Of a Water-supply.

286. In any Municipality to which the provisions of this Part shall be extended, the Commissioners shall provide a supply of water within the limits of the Municipality; and for this purpose it shall be lawful for them to cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of water in the chief public streets; and they may also erect in all such streets sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the use of the inhabitants of the Municipality for domestic purposes.

The Commissioners to provide water-supply.

287. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

What are not domestic purposes.

288. The Commissioners at a meeting shall determine what pressure of water shall be maintained in their service pipes and mains, and during what hours such pressure shall be continued: and any rule made under this section shall be published in such manner as the Pressure at which water must be kept.

Commissioners may direct, and shall not be altered except with the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting.

Communication pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions, and at expense of householder.

289. If the Commissioners at a meeting shall determine to supply water to houses within the Municipality, every person paying the water-rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Commissioners for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use:

Provided that the Commissioners shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

Such communication-pipes and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and materials as the Commissioners shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

Communication-pipes, &c., must be made to satisfaction of officers of the Commissioners.

290. The communication pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Commissioners into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed subject to the inspection and satisfaction of the Commissioners.

Such communication pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Commissioners upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Commissioners and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed:

and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water rate.

Power to enter premises.

291. Any officer authorized in that behalf by the Commissioners may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain whether there be any waste or misuse of such water:

and if such officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination, the Commissioners may forthwith cut off the supply of water from such house or land:

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which, by the custom of the country, is considered private, unless a notice in writing of not less than four hours be given.

When pipes are out of repair, Commissioners may turn off water.

292. In the event of any pipes, works or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, the Commissioners may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, after giving notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours, and may recover from the occupier of such house or land the expense incurred for turning off the water.

Supply for business.

293. The Commissioners may supply water through a meter for purposes other than domestic purposes, and may, subject to such charges and rates as may have been fixed by the Commissioners at a meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary pipes and works of such dimensions and character as may be approved by them.

Householder entitled to certain supply of water for domestic use.

294. The Commissioners at a meeting may determine what quantity of water shall be supplied to the occupier of every house, free of further charge, for every rupee paid to the Commissioners as water-rate on account of such house.

If the Commissioners have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for them to provide a water meter at their own expense, and to attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house: and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid, shall be paid for by him at such rate as the Commissioners at a meeting may determine.

Commissioners may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines.

295. It shall be at the option of the Commissioners to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets, and it shall be lawful for them to require that all latrines and water-closets supplied with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Commissioners shall direct, and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

296. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the water-rate hereinbefore mentioned at the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water, when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Commissioners may turn off the water from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, and may recover the expense of turning off the water from such person:

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may have incurred.

Occupier in whose house water is wasted liable to penalty.

297. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Commissioners under this Part is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier, wasted; or in whose house or land the pipes, works or fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Person causing waste of water liable to penalty.

298. Any person otherwise causing waste of water supplied by the Commissioners shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Commissioners at their discretion may allow person outside the town to take water.

299. It shall be within the discretion of the Commissioners to allow any person not residing within the limits of the Municipality to take or be supplied with water for domestic use on such terms as the Commissioners in meeting may from time to time prescribe.

Penalty.

And any person taking or causing to be taken for use, outside the limits of the Municipality, water supplied by the Commissioners, without the permission of the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Before connection an officer of the Commissioners to cause all works and pipes to be inspected.

300. Before a connection for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Commissioners to any house or land is sanctioned, the Commissioners may cause all the works, pipes, and fittings within the said house or land to be inspected by an officer appointed by them in that behalf; and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for such connection at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting shall from time to time direct;

and until such officer shall have certified to the Commissioners that the works, pipes, and fittings have been executed and put up in a satisfactory manner, a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes shall not be permitted.

Connection with service pipes to be executed only by an officer of the Commissioners.

301. The connection with the service pipes of the Commissioners, as also the laying of supply pipes under any public road or thoroughfare, shall be executed by an officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf and by no other person; and the expense of making such connection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for the same at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting shall from time to time direct.

Obstructing or diverting water.

302. Any person who shall unlawfully flush, draw-off, divert or take water from any water-works belonging to, or under the control of, the Commissioners, or for any water or streams by which such water-works are supplied, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Estimate and specification of works to be sent.

303. No works for introducing a supply of water to any house shall be commenced by the owner without sending a specification and estimate of the cost thereof to the occupier, nor by the occupier without sending such specification and estimate to the owner.

Owner to keep works in repair.

304. Except in the case of a special agreement to the contrary, the owner of any house or land shall bear the expense of keeping all works connected with the supply of water to such house or land in substantial repair:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the liabilities of parties under leases executed previous to the extension of this part to the Municipality in which the said house or land is situated.

Tanks, &c., vested in the Commissioners.

305. All public tanks, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps, and other water works, whether made, laid or erected at the cost of the Commissioners or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials, and things connected therewith, or appertaining thereto, and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank, shall become vested in the Commissioners.

Application of rates and moneys received from the supply of water.

306. The water-rate and all moneys collected, received or recovered for, or in respect of the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected therewith, or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied by the Commissioners in defraying the expense of making, extending or maintaining the water-works, in paying the interest of money borrowed for the water-works; and in the liquidation of debts incurred in connection therewith, or for some other purpose connected with the supply of water.

PART VIII.

Of Lighting with Gas.

Municipal Commissioners may submit to the Local Government a plan for lighting.

307. In any Municipality in which this Part shall have been introduced in the manner provided in section two hundred and twenty-four it shall be lawful for the Commissioners from time to time to submit to the Local Government, for its sanction, a plan for lighting with gas any portion of any area situate within the municipal limits, whether so lighted already or not, such portion of the said area having been previously defined by the Commissioners at a meeting held for that purpose. The Local Government shall cause the plan to be published for one month in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Commissioners shall publish it in the vernacular within the limits of the Municipality; and after such publication, and after consideration of any objections which may be raised to it, or alterations suggested in it, the Local Government may, if satisfied that the lighting proposed in the plan is proper and sufficient, sanction such plan, or may refuse its sanction thereto, or may return it to the Commissioners for alteration in certain particulars to be specified by it, and when altered may sanction it as altered. The Local Government shall cause its sanction to any plan to be notified in the Calcutta Gazette, and shall at the same time cause the plan sanctioned to be published in the said Gazette.

Lighting-rate not exceeding three per centum may, after sanction of plan, be imposed on holdings.

308. After notification by the Local Government in the last preceding section mentioned, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to impose an annual rate not exceeding three per centum of their annual value upon all holdings situated within such portion of the said area for the purpose of defraying the whole expense of lighting:

Proviso as to portions already lighted.

Provided that, as regards any portion of the said area already lighted with gas, for the future lighting of which a plan shall have been sanctioned by the Local Government under the provision of the last preceding section, if it shall appear that the estimated proceeds of the said rate at three per centum will not be sufficient to defray the whole expense of such lighting, it shall be lawful for the Municipal Commissioners to impose a rate sufficient to defray the whole expense of lighting such portion.

309. The rate imposed under the last preceding section upon holdings shall be paid by the occupiers thereof by quarterly instalments in advance; but no rate shall be leviable until the lamps in the portion of the area to be lighted shall have been lighted; nor shall any rate be leviable for any quarter or portion of a quarter antecedent to such lighting.

Rate payable by occupiers quarterly in advance.

Arable lands and lands used for pasturage, and buildings used exclusively as places of public worship, or applied solely to charitable purposes, shall not be liable to the rate.

Arable lands, &c, exempted from rate.

310. The annual value of the said holdings shall be the value fixed by the Municipal Commissioners year by year under the provisions of this Act.

Annual valuation how to be made.

And all the provisions in this Act contained, relating to the assessment and collection of the rate on houses, buildings, and lands, shall, except so far as they are modified by the provisions of this Part, be applicable to the assessment and collection of the lighting rate.

Assessment and collection.

311. If no rate upon holdings shall have been imposed under section one hundred and one, but a tax upon persons shall have been imposed under section eighty-six, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners in lieu of the annual lighting-rate referred to in section three hundred and eight to impose a lighting-rate upon all persons assessed to the tax under section eighty-six. Such tax shall not exceed one-half of the amount payable under section eighty-six, and all the provisions relating to the assessment and collection of the tax payable on persons shall be applicable to such lighting-tax.

Commissioners may impose lighting-rate upon all persons assessed to the tax under section 86.

312. If any holding shall be occupied by more than one tenant holding severally, or shall be of less annual value than one hundred rupees, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to recover the rate from the owner of such holding.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

313. Whenever any rate shall be recovered from any owner of any holding under the provisions of the last preceding section, it shall be lawful for such owner, if there shall be but one occupying tenant of such entire holding, to recover from such tenant the entire amount of the rate which shall have been so paid by such owner; and if there shall be one occupying tenant of a part of such holding or more than one occupying tenant of such holding, then to recover from such tenant or each of such tenants, such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate which may have been so recovered from such owner, the same proportion as the value of the portion of such holding in the occupation of such tenant bears to the entire value of such holding, subject, however, to the provisions of the next succeeding section.

Owner to recover from the occupier rates paid by owner.

314. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupying tenant of any holding or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to such owner by such tenant in respect of so much of such holding as may be in the occupation of such tenant.

Owner may recover rate so paid as rent.

315. Every occupier shall be liable to the lighting-rate for the time of his occupation. When any person shall have been an occupier for a part only of any quarter, he shall be liable only for so much of the rate for that quarter as may be proportionate to the number of days during which he shall have been an occupier.

Occupier liable to the rate for time of occupation only.

If he shall have paid the rate in advance, the amount paid in excess of the sum due under this section shall be refunded.

Excess paid in advance to be refunded.

No such rate shall be chargeable to any person on account of any unoccupied holding for the time during which it may remain unoccupied:

No rate to be charged during vacancy.

Provided always that when any person ceases to be the occupier of any holding upon which the rate has been assessed, he shall give the Commissioners notice to that effect within seven days from the date of the cessation of his occupancy. If the occupier fail to give such notice within such period, he shall be liable to the rate assessed on such holding for the whole quarter, although he may have occupied for a part only of such quarter; and in cases to which the provisions of section three hundred and ten apply, the rate assessed on such holding for the whole quarter shall be recoverable from the owner, if such owner has failed to give notice that such holding is unoccupied, within seven days from the date on which it ceased to be occupied.

Notice of cessation of occupancy to be given within seven days.

316. When the name of the owner or occupier of any holding is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in any notice served, or proceeding held under this Act, as the owner or the occupier of the holding on which the rate is assessed, and without further description.

Unknown owner or occupier how to be designated.

317. If the Commissioners deem it necessary for the purposes of this Part to raise, sink or otherwise alter the situation of any gas-pipe or other gas-work laid in any portion of the said area, they may from time to time, by notice in writing, require the person to whom any such pipe or work belongs, or under whose control it may be, to cause forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be, any such pipe or work to be raised, sunk or otherwise altered in position, in such manner as the Commissioners may direct:

Situation of gas-pipe or other gas-work to be altered at the expense of the Commissioners.

Provided that such alteration be not such as permanently to injure such pipe or work, or to prevent the gas from flowing as freely and conveniently as before; and the expenses attending such raising, sinking, or altering, and full compensation for the damage done thereby, shall be paid by the Commissioners out of the Municipal Fund as well to the person to whom such pipe or work belongs as to all other persons.

318. If the person to whom any such pipe or work belongs, or under whose control it may be, do not proceed forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be, after the receipt of such notice, to cause the same to be raised, sunk or altered in such manner as the Commissioners require, the Commissioners may themselves cause such pipe or work to be raised, sunk or altered as they may think fit:

If owner, &c., neglect to make alterations, the Commissioners may cause the same to be made.

Provided that such works be not permanently injured thereby, or the gas prevented from flowing as freely and conveniently as before.

319. The provisions of this Part shall apply, so far as may be possible, to any scheme which may be adopted by the Commissioners of any Municipality for lighting the Municipality under any system involving the laying of pipes or wires or other similar apparatus.

Provisions applicable to other systems of lighting.

PART IX.

Of the Construction and Cleansing of Latrines.

320. In any Municipality to which the provisions of this Part shall have been extended in the manner prescribed by section two hundred and twenty-four, the Commissioners may issue a notice declaring that, from a date to be specified in such notice, they will maintain an establishment for the cleansing of public and private latrines within the limits of the Municipality, or any part thereof; and the Commissioners shall make suitable provision accordingly.

Notice to be issued by the Commissioners.

321. When such provision has been made, the Commissioners may levy fees, to be fixed on such scale, with reference to the annual value of holdings within the limits of the Municipality, or such part thereof as aforesaid, as the Commissioners at a meeting may from time to time direct;

Commissioners may levy fees.

but the fee shall not exceed three rupees per annum where the valuation of the holding amounts to, or is less than, twenty-five rupees; and the fee on any one holding shall not exceed four hundred and eighty rupees:

Provided that if, on the commencement of this Act, the owners or occupiers of any holding are already under engagement to pay to the Commissioners an annual sum exceeding four hundred and eighty rupees for the cleansing of their premises, such sum, or such other sum as may from time to time be agreed upon between them and the Commissioners, may be levied from them in accordance with the provisions of this Part.

322. The said fee shall be payable by the occupier for the time being of the holding, or by the owner thereof under the next succeeding section, in quarterly instalments, and shall be recoverable in the manner prescribed for the recovery of the rate on the value of holdings in this Act.

Recovery of fees.

Every instalment of the said fee shall be deemed to be due on the first day of the quarter in respect of which such instalment is payable.

The proceeds of the said fees shall be applied to the maintenance of the said establishment, and to the providing of public latrines, and generally to carrying out the provisions of this Part.

A list of the said fees, and of the persons liable to pay the same, shall be published once in every year as prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-four.

323. If any holding is occupied in severalty by more than one person, the Commissioners may levy the said fee from the owner of such holding, who may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of the fee so levied the same proportion as the value of the part of the holding in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such holding.

In certain cases fee may be levied from owner, who may recover from occupier.

324. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, is entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any part of a holding, shall have for the recovery of the said sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the holding as may be in his occupation.

Owner may recover fees from occupier as rent.

325. The Commissioners, at their discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with any occupier or owner as aforesaid of any railway premises or of any premises used as a factory, dockyard, workshop, cooly depôt, school, hospital, market, court-house, or other similar place, for a certain sum to be paid by such occupier or owner in lieu of such fee.

Commissioners may compound with occupier or owner of certain premises for fee.

326. The Commissioners may, in lieu of the aforesaid fee, levy a rate per head, to be fixed by the said Commissioners at a meeting, on the number of persons living within or habitually resorting to, any such railway premises, factory, dockyard, workshop, cooly depôt, school, hospital, market, court-house or other similar place.

Commissioners may levy a rate per head.

327. The Commissioners may reduce the amount of a fee payable under this Part, or may remit the fee if in their opinion the levy of it would be productive of excessive hardship, to the person liable to pay the same.

Commissioners may reduce or remit fee.

328. Whoever refuses to pay any fee or rate due under this Part, or having compounded for the payment of a certain sum under section three hundred and twenty-five refuses to pay such sum, shall be liable, on conviction, to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him exclusive of the amount so payable.

Penalty.

329. No person liable to pay a fee or rate under the provisions of this Part shall be punished with fine for neglecting or refusing to keep his privy in a proper state under section two hundred and nineteen, clause (3).

Exemption from prosecution under section 210.

330. All servants of the Commissioners employed for the purposes of this Part may, within such hours as may be fixed by the Commissioners, enter on any premises of which the occupier or owner is liable to pay a fee or rate as aforesaid and do all things necessary for the performance of their duties under this Part.

Powers of servants of Commissioners.

331. The Commissioners at a meeting may make an order requiring all mehters within the limits of the Municipality, Commissioners may require mehters to take out licenses.

or any part thereof, to take out licenses, and to be servants of the Commissioners for purpose of removing sewage from premises within the said limits.

The Commissioners at a meeting may grant such licenses subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and may impose fees in respect of the same.

Subject to the approval of the Local Government, the Commissioners may make rules to define the duties of such mehters, and from time to time may alter, add to or repeal such rules; and any breach of such rules shall subject the offender to a forfeiture of license, and to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Commissioners may require latrine to be constructed, and in default may construct themselves.

332. If the Commissioners think that any latrine or additional or common latrine should be provided for any house or land within the limits of the Municipality, the owners of such house or land shall, within fourteen days after notice in that behalf by the Commissioners, or within such longer time as the Commissioners may for special reasons allow, cause such latrine to be constructed in accordance with the requisition of such notice; and if such latrine is not constructed to the satisfaction of the Commissioners within such period, the Commissioners may cause the same to be constructed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners, and shall be recoverable as provided in section three hundred and twenty-four.

Commissioners may require list of persons in a holding.

333. The Commissioners may, for the purposes of this Part, by a notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of any holding to furnish, within a time to be specified in the notice, a list of the number of persons residing in, or habitually resorting to, such holding.

Penalty.

334. Whoever, being the owner or occupier of any holding, fails to furnish such list within the time specified in such notice, after being required in that behalf by the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

PART X.

Regulation of Markets.

Power to construct markets.

335. In any Municipality to which this Part shall have been extended in the manner prescribed by section two hundred and twenty-four, the Commissioners at a meeting may provide land for the purpose of being used as Municipal markets; and may defray the cost of providing such land and of all expenses necessary for the establishment of such markets from the Municipal Fund, and may take a lease of any market; and may charge rent, tolls, and fees for the right to expose goods for sale in such markets and for the use of shops, stalls, and standings therein.

All such rents, tolls and fees may be recovered as arrears of tax under the provisions of sections one hundred and nineteen to one hundred and twenty-eight, both inclusive.

Definition of "Municipal market."

336. No place shall be deemed to be "a Municipal market" within the meaning of the last preceding section, and no place shall be deemed to be a market to which the following sections of this Part apply, unless at least thirty shops, stalls or standings are erected therein for the sale of goods.

Commissioners may prohibit use of unlicensed markets.

337. The Commissioners at a meeting may order that, within such limits as they may fix, no land shall be used as a market for the sale of meat, fish, butter, ghee, fruits, vegetables, and similar provisions otherwise than under a license to be granted by the Commissioners.

Power to grant licenses for markets.

338. When the Commissioners at a meeting shall have issued an order under the last preceding section, they may at a meeting grant a license for the use of any land as a market for the sale of provisions as aforesaid within the Municipality.

Duration of licenses and terms on which granted.

339. Every license granted under this Part shall be liable to the payment of a fee not exceeding twenty-five rupees, and shall be in force until the end of the year, and the Commissioners may grant such license, year by year, on the certificate in writing under the hand of the Chairman, annually renewed, that the land is fit to be used as a market for the sale of provisions as aforesaid.

Chairman bound to certify fit places.

340. The Chairman, upon the application in writing of the owner of any land, shall grant such certificate unless the land be defective for the purposes of a market in drainage, ventilation, water-supply or proper width of paths and ways.

Existing markets.

The owners or lessees of all land used as markets for the sale of provisions as aforesaid at the time of the extension of this Part to the Municipality, shall be entitled to receive a license for the current year without the certificate required by section three hundred and thirty-nine, but in subsequent years the license shall not be renewed without such certificate.

Licenses to be registered.

341. Every license under this Part shall be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose by the Commissioners in their office, in which shall be stated—

(a) the name and address of the owner of the land and market;

(b) the name and address of the lessee thereof, (if any);

(c) the extent and boundary of the market;

(d) the description of articles sold therein; and (e) the days on which the market will be held.

Transfers to be registered.

342. Every transfer of interest in any such market shall be registered within two months after the date of transfer.

Unregistered markets to be deemed unlicensed.

343. Any market, the license of which, or the transfer of interest in which shall not have been duly registered under the two last preceding sections, shall be deemed to be land used as a market without a license.

Penalty for using unlicensed market.

344. Whoever, being the owner or occupier of any land wilfully or negligently permits the same to be used as a market for the sale of meat, fish, butter, ghee, fruits, vegetables or similar provisions without license under section three hundred and thirty-eight, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine not exceeding forty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued, after conviction for such offence.

Power to close unlicensed places.

345. The Magistrate, on the application of the Commissioners, may order any land, in respect of which a conviction shall have been obtained under the last preceding section, to be closed as a market place, and thereupon may take order to prevent such land being so used; and every person who shall sell or expose for sale, meat, fish, butter, ghee, fruits, vegetables or similar provisions, on any land which shall have been so closed, shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

PART XI.

Of the Registration of Births and Deaths.

Registration of births and deaths.

346. Every Municipality, when required by the Local Government to do so, shall provide for the registration of births and deaths within the limits of its jurisdiction in accordance with the provisions of Bengal Act IV of 1873 (for registering births and deaths) or any other similar Act for the time being in force.

On requisition of Government, Commissioners to appoint Sub-Registrars at burning-ghats and burial-grounds.

347. The Local Government may require the Commissioners of any Municipality to appoint and maintain at each burning ghat and burial-ground for natives, a Sub-Registrar for the registration of all corpses brought to such burning-ghat or burial-ground for cremation or interment.

Information required by Bengal Act IV of 1873, to be given to such Sub-Registrar.

348. Whenever a Sub-Registrar shall have been appointed for any burning ghat or burial-ground under the last preceding section, information of the particulars required by section eight of Bengal Act IV of 1873, to be known and registered may be given in respect of the death of any person whose body is brought to such burning-ghat or burial-ground for cremation or interment to such Sub-Registrar, and information so given shall be deemed to be information given to the Registrar of the District as required by the said section.

Section nine of Bengal Act IV of 1873 shall be applicable to all Sub-Registrars appointed under this Act.

Information of deaths in hospitals.

349. Whenever a death shall occur in any hospital within the limits of any Municipality in respect of which the Local Government has directed that all deaths shall be registered under Bengal Act IV of 1873, it shall be the duty of the Medical Officer in charge of such hospital forthwith to send a notice in writing of the occurrence of such death to the Commissioners in such form as the Local Government may prescribe; and in such case no other person shall be required to give information of such death to a Registrar under Bengal Act IV of 1873, or to a Sub-Registrar under this Act.

PART XII.

Miscellaneous.

Power to impose penalties on breach of bye-laws.

350. The Commissioners of any Municipality may, from time to time, at a meeting which shall have been convened expressly for the purpose, and of which due notice shall have been given, frame such bye-laws as they deem fit, not being inconsistent with this Act, or with any other general or special law, and may by any bye-laws made by them under this Act, impose on offenders against the same such reasonable penalties as they think fit, not exceeding the sum of fifty rupees for each offence, and in case of a continuing offence a further penalty not exceeding twenty rupees for each day after written notice of the offence from the Commissioners.

Confirmation of bye-laws.

351. Bye-laws made under this Act shall not take effect unless and until they have been submitted to, and confirmed by, the Local Government; nor shall such bye-laws be confirmed—unless one month at least before the making of the application, notice of the intention to apply for confirmation has been given in one or more of the local newspapers circulated within the Municipality to which such bye-laws relate, or if there be no such newspapers, then in such manner as the Commissioners may direct; and unless for one month at least before any such application a copy of the proposed bye-laws has been kept at the office of the Commissioners, and has been open during office hours thereat to the inspection of the inhabitants of the Municipality to which such bye-laws relate, without fee or reward.

The Commissioners shall, on the application of any inhabitant of the Municipality, furnish him with a copy of such proposed bye-laws, on payment of four annas for every hundred words contained in the copy.

A bye-law requiring confirmation by the Local Government shall not require confirmation, allowance or approval by any other authority.

Commissioners may direct prosecution for public nuisance.

352. The Commissioners may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance, and may order proceedings to be taken for the recovery of any penalties under this Act, and for the punishment of any persons offending against the same, and may order the expenses of such prosecution or other proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

No prosecution for an offence under this Act to be instituted without consent of Commissioners.

353. No prosecution for an offence under this Act or any bye-law made in pursuance thereof shall be instituted without the order or consent of the Commissioners, and no such prosecution shall be instituted except within three months next after the commission of such offence, unless the offence is continuous in its nature, in which case a prosecution may be instituted within three months of the date on which the commission or existence of the offence was first brought to the notice of the Chairman of the Commissioners:

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

Publication of order.

354. Every bye-law, order, notice or other document directed to be published under this Act shall be written in, or translated into, the vernavular of the district, and deposited in the office of the Commissioners, and a copy shall be posted up in a conspicuous position at such office, and in such other public places, as the Commissioners may direct; and a public proclamation shall be made throughout such Municipality by beat of drum, notifying that such copy has been so posted up, and that the original is open to inspection in the office of the Commissioners.

Levy of fines.

355. Fines under this Act may be imposed by a Magistrate on any person who is convicted of the office to which the fine attaches, and may be levied under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

How notice, &c., may be served.

356. Every notice, bill, form, summons or notice of demand under this Act may be served personally on, or presented to the person to whom the same is addressed, or be left at his usual place of abode, with some adult male member or servant of his family; or if it cannot be so served, presented or delivered, may be put on some conspicuous part of his place of abode; or of the land, building, or other thing in respect of which the notice, bill, form, summons or notice of demand is intended to be served.

Service of notice on owner or occupier of land.

357. Where any notice is required to be given to the owner or to the occupier of any land, such notice, addressed to the owner or occupier, as the case may require, may be served on the occupier of such land, or otherwise in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned:

Provided that when the owner and his place of abode are known to the Commissioners or other authorities issuing the notice, they shall, if such place of abode be within the limits of their authority, cause every notice required to be given to the owner of any land to be served on such owner, or left with some adult male member or servant of his family; and if the place of abode of the owner be not within such limits, they shall send every such notice by post in a registered cover addressed to his place of abode, and such service shall be deemed to be good service of the notice.

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the land in respect of which the notice is served.

Tax not invalid for want of form.

358. No assessment or rating of tax on property shall be invalid for error or defect of form, and it shall be enough in any assessment, valuation or rating for the purpose of making such tax, if the property so assessed or valued is so described as to be generally known, and it shall not be necessary to name the owner or occupier thereof.

Holder of license to produce it when required.

359. Every person to whom a license has been granted under this Act shall at all reasonable times, while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the authorities which granted the license or by any person authorized by them in that behalf, produce such license to the said authorities or to the person so authorized.

Penalty.

Whoever fails to produce his license when required to produce the same by any person authorized under this section to demand the production thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Recovery of moneys due to the Commissioners.

360. All costs or other moneys which are due under this Act to the Commissioners of any Municipality, may be recovered in the manner provided in sections one hundred and nineteen to one hundred and twenty-eight, both inclusive.

Power to sell unclaimed holdings for money due.

361. If money be due under this Act in respect of any holding from the owner thereof, on account of any tax, expenses or charges, recoverable under this Act, and if the owner of such holding is unknown or the ownership thereof is disputed, the Commissioners may publish twice, at an interval of three months, a notification of sale of such holding, and after the expiry of not less than three months from the date of the last publication, unless the amount recoverable be paid, may sell such holding to the highest bidder, who shall, at the time of sale, deposit the full amount of the purchase-money.

Any person may pay the amount due at any time before the completion of the sale, and may recover such amount by a suit in a court of competent jurisdiction from any person beneficially interested in such property.

After payment of the amount due to the Commissioners as aforesaid, the surplus, if any, shall be paid on demand to any person who establishes his right to the satisfaction of such Commissioners or in a court of competent jurisdiction, or, if unclaimed for a period of three years, shall be transferred to the Municipal Fund.

Compensation for damages.

362. The Commissioners may make compensation out of the Municipal Fund to any person sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers conferred by this Act.

No action to be brought against the Commissioners or their Officers until after one month's notice of cause of action.

363. No suit shall be brought against the Commissioners of any Municipality, or any of their Officers, or any person acting under their direction, for anything done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of such Commissioners, and also (if the suit is intended to be brought against any Officers of the said Commissioners or any persons acting under their directions) at the place of abode of the person against whom such suit is threatened to be brought, stating the cause of suit and the name and place of abode of the person who intends to bring the suit; and unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such action shall be commenced within three months next after the accrual of the cause of action, and not afterwards.

If any such person to whom any such notice is given shall before suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover.

Chaukidari chakran lands.

364. Notwithstanding anything contained in Section three of Bengal Act VI of 1870 (an Act to provide for the appointment, dismissal, and maintenance of village chaukidars), the provisions of Part II of the said Act, relating to chaukidari chakran lands, shall be applicable to all such lands which have been assigned before the commencement of the said Act for the benefit of any part of a Municipality, and all duties and functions which the panchait of a village or any member thereof is required to discharge under the provisions of the said Part, shall be discharged, and all powers which the panchait of a village or any member thereof is authorized to exercise under the said Part, shall be exercised by the Commissioners of such Municipality, and the proceeds of the assessment on such lands made under the said Part shall be paid into the Municipal Fund, and shall be available for the purposes of such Fund.

Police officers to report offences and to arrest unknown offenders.

365. All Police Officers shall give immediate information to the Commissioners of the Municipality of any offence committed against this Act.

Any Police Officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against this Act if the name and address of such person be unknown to him, or if such person decline to give his name and address, or if the Police Officer shall have reason to doubt the accuracy of such name and address, if given, and such person may be detained until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained, or until he shall be brought up at once before a Magistrate.

Penalty on Officers, &c., taking unauthorized fees.

366. If any person employed under this Act (not being a public servant within the meaning of section twenty-one of the Indian Penal Code) shall accept or obtain, or agree to accept or attempt to obtain, from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, other than legal remuneration, as a reward for doing, or forbearing to do any official act; or for showing or forbearing to show in the exercise of his official functions, favour or disfavour to any person; or for rendering or attempting to render any service or disservice to any person with the Commissioners or with any public servant or with the Government as such, he shall be punished with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous as provided in Section fifty-three of the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to three years, or with a fine not exceeding five thousand rupees, or with both.

Saving clause.

367. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to

(a) render lawful any act or omission on the part of any person, which, but for this Act, would by law be deemed to be a nuisance:

(b) exempt any person guilty of nuisance from a suit in respect thereof:

(c) affect any enactment not hereby expressly repealed.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th January 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon within three weeks:—

A Bill further to amend Bengal Act IV of 1871.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the "Pooree Lodging-house Act, 1871," as amended and extended by Bengal Act II of 1879: It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

1. This Act shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

Commencement of Act.

2. In section 3 of Bengal Act II of 1879, the following clause shall be inserted after the second paragraph thereof:—

Further modification of Bengal Act IV of 1871.

In section 7, after the word "each," the words "day or" shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ACT IV of 1871 was framed to provide for the inspection and regulation of lodging-houses in the town of Pooree. It was afterwards found desirable to extend this measure to other places to which pilgrims resort or through which they pass, and the necessary powers were taken by Act II of 1879. It has been found, however, that the wording of section 7 of the original Act is not suited to the circumstances of places on the pilgrim routes, as it does not provide for the punishment of persons who receive lodgers by day into unlicensed houses. The object of this Bill is to supply the omission.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 16th February 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in two weeks:—

A Bill to regulate the Police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the payment from the Municipal Fund of a portion of the cost of the Police employed within the limits of the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta: It is enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Howrah and Suburban Municipal Police Act, 1884."

Extent.

It extends to Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta, as defined under any order issued under Act V of 1876 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, or under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

Commencement.

And it shall come into force from such date as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Police chargeable to Municipal Fund.

2. Subject to the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful to apply the Municipal Fund in Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta, to the payment of the Police employed in the said Municipalities,

Police to be appointed under Act V of 1861.

3. All Police Officers appointed or employed in the said Municipalities shall be appointed under the provisions of Act V of 1861, or of any similar Act for the time being in force, and shall be deemed to be a portion of the police establishments under the Government of Bengal, and shall be subject to the provisions of any such Act, except as hereinafter provided.

Municipal police not to be employed beyond Municipality.

4. Except as provided in the next succeeding section, no Police Officer who forms part of the strength of the Municipal Police, for which the estimate mentioned in section 8 may have been calculated, shall be liable to serve beyond the limits of the Municipality, save in execution of duties imposed on him by his employment as a Police Officer of such Municipality.

Deputation of Police beyond municipal limits.

5. Whenever it shall appear to the Magistrate or to the District Superintendent of Police that it is necessary that one or more members of the Municipal Police force shall be specially deputed to any duty beyond the limits of the Municipality, not being a duty imposed on him or them by their employment as Police Officers of such Municipality, the Magistrate or District Superintendent may depute such member or members to such duty, which they shall be bound to perform:

Provided that during such deputation the District Superintendent of Police shall make due provision for the efficient performance of police duties within the Municipality.

In case of, and during such deputation, the pay of the members of the Police Force so deputed, and all other expenses attending their deputation, shall be defrayed by the Local Government and not by the Municipal Commissioners.

Preparation of police estimate.

6. An estimate shall be prepared, in such form as the Local Government shall prescribe, of the income and expenditure of the Police Force in each of the aforesaid Municipalities for the year next following the preparation of such estimate, and shall be presented to the Municipal Commissioners at least three months before the beginning of the year to which the estimate relates.

Contents of estimate.

7. The estimate for Howrah shall be prepared by the District Superintendent of Police, and that for the Suburbs of Calcutta by the Deputy Commissioner of Police for the Suburbs of Calcutta, and shall show the number, constitution and salaries of the Police Force to be maintained in each of the said Municipalities.

Estimate to be translated and considered by Commissioners.

8. After the receipt of the police estimate, the Municipal Commissioners shall cause it to be translated into the vernacular language, and such translation shall be made available for inspection by any tax-payer.

The estimate shall also be laid before the Commissioners at their next meeting for consideration.

Estimate to be forwarded to Magistrate and Commissioner of Division.

9. After such meeting, the Commissioners shall forward the estimate, with any remarks or objections which the Commissioners at the meeting may record, to the Magistrate of the District for transmission to the Commissioner of the Division, and by him to the Local Government.

Local Government to decide on estimate.

10. The Local Government shall consider the estimate so transmitted, and may approve or modify the same or any part thereof. The Local Government shall also determine what part of the expense of the Police provided for in such estimate shall be borne by the Municipality to which the same refers:

Provided that the expense so to be borne by the Municipality shall not exceed 5 per centum on the total value of holdings within the Municipality, and shall not exceed one-fourth of the total amount of the estimate as approved by the Local Government.

Municipal share of costs how to be entered and paid.

11. The amount which the Local Government may determine as aforesaid to be borne by the Municipality shall be entered in the municipal estimate of expenditure to be prepared under section 71 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, and shall be paid by the Commissioners from the Municipal Fund, in such instalments as the Local Government may direct.

Saving of authority of Commissioner of Calcutta Police in Suburbs.

12. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the Commissioner of Police of the Town of Calcutta of any power or authority over the Police in the Suburbs of Calcutta vested in him by Bengal Act II of 1866 (for the better regulation of the Police within the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta).

And the Inspector-General of Police is hereby precluded from exercising over the Police within the said Suburbs any of the powers and authorities vested in him by the said Act V of 1861.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Bengal Municipal Bill, now before the Council, does not authorize the expenditure of any part of the Municipal Fund on the payment of the Municipal Police. The existing law on the subject is contained in Part V of the Bengal Act, V of 1876, and, by section 171, it rests with the Lieutenant-Governor to determine, subject to certain limitations, what part (if any) of the expense of the Police employed within any Municipality shall be borne by the Municipal Commissioners. In the exercise of this discretion, the Government of Bengal has already relieved all Mofussil Municipalities, with the exception of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta, from the obligation of making any contribution towards the cost of their Police, and this exemption will now be assured by the provisions of the new Municipal Act. It is not, however, in the power of the Government to dispense, at present, with the necessity of requiring some contribution towards the cost of the Police from the two Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta. The present Bill accordingly legalizes the payment in those Municipalities, of a portion of the police charges from the Municipal Fund. At the same time, the Government does not desire or intend to burden the Municipalities in question with any onerous charge upon their funds for the payment of the Municipal Police. The Bill therefore not only re-enacts the existing proviso, which limits the expense to 5 per cent. on the total annual value of the holdings within the Municipality, but further provides that the entire cost debitible to the Municipal Fund shall not exceed one-fourth of the total amount of the police estimate. At present the Suburban Municipality pays one-half, and the Howrah Municipality pays three-fourths, of the cost of its Police: so that the Bill will have the effect of affording substantial relief to the finances of the Municipalities to which it applies.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the Members of the Select Committee to whom the Bill to regulate the Police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill.

We have modified the wording of the title, as the main object of the Bill is not the regulation, but the payment, of the Municipal Police.

In section 1, we have provided that the Act shall come into force on the same day as the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

The Bill is in fact only a Chapter of the Bengal Municipal Bill, which it is more convenient to enact as a separate measure.

We have omitted sections 4 and 5 of the Bill.

These provisions were proper and necessary for the protection of municipal interests under the scheme laid down in Act V of 1876, but we think it needless to reproduce them in a measure so limited in its extent as the present Bill.

Under the present law, the share of the expense to be defrayed by the Municipality cannot exceed five per cent. on the annual value of holdings within the Municipality.

We have reduced this to two per cent.

We have provided that the municipal contribution shall be paid in quarterly instalments on such dates as the Local Government may direct.

We have made a few other alterations of a verbal character.

We recommend that the Bill be passed as now amended.

AMENDED BILL.

A Bill to enable the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta to contribute towards the cost of the Police employed in those Municipalities.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the payment from the Municipal Fund of a portion of the cost of the Police employed within the limits of the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta: It is enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Howrah and Suburban Municipal Police Act, 1884."

Extent.

It extends to the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the day on which the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, shall come into force.

Police chargeable to Municipal Fund.

2. Subject to the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful to apply the Municipal Fund in Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta, to the payment of the Police employed in the said Municipalities.

Police to be appointed under Act V of 1861.

3. All Police Officers appointed or employed in the said Municipalities shall be appointed under the provisions of Act V of 1861, or of any similar Act for the time being in force, and shall be deemed to be a portion of the police establishments under the Government of Bengal, and shall be subject to the provisions of any such Act.

Preparation of police estimate.

4. An estimate shall be prepared, in such form as the Local Government shall prescribe, of the income and expenditure of the Police Force in each of the aforesaid Municipalities for the year next following the preparation of such estimate, and shall be presented to the Municipal Commissioners at least three months before the beginning of the year to which the estimate relates.

Contents of estimate.

5. The estimate for Howrah shall be prepared by the District Superintendent of Police, and that for the Suburbs of Calcutta by the Commissioner of Police for the Town of Calcutta, and shall show the number, constitution and salaries of the Police Force to be maintained in each of the said Municipalities.

Estimate to be considered by Commissioners and forwarded to Magistrate and Commissioner of Division.

6. The Municipal Commissioners, after considering the estimate at a meeting, shall forward the same, with any remarks or objections which they may record at the meeting, to the Magistrate of the District for transmission to the Commissioner of the Division, who shall forward it to the Local Government.

Local Government to decide on estimate.

7. The Local Government shall consider the estimate so transmitted, and may approve or modify the same or any part thereof. The Local Government shall also determine what part of the expense of the Police provided for in such estimate shall be borne by the Municipality to which the same refers:

Provided that the expense so to be borne by the Municipality shall not exceed two per centum on the total value of holdings within the Municipality, and shall not exceed one-fourth of the total amount of the estimate as approved by the Local Government.

Municipal share of cost how to be entered and paid.

8. The amount which the Local Government may determine as aforesaid to be borne by the Municipality shall be entered in the municipal estimate of expenditure to be prepared under section of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, and shall be paid by the Commissioners from the Municipal Fund in quarterly instalments, on such dates as the Local Government may direct.

Saving of authority of Commissioner of Calcutta Police in Suburbs.

9. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the Commissioner of Police of the Town of Calcutta of any power or authority over the Police in the Suburbs of Calcutta vested in him by Bengal Act II of 1866 (for the better regulation of the Police within the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta).

And the Inspector-General of Police is hereby precluded from exercising over the Police within the said Suburbs any of the powers and authorities vested in him by the said Act V of 1861.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st March 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in one week :—

A Bill to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to facilitate the construction and regulate the working of Tramways within such portions of Calcutta as are not situate within the local limits of the town as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, and to make due provision for their general management, supervision, and control; and whereas it is necessary to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, for the purposes aforesaid: It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Construction and commencement of Act.

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, "The Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880." And it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

Definition of "Calcutta."

2. "Calcutta" includes all places within the local limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Tramways constructed beyond local limits of the town to be subject to Local Government.

3. All tramways constructed in Calcutta, but situate beyond the local limits of the town as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, shall be subject to the general management, regulation and control of the Local Government: and the Local Government shall in this behalf exercise all the rights, powers, functions and authorities which would, under the provisions of the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, have been exercised by the Corporation, if such tramways had been constructed wholly within the local limits of the town as defined by the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876.

Corporation not to have control in respect of tramway outside limits of the town.

4. Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to give the Corporation any control, power, or authority in respect of any tramway or part of a tramway constructed outside the limits of the town as defined by the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876.

Retrospective effect of Act as to tramways already constructed.

5. The provisions of this Act and of the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, shall apply to any tramway that may have been constructed before this Act comes into force, notwithstanding any omission or irregularity in publishing any notice required to be published under section four of the said Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE intention of the Calcutta Tramways Act, (B.C.) 1880, as expressed in the Preamble, was to provide for the construction—(1) of certain tramways which were specified in it; and (2) of "such other tramways between such other places in Calcutta and the Suburbs of Calcutta, and by such other routes as may hereafter be approved." This wording is in itself wide enough to cover the case of a tramway between some place in Calcutta and another place in the Suburbs of Calcutta, even though its route might not lie wholly within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Corporation of Calcutta or of the Municipal Commissioners for the Suburbs. The tenor of the Act itself, however, apart from the Preamble, contemplates only those tramways, the routes of which lie wholly within the jurisdiction of one or other of these Municipalities. The Act, therefore, does not, strictly speaking, apply to a tramway any portion of whose route, lies over the maidan which is not under the control of either body of Municipal Commissioners, but under that of Government direct. Instances have occurred in which it has been expedient to construct portions of the tramways authorized under the Act by routes lying upon the maidan, and the object of this Bill is to extend, with retrospective effect, the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, so as to include the maidan.

C. H. REILY,
Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Dept.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st March 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report:—

A Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta: It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the "Calcutta Suburban Water-Supply Act, 1884,"

Commencement of Act.

And it shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may direct, not being more than months after the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette, with the assent of the Governor-General.

Enactment repealed.

2. The enactment mentioned in the schedule is hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

Interpretation

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"The Commissioners."

(1) "The Commissioners" means the Municipal Commissioners for the time being of the Suburbs of Calcutta, appointed or elected under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1876, or other Act for the regulation of Municipalities in Bengal for the time being in force.

"The Municipality."

(2) "The Municipality" means the area subject to the jurisdiction of such Commissioners.

"House."

(3) "House" includes any hut, shop, warehouse, building or shed.

"Land"

(4) "Land" includes (besides land) benefits to arise out of land, anything attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

"Owner."

(5) "Owner" includes—

(a) Every person who is entitled for the time being to receive any rent in respect of the land with regard to which the word is used, whether from the occupier or otherwise;

(b) A manager on behalf of any such person;

(c) An agent for any such person;

(d) A trustee for any such person:

Provided that no such manager, agent or trustee shall be liable to do anything required by this Act to be done by the owner, nor shall he be subject to any fine for omitting to do such thing, unless he has sufficient funds in his hands as such manager, agent or trustee, to do such thing.

"Street"

(6) "Street" means any street, road, square, court, alley or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the Public have a right of way.

Water-supply.

Corporation of Calcutta to provide supply of filtered water.

4. The Corporation of the Town of Calcutta shall provide a supply of filtered water for the Municipality in such quantity, and on such terms and conditions, as may be agreed upon between the said Corporation and the Commissioners.

The Commissioners to provide for distribution of water.

5. The Commissioners shall provide for the distribution of such water within the Municipality, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets and roads of the Municipality, and shall also erect in all such streets and roads sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Municipality for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street or road at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

What are not domestic purposes.

6. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

Supply for business.

7. The Commissioners may supply water through a metre, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Commissioners in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required, and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Commissioners may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication pipes and works of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Commissioners.

Householder entitled to certain supply of water for domestic use.

8. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Commissioners as water-rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Commissioners for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Commissioners may determine. If the Commissioners have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to provide a water-metre at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every gallons:

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Commissioners for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

Nothing contained in the first clause of this section shall apply to houses assessed at less than twelve hundred rupees per annum.

Commissioners may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines.

9. It shall be at the option of the Commissioners to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets.

All latrines to be provided with cisterns.

10. All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Commissioners shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

Communication pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of householder.

11. Every person paying the water-rate hereinafter mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication pipes from the service pipes of the Commissioners for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Commissioners shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

The communication pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Commissioners into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions and material as the Commissioners shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

Communication pipes, &c., must be made to satisfaction of officer of the Commissioners.

12. The communication pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Commissioners into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed, subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

Such communication pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Commissioners upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Commissioners and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed;

and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water-rate.

Power to enter premises.

13. The officer authorized in that behalf by the Commissioners may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water;

and if such officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Commissioners may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land:

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, unless a notice in writing of not less than four hours be given.

When pipes are out of repair, Commissioners may turn off water.

14. In the event of any pipes, works or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Commissioners may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, after giving notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

15. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the water-rate hereinafter mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Commissioners may turn off the water from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Commissioners may think fit, and may recover the expense of turning off the water from such person:

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

Occupier in whose house water is wasted, liable to penalty.

16. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Commissioners under this Act is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier wasted, or in whose house or land the pipes, works, and fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees.

Person causing waste of water liable to penalty.

17. Any person causing waste of water supplied by the Commissioners shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees.

Commissioners at their discretion may allow person outside the Municipality to take water.

18. It shall be within the discretion of the Commissioners to allow any person not residing within the limits of the Municipality to take or be supplied with water for his domestic use on such terms as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time prescribe.

And any person taking or causing to be taken for use outside the limits of the Municipality, water supplied by the Commissioners, without the permission of the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees.

Penalty.

Person executing any work for laying on water must hold a license from the Commissioners.

19. It shall not be lawful for any person to execute any work in connection with the laying on of water from any service pipes of the Commissioners to any house or land, unless he shall hold a license from the Commissioners authorizing him to act as a plumber under such rules and regulations as the Commissioners may from time to time lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of his license.

Any person licensed by the Commissioners as a plumber, who shall infringe or break any rules or regulations under which he holds his license, shall be liable to have his license at once cancelled by the Commissioners, and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees.

Penalty.

Owner or occupier when not entitled to demand a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes.

20. Any owner or occupier of any house or land who shall cause or allow works, pipes or fittings for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Commissioners to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Commissioners, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes.

Before connection, Engineer of the Commissioners to cause all works and pipes to be inspected.

21. Before a connection for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Commissioners to any house or land is sanctioned by the Commissioners, the Engineer of the Commissioners shall cause all the works, pipes and fittings within the said house or land to be inspected by a duly qualified officer; and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct, by the person applying for the said connection; and until the Engineer of the Commissioners shall have certified that the said works, pipes and fittings have been executed and put up in a satisfactory manner, a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes shall not be permitted.

Connection with service pipes to be executed only by an officer of the Commissioners.

22. The connection with the service pipes of the Commissioners, as also the laying of supply pipes under any public road or thoroughfare, shall be executed by an officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf and by no other person; and the expense of making such connection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for the same at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct.

Penalty on licensed plumber who executes works badly.

23. If any licensed plumber shall execute any works or put up any fittings within any house or land for the supply of water from the pipes of the Commissioners in a careless and negligent manner, or make use of bad materials or fittings, the said licensed plumber shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees, and upon a third conviction shall be liable to have his license cancelled at the discretion of the Commissioners.

Obstructing or diverting water.

24. Any person who shall unlawfully flush, draw off, divert, or take water from any water-works belonging to, or under the management or control of, the said Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees.

Power to require owner to provide works for water-supply.

25. Any occupier holding direct from the owner of any house may, by notice in writing signed by him, require the owner of such house to perform all such necessary works as may be required for bringing into such house a supply of water for domestic use.

Every such notice shall contain an agreement on the part of such occupier to pay interest at the rate of one per centum per mensem, calculated from the date of the completion of the works, on the cost of such works during the residue of his term of occupation:

Provided that, if the house and the premises belonging thereto shall not abut upon some street in which there is a supply-main, such occupier shall, in the agreement, undertake to pay the cost of connecting the house with the nearest supply-main.

Power to occupier to make works in default of owner.

26. If any owner shall not, within the space of three months from the service of such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, cause such necessary works as aforesaid to be completed, the occupier, who shall have given such notice, may cause the same to be completed, and may deduct from the rent payable by him the cost of such works, save so much of such cost as may be incurred in connecting with a supply-main any house and premises belonging thereto which may not abut upon a street in which there may be a supply-main; and such deduction shall be made by six equal monthly instalments.

Interest on each such instalment shall be payable to the owner by the occupier at the rate of one per centum per mensem, from the time when it shall have been so deducted.

What works to be made for a house.

27. The supply of water to a house shall not be deemed sufficient for domestic use unless it provides two taps in each floor of such house, one other such tap in the cook-room of or attached to such house, and one other such tap in the premises, or in or near the stables belonging to such house, and the necessary works for such taps.

But if the annual rent of such house, with the land attached thereto, shall be less than three hundred rupees, it shall be sufficient to provide one tap only within the said premises, and the necessary works for the same.

Estimate and specification of works to be sent.

28. No works for introducing a supply of water to any house shall be commenced by the owner without sending a specification and estimate of the cost thereof to the occupier, nor by the occupier without sending such specification and estimate to the owner.

Power to refer to arbitration.

29. In case there shall be any difference between the owner and the occupier respecting the cost or the sufficiency of the proposed works, either the owner or the occupier may refer such difference to the Commissioners, and the written award of the Engineer of the Commissioners, or of any officer authorized by them in that behalf, shall be binding on the owner and the occupier.

Fee on reference.

30. There shall be payable to the Commissioners in respect of every such reference a fee at the rate of two rupees for every hundred rupees of the monthly rent of the house or land in respect of the water-supply to which the difference may have arisen:

Provided that such fee shall in no case exceed ten rupees, and shall be paid by the person making the reference.

Owner to keep works in repair.

31. Except in the case of a special agreement to the contrary, the owner of any house or land shall bear the expense of keeping all works connected with the supply of water to such house or land in substantial repair:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the liabilities of parties under leases executed or made previous to the commencement of this Act.

Power of recovery by owner of sums payable.

32. Any owner to whom any sum is payable under sections twenty-five and twenty-six may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same, as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house in respect of which the expenses have been incurred.

Tanks, &c., vested in the Commissioners.

33. All public tanks, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps, and other water-works, whether made, laid or erected at the cost of the Commissioners or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials and things connected therewith, or appertaining thereto, and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank, shall become vested in the Commissioners.

Water fouled by offensive trades.

34. If any person, being the proprietor of any gas-works, or being engaged or employed in the manufacture or supply of gas, or being the occupier or owner of any place where an offensive trade or manufacture is carried on, wilfully does any act connected with the said business whereby the water in any stream, tank, reservoir, well, cistern, conduit, aqueduct or other water-works belonging to the Commissioners is fouled or corrupted, the Commissioners may, after twenty-four hours' notice in writing, lay open and examine any pipes, conduits, and works belonging to such person; and if, upon such examination, it appears that the water has been fouled or corrupted by anything proceeding from, or contained in, the pipes, conduits or works examined, the expenses of such examination shall be paid by the person to whom such pipes, conduits or works belong, or under whose management or control they may be;

but if it appear that the water has not been so fouled or corrupted, then such expenses, and all damages occasioned by the examination, shall be paid by the Commissioners.

The water-rate.

Water-rate to be imposed.

35. The Commissioners shall, from time to time, at a meeting convened expressly for the purpose, of which due notice shall have been given, and with the sanction of the Local Government, impose upon all houses and land within the Municipality a water-rate, calculated on the annual value of the said houses and land, and not exceeding six per centum when the houses or land are situated in streets or roads supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section five, or five per centum when the houses and land are situated in streets or roads not so supplied.

Annual value to be assessed as provided in Bengal Act V of 1876.

36. The annual value of houses and land shall be assessed for the purposes of the last preceding section, in the manner provided in Bengal Act V of 1876 or other Act for the regulation of Municipalities in Bengal for the time being in force.

Water-rate payable quarterly in advance by occupiers.

37. The water-rate shall (save as is provided in sections forty and forty-one) be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land, and shall become due quarterly in advance on the 1st of January, 1st of April, 1st of July, and 1st of October in each year.

Refund of water-rate when house ceases to be occupied.

38. Whenever any quarterly instalment of water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

Occupier paying water-rate to deduct one fourth from rent due to owner.

39. Whenever the person from, or by whom, the water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the owner of the house or land in respect of which the water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner of such house or land one-fourth of the water-rate so paid by deducting the same from the rent payable by him to such owner.

When house or land unoccupied, owner to pay one-fourth of water-rate.

40. Whenever any house or land has been unoccupied during an entire quarter, the owner of the said house or land shall pay to the Commissioners one-fourth of the sum which would have been payable as water-rate by the occupier if such house or land had been occupied.

The sum payable by the owner under this section shall be payable on the 1st of April, 1st of July, 1st of October, and 1st of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

41. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Commissioners may impose the water-rate upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

Owner to recover from occupier water-rate paid by owner.

42. If the water-rate is paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

43. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

Application of water-rate and monies received from the supply of water.

44. The water-rate and all monies collected, received, or recovered for, or in respect of, the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected therewith, or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied to the following purposes and in the following order:—

Firstly.—To pay the cost of collection of the water-rate.

Secondly.—To pay to the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta the cost of the water supplied to the Municipality by the said Corporation at such rate as may be agreed upon, or as may be decided upon by the arbitrators appointed as hereinafter provided.

Thirdly.—To defray the expense of making, extending or maintaining the water-works.

To pay the interest of money borrowed for the water-works:

And to liquidate debts incurred in connection therewith, or for some other purpose connected with the supply of water.

Arbitration.

Disputes as to cost of water, &c., to be referred to arbitration.

45. When any dispute shall have arisen between the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta and the Commissioners in respect of the cost of the filtered water supplied to the Commissioners by the said Corporation, or in respect of any other matter connected with the water-supply, such dispute shall be referred to three arbitrators, who shall be appointed in the manner following, that is to say:—

One by the Local Government by writing under the hand of one of the Secretaries of the Government of Bengal.

One by the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta by writing under the common seal of such Corporation: and

One by the Commissioners by writing under their common seal.

Appointments to be delivered to arbitrators.

46. Such appointments shall be delivered to the arbitrators, and shall be deemed a submission to arbitration of the question or questions in dispute, and neither the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, nor the Commissioners shall have power to revoke the same without the consent of the other, and of the Local Government.

Vacancy of arbitrator to be supplied.

47. If, before the matters so referred shall be determined, any arbitrator shall die or become incapable, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may nominate and appoint in writing some other person to act in his place; and if, for the space of seven days after notice in writing from either of the other parties, such party fail to do so, the remaining arbitrators may proceed with the reference.

Every arbitrator to be substituted as aforesaid shall have the same powers and authorities as were vested in the former arbitrator at the time of his death or disability as aforesaid.

Power of arbitrators to call for books, &c.

48. The arbitrators may call for the production of any books or documents in the possession or power of either party which they may think necessary for determining the question in dispute, and may examine witnesses on oath or solemn affirmation, and administer the oaths or solemn affirmations necessary for the purpose.

Arbitrators to deliver award within twenty-one days.

49. The arbitrators, or the majority of them, shall deliver their award in writing to the parties within twenty-one days after the day on which the last of such arbitrators shall have been appointed, or within such extended time (if any) as shall have been appointed for that purpose by the arbitrators under their hands.

Such award shall be final, and shall not be set aside for irregularity or any error in matter of form.

Costs of arbitration.

50. All costs of any such arbitration, and incident thereto, shall be settled by the arbitrators and be stated in the award, and such costs (together with the fees of the arbitrators) shall be borne by such party, or by both parties in such proportions as the arbitrators shall direct.

SCHEDULE.

(See Section 2.)

Number and year.	Subject.	Extent of repeal.
Bengal Act VI of 1881.	Act to amend the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876.	Sections 15 and 30.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

PART VII of the Municipal Bill now before the Council deals with the questions of the water-supply and the water-rate in those Municipalities to which the Part may be extended in the manner prescribed in the Bill. But the special arrangements under which it is intended to give a supply of filtered water to the Suburbs of Calcutta cannot conveniently be provided for in the general Municipal Act, and the present Bill has therefore been prepared to meet the requirements of this particular case. The Bill is for the most part based upon Chapter VII of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1876, and the special provisions are those contained in section 4 and sections 44 to 50 of the Bill. Section 4 declares that the water-supply shall be provided by the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta, but it is intended that the distribution of the water within the Municipality shall be undertaken by the Commissioners of the Suburbs. Section 44 specifies the purposes to which the water-rate shall be applied, and declares that after the cost of collection is defrayed, the next charge on the rate shall be the repayment to the Calcutta Corporation of the cost of the water supplied in accordance within section 4. The subsequent sections provide for the settlement by arbitration of any disputes which may arise. The Bill repeals sections 15 and 30 of Bengal Act VI of 1881, as these sections will be unnecessary when the Bill becomes law.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 15th March 1884, and was referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report:—

A Bill further to amend "the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876."

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Bengal Act IV of 1876, it is hereby enacted as follows:— Preamble.

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, Bengal Act IV of 1876, and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General. Construction and commencement of Act.

2. To section 334, the following words shall be added:— Addition to section 334.

"Provided that unless the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, shall, by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette, otherwise direct, all such sums of money shall be borrowed in India and in the Indian currency."

3. In the seventh Schedule, line six, omit the word "rupees." Amendment of the seventh Schedule.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta have applied to Government for permission to raise a loan in England to provide for the extension of the water-supply. The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, however, only contemplates the raising of rupee loans. The object of this Bill is to give power to the Supreme Government to authorize the Commissioners at any time to contract loans out of India and in other than Indian currency.

A collection of songs of a moral, spiritual and devotional nature, many of which are composed in the style of Rámprasád Sen. The songs are stated to have been originally composed for an amateur company of Báuls.	2366
June, 22nd	50	8vo. dy.	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 6 0	Jnánendra Kumár Ráya Chaudhuri.	The writer says that the decline of the zemindar class in Bengal is owing to their ignorance want of esprit de corps, and intemperate habits; to the unrewhich has been created between them and the cultivating class by legislative enactments like Act X of 1859, &c.; to the decline of the power and influence of the zemindars, who in their better days were able to maintain discipline and which is now exhausting both the mental and economic resources of the people; to facilitate and economise the public with great difficulty and expenditure of money, and to preserve peace in the country by securing the affection of their writer takes exception to some of the provisions of the new Rent Bill, and thinks that the proposed law, if enacted, they are at present.	2367

,, 25th	42	4to. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 12 0	Rámprasád Talukdar, Taherpur, Rajshahye.	This periodical deals with certain classes of subjects, such as political, social, economic, &c., to each of which a separate chapter or section is assigned.	901
The writer of one of the papers in this number takes a hopeful view of the Bengali newspaper press, which is considered to have made a remarkable progress since the days of Iswar Chandra Gupta. The late contempt case has not, in the opinion of the writer, injured the interests of that press.
Aug., 17th	40	4to. ...	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 12 0	Baradá Charan Gánguli, Faherpur, Rajshahye.	One writer says that, so long as India depends on other countries for the supply of her many material and intellectual wants, it is idle to talk about	902 making her free by driving out her foreign rulers. Foreign subjection consists not simply in political domination by foreigners, but also in a dependence on foreigners for food, cloth, knowledge, &c.

The editor says that the paper will be conducted in a facetious, humorous or sarcastic style, as occasion requires, and will deal with current topics and men and manners as they are. An article against the use of spirituous liquors by Bengalis is found in this number.	926

Feb., 28th	63	8vo. dy.	1st ...	500	ditto ..	0 8 0	Dwárká Náth Bidyábhusan.	The writer of one of the papers in this number adduces evidence from Sanskrit literature and a few other sources to show that indolence has been a marked feature of the Aryan character in India from the remotest times, and has materially influenced the development of Hindu civilisation. This feature of the Aryan character clings to the modern Bengali, and that is why he is so slow to take to industrial enterprise and so fond of the comparatively sluggish and inactive occupation of a social or a religious reformer. The translation of Manu and the Sankhya Darsan is continued.	928

Amongst the English articles in this number is a very interesting one containing a description of a printing firm in London. A parody of Hamlet's celebrated soliloquy beginning with the words "To be or not to be" is put in as if spoken by Mr. Branson after his Town Hall speech against the Ilbert Bill. In the Bengali department is found a paper on the growth of satirical literature in Bengali, and the influence which that literature has already exercised upon prevailing tastes and manners.	42

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 29th December 1883.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan, Dec. 29 '83	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Outturn of amun one-third of a full crop. Most rubbee crops will probably yield a little more than half a full crop.
2	Bankoora, „ 29 „	Nil	Weather—cold and clear. Reaping of amun rice drawing to a close. Average outturn a little over 8 annas for the Sudder sub division and 7 annas for the Bishenpore sub-division. The stock, however, appears to be ample, and, if there be not much export, may last well till the next harvest. Public health good. Fever in the Bishenpore sub-division abating.
3	Beerbhoom, „ 29 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Harvesting of amun continues. Average outturn of aus and amun crops together not more than 8 annas. Rubbee crops doing fairly. Prices slightly lower. General health of district satisfactory. A few cases of cholera reported.
4	Midnapore. „ 29 „	Nil	Weather—seasonably cold. Harvesting of paddy almost completed. Winter crops doing well. Fever has broken out in the Ghatal and Daspore stations, and cholera has made its appearance in isolated parts of the Contai sub-division and in Tumlook.
5	Hooghly. „ 29 „	Nil	Weather—cold and sunny. Amun harvest is expected to yield about 6 annas. Sugarcane and rubbee crops doing well. Public health good.
	Howrah, ...	.....	Report not received.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 6 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

☁ fog; ☐ dew.

EXPERIMENTS MADE WITH THE TASSAR SILKWORM IN THE NORTH AROOT DISTRICT

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

READ the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated 17th September 1883, No. 2798 :—

Read the following letter from A. J STUART, Esq , Collector of North Arcot, to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Chittoor, 4th September 1883, No. 464.

I have the honour to submit a brief account of an experiment made this year with the tassar silkworm.

2. Major Cousmaker's experiments went to show that the worms could not be fed in confinement as the common worm is, and he therefore devised a system of surrounding his mulberry trees with a kind of cage within which the worms were reared on the bushes or hedges of mulberry, and by which they were protected from birds and insects.

3. The cage used in this manner would be expensive and troublesome on a large scale, and the mulberry requires irrigation.

4. To meet these difficulties, I have tried the following plan :—

I obtained from the jungles about 100 cocoons with chrysalises in them and made a bamboo cage such as one would use to cage a fowl in, a part of the upper portion of the cage being made with quite narrow strips of bamboo half an inch apart to let in light and air. In this were put the cocoons, and the cage was suspended by a string to a low branch of an almond tree, Terminalia catappa, growing in my compound about five feet from the ground.

5. The moths burst the cocoons one after another and settled on the sides of the cage inside, the meshes of which are of such a size that a large moth cannot get out. There the pairs united and then died after laying their eggs on the sides of the basket. In the course of a few weeks the inside of the cage was covered with little bundles of eggs.

6. The exposure to precisely their natural conditions was the principle I had in view in this arrangement, and it proved successful. A large number of the eggs germinated, and the small caterpillars found their way out through the meshes of the baskets towards the light and were found crawling about on the outside. A few twigs with leaves were then bent down and tied so as to form a kind of ladder, and the grubs availed themselves of it and ascending the tree fed on the leaves. Some were also removed by hand and placed on the leaves of the tree above.

7. A watcher was placed to keep away birds, and the root of the trees was surrounded with a small heap of ashes to keep off ants. The birds, however, gave no trouble and caused no loss, and the same may be said of the ants, of which, notwithstanding the ashes, there were many on the tree. The tree is about 20 or 30 feet high, and at one time was almost stripped of leaves by the appetite of the worms. The basket was then united and removed to another similar tree, where the same process is now going on.

8. The worms on the original tree spun cocoons which they attached to the branches and which have since to the number of 500 and odd been without difficulty gathered, and the tree is again in full leaf and ready to give another crop. Unfortunately I was absent in camp when the worms began to spin and the cocoons were left on the tree till my return, when it was found that nearly all of them had burst, and the moths escaped, and I only succeeded in getting 30 with the chrysalis still in them for future work. There are still, however, in the original cage, a large quantity of eggs from which worms are daily produced, and the cocoons from them will be taken from the tree more promptly.

9. The single tree, or rather one flush of leaves on it, thus produced 500 cocoons weighing, after the moth had escaped, 1½ lbs.

The whole process is simple and easy, and costs almost nothing.

The tassar is known to feed on the black plum, Syzigium Jambolanum, the Zizyphus Jujuba, and other trees also, which are hardy as the almond is, and after the first two years will grow into good-sized trees without further care. Any of these trees may be planted for the purpose, and this kind of silk produced in the manner above described with certainty, and in quantity limited only by the extent of the plantations.

10. I am going to try some other trees also, but with the almond and the black plum, we have really all we want, and the problem of producing the tassar cocoons artificially and in any quantity resolves itself into that of planting with either of these trees a sufficient area of ground, and watering and protecting the trees till they are established. This, of course, is some expense both for ground and for planting and watering the trees for two to three years, and the quantity of leaves would not be considerable for perhaps six or eight years; and it remains for consideration, from a practical point of view, whether the capital required for this would be well repaid by the return or not.

11. At this stage, what we have got is that by a simple and cheap method the worm can be reared with certainty, and the cocoons obtained in any quantity, provided the trees above-named are available. This was the principal difficulty, and I think it is simply and cheaply overcome by the use of the bamboo cage hung under the tree, the leaves of which are to be the food of the worms.

12. The tassar cocoon is difficult to wind off, owing to a strong cement by which the worm glues the threads together. I think some chemical solution might be found which, without injuring the silk, would dissolve this cement by soaking or boiling. I shall be glad to supply cocoons, if a chemical examination of them can be made in Madras which might lead to the discovery of such a solution.

13. There is, however, no difficulty in winding them roughly off as with the specimens herewith submitted, and in this form they would probably find a fair market for making silk plush, velvet, silk hats, &c. I shall take steps to find out this value.

14. The merits of the tassar compared with ordinary worm are—It is indigeneous and hardy; it lives on leaves of trees which are indigenous and hardy; it does not require to be kept under cover and fed daily with leaves, but feeds itself and gives no trouble; it is easily reared and apparently not liable to disease; it does not seem to have any natural enemies that cannot be kept away by a man with a gun.

15. It strikes me that it may have a great future before it, if it can be introduced in the manner that silk is often cultivated in Italy, viz. by planting the trees which are its food in the ryots' fields at such distances as not materially to interfere with their ordinary grain crops—a practice not uncommon in parts of Coimbatore with the various thorn trees. There seems nothing to prevent any ryot from planting 20 or 30 such trees to the acre, and so rearing silk enough to make a material item in his profits, the only difference between the practice here and in Italy being that here the worms would feed themselves without trouble, while there the leaves have to be daily gathered and the worms fed in the house. With this view, I would suggest the planting of some or all of these trees in rows, each row perhaps ten yards apart, and each tree ten yards from the next in some field regularly cultivated with grain crops at Saidápet Farm, and when the trees have grown up sufficiently, the results can be put to the proof of experiment.

16. I may add that there seems to be some reason to think the tassar worm will live on the Casuarina. I understand cocoons have been found on these trees in considerable quantity, and if so, it must be from the worm feeding on the leaves. This might also be tried at Saidápet, and perhaps by private owners of plantations, of which there are many along the Madras coast.

RESOLUTION DATED 17TH SEPTEMBER 1883, No. 2798.

Submitted for the information of Government. Further reports of Mr. Stuart's interesting experiment are awaited Details of the probable number of worms that can be fed to maturity upon one tree of given size, the length of life of the worm from hatching to the finishing of the cocoon, the cost of watching and other expenses, and the outturn in silk, the effect of rain, the number of crops, the best season, &c., will be of value. The chief difficulties hitherto have been the protection of the worms while feeding at an expense commensurate with the returns. The Chemical Examiner will be asked whether he can suggest any method of dissolving the very tenacious glutinous cement that binds the tassar cocoons without injuring the silk. The Collector is requested to send a few cocoons to the Chemical Examiner for that purpose.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·3° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

MEMORANDA

THE birth and death returns of the first class Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 22nd December 1883 present the following results :—

(1) Births and deaths registered :—

	During weeks ending— 22nd December.	15th December.
Births—
Number	587	743
Ratio per mille	23 0	29 1
Proportion per cent. of male to female births ..	124	122
Deaths —
Number	800	928
Ratio per mille	31 3	36 3
Proportion per cent. of male to female deaths .	108	138

The above figures indicate a considerable falling off in the record of both event.

(2) Municipalities which returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille
Darjiling	44 4	Burdwan	58 0
Poori	32 1	Serampore	49 1

* The ratios for Darjiling are calculated upon the census of 1881, which gives 160 only as the number of the Christian population. That population, however, is a very fluctuating one, reaching sometimes an average of 1,000, but as the census was taken in the month of February, when the number of this section of the community is at a minimum, the calculations based thereon must of necessity exhibit fallacious results. Since then an attempt has been made to obtain a special and supplementary census for Darjiling during a more favourable season of the year, but as its results are not recorded in the authorized form of age classification, it cannot be employed as a basis or calculation in these tables.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of November 1883 aggregated maunds 3,46,210, as compared with maunds 3,35,137 carried during the corresponding period of 1882, and maunds 2,58,401 carried during the previous month, showing an increase of maunds 11,073 in one case and maunds 87,809 in the other

Of the several increases and decreases the following are the most prominent ones and worthy of special explanations:—

Increases.

Food-grains ... ... Mds. 12,912
Due to a larger quantity of the staple being carried for the opening of the extensions.

Hides and horns ... ... Mds. 2,064
Due to the favourable rates now ruling in Calcutta market.

Indigo ... ... Mds. 6,255
Due to the opening of the Bethia section of the Western Extension, in which there are Indigo Factories at almost all the stations.

Lime and kunker ... ... Mds. 6,253
Due to the import to Muzufferpore for the Hajipur Extension, and to Tarsarai and Sakri for the Eastern Extension.

Railway materials ... ... Mds. 15,970
Due to the rapid progress of the Hajipur Extension.

Salt ... ... Mds. 7,396
Due to heavy quantity having been carried by rail instead of by boat.

Saltpetre ... ... Mds. 18,901
Due to the steady demand and favourable rates in the Calcutta market.

Other goods ... ... Mds. 15,954
Due to the opening of the Extensions of the line.

Decreases.

Coal ... ... Mds 28,665
Due to the completion of the Extensions of this railway.

Iron ... ... Mds. 3,303
Due to no consignments of machinery for Indigo Factories having been carried during the month.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 6,576
Due to unusually high traffic of this staple in the corresponding period.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 32,774
Due to heavy quantity being carried during the last month, and to the limited demand of the staple in the Calcutta market.

The other Decreases are too insignificant to admit of any explanation.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES BILL.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities. In doing so he said:—

This is a measure of very great importance, and no doubt the Council will wish for some further time to examine the details of the Bill before they are asked to take it into formal consideration with a view to its being passed. I therefore think that I shall be acting in conformity with the wishes of hon. members in not bringing forward to-day any motion founded upon the Bill, but I desire to take this opportunity to explain somewhat more fully than is possible within the limits of a Select Committee's report the principal objects which the Bill is intended to attain, and the system upon which the Select Committee has proceeded in framing its provisions.

The Bill, as I mentioned when I asked the Council for leave to introduce it, is founded upon the existing Municipal Act, V of 1876. But it is in some respects wider, and in some respects narrower, in its scope than the existing law. The present Act includes institutions of four kinds—municipalities of the first and of the second class, unions, and stations. It provides for the introduction of the elective system into those municipalities in which at least one-third of the resident rate-payers shall have signed a petition asking that the system may be introduced. It leaves the power of appointing the Chairman entirely in the hands of Government, and declares that the Magistrate of the District or of the Sub-Division shall ordinarily be the Chairman. There are at present no stations under the Act, the stations which formerly existed having been transferred to the second class of municipalities; but there are a large number of unions, especially in the districts of Hooghly, Patna and Gya, and these are in many instances places which will more suitably come under the charge of the boards to be established under the Bill for Local Self-Government than under the provisions of a Municipal Act We have, therefore, narrowed the scope of the law by confining it to such towns as appeared fitted for the introduction of municipal institutions.

On the other hand, we have considerably extended the operation of the elective system. In the words of the Government of Bengal, the time has come when the demand of "the more intelligent classes for a large freedom in the management of their own concerns must be recognized and allowed," and a necessary step towards this recognition evidently lies in permitting the people to choose their own representatives. The restriction of the elective system to municipalities in which one-third of the rate-payers might petition for it has not worked successfully. The object of the rules was to guard against the premature introduction of the system into Municipalities which might not really desire to have it, but its effect has been to exclude from the municipal franchise many places to which the privilege of election might properly have been conceded. Outside Calcutta there are only three Municipalities (Burdwan, Serampore and Kishnaghur) in which the elective system is in force under the present law. In such towns as Patna, Hooghly, Dacca and the suburbs of Calcutta, places eminently fitted from their wealth, position and intelligence to elect their own Municipal Commissioners, it has been found difficult to comply with the provisions of the law, which requires a petition signed by one-third at least of the resident rate-payers. The Bill removes this restriction, and confers the right of election upon all but twenty-one Municipalities.

But it is necessary to do something more than this. Rules must be laid down for the conduct of municipal elections, and it is clearly impossible to embody these rules in the Bill. The rules will vary according to the circumstances of different towns, and we have as yet had so little experience of the operation of a system of election, that it is probable that any rules which may be laid down will, for some time to come, require a good deal of amendment and revision. It must therefore be left to the Government to frame the rules. But if this power of framing rules were subject to no restrictions, it is evident that the power might be so used as to nullify the principle of popular election. It would be of little use to extend the elective system to a Municipality, and then to declare by a rule that the franchise should only be exercised by those who paid Rs. 50 a year in rates. The Bill therefore provides that, while Government may lay down such rules as it thinks fit, and may cancel any rule at its pleasure, it may not make a rule which would have the effect of excluding from the franchise any resident of the municipality who pays rates to the amount of 2 annas a month. We do not desire by this to express any opinion in favour of the general introduction of a property qualification. Such a qualification is undoubtedly necessary in Calcutta. It will probably be necessary in such Municipalities as the Suburbs, Patna and Dacca; but, speaking for myself, I am inclined to think that in the great majority of mofussil Municipalities a property qualification will not work well, and it has certainly not been successful in the only place in the mofussil in which it has yet been tried,—the Municipality of Serampore. However this may be, I hope the wording of the section makes it perfectly clear that the Government is under no obligation to impose a property qualification, and that the limit laid down in the Bill merely expresses the maximum of restriction permissible.

It is not, we think, desirable to have any definite qualification for candidates for election. In Burdwan and Kishnaghur, any resident rate-payer may offer himself for election, if only he can read and write. Such an educational test as this seems to us superfluous. It is most improbable that a totally illiterate man would offer himself for election, or would be elected if he should offer himself. A more practical difficulty has been raised by some critics of the Bill, who have urged that the absence of a special qualification for candidates may lead to the election of persons of inferior social status, with whom respectable gentlemen would be unwilling to sit. While we admit a certain force in this objection, we do not see how the difficulty could be met by any form of qualification which could be devised. A mere property test would evidently be insufficient, and, on the whole, we are not inclined to fetter the choice of the electors by imposing any qualification.

As regards the election of a Chairman, the Bill gives this power to the great majority of the more advanced Municipalities. It does not appear advisable that the district or sub-divisional officer should be elected by a Municipality as its Chairman, but the Bill provides that the Commissioners may, if they think fit, waive their power of election and ask the Government to nominate their Chairman for that term. If it should be the expressed desire of the Municipality that the Magistrate should be appointed, the Government would no doubt comply with the request. We have not thought it necessary to retain the provisions of the present law, which make the election of the Vice-Chairman subject to the approval of Government, but we have adopted a suggestion which was made to us, that it is desirable to insert a clause to prevent the repeated re-election of the same gentleman as Vice-Chairman.

I ought also to call particular attention to the alteration made in section 9 of the Bill, as compared with section 10 of the present law. The present law permits the Government at any time to withdraw any place from the operation of the Act. The Bill declares that this shall only be done on the application of the Municipal Commissioners themselves.

This, then, is the constitution which the Bill provides for what I may call an average Mofussil Municipality. The Municipality cannot be abolished except with its own consent: two-thirds of the Commissioners will be elected by the resident rate-payers, and the Commissioners, so elected, will choose their own Chairman and Vice-Chairman. To the municipal bodies so constituted, the Bill gives substantially the same powers of taxation and expenditure, and the same duties of administration, as are exercised under the present law by Municipalities which can at any time be abolished at the pleasure of Government, and in which the Government appoints the entire body of Commissioners and their Chairman. Indeed these powers and duties are more extensive under the present Bill than under the existing law. It is therefore essential to take precautions to ensure that these powers will be justly and wisely exercised, and that these duties will be efficiently performed. This the Bill proposes to do, not so much by a system of guidance from within as by a system of control from without. The vision of the District Magistrate marching at the head of his Commissioners along the path of municipal improvement has no doubt a certain attractiveness. But experience seems to show that the vision is not realized, except when the Commissioners themselves wish for the Magistrate's guidance. In other cases, the Magistrate is left to march by himself. Now it is the object of this Bill to provide that if the people, speaking through their elected representatives, really wish for the Magistrate's headship, they shall be able to get it, but that guidance by the Magistrate shall not be forced upon them. The Bill secures that the Municipality shall march, and that it shall march in the right direction; but that so long as the Municipality does this it shall be left at liberty to march under the guidance of any head it may select for itself. If it stands still, or goes wrong, power is reserved in the Bill to quicken it into activity, or to restrain its excess. If it persistently neglects its duties, or abuses its powers, it may be suspended for a specified period, and the right of election, which it has shown itself unworthy to exercise, may be withdrawn from it. But the point, and the vital point, in which the principle of this Bill differs from the principle of the existing law, is that this Bill attempts to establish a genuine system of municipal self-government on the basis of representation. So long as the Municipality does its duty, and fulfils its allotted functions, it will be left to choose its own leaders, to expend its own money, and to carry out its own improvements.

The sections relating to the municipal constitution, and to the power of control reserved to Government, are the really important parts of the Bill, and I need not detain the Council to-day with any remarks on the remaining chapters in which the alterations made in the existing law are for the most part confined to matters of detail. I beg to give notice that I propose to move that the Bill be taken into consideration at the next meeting of the Council. I may add that I intend to propose that the Bill, or at any rate those parts of the Bill to which I have referred to-day, shall be taken up section by section. I think that this procedure is not only desirable in view of the great importance of the measure, but that it will be the most convenient arrangement for those hon. members who may desire to take part in the discussion. By this plan any hon. member who wishes to speak on the general scope and tenor of the Bill will have an opportunity of doing so, on the motion that the Bill be taken into consideration; while hon. members whose criticisms refer to particular sections will probably wish to reserve their remarks till the sections in question are reached in the course of our progress through the Bill.

AMENDMENT OF THE ESTATES' PARTITION ACT, 1876.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—I have the honour to present the report of the Select Committee on the Bill which was referred to them for the amendment of the Estates' Partition Act. In consideration of the objections which were made at the last debate on the subject, particularly that the Bill before the Council would work inconveniently in the matter of giving a concurrent jurisdiction to the Collector and to the Munsif in the matter of dividing lands in the same estate, and that it would also work inconveniently and undesirably by practically imposing certain restrictions upon the owners of larger shares than those which pay less than ten rupees, by imposing restrictions upon their powers of obtaining the separation of their shares from the parent estate—I say that in consideration of those objections I consulted the local officers of the districts in which partitions are most common, and also took the opportunity of discussing the subject with some of the officers from Behar who happened to be down here, inducing them to lay aside the sword for the pen for that purpose. I proposed to them certain modifications which occurred to me in the Bill as it was before the Council, and the result of these discussions was to bring it out, certainly, that the Bill would be open to the charge of working inconveniently. I then represented to the members of the Select Committee the result of these discussions, and the majority of us came to the conclusion that the object for which the Bill was referred to a Select Committee by this Council would be better attained by recasting the Bill into the form in which it is now presented to the Council.

It will be observed that the annual liability of land revenue for twenty rupees is mentioned in the present Bill, whereas the figure mentioned in the Bill which was referred to the Select Committee was ten rupees annually. But I particularly call attention to the fact that it is a mere difference in the mode of expression. As a matter of fact, the Bill now presented covers less ground, imposes less restrictions on partitions than that which was referred to the Select Committee by this Council. The Bill which was referred to the Select Committee provided that no partitions should be undertaken under the Act which should have the effect of creating any separate estate of which the annual liability for land revenue would not exceed ten rupees. Such an estate might not be carved out of any parent estate, whether the parent estate was a large one or a small one. But the Bill which is now presented merely provides that no estate which is now liable for a payment not exceeding twenty rupees shall be liable to partition under the Act. Obviously, a parent estate, which is not liable for more than a payment of twenty rupees, cannot by any possibility be divided without creating one estate at least of which the land revenue shall not exceed ten rupees. The difference between the Bills is this: The old Bill interfered with the question of partition in large estates if the new estate to be created was a petty one, but the Bill as now presented absolutely does not touch a large estate at all, does not touch any parent estate of which the annual liability for revenue does exceed twenty rupees. So that the present Bill is well within the object and principle of the Bill which was referred to the Select Committee by this Council.

The present Bill gets rid of the inconvenience which the Hon. Member opposite so forcibly brought to light, of the possibility that the Munsif and the Collector might be called upon at the same time to be carrying on the separation of land within the same estates. That will now be impossible, for if the Bill which is now presented becomes law, the Collector will never have to deal with the separation of lands in a parent estate of which the liability does not exceed twenty rupees. All separation of lands within such estates will be conducted by the Civil Courts, under the powers which they will receive by the modification of the Civil Procedure Code which the Governor-General in Council has consented to initiate in the Legislative Council of India.

In the Bill as presented to the Council originally it was provided that the new section should be in substitution for section 11 of the present Act. That was necessary according to the form in which that Bill was shaped, but in the form which the Bill now takes as presented to the Council by the Select Committee it does not entail the necessity of repealing section 11. The objects of the two, that is to say of section 11 of the Act as it stands, and of the new section which is now proposed to the Council, are different. The Bill which is now recommended to the Council provides that no estate of which the annual liability for Land Revenue does not exceed twenty rupees in the year shall be divided. But section 11 of the existing Act has a different object. It does not prohibit the formation of petty estates liable for less than ten rupees, but it prohibits the formation of infinitesimally small estates liable for not more than one rupee to be borne on the revenue rolls with that insignificant demand. It provides that no estate shall be formed of which the liability shall be less than one rupee, unless the owner of the estate engages to redeem the revenue by a lump payment. Section 11 applies to all estates whether big or small. Section 10A, which is now proposed, will only touch the parent estates which do not yield more than twenty rupees. After this Bill is passed, it will remain for the Lieutenant-Governor to move the Governor-General in Council to carry out the promised amendment of the Civil Procedure Code.

Further, the Bill referred to the Select Committee puts a stop to the completion of all pending partitions if they were opposed to the restrictions imposed by the Bill. The Select Committee thought that would not be fair to those whose applications were pending, and who may already have paid considerable sums of money towards carrying out separation. Therefore there is this further difference between the two Bills, viz. that the present Bill allows partitions which are actually in the course of being carried out to be completed. At the next meeting of the Council I intend to propose that the Bill as now presented be taken into consideration by the Council.

AMENDMENT OF THE POOREE LODGING-HOUSE ACT.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend Bengal Act IV of 1871 (the Pooree Lodging-house Act, 1871, as amended and extended by Bengal Act II of 1879). He said:—A very few words will suffice to explain to the Council the grounds on which this proposal is based. The original Act of 1871, as may be gathered from its title, was framed to meet the circumstances of the great pilgrim terminus of Pooree. The object was to provide for the inspection and regulation of lodging-houses and for the levy of licensing fees, which might be devoted to general purposes of sanitation. It was subsequently found desirable so to amend the Act as to admit of its being extended to other places to which pilgrims resort, and to places through which they ordinarily pass in the course of their journeys. The Act has accordingly been introduced into Gya and Deoghur, which are what may be called termini of pilgrimage, and here it has worked without any hitch. It has also been extended to Raneegunge, Gurbetta, Dantoon and Uluberia, all stages through which large numbers of pilgrims pass on their way to Juggernath; but here a serious difficulty is threatened. The original Act, as I have said, was intended to meet the circumstances of a pilgrim terminus, not a pilgrim stage,—of a place, in other words, in which the pilgrim would, at any rate, ordinarily spend some time; and accordingly in framing the section to enforce the liability of lodging-house keepers to take out licenses it was considered appropriate to provide that a fine might be inflicted for every night on which a lodger might be sheltered in an unlicensed house. Now, some astute individuals among those who minister to the wants of pilgrims have discovered a very simple means of evading this provision with profit to themselves, and without inconvenience to their visitors. They induce their lodgers to rest during the day and proceed upon their journey during the cool of the night, instead of adopting the reverse process of travelling by day and resting by night, and then they snap their fingers at the baffled health officer. Unless the law is amended it will become practically a dead letter at all these intermediate stations. It is needless to say that the necessity for regulating the management of these lodging-houses and providing for the general sanitation of pilgrim stations is just the same, whether the pilgrims select twelve hours of daylight or twelve hours of darkness for the term of their visit, and the Bill which I now ask leave to introduce will render it compulsory on all persons who receive any lodgers at any time into their lodging-houses to conform to the regulations.

The motion was agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 19th instant.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF DECEMBER 1883.

THE meteorology of the month of December is similar to that of the preceding month of November. The ordinary atmospheric conditions in Northern India are those of the north-east monsoon proper. The most important of these conditions is decreasing temperature, due to the diminishing altitude of the sun and the decrease in length of the day. Light northerly winds prevail over the whole of Bengal with an easterly or westerly element, the strength and character of which varies in different parts of the province. The air is usually very dry, and the sky free from cloud. Radiation hence goes on rapidly, and the difference between the day and night temperatures is very considerable and exceeds the daily range for all other months except February and April. The great daily range in December is mainly due to the low night temperatures caused by the rapid radiation of the surface heat of the earth into space.

As in November, Bengal is liable to disturbances or deviations from the normal conditions of two different kinds. The first are connected with cyclonic disturbances in the south of the Bay. South-west moist winds continue to the north of the equator and over the extreme south of the Bay, more especially over the eastern half in the neighbourhood of the Nicobars, until quite late in the month. Hence heavy rain squalls with strong winds are by no means unfrequent in the south of the Bay in December. Occasionally the conditions are favourable for the prolonged occurrence of heavy rainfall over a considerable area, which appears to be the main condition necessary for the formation and growth of a cyclonic disturbance. If it becomes considerable, it affects the air motion over the whole of the Bay, and may give rise to the formation of cloud and to rainfall in Bengal. The remarks on this class of disturbance in the last month's report apply equally to the present month.

Disturbances of the second days, described as north-east monsoon storms in last month's report, commence in India on the north-west frontier, and march to the eastwards and generally die away in the North-West Provinces, Behar, or the Central Provinces, but occasionally reach Bengal proper. Their occasional occurrence is more probable and frequent in December than in November. The last week of the year is very frequently characterized by a disturbance or storm of this description, giving rise to what are usually known as the Christmas rains of Upper India.

The normal average rainfall of the month, as in November, is very small and nowhere exceeds half an inch. Over the greater part of the province, including Behar, Chutia Nagpur, South-West and Central Bengal, it nowhere exceeds two-tenths of an inch.

The month has been mainly characterized by an exaggeration of the normal features, and also by the occurrence of one important atmospheric disturbance, giving for a short period unusually heavy and general rainfall over Bengal.

The barometer is generally at its highest towards the end of December, and the December monthly means of pressure are greater than for all other months. Pressure was considerably below the average during the first week of the past month, after which it rose rapidly and was very considerably above the average during the remainder of the month. It fluctuated slightly and rapidly during the month. Higher readings were recorded throughout the province on the morning of the 21st than have been observed since 1870.

The following table gives the reading on that day at several stations in that province, together with the highest previous recorded reading in December and the date of its occurrence :—

STATIONS.	Reading of 21st December 1883.	Highest previous reading in December.	Date of occurrence of highest previous reading.
Bankipore	30·116	30·077	Dec. 1873
Hazaribagh	28·174	28·177	,, 1876
Dacca	30·195	30·177	,, 1880
Berhampore	30·196	30·152	,, 1880
Cuttack	30·165	30·157	,, 1870

Temperature was unusually low during the month. This was shewn by the occurrence of abnormally low night temperatures. The following table gives the lowest reading of the minimum temperature in the shade during the month at several stations, and the lowest registered hitherto during the same month since 1870 for comparison :—

	Lowest temperature in shade, December 1883.	Lowest temperature in shade previously registered.	Date of occurrence of lowest December shade temperature previously.
Cuttack	48·9	48·8	1874
Berhampore	46·6	47·0	1873
Jessore	42 6	45·0	1874
Saugor Island	49·7	49·8	1878
Dacca	50·6	50·0	1871
Purneah	38·7	41·2	1874
Bankipore	41·3	40·8	1878
Hazaribagh	42·9	39·2	1878

The same fact of unusually low temperature is, however, even more clearly shewn by the mean temperatures for the month, which are considerably below the average for all stations. The deficiency averages 4° for the Orissa stations, 3° for the Behar, Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal stations, and 2° for the East Bengal stations.

This decreased temperature was apparently mainly due to unusual dryness of the air. The humidity was below the normal mean, especially in Behar, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and Orissa by amounts which averaged from 10 to 15 per cent.

The chief characteristics of the month are thus strictly dependent on each other, and on the unusual weakness of the southerly winds constituting the south-west monsoon and south-east trades of the Indian Ocean, which has been the chief feature of the meteorology of the Indian area since August last. In consequence of the weakness of these winds, much less moisture and rain was brought up in September and October than is usual, and the air has since that period been very dry, and the temperature consequently lower than usual. This combination of conditions generally (but not invariably) accompanies increased pressure. Also, just as the deficiency in the temperature and humidity is greater than in any corresponding month since 1870, so have the barometer readings been higher than any on record for any previous December since 1870.

The only atmospheric disturbance of the month occurred between the 4th and 7th, and was a remarkable one. The conditions were very unusual. During the first three days of the month heavy rain had fallen in the south of the Bay, where pressure was lowest. At the same time pressure was low in Bengal, indicating some disturbance there. The barometer fell rapidly on the 4th in Bengal, and the position of minimum barometer was transferred on the 5th and 6th northwards up the Bay into Bengal. There was consequently the usual shift of wind which accompanies the motion of an area of barometric depression. The rainfall in Bengal was not brought up with the depression. Rain commenced to fall on the evening of the 3rd in South Bengal, and moderate amounts were recorded through Orissa and South West Bengal on the 4th. It became more general on the 5th, when heavy rain fell over South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and the southern districts of North Bengal. The largest amounts reported for that day are the following :—

Fenny	...	...	...	...	3·91 inches.
Noakholly	...	...	...	...	3·78 ,,
Khoolna	...	...	...	...	3·13 ,,
Satkhira	...	...	...	...	2 83 ,,
Baseerhat	...	...	...	...	2·50 ,,

Slight rain also fell in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs on the same day.

On the 6th heavy rain continued to fall in Eastern Bengal. The largest falls recorded on that day were—

Fenny	...	...	...	...	5·01 inches.
Chittagong	...	...	...	...	4·12 ,,
Noakholly	...	...	...	...	3·55 ,,

Light showers fell in South-West Bengal and Orissa.

On the 7th a little rain occurred in Eastern Bengal, but skies cleared during the day, and no rain was reported for the remainder of the month, except a few showers on the 14th, 15th, 16th in the Darjeeling hill districts and Terai.

Hence the rainfall of the month is considerably in excess of the normal in all parts of the province except North Behar, to which the disturbance of the first week did not extend. East Bengal received an average of nearly 3¾ inches, or more than three inches in excess of its normal December fall, and South-West Bengal of 1¾ inches, or about 1½ inches more than its normal amount.

The local high pressure which has for several months been observed at the North Behar stations continues to be associated with deficient rainfall.

The following table gives the more important facts with respect to the temperature and rainfall of the seven meteorological areas for the month of December :—

MEMORANDA.

THE births and deaths registered in the first class Municipalities in Bengal during the week ending 29th December 1883 amount to 699 and 870, respectively, and yield the proportions, in relation to population, exhibited below, in contrast with the similar results of the preceding week ending 22nd December :—

	During the weeks ending—
	29th December.	22nd December.
Births	27·3	23·0
Deaths	34·0	31·3

indicating an improvement in the record of both events.

2. The proportions per cent. of male to female births and deaths are respectively 142 and 119, as opposed to 124 and 108 in the preceding week, shewing a falling off in the registration of female births and deaths.

3. Births and deaths were registered at the highest rates in the under-mentioned Municipalities :—

Births

	Ratio per mille.
Comillah	80·9
Bhagulpore	38·9
Howrah	36·9
Dacca	34·4
Monghyr	34·4
Poori	34·2
Arrah	33·5

Deaths.

	Ratio per mille.
Burdwan	62·6
Poori	55·6
Purneah	48·5

Howrah	38·9
Jessore	36·7
Kishnaghur	36·3
Dacca	36·3
Patna	33·4
Comillah	30·8
Bhagulpore ..	30 8
Hughli	29·5
Serampore	29·4
Narayngunge ..	28·9
Monghyr	28 9

4. The principal diseases, columned in the annexed table, proved fatal at the following rates in comparison with the rates of the preceding week :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	29th December.	22nd December.
Cholera	1·1	2·1
Small-pox	·6	·1
Fever	16·1	15·6
Bowel-complaints	5 6	4·8
Injury	·2	·2
Other causes	10·4	8·5

The salient points deducible from the above figures are that, there was a sensible increase of mortality from fever, bowel-complaints, and those diseases recorded under the head of "Other causes," and a decline in the fatality from cholera.

5. The above-mentioned death-causes carried off the largest number of the population of the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 not being reliable, owing to its being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population, under all heads in the above table, except "age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded in the enlarged form of age classification.

GOODS.

There has been a decrease both in the weight carried and the receipts from the goods traffic during the four weeks covered by this report.

The staples principally affected have been—

INCREASES.

Railway material, foreign	Salt.
Grain (not wheat, rice, and pulses).	Indigo.

DECREASES.

Wheat.	Piece-goods.
Seeds.	Cotton.
Coal	Sugar.
Jaggree.

REMARKS.

Railway Material, Foreign.—The increase of maunds 1,21,570 in weight carried and Rs 85,640 in freight on this material is due to the construction of the railways on the north bank of the Ganges being in active progress.

Rice.—In this staple a decrease of maunds 6,540 in weight carried and an increase of Rs. 26,690 in receipts is attributed to demand at greater distances.

Other grain and pulses (not wheat).—Scarcity of rain in different districts has led to an increase in these staples of maunds 1,67,020 and Rs. 43,910 in freight.

Salt.—An increase of maunds 99,180 and of Rs. 20,180 freight is accounted for by more active demand in up-country markets.

Indigo.—Better and earlier demand in the Calcutta market has caused an increase of maunds 9,890 and Rs. 15,400 freight in this staple.

DECREASES.

Wheat.—A very heavy decrease in this traffic, amounting to maunds 3,28,970 and Rs. 2,18,810 is accounted for by the unfavourable market prices in England and on the continent.

Seeds.—The same remarks apply to a decrease of 2,46,730 maunds and Rs. 99,850 in this staple as to the decrease of wheat.

Piece goods.—A decrease of maunds 64,380 in weight carried and Rs. 92,670 in freight is accounted for by less demand from Cawnpore and other trade centres.

Coal.—The falling off in the receipts from this traffic amounted to maunds 2,14,510 and Rs. 68,720.

Cotton.—At both Calcutta and Bombay the transactions in cotton having moderated, the decrease of maunds 12,280 and Rs. 25,070 in this article of commerce is the result.

Sugar and Jaggree.—The decrease in these staples of maunds 35,220 and Rs. 15,000 in the former and maunds 36,540 and Rs. 19,470 in the latter is due to ordinary fluctuations of supply and demand.

The train mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal train mileage—

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

Saturday, 19*th January* 1884.

Present:

The Hon. G. C. Paul, C.I.E., Advocate-General, Presiding.
The Hon. H. L. Dampier, C.I.E.
The Hon. H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
Colonel The Hon. S. T. Trevor, R.E.
The Hon. H. Beverley.
The Hon. J. E. Caithness.
The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf.
The Hon. Harbans Sahai.
The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose.
The Hon. W. L. Alexander.
The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De.

AMENDMENT OF THE POOREE LODGING-HOUSE ACT.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay moved that the Bill further to amend Bengal Act IV of 1871 (the Pooree Lodging-House Act) be read in Council. He said:—At first I was prepared to ask you (the President) to suspend the rules for the conduct of business to admit of this Bill, which consists of only one section, being passed at this sitting; but since I entered the room it has been represented to me by my hon. friend Mr. Beverley that there are certain questions connected with the working of that Act under the consideration of the law officers of the Government, and it is quite possible that the outcome of their deliberations may be some recommendation for the further amendment of the Bill. I will therefore only move now that the Bill be read in Council.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Bill read in Council.

The Hon. Mr Macaulay also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report within three weeks.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De said:—Before the Bill is referred to a Select Committee, I wish to make a few remarks. The provision of section 36 of the existing Act is practically a dead letter, inasmuch as the condition imposed by it places it almost beyond the power of an aggrieved person to lodge a complaint. A traveller cannot be expected to wait for one month in order to prefer his complaint—not to say to wait much longer, to go through the necessary proceedings in order to obtain redress. This provision gives immunity to officers who are given to high-handed proceedings. In fact, fortified by this arm of the law, the police and other underlings commit oppression without let or hindrance. If the Legislature is really anxious to protect the weak and the poor from abuse of power by officers charged with the administration of the Act, it ought to repeal this section, and leave aggrieved persons to the ordinary law of the land for redress. If any officer, though acting in good faith, commit any abuse of power from error of judgment, he will be sufficiently protected by the existing Good Faith Act. I would suggest that this section of the Pooree Lodging-House Act be taken into consideration by the Select Committee.

The motion was then put and agreed to, and the following Select Committee was nominated:—The Hon. the Advocate-General, the Hon. Mr. Beverley, the Hon. Harbans Sahai, the Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De and the Mover.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said:—As there are a large number of amendments on the notice paper, I think it will conduce to the despatch of business if I make my remarks as brief as possible. With regard to the constitution of Municipalities, I have little or nothing to add to what I said at the last meeting. The scheme of the Bill is, in brief, a scheme of Municipal Self-Government, safeguarded by an efficient system of external control. But while on the subject of control, I should like to ask the attention of hon. members to sections 252 to 254 of the Bill. These sections, it will be observed, are put into one of what I may call the optional chapters of the Bill; that is to say, they are sections which can only be extended to Municipalities by the Local Government on the application of the Commissioners themselves. But these three sections, which are merely reproduced from the existing law, dovide, that in case the Commissioners should fail to take action under certain sections referring to the sanitary condition of blocks of huts, the Local Government may take steps under those sections. These sections are evidently out of place in a chapter which can only be extended on the application of the Commissioners themselves. The sections have hitherto been a dead-letter, never having been extended to any Municipalities, and from the nature of things it is simply impossible that they should be extended, as no Municipality would ever apply to the Government to take action under them. If, therefore, the Council should be of opinion that these sections should be retained, I shall have to propose, when we reach them in the course of our progress, that they should be transferred to the control portion of the Bill which ends with section 65. But I think it very possible that, under the system of control which has been established, it will be unnecessary to retain these sections at all. It will be a question for the Council to consider whether they should not be omitted altogether.

My remarks at the last meeting extended to Parts I and II of the Bill. Part III, which refers to the municipal fund, and Part IV, which refers to the municipal taxation, contain very little variation from the law as it now exists; and as such variations as they contain are matters of detail, they will be best considered when the sections themselves are taken up. The mode of preparation of the municipal budget, and the manner in which it may be revised and sanctioned, are given in sections 71 to 76, and I wish to commend these sections to the consideration of hon. members. Then, Parts V and VI consist very largely of municipal regulations of a sanitary and conservancy character. Part V contains regulations which shall be generally in force in all Municipalities, and Part VI provides special regulations which can only be extended to a Municipality on the application of the Commissioners themselves. As the Select Committee have noticed in their report, it was pressed a good deal upon us by some gentlemen, who criticised the provisions of the Bill, that it would be desirable to strike out a large part of these sections, and leave them to be provided for by bye-laws to be framed by each Municipality. But when that proposal was circulated on the publication of the former report, we found a very large preponderance of opinion, that it would not be desirable to do anything of the kind, that it would be very much better to retain the sections, and that they should form part of the substantive law. Part VII refers to the water-supply, and was mainly taken, with certain alterations which seemed necessary to adapt it to the circumstances of a mofussil Municipality, from the existing Calcutta Municipal Act. It has been brought to my notice since, that there is no definite section in this Part enacting how the water-rate is to be levied, and that is a point upon which I shall have to bring forward some amendment when we reach that part of the Bill. Part VIII refers to lighting with gas, and is taken from the Bengal Act of 1873, which was passed for the purpose of lighting Howrah with gas Part IX, which refers to the construction and cleansing of latrines, is a reproduction, with certain alterations, of the existing Latrines Act of 1878; the main difference being that that Act can only apply to first class Municipalities, whereas this Bill can be applied to any Municipality which desires to have the sections introduced. As the Council will observe, this also is one of the optional Parts of the Bill.

I think these are the only Parts of the Bill to which I need draw the attention of the Council, and I therefore ask that the motion be put to the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon Mr. Reynolds then moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The Hon Chunder Madhub Ghose moved as an amendment that the consideration of the clauses be adjourned to Saturday next. He said that the Bill, as it had been amended by the Select Committee, had been published only three days previously, and there has been no time to consider the amendments which the Committee proposed; moreover the members of the Council who had been recently appointed had not had time to read through the Bill, and he thought it would on the whole be a saving of time if the consideration of the clauses was deferred for a week.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf and the Hon. Harbans Sahai supported the motion for postponment.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said that, under the circumstances of the case, it seemed reasonable to postpone the discussion on the detailed provisions of the Bill, and he therefore would not object to the amendment, although he regretted the necessity for the postponement of such an important measure. He hoped hon. members would be prepared to carry the Bill through its remaining stages with as little delay as possible.

The consideration of the Bill was accordingly postponed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 26th instant.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN BENGAL FOR 1882-83.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT - EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 22nd January 1884.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on Public Instruction in Bengal in 1882-83.

The report is submitted by Mr. Bellett, who officiated as Director of Public Instruction from the 25th December 1882 to the 9th December 1883 during the absence of Mr. Croft, first, on deputation with the Education Commission at Simla, and, subsequently, on privilege leave. There has been considerable delay in its submission, and the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to regard the explanation offered as satisfactory Mr. Rivers Thompson took occasion in the Resolution on the last report, that being the first annual report received after his appointment to the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to review in some detail the educational system of the Province, and to record his views on many of the most important questions connected with the working of the Department, for the guidance of all officers concerned in the administration of education. It will, therefore, be unnecessary to deal at the same length with the present report.

2. The number of schools and pupils shown in the returns received for the past year stood thus, as compared with the number in 1881-82 :—

Class of instruction.		1882.		1883.

(a) Inclusive of 4,275 indigenous schools of special instruction.
(b) Ditto of 56,918 pupils attending 4,275 indigenous schools.
(c) Ditto of 2,883 indigenous schools of special instruction
(d) Ditto of 30,671 pupils attending 2,883 indigenous schools.

The schools increased in the past year by 10,809, and the pupils by 204,447. The advance compares as follows with the increase in each of the preceding five years :—

	Schools.	Pupils.
In 1878, a gain of	4,740	52,049
„ 1879 „	7,060	86,307
„ 1880 „	6,098	91,323
„ 1881 „	8,131	109,459
„ 1882 „	10,572	178,156

3. These figures show a gain within the last six years of no less than 47,410 in the number of schools submitting returns to the Department, and of 721,741 in the number of pupils; and, on a comparison of the total number of pupils now reported to be at school (1,253,714 being boys and 57,378 girls) with the number of children of a school-going age throughout the Province, it appears that one out of every four boys and one out of every 89 girls are actually receiving instruction of one kind or another. For reasons which will appear when the subject of primary education is discussed further on, the Lieutenant-Governor does not accept these statistics as an absolutely correct exponent of the present state of education in Bengal, but they undoubtedly afford, after every allowance has been made for institutions of an ephemeral character and children who are but nominally at school, clear evidence of material progress in education in recent years.

4. The statistics in paragraph 2 above will indicate the directions in which progress has been made generally; but some explanations may be given here on a few points. In schools of special instruction there is an apparent loss of 1,382 institutions and 25,664 pupils, but this was mainly, if not entirely, due to the transfer of a large number of indigenous tols and maktabs from this class to the head of primary instruction, to which they properly belong. In schools of special instruction, properly so called, there was an increase of ten institutions and 583 pupils. Female education shows a gain of 356 girls' schools and of 13,8.6 pupils, in boys' as well as girls' schools. The number of colleges and schools entirely supported by the State was 327, being the same as in the previous year, while the number aided rose from 51,510 to 62,708, and the number receiving no aid whatever declined from 6,242 to 5,853. The large increase in aided schools is attributable to further development of the system of primary education.

5. The total expenditure of the Department from both public funds and private contributions during the past two years was as follows:—

	Year ending 31st March 1882		Year ending 31st March 1883.

(a) Inclusive of expenditure on indigenous schools of special instruction.
(b) Ditto of grants for the encouragement of literature.

The expenditure on the unaided Colleges of Calcutta and Burdwan, which are entirely under native management, is not included in this statement. The Government expenditure, it will be observed, increased in the past year by Rs. 4,06,000, and private expenditure by Rs. 7,33,000 and the percentage of the total cost of education (inclusive of expenditure on school buildings) borne by the Government fell from 41·3 to 40·4. There was a decrease of Rs 5,000 in the State expenditure on collegiate education, but an increase of Rs. 53,000 in the expenditure on secondary education, and of Rs. 13,000 in that on female education and on special instruction. An additional grant of one lakh was made for primary education during the year, and the total amount available for expenditure was thus raised to six lakhs, of which Rs. 5,81,000 were actually spent. The average yearly cost of each pupil to the State in the several classes of schools was—

	Government institutions.	Aided institutions.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
High English schools	12 7 7	6 12 4
Middle ,, ,, ...	22 6 11	5 8 0

Upper primary ,, ...	3 14 1	1 11 9
Lower ,, ,, ...	7 0 5	0 8 7

The high cost in the Government Middle English schools is attributed to the inclusion in that class of the Kurseong boarding school for Europeans, and two boarding schools in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, which are all expensive institutions.

6. A considerable increase is again observable in Mahomedan pupils, their number having amounted to 366,388 at the end of the year against 262,108 in the previous year. The percentage of these pupils at all schools, which stood at 18½ in 1880, 20 in 1881, and 22½ in 1882, has now risen to 27½. This seems to the Lieutenant-Governor a very fair proportion, as the Mahomedan element does not exceed 31·21 per cent of the entire population

It is, however, to be regretted that the percentage of Mahomedans in the colleges and higher class schools, though improving, continues still very low, and evidently a considerable time must yet elapse before the Mahomedans are found to occupy their proper place in these institutions The conversion of the Calcutta Madrissa into a second grade college, and the liberal contributions made in aid of that institution by the Amir-i-Kabir of Hyderabad, the Hon'ble Maharajah of Durbhunga and several Mahomedan gentlemen of position, in commemoration of the distribution of the prizes there by His Excellency the Viceroy in January last, will, it is hoped, stimulate the development of higher education among the better classes of their community.

7. The report furnishes for the first time returns of the means, social position, and occupation of the parents and guardians of the pupils at the various classes of schools. Having regard to the great uncertainty attending even regular official enquiries into the incomes of individuals in this country, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot attach value to the detailed information here supplied regarding the means of the parents and guardians, but the return of their social position and occupation is probably a generally correct representation of the actual facts. From this table it appears that, of the parents or guardians of the pupils throughout the country, 9,565 belong to the richer classes, 249,088 to the middle classes, and 1,050,150 to the poorer classes. Of the number belonging to the middle classes, again, 21,031 are in Government service, 40,531 in private service, 83,919 landed proprietors, 40,426 professional men and 64,081 traders; and of the poorer classes, 95,031 are in service, 618,325 agriculturists, 113,772 traders, 46,650 skilled labourers, 98,440 ordinary labourers, and 77,932 follow other miscellaneous callings. The large majority of College students are, as might have been expected, of the richer and middle classes, but the proportion of youths of the poorer classes found among them—nearly 10 per cent. of the whole—is, nevertheless, fairly high. The parents or guardians are chiefly men in Government and private service and landed proprietors. These three classes also contribute nearly half the pupils in the High English schools, Government servants especially showing a decided preference for those institutions. The preponderance of children of the poorer classes commences in the Middle English schools, where they comprise a little more than half the pupils, and it naturally becomes very marked in the lower primary schools, where, out of a total of 1,016,482, 875,149 belong to those classes, and only 138,969 and 2,364, to the middle and richer classes respectively. Girls' schools are, it appears, attended by 660 children of the richer classes, 10,667 of the middle classes, and 16,158 of the poorer classes.

8. The distribution of the controlling duties of the department among the several classes of officers remained unchanged during the year. The Director is responsible for the entire administration of the Department, and has immediate control of collegiate education. The Circle Inspectors, aided by the Joint and Assistant Inspectors, are the chief local administrative officers of the Department, and they have direct charge of secondary education, being besides expected to watch over and report on the progress of primary education. The Magistrate of the dist ict, with whom the District Committee of Education is associated as a consultative body, is immediately responsible for the state of primary education, and he is assisted by the Deputy Inspector and the Sub-Inspectors of Schools. The latter are required to visit the primary schools in situ, and they are supervised in this work by Deputy Inspectors, whose more immediate duty is the inspection of secondary schools. Turning now to the record of the inspection work done in the past year, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that no information is furnished regarding inspections by the Circle Inspectors, Joint-Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors. It being obviously desirable that the Government should be regularly placed in possession of information on this point, the Director is requested to supply it in future reports. The amount of inspection work done by the Deputy and Sub-Inspectors generally in the past year does not seem satisfactory. With regard to the Deputy Inspectors, figures of their visits to high and middle schools alone are given, and if these represent the whole of their inspection work, it would appear that they have been very remiss in several districts, as, for instance, Midnapore, with 42 visits, Beerbhoom, with 68, Jessore, with 63, Julpigori, with 35, Backergunj, with 67, Noakholly, with 22, Mozufferpore, with 31, and Durbhunga, with 15. In the Chota Nagpore Division the average number of visits was only 12, but this is attributed to the very small number of secondary schools in the province. The same cause probably accounts for the small average in the Orissa Division also. In Midnapore it is stated that the administration of the primary grant took up a large portion of the Deputy Inspector's time, but the Lieutenant-Governor cannot see why this should have required so much of his attention as to compel him to neglect the inspection of schools of secondary instruction to the extent shown in the report. The same cause would probably be assigned for the failure in inspection work in most districts, but the Lieutenant-Governor fears that pressure of office work is not unoften put forward without sufficient ground as an excuse for omission to proceed on the more arduous, but more legitimate, duty of inspection. Even in districts where the Deputy Inspector's office work is undoubtedly large it could, as observed by the Director, be considerably reduced under a better system. The Lieutenant-Governor desires, therefore, that Mr. Croft will take the matter into his early consideration and devise, in consultation with the local officers, a simple and uniform system for all districts. Excess of office work cannot be pleaded by the Sub Inspectors, but in their case also inspection work has not been properly carried out in some districts. The average length of their tours during the past year was 200 days, varying from 238 days in the Dacca Division to 154 in the Chota Nagpore Division. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Director that an average of 240 days might be fairly looked for in the districts where locomotion is easy, and he trusts that the district officers will insist on this. It is especially necessary, in view of the extension of the system of chief gurus, model gurus and inspecting pandits, that the Sub Inspectors should be constantly moving about in the interior of their jurisdictions to supervise the work and check the returns of these men.

9. University Education.—The number of Government colleges during the year was 12, as in the previous year, that of aided colleges 5, and that of unaided colleges 6, inclusive of the Baptist Mission College at Serampore, which has since been converted into a theological school. Of the Government colleges eight, of the aided colleges three and of the unaided colleges one, taught the full course for the B.A. degree. Of the unaided colleges all but the Martinière are under native management. The total number of college students was 2,900, giving an increase of 5·6 per cent. on the previous year, 1,298 being in the Government, 951 in the aided and 651 in the unaided institutions. The attendance at the Government colleges shows a slight decline due to a large falling off at Hooghly and Krishnagur (attributed in the former case to the establishment of the Maharajah's Free College at Burdwan, and in the latter to the epidemic of fever from which the Nuddea district has so severely suffered), which was not fully made up by increases at other colleges. Aided colleges, on the other hand, show a gain of 56 and unaided colleges of 106 students, the most largely attended of all colleges, the Metropolitan Institution, being found among the latter. The number of college students shows an increase of 268 per cent. in the last nine years, the Colleges having been attended in 1874 by only 1,083 students. This the Director attributes to the growth and increasing success of aided and private institutions in Calcutta, the fee-rates of which are much lower than the charge at the Presidency College, and he rightly observes that the large number of students found at these institutions "not only justifies their existence, but shows that they came into existence because there was a need for them."

10. From the particulars furnished in the report, it appears that about 90 per cent of the successful candidates at the Entrance Examination, or, in other words, of those who qualify for admission into colleges, actually join those institutions. The number of students who, having thus joined, appeared at the First Arts Examination in December 1882 was 1,076, and of these about 355, or half those who failed, have discontinued their studies. Similarly, of those who failed at the B. A. Examination in January last, about 136 have not sought re-admission, being either unable or unwilling to remain longer at college. These two classes form a large percentage of the candidates in search of employment, whether in Government or private service, where knowledge of English is requisite, and the above figures afford a fair indication of the number of young men thus annually turned out by the colleges for clerical service. Of the students who succeed in graduating about one-third find employment under Government, while the remainder follow some profession, chiefly the law or medicine, or, in some cases, obtain appointments under private individuals and native chiefs.

11. It is satisfactory to observe a further reduction in the average expenditure on each student at the Government colleges. This amounted in the past year to Rs. 311, of which the State share was Rs. 210 and the contribution from private sources Rs. 101, against Rs. 320 in 1881-82, of which the State contributed Rs. 217 and private sources Rs 103. In aided colleges the expenditure of the State on each student has fallen from Rs. 28 to Rs. 24, and the total average cost has been reduced from Rs. 185 to Rs. 153. The highest cost in the Government institutions is reached in the college classes of the Bethune Girls' School, where it amounted to Rs. 604 against Rs. 750, but the circumstances of this school are exceptional. In Krishnagur the cost rose from Rs. 439 to Rs. 532, this very unfavourable result being due to the large decrease in the number of pupils, for the cause already explained. Considerable reductions having been made in the cost of the professional staff of the College since January last, the next report should show a large diminution in the average cost of its students to the Government. An increase of cost is also observable in the Presidency, Patna, Rajshahye and Sanskrit Colleges, while at Hooghly, Cuttack and Chittagong there was a decrease.

12. The results of the First Arts Examination of the University were less favourable than in the previous year. The number of candidates presenting themselves for examination in 1881 was 806, of whom 287, or 35·6 per cent., passed. In 1882 there were 1,118 candidates, inclusive of 42 teachers, and only 370, or 33·09 per cent., were successful, as shown in the following table:—

Colleges.	Candidates Examined.	Number passed in the—			Total.
		First Division.	Second Division	Third Division.
Government	473	19	57	122	198
Aided	379	6	30	71	107
Unaided	224	6	20	35	61
Teachers	42	.....	.....	4	4
Total ...	1,118	31	107	232	370

The Government colleges, it will be seen, attained a larger measure of success than the aided and unaided colleges, 41·8 per cent. of their candidates having passed against 28·2 per cent. of the candidates from aided and 27·2 per cent of those from private colleges. Of the Government candidates, moreover, one in 25 was placed in the first division, while the aided and private colleges had only one in 63 and one in 37 respectively.

13. In the B. A. Examination more success was obtained than in the preceding year. Altogether 408 candidates, including 27 teachers, presented themselves, and 167 or 41 per cent. were successful, 15 passing in the first division, 39 in the second and 113 in the third division. The Government colleges passed 43·8 per cent. of their candidates against 40·5 per cent. in 1882, the aided colleges 40 per cent against 24 per cent., and the Metropolitan Institution, which was the only unaided college that sent up candidates, 45·3 per cent against 16·6 per cent. The success of this institution reflects great credit on its managers and teaching staff. Among the Government colleges the Ravenshaw College at Cuttack obtained marked success, passing five out of its seven candidates. The next best results were attained in the Rajshahye College, with four successful candidates out of seven, and the Hooghly College, with 13 successful candidates out of 22. Of all the candidates 205 chose the A, or literature course, and 203 the B, or science course; and the results of the examination seem to show that, as the

B course is presumably not easier, it is taken by the more promising students. The A course is selected chiefly by the students of the non-Government colleges, and the B course by those of the Government colleges, most of these institutions being restricted to preparation for this course alone.

14. For the M. A. degree there were 74 candidates, 39 going up for honors and 35 for the ordinary degree. Of the former 20 were successful and of the latter 16, these results being more favourable than those of 1882, when only 19 out of 47 candidates passed in honors and 6 out of 20 for the ordinary degree. Half of the successful men in both examinations were sent up from the Presidency College. The Hooghly, Sanskrit, Dacca and General Assembly's Colleges passed the remainder in honors; and the Hooghly, Patna and General Assembly's Colleges the remainder in the examination for the ordinary degree. The General Assembly's College is apparently the only non-Government college from which candidates went up for this degree in the past year.

15. Secondary Education.—The following statement shows the number of High English Schools and of the pupils attending them during the past two years :—

	1881-82.		1882-83

Of these schools 11 are for Europeans and Eurasians. The number of Government schools has remained stationary, no local body having, it is explained, yet come forward to undertake the management of a zillah school. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to learn that the negotiations which were entered into during the year for the transfer of the Beerbhoom school to a local committee of native gentlemen did not result in a final arrangement. The Director is aware of the importance which Mr. Rivers Thompson attaches to the encouragement of private enterprize in education, and this class of schools particularly might with advantage be made over to native gentlemen in the more advanced centres They offer, from their great importance and popularity, a large field for interesting and remunerative work to private gentlemen of education. The marked success which has attended the establishment of unaided colleges in Calcutta is a guarantee that they would continue to be as successful and as useful to the people under private as they have been under Government management. The increase of 11 in the aided schools was mainly due to the raising of several middle class schools into high schools. Of the four new unaided schools, one was started at Nasirabad by Mr. A. M. Bose, Barrister-at-law, and two were opened at Bhagulpore by Baboo Tej Narain and the Church Mission Society respectively.

16. The following were the results of the University Entrance Examination :—

Class of Schools	Number of competing schools	Number of candidates	Number passed in the—				Percentage of success.
			First division.	Second division	Third division.	Total.
Government schools	51	799	73	197	149	419	52 44

Private students and teachers	.. ..	40	...	2	11	13	32 5
Total .	211	2,161	136	401	415	952	44 05

These results are not so good as those of the previous year when 2,105 pupils appeared and 1,026 or 48·8 per cent passed; but the Director considers that they cannot be deemed unsatisfactory so long as the percentage of successful candidates exceeds 44. Of the Government schools only the Nizamut College at Moorshedabad, maintained for the education of the relatives of the Nawab, which is not, however, a regularly organized high school, and the Hazaribagh zillah school, failed to send up candidates in the past year; but the loss of these two schools was compensated for by the participation of the Bethune Girls' School and the Dacca Madrissa in the examination. Three only of the schools, those at Julpigori, Deoghur and Chyebassa, failed to pass any of their candidates. Bad management of late years is stated to be the cause of the failure of the Julpigori school, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that arrangements have been now made to improve its condition. Measures have been similarly taken to secure improvement at Deoghur, Chyebassa and Hazaribagh. The progress of the aided schools, as tested by this examination, has been steady and satisfactory since 1878. In that year 73 schools competed out of 84 and 49 were successful, while in the past year 100 schools competed out of 115 and 73 were successful. The unaided schools also show a fair degree of success.

17. Government High Schools are either schools attached to colleges and under the control of the Principal, or Zillah schools, which are divided into three classes according as the number of pupils exceeds 300, is between 300 and 175, or is under 175. Of the collegiate schools, judged by the results of the Entrance Examination, the most successful in the past year were the Hare and Hindu schools situated in Calcutta, and the Dacca and Patna schools. The two first, though levying higher rates of fees than those prevailing in any other school for native boys, are evidently most popular with the native community, as shown by the large number of their pupils. The Hare School had an attendance of 607 pupils during the year, and its income from fees amounted to Rs. 28,287, against an expenditure of Rs. 27,161: the number of pupils at the Hindoo School was 450, and its fee-income was Rs. 20,577, against an expenditure of Rs. 20,610. The Dacca Collegiate School lost a few pupils during the year, but it retained its former position as the third in the list of schools of its class, both in point of numbers and of success at the Entrance Examination. The Patna collegiate school has risen from the fifth to the fourth place in the examination list, and its roll number has also increased from 562 to 586. The continued advance of this school promises well for the progress of English education in the province of Behar, which has hitherto remained behind Bengal in this respect. The circumstances of the other collegiate schools do not call for remark, except in the case of the Hooghly school, where a large falling off in the number of pupils is attributed to the enforcement of discipline by the new head-master. If the Director is satisfied that the head-master's action was necessary and judicious, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot contemplate the decline in the attendance of the school with any regret. The question of maintaining proper discipline in our schools and colleges generally is, indeed, one which demands the immediate and earnest attention of the Department, and Mr. Rivers Thompson has already desired the Director to submit a special report on the subject. Recent occurrences have emphasized the necessity for an improvement in this direction. Among the objections taken to English education by native gentlemen of the old school, none is more frequently and more feelingly advanced than its evil effect on the demeanour of the boys and young men of the day towards all placed in authority over them, and it is incumbent on the Government to introduce such measures as may be practicable to counteract a result so deplorable in itself, and so repugnant to notions of duty common to India and Western countries.

18. The number of zillah schools of the first class rose during the year from 13 to 17, four schools at Pubna, Commillah, Baraset and Jessore respectively having been added to the class. The Utterpara school has maintained its position as the first of these schools. Applications were lately made to the Government for permission to convert this school into a second grade college, but looking to the proximity of the town to the Hooghly College, and the numerous collegiate institutions of Calcutta, the Lieutenant-Governor was unable to accord his consent to the proposal. Next to this school in the order of merit were the schools at Beerbhoom, Burisaul, Chuprah and Bhagulpore. The zillah schools of the second class were reduced from nine to eight in number, owing to the raising of the four schools above mentioned to the first class, and the transfer in their place of only three schools of the third class—those at Moorshedabad, Balasore and Taki. The most successful of the schools are those of Furreedpore and Bankoora. The question of altering the constitution of the Moorshedabad school, to which the Director alludes, should be separately dealt with, a report being submitted to Government if necessary. The zillah schools of the third class are 12 in number, the first place in the list being occupied by the Pooree school, and the next two places by the Maldah and Purulia schools. Referring to the system of placing instruction in the lower classes of zillah schools on a vernacular basis, which has been introduced in the schools at Jessore, Baraset, Taki and Chyebassa, the Director states that the Jessore and Baraset schools are reported to have considerably benefitted by the arrangement. "But," he adds, "this reform cannot be carried out at the outset without considerable tact, and the amalgamation of an English with a vernacular school, which generally precedes the change, is a process which is liable to be subversive of discipline and organization, if the two schools are merely brought together, like oil and water, without actual fusion of the component elements. The Assistant Inspector of the Presidency Division noticed a case in which the amalgamation has had the effect of creating classes or sections to the number of twenty-two in a school of less than 200 pupils taught by ten masters. When carefully carried out, as at Taki, it reduces considerably the trouble of making junior classes understand what they read, and retain it in their memory." It is for the Circle Inspectors to see that the change is always judiciously introduced.

19. Of the 115 aided High English schools, 33 are in the Presidency, 39 in the Burdwan, 8 in the Rajshahye, 10 in the Dacca, 3 in the Chittagong, 5 in the Patna, 3 in the Bhagulpore, 2 in the Chota Nagpore and 5 in the Orissa Division. In the Presidency Division the results of the examination of the Narail and Navadwipa schools are said to have been decidedly creditable to the teaching staff. In the Burdwan Division, the Amta, Ilsoba Mandlye, Bagati, Peasara, Chandernagore, Ajodhya, and Bundogra schools appear to have been inefficiently managed by the local committees, and it is satisfactory to find that the Inspector has since taken steps to improve their management. Of the schools in the Rajshahye Division, it is reported that all but that at Serajgunge did badly at the Entrance examination, and the results in the Dacca, Chittagong, Chota Nagpore and Orissa Divisions also were no better. The condition of many of the schools of these divisions was not creditable to the local committees of management. The Behar and Bhagulpore Divisions were fairly successful.

20. Middle English schools rose in the past year from 627 with 39,057 to 654 with 41,638 pupils, as appears from the following statement:—

	1881-82.		1882-83.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
Government schools...	10	1,390	9	1,346
Aided	479	30,038	500	32,223
Private	138	7,629	145	8,069
Total ...	627	39,057	654	41,638

"Most of the Middle English schools," the Director states, "have now been placed on a vernacular basis, so that a vernacular school wishing to transform itself into middle English, has merely to add an English master to teach English as a language only, in addition to the full vernacular course. While strong vernacular schools have a tendency to be converted into middle English, weak middle English schools are constantly reduced to the middle vernacular class, without any great violence to its internal organization. The difference between the two grades of middle schools is every year becoming less and less marked ever since the publication of the new rules making them equally eligible to compete for middle English and middle vernacular scholarships." Mr. Bellett observes elsewhere that the option given to the boys of the middle schools to take up or abandon the study of English whenever they wish, in consequence of English not being a compulsory subject in these schools, necessitates the keeping up of two sets of classes—one according to progress in the vernacular, and the other according to progress in English—and that there would be a gain in efficiency if the same set of boys read together both English and the other subjects. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad if the Director would further consider and report on this point. It would seem that Mr. Bellett's proposals, if adopted, would tend to radically alter the existing state of things, and possibly lead to the extinction of the middle vernacular schools as such.

21. The Middle English Scholarship examination was attended by 894 pupils from 363 schools, of whom 465 were successful This contrasts unfavourably with the results in the previous year, when 359 schools sent up 962 candidates and 683 passed; but it is explained that the test in the past year was more severe, the proportion of the maximum marks insisted on as a condition to passing or obtaining a scholarship having been raised. There is apparently no ground for believing that English has been less efficiently taught.

22. The middle vernacular schools rose from 1,050 to 1,079, and their pupils from 56,441 to 59,213, the gain being 29 schools and 2,772 pupils. Mr. Bellett thinks, with Mr. Croft, that it would be better to do away with the distinction between these and the Middle English schools, and that both classes should be liberally treated in respect of grants-in-aid. It would seem, however, from what has been just stated in the 18th paragraph, that a process of natural selection or survival of the fittest is going on, and that the school is converted into a middle English or remains a middle vernacular as the requirements of the locality demand. It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that this elastic quality of the present arrangements is not without value At all events a separate report should be submitted, if the Director desires to obtain the orders of Government on the change suggested. The number of middle vernacular schools which sent up pupils to the Middle Vernacular Scholarship examination was 1,044 and the candidates were 3,936 in number, of whom 1,646 were successful. The results were decidedly worse than in the previous year, when 1,002 schools sent 3.350 candidates, of whom 2,175 passed, and the same reason is assigned for the failure as that which is believed to have affected the results of the Middle English Scholarship examination.

23. Primary Education.—Primary schools again show a marked advance, their number having risen from 50,788 to 62,551, or by over 23 per cent., and their pupils from 880,937 to 1,094,911, or by over 24 per cent. More than half the increase was contributed by the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions, but there were considerable additions in all the other Divisions. The Government expenditure on primary education rose at the same time from Rs. 4,78,000 to Rs. 5,81,000, and the contributions from private sources are reported to have amounted to Rs. 18,50,000 against Rs. 15,33,000 in the previous year. The schools continue to be divided into upper and lower primary, the former representing the class of schools formerly designated lower vernacular and included among schools of secondary instruction. Many of the indigenous patshalas, tols, and maktabs are still placed under the head of special instruction, but will hereafter be classed as indigenous schools.

24. Upper primary schools show an increase of 270 schools and 9,831 pupils, and the total number at the close of the year was 2,214 with 78,429 pupils. The Upper Primary Scholarship examination was attended by 4,255 pupils from 1,674 schools, against 2,813 pupils from 1,140 schools in the previous year, and 2,286 passed against 1,716. The Burdwan Division, which possesses the largest number of these schools, was also the most successful at the examination, and the Presidency and Patna Divisions did well.

25. The lower primary schools have increased from 48,844 to 60,337 and their pupils from 812,339 to 1,016,482, and the advance is the more remarkable from its following on successive large increases in each of the preceding five years. It has hitherto been assumed that the large additions made to the number of these schools annually was due not so much to the creation of new schools as to the bringing within the cognizance of the Department of old schools which had never previously submitted returns. This assumption was probably correct in regard to the bulk of the schools brought on the books of the Department up to the end of 1881-82, but the Lieutenant Governor doubts whether it can be rightly held to explain the further large advance in the number of schools in the past year. The conclusion suggested by the statistics for the year 1881-82 was that we were approaching the limits of the indigenous system of education, and, if that view was correct, it is hardly credible that the majority of the 11,493 additional schools returned in the past year were old indigenous institutions. There is a strong probability that if the statistics, indeed, represent in all cases schools actually in existence, very many of these schools were started within the year, or very shortly before, and facts stated in the report suggest the doubt whether such schools possess any stability, or are really fulfilling any useful function in the educational system of the country.

26. Mr. Wilson, Magistrate of Midnapore, remarks:—

"Having devoted considerable attention to the subject (patshala statistics) during the past year, I have been driven to the conclusion that the statistics yearly furnished regarding the progress of primary education are almost entirely valueless, and that a very considerable part of the primary education grant has hitherto been spent in such a way as to secure no corresponding benefit great or small.* * * The statistics of schools and scholars are of course only valuable as showing how many children are, as a matter of fact, receiving primary education, and the statistics annually submitted do not furnish trustworthy information on this point because some of the patshalas which compete at sub-centre examinations are only opened for a few weeks, because many of the gurus are quite incapable of imparting any useful instruction, and because there is no reason for supposing that the returns submitted by gurus of the average monthly roll number, and average daily attendance, are correct. Our system is supposed to be one of payment by results; but as it has hitherto been worked, the rewards granted have not been distributed at all strictly in accordance with the educational results attained.* * * Not only is there no uniform standard of proficiency at different sub-centre examinations, but the great object being to encourage all comers to swell the figures in the returns different standards of proficiency have been applied to different schools at one and the same examination, and no guru, as a rule, however incompetent, has been allowed to go away empty-handed.* * * I am disposed to think that when we give up the pursuit of grand totals and endeavour to uniform the quality of primary education, we shall not, at all events for the next year or two, have more than about 2,500 schools to deal with.* * * When useless patshalas, in existence only for a few months or weeks, and teaching nothing at all, disappear from our lists, it will be much easier to provide for the inspection in situ of those which will remain."

These observations, the Director himself admits, "have a much wider application than appears at first sight to be the case;" and he says elsewhere:— "It has been stated on unquestionable authority that in districts where the reward examinations are held only once in the cold weather temporary patshalas spring up and are closed as soon as the examinations are over." Mr. Hopkins, Magistrate of Tipperah, in whose district a very large increase took place in the number of schools in the past year, also remarks:—

"I am not quite satisfied that all these schools are essential to the educational requirements of the district. The number of schools gives one school to every 400 of the population; of these, say 200 are females; this gives, leaving out female education, one school to every 200 of the male population. The male population of school-going age is not more than 20 per cent., if so much. Again considering the matter from a geographical point of view, and taking the area of the district at 2,000 square miles, exclusive of bheels and jungle, there are two schools to every square mile. From this point of view I think there is a possibility that there is waste of power, and that many of these schools are ill-attended and located injuriously near to each other."

He is of opinion that if the schools were reduced by one-half no harm would be done, and has called the attention of the inspecting agency of his district to the necessity of discouraging any further development of the number of schools Again, in Mymensingh, Chittagong, and Noakholly, where the number of schools shows a very large increase, and the local officers are disposed to believe in the genuineness of the returns, the evidence as to the existence of the schools rests mainly on the statements of the chief or model gurus, who have an obvious pecuniary interest in returning the largest possible number of schools and pupils. In Mymensingh only 288 of the lower primary schools out of 3,144 were inspected by the Sub-Inspectors in situ, in Chittagong only 951 out of 7,350, and in Noakholly only 281 out of 1,821. The extremely large proportion of children of a school-going age reported to be at school in some districts is another feature of the returns justifying enquiry. Thus, in Noakholly one in 1·4, in Chittagong one in 2·2, in Tipperah one in 1·3, and in Backergunge one in 2·5 children are returned, as compared with one in 1·9, one in 2·1, one in 1·9, in the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Burdwan, and Hooghly respectively, which are among the most advanced of the country. The Lieutenant-Governor desires, in giving prominence to these facts and passages from the report, to draw the attention of all Educational Officers and District Magistrates to the necessity for care and watchfulness in the administration of primary grant, so as to secure from it the utmost benefit to the people. It is not his wish to discourage the establishment of new schools in districts where their number is still small in comparison with the extent of country and population; but there can be no doubt that in many districts the development of the system of primary education has already reached, if it has not, in some, actually exceeded, the extreme limit compatible with sound administration, and it is desirable that in those districts there should be no further extension for some years, or until the staff of Sub-Inspectors can be adequately increased. The check which it is possible in such districts to exercise over the chief gurus, model gurus, and inspecting pandits, and even over the Sub-Inspectors, now exposed to so much temptation in consequence of the large sums entrusted to them, is already far from sufficient, and it would only be weakened by further additions to the number of schools. Consolidation and improvement of existing institutions should now be the main object of the local officers, and the search for old indigenous schools outside the pale of the Department, which probably no longer exist in any but a few backward districts, should be generally abandoned.

27. The question of providing an uniform and improved system of audit of school expenditure, to which reference was made in the Resolution on the last Report, still remains unsettled, and the Government has not yet received the report on the subject promised by the Director. The matter being of considerable importance, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that no further time will be lost in submitting a proper scheme for his consideration. The proposal which has been made by some officers that payments to the gurus should be effected by means of postal money-orders seems likely to reduce greatly the risk of peculation to which the systems now in force in different districts are exposed. As pointed out last year, the objects at which any new scheme should aim are prompt payment to the parties entitled to receive them of the sums drawn from the district treasuries, and submission of authentic bills by the inspecting officers.

28. The number of schools competing at the Lower Primary Scholarship Examination increased in the past year from 8,196 to 10,387, but the proportion of competing schools out of the total number of lower primary schools (60,357) does not seem satisfactory, since it indicates that in a very large majority of the schools even the most advanced boys are not qualified to compete at this examination. The number of pupils appearing at the examination last year was 39,039, of whom 16,792 passed, against 29,182, of whom 15,987 passed in the previous year. The successful pupils were more numerous in the past year but the increase in their number, it will be observed, was not proportionate to the increase in competing schools and candidates.

29. The following are the chief points calling for remarks in the detailed information regarding the several Divisions. The system of payment by results prevails in all but a few districts, and to it may be attributed the great development of the primary system in the last few years. In the Presidency Division the number of schools rose from 3,300 with 95,672 pupils to 3,645 with 104,535 pupils, a satisfactory increase having taken place in all districts except Nuddea, where the fever affected the progress of this as of other classes of schools. The 24 Pergunnahs shows an increase of 185 schools, and the Sub-Inspectors of the district appear to have given proper attention to their inspection duties, 1,477 visits having been paid by them in situ, with a total of 1,238 schools. In Nuddea these officers did still better, the number of their visits in situ having been 1,115, with a total of 530 schools. The results of the Lower Primary Scholarship examinations in this district appear open to doubt, as the Director himself suggests. They were held at 28 centres, and it is certainly remarkable that so large a proportion as 311 out of 616 candidates should have been successful, while only 166 passed out of 604 candidates in the 24-Pergunnahs, where the examinations took place at the head-quarters of the sub divisions. In Jessore the schools increased from 553 with 16,745 pupils to 652 with 18,866 pupils, and the Sub-Inspectors made 1,162 visits in situ. The Director draws attention to the inconvenience suffered by the pupils in this district owing to the extension of the reward examinations to two or more days, while only one day is taken in other districts. This should be at once remedied by the restriction of the examinations to one day. In Moorshedabad, where the schools increased from 276 with 6,857 to 343 with 9,063 pupils during the year, the amount of inspection work done by the Sub-Inspectors was very satisfactory. Each school under inspection was, on an average, visited three times.

The Burdwan Division gained 755 schools and 12,058 pupils, and the total number of schools and pupils returned at the close of the year was 9,966 and 199,506 respectively. The number of local inspections by the Sub-Inspectors was inadequate in all districts, although the means of locomotion are fairly good throughout the Division. It is far from satisfactory to find that in Burdwan, with 1,492 schools, only 557 visits were made in situ; in Bankoora, with 1,653 schools, only 663; in Beerbhoom, with 554 schools, only 446; in Midnapore, with 4,016 schools, only 2,070; in Hooghly, with 1,414 schools, only 925; and in the small district of Howrah, with 524 schools, only 387. The mode of applying the payment by results system seems to vary in every district of the Division, and some approach to uniformity might perhaps be made with advantage. This point should receive the Director's attention. It is not clear, for instance, why, in addition to chief gurus, who are employed everywhere, "peripatetic gurus," and "shop-keeper gurus," who are apparently unknown elsewhere, should be retained in Bankoora.

In the Rajshahye Division the number of schools rose from 1,651 with 42,382 pupils to 2,168 with 52,875 pupils, the largest increase having taken place in Rungpore and Rajshahye. This is a satisfactory advance, as the Division is still backward, and further development of educational facilities is needed. In Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Bogra and Pubna the inspection of schools on the spot appears to have been well attended to, but this cannot be said of Rungpore and Julpigori. In Darjeeling the Deputy Commissioner, it is stated, strongly points out the necessity for the more frequent inspection of the Terai schools The report does not, however, explain why these schools cannot now be more frequently inspected. Proposals on the subject should be submitted to Government, if necessary.

The most marked increase in lower primary schools occurred in the Dacca Division, where the number rose from 3,545 with 87,481 pupils to 8,316 with 177,939 pupils. In the Dacca district the advance was from 913 to 2,300, in Furreedpore from 348 to 715, in Backergunge from 468 to 1,934, and in Mymensingh from 1,605 to 3,144. The Lieutenant-Governor has already commented on the figures for Mymensingh, and the returns for the other districts appear to be open to the same criticism. In all districts the number of visits made in situ by the inspecting officers was quite inadequate for the proper testing of the reports of the circle gurus. In Backergunge they probably represent accurately enough the number of schools, inasmuch as nearly the entire increase was due to the transfer to this class of schools previously returned as indigenous institutions, but their correctness as regards the number of pupils is questionable. In Furreedpore the Deputy Inspector admits that many of the patshalas are not permanent institutions, but season schools. Cash rewards are said to be still given to pupils in this district; but steps should be at once taken to abolish the system there and in every other district where it exists. The gift of books, maps and slates should be substituted.

The Chittagong Division shows the next largest increase in the number of schools, 7,350 with 153,357 pupils being returned at the end of the year, against 4,602 with 95,860 pupils at the commencement. The accuracy of the figures is questionable here also; and the remarkable rise in the number of schools is possibly due to the classing as schools of the little knots of children found under private tuition in the houses of many of the more substantial cultivators. The Director points out in the case of Noakholly that, if the primary system continues to expand at the rate shown in the past year, the district will shortly return "every child of school-going age as already at school—a condition of things hardly realised in more advanced countries than Bengal." Local inspection has been much neglected in every district of the Division, and the Lieutenant-Governor will expect a decided improvement in this respect in future. No information is furnished regarding the Hill Tracts. The Director's attention has already been drawn, in the Resolution on the Annual Administration Report of the Division, to the neglect of this district by the Department, and it is necessary that the state of education there should be noticed in future reports.

The progress made in the Patna Division was satisfactory, except in the Durbhunga district, and the primary system is still susceptible of much expansion in that Division The schools increased during the year from 9,933 with 111,607 pupils to 11,039 with 122,674 pupils. In Durbhunga there was a marked falling off in the number of schools, but this appears to be mainly due to the fact that a large number of schools omitted to submit returns at the end of the year, as the number of schools examined by the Deputy Inspector at central gatherings was larger than that returned for the preceding year. The chief guru system is generally reported to have worked well; but Mr. Norman, who joined the district of Mozufferpore during the year, is not satisfied with its results in that district. He has introduced some changes in the system, and the next report will, it is hoped, be more favourable.

The Bhagulpore Division shows a decline in the number of schools, but an increase in the number of pupils. There were 7,464 schools with 82,649 pupils at the end of the year, against 7,504 schools with 81,813 pupils in the previous year. A considerable decrease in both schools and pupils occurred in Bhagulpore, and is ascribed to the proceedings arising out of the discovery of the embezzlement of primary funds for which the Sub-Inspector of the Soopole subdivision was convicted some time since. The schools from which returns were not received appear to be still in existence, and it is hoped that they will shortly resume their connection with the Department. In Monghyr and Purneah there was a fairly large advance in schools and pupils, while in Maldah and the Sonthal Pergunnahs the numbers were nearly stationary. In the latter district 64 schools were under Missionary management. The number of Sonthals and Paharias under instruction shows a falling off, and this is attributed to delay in introducing the scheme of Sonthal education contemplated in 1881-82. That scheme has, it is presumed, been now started.

In the Chota Nagpore Division the number of schools has made a fair advance, but it is unsatisfactory to notice a decline in the number of pupils of the aboriginal races, the Sonthals only being more numerous than in the preceding year. The payment by results system is worked on a comparatively large scale in Manbhoom alone, the stipendiary system being generally preferred elsewhere. The Division has altogether 1,073 schools with 29,676 pupils, against 901 schools with 26,110 pupils in 1881-82 The amount of local inspection done by the Sub-Inspecto s was fair in Lohardugga, but insufficient in Manbhoom and Hazaribagh, and very deficient in Singbhoom.

In Orissa considerable progress was made, the number of schools having risen from 7,621 with 86,395 pupils to 8,816 with 98,592 pupils. Each district has a staff of inspecting pandits, and in Cuttack chief gurus are also employed. In Cuttack and Pooree money rewards were given to pupils, but this system must now be abandoned. In all districts, and more especially in Pooree, the number of inspections in situ was inadequate. In the Tributary Mehals the schools rose from 992 to 1,004, but their pupils declined from 13,019 to 12,576. The loss of pupils is attributed to the transfer of the Government estate of Banki, which was educationally one of the most advanced of the mehals, to the district of Cuttack

30. European and Eurasian Education.—The Committee of Enquiry on European education submitted their report during the year, together with a Code of regulations for the working of the new system proposed by them. These regulations have been introduced, as an experimental measure, since the close of the year, the charge of European education being entrusted to a special Inspector. Definite orders as to the adoption of the Code in its present or in a modified form will not be passed by the Supreme Government until its suitability has been tested for two years. The number of schools for Europeans and Eurasians (the two classes being treated as one for educational purposes) in the province, and the Government expenditure incurred on them in the last two years, are compared in the following statement :—

Classes.	Number of schools on the 31st March		Number of scholars in them on the 31st March		Government expenditure.
	1882.	1883.	1882.	1883.	1881-82.	1882-83.
					Rs.	Rs.
Government	1	1	41	61	8,594	11,663
Aided	43	49	4,546	4,989	74,122	1,02,699
Unaided	9	9	1,030	562	.....	.....
Total ...	53	59	5,617	5,632	82,716	1,13,696

A slight increase is observable in both schools and pupils, but the return of unaided schools is said to be incomplete. The Director states that, instead of the nine schools with 562 pupils shown in the statement, 20 schools are known to exist with, probably, between 1,000 and 1,200 pupils. Calcutta has 32 schools, of which 16 are Protestant and 14 Roman Catholic, the denomination of the remaining two being undefined. The most important of the High Schools, seven in number, are the St. Xavier's, Doveton and Free Schools; and of the six middle schools the Catholic Male Orphanage and St. Joseph's Schools are the largest The most important of the mofussil schools are found at Kurseong and Darjeeling. At the former place is located the Boarding School for the children of European Government employés, where 48 boys and 33 girls were under instruction at the end of the year at a cost to their parents or guardians varying from Rs. 10 to Rs. 20 per mensem. Darjeeling has four European schools, attended by 173 boys and 174 girls. Nine of the remaining mofussil schools are maintained by the East Indian Railway Company at stations on their line, with the help of grants from the Government. The number of pupils instructed at these institutions is 345, the cost to the Company being Rs. 502 monthly, supplemented by a total contribution of Rs. 604 from the Government. The total number of candidates from the European schools appearing at the Entrance Examination was 82 against 85 in 1881-82, and 41 were successful against 56. St. Xavier's and the Doveton sent up and passed the majority of the candidates.

31. Female Education.—An important step has been taken in connection with female education since the close of the year by the throwing open of the Calcutta Medical College to female students. This measure was, in the first instance, opposed by the majority of the Council of the College on the ground of difficulty in teaching mixed classes of the two sexes, and of the unfitness of women for the profession of medicine; but Mr. Rivers Thompson felt no hesitation in overruling these objections, in view of the success which has attended the movement for the training of women in medicine and surgery in Europe and America, and even in the Presidency of Madras. He is glad to learn that the College authorities are giving effect cordially to his decision, and he is sanguine that this measure will be fraught with the utmost benefit to the female population of the province, whom caste and zenana prejudices now very generally debar from treatment by male practitioners. Should the change prove successful after a sufficient trial, the question of extending it to the Vernacular Medical Schools will be considered.

32. The number of female schools and pupils in the past two years was as follows :—

	1881-82.		1882-83.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
Government schools	2	299	2	301
Aided ,, ...	963	17,996	1,311	24,623
Private ,, ...	77	2,723	85	2,561
Total ...	1,042	21,018	1,398	27,485
Girls in boys' schools	.....	23,078	.....	31,137
Total ...	.....	44,096	.....	58,622

The increase in schools and pupils was considerable, and there has been an increasing willingness on the part of parents to send their daughters to boys' schools, through the medium of which education can be imparted more economically than in purely female schools. The only Government schools of this class are the Bethune School in Calcutta and the Eden School at Dacca, both of which are very useful institutions, educating a large number of girls. The Bethune School has now a College Department, and two of its pupils took the B. A. degree during the year. Apart from this school, the Government promotes native female education in Calcutta by grants to several Zenana Agencies, Normal Schools, Orphanages and Schools under the management of various religious bodies. The progress returns of 1,810 pupils reading in zenanas or in schools mainly connected with zenana agencies, submitted by the Inspectresses of Schools, show that more pupils now seek to attain the higher standards of the examination held to test their progress. The Inspectress, indeed, complains of the existence of a morbid desire to use advanced reading books, while writing and spelling, explanation and arithmetic, are not properly cared for.

33. In all Divisions, except Bhagulpore, the number of girls' schools advanced, the increase being largest in Dacca. The Presidency Division had 243 schools against 192 in the previous year, but the increase occurred almost entirely in the districts of Nuddea and Jessore. The Burdwan Division shows 127 schools with 2,475 pupils, as compared with 99 schools and 2,075 pupils in 1881-82. The number of girls at school has increased very considerably in Burdwan, owing, it appears, to the gurus of boys' schools having been granted permission to open a girls' class in connection with their patshalas, and being allowed two annas a month for every girl in attendance who shows progress. Five scholarships, debitable to the primary allotment, have been created in Bankoora for the encouragement of girls' schools. In the Rajshahye Division the schools rose from 34 to 53, and their pupils from 749 to 1,032. The Circle Inspector reports that female education in the Division is, on the whole, in its infancy, and that much cannot be looked for, for some time to come. The increase in schools and pupils in the Dacca Division has been so large as to give cause for suspecting the correctness of the returns. The schools advanced from 219 to 552, and their pupils from 3,530 to 8,162, the increase having taken place mainly in the Mymensingh district, where the number of pupils is returned at 5,645 against only 1,508 in the previous year. The cause of this apparent marked development of female education in Mymensingh is stated to be the revival of an old departmental rule, under which an allowance of one rupee a month was paid to a teacher for every five girls under instruction. This rule, however, obviously holds out a strong temptation to gurus, and to the model or chief gurus over them, to exaggerate the number of girls at school, wherever, as in the present case, the Sub-Inspectors seldom visit the schools. In the Chittagong Division the number of schools rose from 183 to 188, and of pupils from 4,954 to 7,327, inclusive of 5,034 reading in boys' schools. Female education is very backward in Behar, and more attention should be given to its development by the officers of the Patna Division. The number of schools rose from 9 to 16 during the year, and the pupils from 254 to 391. There were also 1,833 girls at boys' schools, but this number shows a decline of more than 300 on the figures of the previous year. Of these girls, moreover, 1,652 are found in the Durbhunga district alone. In the Bhagulpore Division there has been a slight fall in schools, but an increase in pupils. The Chota Nagpore and Orissa Divisions show an increase in both schools and pupils.

34. Special Instruction—Law Schools.—The total number of law students increased from 460 to 564, but the increase was confined to private institutions, the entire number in the Government colleges having declined from 270 to 143. The loss of students has been most marked in the Presidency College, where the number on the rolls has dwindled from 121 to 11. This result is attributable to the competition of the Metropolitan Institution and City College, where the fees are smaller. Considering the success of the law classes at these institutions, the unwillingness of students to join the Presidency College at the present rates of fees, and the objection to the Government entering into competition with the private colleges by reducing the fees in its own colleges, the Lieutenant-Governor has approved of the abolition of the law classes of the Presidency College at the end of the current year, should no adequate increase take place in the number of students. Of the 564 law students in the past year, no less than 421 were found at the Metropolitan Institution and the City College. The candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Law were 116, and 94 passed.

35. Medical Schools.—The number of students at the Medical College increased from 117 to 126, and at the vernacular schools of medicine from 310 to 391. In addition to these, 46 pupils attend a homœopathic school started at Dacca. Twelve students from the Medical College passed the first M. B. and L. M. S. examinations, and 11 the final examinations. Five native dhais also qualified in midwifery. Since the first establishment of the Medical College, 44 years ago, 731 students have obtained degrees and licenses in medicine and surgery, of whom 26 came from Ceylon. The Campbell Medical School had an increase of students, but the number which qualified for the diploma was only 20 against 44 in the previous year; the results were more satisfactory at the Dacca school, where the number of students who passed the diploma examination as well as the total number on the roll increased. The Temple School at Bankipore had 157 students; 2 belonging to the Military and the rest to the Civil class. The number which passed the diploma examination was satisfactory. Students from the Central Provinces are now trained at this School, the Nagpore Medical School having been abolished. The Cuttack School passed 12 students for the diploma, and its pupils increased from 30 to 36. The school is doing excellent work for the province of Orissa.

36. Engineering.—The students of the Seebpore College numbered 166 at the end of the year, 61 being in the Engineer and 105 in the Apprentice Department. Only one student in the former department passed the L. C. E. examination, but all the 12 students of the fourth year in the latter passed the final examination. The second and third-year Engineer classes were sent to Muddapore for the usual practical survey instruction. Twenty-four students passed the Public Works Department examinations for the various grades of appointments, against 25 in the previous year.

37. Survey and Industrial Schools.—There was an increase of pupils at each of the survey schools of Dacca, Patna, and Cuttack, the total number at the three schools having risen from 114 to 146. There is, it is stated, a great demand for passed students of the Dacca School for the State Railway surveys in that district and Mymensingh. A survey class was opened at Ranchi for the training of ameens for the Chota Nagpore Estate and the local district works. It is supported from Municipal Funds and attended by Native Christians. The Dehree and Ranchi Industrial Schools had 102 pupils on their rolls against 88 in 1881-82 Artizans are also trained at Nawadi and Jamalpore by the East Indian Railway Company.

38. School of Art.—This school continues to maintain a high standard of efficiency, and its students increased from 77 to 96. No additions were made to the Art-Gallery. European ladies and gentlemen, as well as native students, are reported to have made copies of the paintings during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes to be able shortly to place this gallery on an improved footing.

39. Normal Schools.—These schools are now 14 in number, and there is a small training class at Ghatsila in Singbhoom. Eight of the schools are of the first, and six of the third grade. At the Vernacular Mastership Examination for pupils of the first grade schools, 292 candidates appeared, of whom 52 obtained first grade certificates, 70 second grade, and 93 third grade. The results were less satisfactory than in the previous year, when, out of 251 candidates, 218 received certificates. Inclusive of third as well as first grade schools, the total number of students who qualified for teacherships during the year was 464, and so great was the demand for their services, that they all at once received employment. The Hooghly and Patna Schools have the largest number of students. The Sonthal Normal School at Bhimpore, in the district of Midnapore, which trains both male and female teachers for employment under the American Missionaries in the jungle schools, is also well attended. There were 86 pupils under instruction during the year, of whom 55 were Sonthals, 27 Native Christians, and 4 Hindus.

40. Madrissas.—The total number of pupils at the four Government Mofussil Madrissas of Hooghly, Rajshahye, Dacca, and Chittagong, and in the Arabic Department of the Calcutta Madrissa, was 1,139 at the end of the year against 1,089 in the preceding year. The mofussil madrissas are maintained from the Mohsin Endowment Fund, but the expenses of the Calcutta Madrissa have hitherto been met entirely from Provincial revenues. It has now been decided to convert this Madrissa into a second grade college, to meet the demand of the Mahommedan community for a separate collegiate institution in Calcutta, and the additional funds required for the purpose will be provided from the Mohsin grant of the Rajshahye Madrissa, which has been closed. The total amount expended on Mahommedan education from the Mohsin Fund during the year was Rs. 49,324, of which Rs. 38,443 were devoted to the support of the Madrissas and the part payment of the fees of Mahommedan pupils and of Arabic and Persian teachers, and Rs. 10,881 to scholarships. The results of the central examination of the Madrissas contrasted very favourably with those of the two previous years. Of the 172 candidates examined, 51 passed in the first division, 21 in the second and 39 in the third. The number of students at the Calcutta Madrissa and its branch school was 1,116, of whom 727 were studying English. The best attended of the mofussil madrissas are those of Chittagong and Dacca, which had at the end of the year 382 and 338 students respectively. The number of students at the Rajshahye Madrissa was 127 and at the Hooghly Madrissa 40.

41. Sanskrit Title Examination.—Sixty-one candidates appeared at this examination against 53 in the previous year, and 46 passed against 25. Fifty-seven were Bengalis, three Uriyas and one Hindustani; Kavya or literature was selected by 23 candidates, of whom 17 passed; Smriti or law by 28 candidates of whom 23 passed; and Darsana or philosphy by 10 candidates of whom six passed. This examination has attained much popularity in Bengal and the surrounding provinces, and many rewards and scholarships for the encouragement of the candidates have been given by Hindu gentlemen. Titles are also conferred by the Dacca Saraswat Somaj, but, the Circle Inspector observes, the exercise of this privilege by the Society seems no longer desirable now that examinations are held by the Department in Calcutta. The question of withdrawing it should be considered by the Director.

42. Scholarships.—In addition to the two existing agricultural scholarships of £200 a year, two new scholarships of £50 and £20 respectively were sanctioned during the year for competition among the Bengal scholarship-holders at the Cirencester Agricultural College in order to encourage the study of veterinary science. The total Government expenditure on other scholarships of all classes within the province was Rs. 1,64,802. Numerous donations for scholarships and prizes were also made by private gentlemen during the year, amongst which may be mentioned—Rs. 15,000 by Nawab Shams-ul-Omra, Amir-i-Kabir, Kurshid Jah Bahadur of Hyderabad, Rs. 12,000 by the Hon'ble Maharaja of Durbhunga, and Rs. 6,000 by Syed Lutf Ali Khan C.I.E., of Patna for the benefit of students of the Calcutta Madrissa; Rs. 5,000 by the Hon'ble Maharaja of Durbhunga in connection with the Sanscrit Title Examination; and Rs. 5,000 by the Maharaja of Burdwan.

43. School-books.—A great impetus has, it is stated, been given to the preparation of school-books in the province of Behar, where a few years since not one was published. The duty of examining and approving text-books for the province is discharged by a local branch of the Central Text-book Committee, and much useful work has been done by the members. Seven books, two in the Kaithi character, were printed in the past year, and a large number of others in the Kaithi character will be issued in the current year from the Patna Press. In Orissa the difficulty felt in the supply of maps and atlases to the vernacular schools of the province has now been solved by the publication of an excellent Uriya Atlas, said to be equal in execution to the best production of its kind in Bengali, by the Hon. Kumar Baikanta Nath Dé of Balasore; and the same public-spirited gentleman intends also to publish a series of wall-maps for the use of schools.

44. The Department has lost the services of a valuable officer since the close of the year by the retirement, on pension, of Babu Bhudeb Mukherji, C.I.E., who was so long associated with the progress of education in Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor has already conveyed to Babu Bhudeb Mukherji an expression of the high estimation in which the Government holds the services rendered by him, especially in connection with the extension of primary education.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date
BEHAR.
Patna Div. 26	Patna, Jan. 19 '84	Nil	Weather—cold and seasonable. Rubbee crops good where irrigation is practicable. On unirrigated lands they are suffering from want of moisture. Poppy growing well. Public health good.
27	Gya, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—cloudy. Threshing of paddy continues. Yield of sugarcane satisfactory. Rubbee and poppy crops promise well, but rain is wanted. Public health good.
28	Shahabad, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—cloudy. Rubbee crops are reported to be perishing in the Bhabbh sub-division for want of moisture. Prospects of these crops in the other sub-divisions also are not good.
29	Durbhunga, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of rubbee crops gloomy. The clouds which promised rain have cleared off. Prices slightly inclined to rise. Small-pox in the Sudder station. Fever prevails in the interior.
30	Mozufferpore, „ 19 „	0·03	Sky overcast, but no rain except a few drops on the 18th instant. Rubbee harvest will probably not exceed a district average of 5 annas. The rubbee crops are now in ear, but are stunted and desiccated.
31	Saran, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—clear and cool; foggy in the morning; occasionally cloudy towards the latter end of the week; a very little drizzling rain on Thursday night, 17th. Prospects of rubbee crops fair. Mustard is flowering. Rahar and castor plants are growing well. Poppy doing well, though rather backward. Common rice selling at 13½ seers per rupee. Public health good.
32	Chumparun, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—cool and cloudy. Rubbee doing fairly well, but rain is much wanted for it. Public health good.
Bhagulpore Div. 33	Monghyr Jan. 19 '84	Nil	Weather—cold and cloudy in the latter part of the week. Prospects of rubbee crops not encouraging. Rain much wanted. Kalai being cut. Ruhar looks very well. Prices unaltered. Public health good.
34	Bhagulpore, „ 19 „	Nil	Weather—warm. Standing crops of wheat, barley, &c., require rain. Rice selling at 12 to 15 seers per rupee.
35	Purneah, „ 19 „	0·07	Weather—seasonable. More rain wanted. Prospects of rubbee corps poor. Public health good.
36	Maldah, „ 19 „	*	Weather—early part of the week fine with morning fogs, later on cloudy during the greater portion of the day. Condition of the rubbee crops good. Prices of food-grains almost stationary. Public health good.
37	Sonthal Parghs. „ 19 „	0·11	For the last 3 or 4 days the weather has been cloudy and much warmer than last week. The winter rice harvest is over, and the yield for the whole district taken together will be about 4 or 5 annas below the average. The prospect of the rubbee is indifferent, but in parts of Godda, Pakour, and Rajmahal it is reported to be fair and in good condition. There is little of it in the Dumkah and Deoghur sub-divisions. The sky is cloudy and looks like rain. A shower will do much good to the rubbee. About one-third the average will be the outturn, but it will be better if there be rain soon.
ORISSA.
Orissa Div. 38	Cuttack, Jan. 18 '84	Nil	Weather—cold and cloudy. Reaping of sarad rice nearly completed. Rubbee crops being gathered. Dalua rice being transplanted and growing well. Common rice selling at 18 to 24 seers per rupee. Public health generally good.
39	Pooree, „ 17 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable, but cloudy. Sarad rice is still being reaped. Dalua rice plants are doing well. Sugarcane being harvested. Miscellaneous crops are promising. Common rice selling at from 20 to 32 seers 13 chittacks, Calcutta weight, per rupee. Small-pox still lingers in Banpur.
40	Balasore, „ 18 „	Nil	Weather—cold and cloudy. The main rice harvest may now be said to have been reaped; but the grain has not yet been threshed out, and the new crop has not come into the market. Prices consequently remain much the same as before. Rubbee doing well, but the area grown with these crops is insignificant in extent. There is some malarial fever in the north, and cholera has appeared in the town of Balasore.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 21st January 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

THE mortuary returns from the districts in Bengal for the month of November 1883 disclose the following results :—

(1). That the deaths of 133,982 persons were recorded out of a population of 66,163,884 in these districts, representing an annual ratio of 24·24 per 1,000 against 19·56 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 24·12 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of 1882.

(2). That the highest casualty rates were returned from the following districts as opposed to the mortality in them during the corresponding month of the preceding year :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— November 1883.	November 1882.
Rajshahye ...	54·48	41·88
Nuddea ...	53·16	60·84
Pubna ...	51·4	48 96
Jessore ...	44·28	54·84
Murshidabad ...	39·24	43 80
Khulna ...	35·88	37·20
Birbhum ...	35·64	39·60
Backergunge ...	31·80	35·28
Howrah ...	31·56	18·12

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— November 1883.	November 1882.
24-Pergunnahs ...	30·72	27·72
Dacca ...	30·00	36·00
Burdwan ...	29·40	42·48
Hughli ...	27·48	31·08
Rungpore ...	27·48	12·96
Midnapore ...	26·76	25·44
Bogra ...	26 76	34·32
Faridpore ...	26·28	23·64

(3). That the mortality from the principal death-causes was as follows in comparison with the casualty rates from the same causes during the preceding month and the corresponding month of 1882.

	Ratio per mille during— November 1883.	October 1883.	November 1882.
Cholera	·60	·36	2·16
Small-pox	·03	·02	·03
Fever	19·68	15·48	18·36
Bowel-complaints	·84	·72	·84
Injury	·12	·36	·12
Other causes	2·76	2·40	2·28

The above figures indicate chiefly that, as compared with the mortality during the corresponding month of 1882, cholera exhibited a sensible decrease and fever an increase, and that, as compared with the preceding month, the fatality from the latter disease was considerably greater.

(4). That while the other diseases did not prove noticeably fatal anywhere, cholera and fever caused the highest mortality in the following districts :—

Cholera.

	Ratio per mille.
Howrah	3·84

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 not being reliable, owing to its being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded in the authorized form of age classification.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Chittagong Divn. 24	Tipperah, „ 25 „	Nil	Weather—bright and clear and seasonably cold. Amun paddy all cut and stored. Cold-weather crops doing fairly well.
Chittagong Divn. 25	Chittagong Hill Tracts „ 22 „	0·43	Weather—cloudy and variable with a slight shower on the evening of the 21st. Crops doing well. General health good.
	Hill Tipperah „ 28 „	Nil	Weather—for the first four days gloomy and sultry, and afterwards bright and seasonably cold. State and prospects of winter crops fair. Harvesting of shail paddy finished. Public health good.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn. 26	Patna, Jan. 26 '84	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Rubbee crops are doing as well as can be expected without rain. Cutting of sugarcane going on. Public health generally good.
Patna Divn. 27	Gya „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—fair. Threshing of paddy continues. Rubbee and poppy are promising. Public health good.
Patna Divn. 28	Shahabad, „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of rubbee crops not very fair as previously reported.
Patna Divn. 29	Durbhunga, „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—warm and seasonable. Harvesting of paddy has now finished. Prospects of rubbee are becoming daily worse for want of rain. Prices on the whole are inclined to rise. Poorer classes of people are reported to be feeling the effects of high prices. Small-pox in the Durbhunga town is decreasing.
Patna Divn. 30	Mozufferpore, „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—somewhat close and cloudy and consequently warmer. Rubbee harvest will probably yield a district average of 5 annas.
Patna Divn. 31	Sarun, „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—clear and cool. Foggy in the morning. The clouds which promised rain have cleared off. Rubbee crops good where irrigation is practicable, but on unirrigated lands they are suffering from want of moisture. Poppy and rahar doing well. Common rice selling at 13 seers per rupee. Cases of small-pox reported from the Sewan sub-division, otherwise public health good.
Patna Divn. 32	Chumparun, „ 26 „	Nil	Weather—cool and cloudy. Rain much wanted for the rubbee crops, which look fairly well. Public health good.

John Eliot,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

THE returns from the first class Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 12th January 1884, disclose the undermentioned results :—

(1) That the birth-rate stood at 23·4 per 1,000 of population, against the same rate in the preceding week ending 5th January, and the death-rate at 26 per 1,000, as opposed to very nearly the same ratio, viz. 26·3 per 1,000.

(2) That the following towns furnished the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Comillah	73·2	Darjiling	45·6
Arrah	35·9	Suburbs of Calcutta ..	39·9
Santipore	34·5	Patna	30·5
Bhagulpore	34·4	Poori	29·9
		Gya	28·7

(3) That the mortality from the several death-causes was as follows, in comparison with that in the preceding week :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	12th January 1884.	5th January 1884.
Cholera	·6	·6
Small-pox	·5	·2
Fever	11·9	12 6
Bowel-complaints	4·3	4·8
Injury	·2	·2
Other causes	8 5	7·9

The noticeable points indicated by the above figures are that fever prevailed with diminished severity, and that the diseases returned under the head of "Other causes" exhibited enhanced mortality.

(4) That while fever and injury were nowhere conspicuously active, cholera, small-pox, bowel-complaints, and "other causes," proved most fatal to life in the Municipalities named below :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Bowel-complaints.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Midnapore ..	3·1	Gya	2·7	Darjiling	13·0	Poori	23·5
Howrah ..	2·5	Bhagulpore	2·7	Narayngunge	12·4	Arrah ..	14·3
				Monghyr	8·1	Suburbs of Calcutta ..	14·1
						Patna	11·7
						Comillah	11·6
						Gya	11·6
						Dacca	9·1

(5) That the death-rates in relation to Sex, Class and Age were as indicated below :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ..	27·2	Christians ..	17·4	Under 1 year ..	256·3

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of the ... the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the European being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The rates ... have consequently been calculated on the revised population ... under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ... under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the ... the Europeans above alluded to ... employed as a basis of calculation owing to the ... the census under this head not having been recorded ... The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The HON. H. J. REYNOLDS.
The HON. C. P. L. MACAULAY.

The HON HARBANS SAHAI.
The HON W. L. ALEXANDER.
The HON. KUMAR BOYKONTONATH DE.

AMENDMENT OF THE POOREE LODGING-HOUSE ACT.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend Bengal Act IV of 1871 (the Pooree Lodging-house Act).

He also applied to the President to suspend the rules for the conduct of business to enable him to move that the Bill be passed.

The President having declared the rules suspended, on the motion of the Hon. Mr. Macaulay the Bill was passed.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the clauses of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—The Council will have seen from the dissent which I have appended to the report of the Select Committee that I was not able to agree with their recommendations on certain points. Now I consider the question so serious a one, that I wish to avoid anything that may import acerbity in the discussion that is about to take place, and, therefore, I ask leave to explain why I put the second of the two questions of which I have given notice. I must admit that it has on the face of it the appearance of maliciousness. It looks as if I wish to put the Hon. Member in charge of the Bill into a difficulty.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—I am sorry, Sir, to have to rise to a point of order, but I must ask if the Hon. gentleman is speaking to any motion. I believe that formal interpellations are an entire innovation in the procedure of this Council, and it is obvious that, if unchallenged, they may form an inconvenient precedent. I have no desire to oppose the action of the Hon. gentleman, so far as the substance of his question is concerned; but I wish to know if he is in order in addressing the Council without reference to any specific motion.

The Hon. the Advocate-General, Presiding, said:—I am of opinion that Mr. Dampier is at liberty to proceed. He wishes to make an explanation to the Council. Here is a report of the Select Committee to be taken into consideration, and the Hon. Mr. Dampier has dissented from it in certain particulars, and he wishes, before proposing certain amendments of which he has given notice, to obtain certain information pertinent to the subject.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—I should be sorry to dispute the ruling of the Chair, but I must ask that a reference be made to the Secretary whether there is any precedent for an interpellation such as the Hon. gentleman has put upon the notice paper. As I have said, I have no desire to prevent the Hon. gentleman from receiving an answer to his questions. He can put them in the course of his speech later on, and they can be answered by some one speaking on the same motion. I wish it to be understood that I raise the question only to prevent the occurrence of an inconvenient precedent.

The Hon. the Advocate-General, Presiding.—In a case like this I am very much in the hands of the Council, and I must ask them to decide. If the Hon. Member wishes for a ruling, I will put it to the Council and take a vote as to whether the Council wish the questions to be put.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.—I am quite willing that the question be referred to the Council, because, if we agree, a precedent will only be established for interpellation by consent of the Council. I, for one, will vote, under the circumstances, for permitting the Hon. gentleman to proceed.

The Hon. the Advocate-General, Presiding.—That will be the best course. The Council can allow Mr. Dampier to proceed "by consent."

The motion was then put and leave was given.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier resumed:—I shall be obliged to repeat, that nothing is further from my wish than to import any appearance of acerbity in these discussions. The second question of which I have given notice has, on the face of it, the appearance of maliciousness, and I desire to repudiate any such intention and to explain what has led me to ask these questions. My honest object today is to press on those Members, who have not already irretrievably made up their minds, certain things which are essential to the formation of a right opinion. While avoiding anything which can be stigmatized as an ad captandum argument to gentlemen who are not familiar with these questions; while endeavouring to avoid any device of taking advantage of the technical rules of the Council, it is my object to lay before them, as fully as I can, those arguments which seem to me legitimate, and on which they may properly found their conclusions. In endeavouring to frame my arguments, I found I absolutely could not do so without having before them, and before myself, a definite idea of the answers to the two questions which I am about to put; and I adopted the unusual course of giving notice of those questions, because I thought they were of sufficient importance to deserve consideration, and I wish to avoid taking advantage of any temporary difficulty which might be caused by springing a mine under the Hon. Mover. The HON. MR. DAMPIER then put his first question, which was as follows:—

"Whether the material alteration which the Select Committee have made in the Bill by framing Schedules (of which the effect is to transfer from the Local Government to this Council the function of deciding in respect of each individual Municipality, whether the circumstance of such Municipality are such that it can properly be admitted at once to the exercise "of full electoral system," or whether its elective rights should be restricted) has been made at the instance of the Local Government; and if so, whether, with the permission of the President, the Hon. Mover of the Bill will cause to be laid before the Council any communication to that effect which may have been received from the Local Government."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said:—I must say I was somewhat surprised at the wording of the question of which the Hon. Member has given notice. The wording of the question seemed to imply that the Select Committee, by introducing Schedules in which certain Municipalities were entered, had sprung a kind of mine on this Council and the Government. But, as the Hon. Member has explained, the question is not asked for his own information, but in order to influence the opinion of other Hon. Members. He was a Member of the Select Committee, and he must recollect the discussions which took place some ten or eleven months ago, and the manner in which the matter was then settled. The provision for introducing certain Municipalities into the Schedules was imported into the Bill as it was settled by the Committee in March last, and published for general information, and it has since been under the criticism of the Public. With regard to the specific point to which the Hon. Member directs his question, I can only say that the scheme of specifying certain Municipalities in the Schedules which has been introduced into the Bill, was laid down with the approval and concurrence of the Government in a perfectly regular and constitutional manner; and I hope the Hon. Member will take that as a sufficient and complete answer to that part of his question. Then with regard to the second part of the question, I have before me a paper which would satisfy the Hon. Member that the Head of the Government has entirely approved of that principle. But I do not understand that it is in my province, even with the permission of the President, to lay a paper of that kind before the Council.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER asked:—Is the Council to understand that in rejecting the Schedules attached to the Bill it is going against the scheme of the Government?

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL, PRESIDING said:—I think the question just put by the Hon. Member is a most pertinent one, inasmuch as the Council is called upon to pass Schedules in regard to which it has no information.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—I think, Sir, that I can give some information to the Council on the question before it. The answer is a perfectly simple one. The Select Committee of which the Hon. gentleman is a Member, at a meeting at which he was present, deliberately and of its own motion adopted the system of Schedules. The system as a matter of fact has the concurrence of the President of the Council who is also the Head of the Local Government. I would remind the Hon. gentleman that at a recent conference at which the rough draft of the Select Committee's report was discussed by His Honor the President, the Hon. gentleman himself, the Hon. Mover of the Bill, and myself, His Honor expressly stated to the Hon. gentleman that he approved of the arrangement regarding the Schedules, and that he could only wish that they were revised so as to admit a larger number of Municipalities to full electoral privileges. But, the measure is in no sense a Government one. His Honor, if he were here, would vote for the Schedules as a Member of this Council: but every other Member would be at liberty to vote as he chose.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said :—I accept the answer. The arrangement of the Schedules is in accordance with the view of the President, before hearing any discussion of the question in this Council, but it is not the result of a demand by the Government of Bengal under the safeguard of its official responsibility as such.

Then, my second question is this—

"Whether the Hon. Mover of the Bill will name, for the information of the Council, the Members of the Select Committee who constitute the majority whose views are represented by the details of the Schedules as now presented to the Council with the report of the Select Committee."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said :—This question is one on which the Hon. Member possesses just the same information as myself : therefore, I rather wonder what made him put the question.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said :—I wished in the draft of the Committee's report to bring it prominently forward that these opinions were the opinions of the majority of the Select Committee. My Hon. friend said it was not usual to do so, and he would rather let it be assumed that the report was the report of the majority of the Committee only. I therefore put the present question for the purpose of pointedly drawing the attention of Hon. Members of Council to the constitution of that so-called majority.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said :—The principle of naming certain Municipalities in the Schedule was accepted by a large majority of the Select Committee. But there was some difference of opinion as to the precise number of Municipalities to be placed in the Schedules, and the decision of the question was in the hands of the Council. It seemed the most convenient arrangement to those Members of the Select Committee who were in favour of introducing Municipalities into the Schedules, that the Schedules should contain the largest number of Municipalities which any Member of that portion of the Select Committee thought it desirable to include in them ; and it would rest with any Member of the Council to move the omission of any of those Municipalities from the Schedules. That was the reason why the Schedules contained the names of some Municipalities which, in the opinion of some Members of the Select Committee, ought not to have been included, as would be seen from the notices of amendments before the Council.

The Council then proceeded to the consideration of the amendments of which notice had been given.

Section 8 provided for the extension of the Act by the Local Government to places which were not now under Municipal Government.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER moved that the last clause of Section 8 be omitted. The clause stood thus :—

"Every notification declaring a town or village to be a Municipality shall specify whether the name of such Municipality shall, or shall not, be inserted in the first or second Schedule of this Act, and shall further specify, subject to the provisions of Section 13, the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality."

He said :—The amendment which stands in my name is to omit the last clause of Section 8, but that amendment is really auxiliary to the subsequent amendment, that a certain section be added after Section 13, as Section 13A. That section which it is so proposed to introduce runs thus in the amendment—

Section 13*A*.—"The Local Government may at any time direct that the whole or any number of the Commissioners of any Municipality shall be elected."

The following words to be added to the section above proposed :—

"and may from time to time vary or cancel such order."

And that corresponding alterations be made in the subsequent sections of the Bill; and the first and second Schedules omitted.

It will be seen, therefore, that this amendment and the first amendment, to omit the last clause of Section 8, go together, and they really raise the whole question which I have to lay before the Council today.

I may be allowed to repeat what I have said in connection with the Local Self-Government Bill, that I entirely recognise that the time has come for making very considerable advance in the development of Local Self-Government in this country. No doubt a laudable popular interest in the subject has been excited, and there is a desire for it to which the Government should respond; and it is not only a matter of expediency, but it is also a high object for the Government to enlist the sympathies of the intelligent and educated classes who are now ready to offer their help in the management of their domestic affairs.

Then I also recognise that it is a great object to work up to the system of these local powers being exercised by the representatives of the communities who are affected.

It will be observed that the existing Act of 1876 recognises both these objects, and in some respects it even goes beyond the present Bill, for it provides that the Lieutenant-Governor may allow Municipalities to elect the whole or any number of Commissioners for the management of their affairs; whereas the Bill restricts this discretion in two directions. I am not prepared to say that it does not do so properly, but as a fact it does so restrict it. It will not allow the election of more than two-thirds of the Commissioners; and if the Lieutenant-Governor, or the Council, or whatever authority may take upon itself to decide the question, shall be of opinion that, under the circumstances of any particular Municipality, it cannot properly elect so large a number as two-thirds, this Bill decrees that no elective rights at all shall be given. The Municipality may not return one representative or two representatives only.

But while I quite recognise these principles, I equally feel that it is the duty of the Government to take care that the steps which it takes towards the end shall be steady, cautious steps, and planted upon firm ground. It seems to me that two objects are essential to a sound system of Municipal Government,—first, to create a body which shall be competent efficiently to administer the affairs with which it is entrusted, and which shall be capable of being entrusted with a very large freedom of direction in such administration; and secondly, to create a body which shall be a genuine representative body of the community with whose affairs it has to deal. If I have any hesitation in going as far as the Hon. Member in charge of the Bill and his supporters towards the end which we desire, it is not caused by any doubt as to the excellence of that end, but it is caused by apprehensions that these essentials may be overlooked; that in the anxiety—a laudable anxiety—to meet the wishes of the more intelligent and more educated classes, the material welfare of the more numerous but practically dumb individuals who constitute the majority of these communities, may receive less than that degree of attention which is its due; and I am afraid that, in the anxiety to adopt a form of local representation, we may miss the substance and create bodies, in some instances, I mean, which cannot in any reasonable sense be called representatives of the communities with whose affairs they will be entrusted.

In the existing Act of 1876, Hon. Members will observe that section 16 imposed restrictions on the discretion of the Executive Government as to the election of the Commissioners. It provided that the Lieutenant-Governor should not give the franchise to any town unless a petition had been presented, signed by at least two-thirds of the rate-payers, expressing their desire for it. The reason for this restriction was, that in those days there was considerable apprehension entertained that the local officers might be carried away with the idea to press representative institutions on communities which did not really desire or care about them, and indeed would rather have been without them. The apprehension was that this would come about at the instigation of those classes from whom it might be reasonably supposed that the Municipal representatives would be chosen. And I may add that the intelligent public opinion of the non-official native community, generally speaking, as distinct from the opinion of each unit of Municipal Government, was quite with the Government as to the necessity of imposing such restrictions.

Now, why has this restriction been given up? In England it exists. Petition for a Charter is the first step. Primâ facie it is a natural condition to impose, and therefore I should be glad if the Hon. Member had explained more fully than I remember him to have done, the reasons for dispensing with this condition. As he has not done so, I must state my own reasons for abolishing it. I find that the condition has been an obstruction. The effect has been, as I understand it, to tie the hands of the Government from giving the franchise to communities to which the Lieutenant-Governor would otherwise have wished to extend it I do not wish to retain the restriction, because in the first place I have no faith whatever in these numerously signed petitions, under the circumstances of the country, as being the genuine expressions of the feeling of the signatories; and in the second place, I entirely accept that, in this matter, Government should go hand in hand with what I may call the general intelligent public opinion, even to the extent of being in advance of the general feeling of the particular community or Municipality with which it is dealing, and this for the purpose of gradually exciting interest and raising a desire for, and appreciation of, those privileges which will be conferred. I think that one excellent result of the discussions which have taken place within the last few years upon extended self-government is that these discussions have taken the place of the school master as to primary education, I may say, on this particular question.

Such being my views, my objections to the Bill on certain points are that it does not provide what seems to me to be the safest and most effective means of attaining the object which we are unanimous in desiring to bring about. It is an easy thing to say that among the numerous Municipalities, above a hundred, some are qualified to exercise what the Hon. Member has termed "full electoral rights," and that, on the other hand, some of them not being so qualified, it is necessary in their cases to impose restrictions for the present upon such exercise. But between these two there surely lies a debateable ground as regards any particular restrictions. The question whether any particular Municipality should be admitted to full electoral privileges, or whether any particular restrictions should be imposed, appears to me to be one which depends on a most intimate acquaintance of existing local circumstances in each case, and therefore it is impossible to expect that this Council should discharge that responsibility properly. There is, however, an agency at their command; there is an authority at hand within whose proper functions it falls to make such discrimination. That agency is the Government of Bengal. This then is the object of my amendment, to leave the function of making such discrimination to the Government of Bengal rather than attempt to perform the function in this Council. This end will be attained by the removal of the Schedules from the Bill.

Now, the first argument by which I will support my proposal is the difficulty of performing the task of discrimination properly. It is not likely that every Hon. Member should have satisfied himself as to whether every particular Municipality has been rightly placed in either Schedule or rightly omitted from them. I assume that that has not been done by every Hon. Member. I say that the extreme difficulty of coming to an opinion on these particular questions is shown by the mere fact that those Hon Members who have gone more closely into them—the Members of the Select Committee—have found it impossible to find any sort of modus vivendi upon the question: and it is not only among the Members of the Council, but there are differences of opinion between the Members of the Council and the local officers, who are also competent to form an opinion on this subject. Hon. Members will observe that the Select Committee consisted of five Members. Of these five Members, three have recorded their disapproval of the Schedules as now framed; the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Macaulay) has recorded a dissent, saying that he is not satisfied with the details of them. I have myself recorded a dissent which has the same effect. The Hon Mahomed Yusuf has, by the amendments which he has put on the paper, shown that he is not satisfied with the details of the Schedules as they stand. So that two only out of the five Members of the Select Committee remain to represent the majority whose views are embodied in the Schedules as presented to the Council with the report. And the Hon. Member opposite (Kumar Boykantonath De), the last appointed Member of the Council, has also recorded an amendment which shows that he is not satisfied with the Schedules as they stand.

The Select Committee in their report have written:—"We have considered the opinions, but we have not in every case been guided by the recommendations of district and divisional officers." By what, then, have they been guided in cases where they have departed from those recommendations?

I desire to ask every Hon. Member of Council who has not examined the question for himself, upon what grounds he is going to give a vote which shall have the effect of expressing his conviction that a departure from the views of local officers in each such case is a wise and proper measure?

I apprehend it would be a fair answer to that question if any Hon. Member were to say that he accepted the principle that a petition expressing the genuine wish of a community concerned shall override the opinions of the local officers. But, as I understand it, Hon. Members who support the Schedules as they stand are not in a position to say that in every case in which they have passed over the recommendations of the local officers, it has been done at the request of the inhabitants. On the contrary, there is one case (a petition from some inhabitants of Uterparah) now before this Council in which the petitioners protest against this Council going against the recommendations of the local officers.

Then, I think it would be a fair answer if any Hon. Member were to say—"I rely upon the general concurrence of the majority of the Members of the Select Committee who have looked into this question, and I am willing to accept that as the ground of my vote;" but in the present case there is no such concurrence to rely upon.

Again, I can understand any Hon. Member saying—"I accept the formal expressed opinion of the Government of Bengal under the guarantee of its official responsibility, and as being the focus and centralization of the opinion of experts on the subject; and therefore, I give my vote in accordance with that opinion." But the Hon. Member who answered my question just now has told us that there has been no such formal expression of the opinion of the Government of Bengal as such, and acting under its official responsibilities, and on a knowledge of the circumstances of each case; and therefore that answer, I think, should not satisfy any Hon. Member who has not looked at the particular circumstances of each case.

I may indeed go further. The Council have before them a petition from Uterparah, in which they are told that the Government of Bengal has had before it the question of extending the franchise to Uterparah, and the petitioners beg that this Council should not decide against that deliberate opinion come to by Government not to allow the franchise. They beg the Council not to decide against that deliberate decision of Government without calling for and considering the records on the subject, which are to be found in the Medical and Municipal Departments of the Government of Bengal. Is this Council prepared to call for all the discussions which passed on that question? If not, upon what grounds are they going to upset the deliberate opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor that the franchise cannot properly be extended to Uterparah?

I cite that one case as a typical example, but I believe, if it were possible for the Council to get a genuine expression of opinion from each municipal community as a body, that there would be numerous cases in which pros and cons of that sort would have to be considered. Do Hon. Members of this Council feel themselves competent to decide upon these questions without information before them? I wish it to be distinctly understood that I am not arguing that any one view is better than another as to this distribution of individual Municipalities into the different classes. I am arguing that there is no necessity for the Council to decide this question, that this question cannot be decided in any way which can be put forward by this Council to the Public as an expression of their united opinion. No such opinion can be arrived at without a personal scrutiny by each Member of it, and I say that such scrutiny is not within the functions of Hon. Members of this Council, and that it is really not a question which this Council ought to decide. The Lieutenant-Governor is the proper authority. I do not think that it would become this Council as a body to legislate any particular provision of the Bill, as it stands, which they know is objected to by many who are competent to form an opinion on the subject, simply because no amendment can be formulated to which a vote of a majority can be got. I do not think it would be right to allow such a provision to stand, for no other reason than that it has got into the Bill somehow, and that technicalities prevent its being got out of it again.

It seems to me that what it is proposed that this Council should do, is to take up the position of the Captain of a ship who, up to a certain distance, has before him a clear and easy course, in which he has only to follow the unerring indication of the compass. That is the course which leads to the sound development of municipal freedom in self-government. Unfortunately, just before he gets into port, his ship has to pass through shoals and shifting sands. There is the Pilot—the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal—who passes his time in examining the locality, and whose duty it is to keep himself informed, from day to day, of the changes and variations amongst these sands and shoals, and yet the Captain (this Council) refuses to avail himself of the Pilot's services, and why? Is it because the Captain is competent to take the ship up himself? Oh no, he is met by perplexities at every turn: it is only because the Captain is afraid that the Pilot will not get the ship up to its destination as soon as the Captain would like. I can understand an argument of this kind being tolerated from a Captain of one of the old opium clippers, the very object of whose existence was that they should arrive a few hours before others with news of the opium market; but is there any such reason to risk the ship of good government in this way?

My next argument must be taken from analogy, and I must begin with a postulate. Under the existing Act, the urban units which are brought within the operation of the Act are, certainly, called Municipalities. Under the Bill as it stands, the units brought under its operation are also termed Municipalities. But there are Municipalities and Municipalities. It will not be seriously contended that the Municipalities which are now to be created by the Bill, except in the three exceptional cases to which the franchise has already been extended, are similar to the Municipalities under the existing Act, except in designation only. This Bill will have the effect of a first admission to a Charter of Corporation in all cases, except the three which have already been admitted to elective rights. I do not know where the Hon. Member has found his precedent for legislation, placing the function of such admission in the hands of the Legislature. If he has found that principle in any of the numerous Bills on the subject of Local Self Government which have lately been before the Public, then, no doubt, he will tell us of it. But of one thing I am sure, that he has not taken the precedent of leaving the granting of such Charters to the Legislature, instead of the Executive Government, from our own country. Clause 210 of the Municipal Corporations Act, not any Statute of fifty years ago, but of 1882, runs thus:—"If on the petition to the Queen of the inhabitant house-holders of any town or towns or district in England, or of any of those inhabitants, praying for the grant of a Charter of incorporation, Her Majesty, by the advice of her Privy Council, thinks fit by charter to create such town, towns, or district * * * * a municipal borough and to incorporate the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty by the Charter to extend to that municipal borough and the inhabitants thereof so incorporated, the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Act."

That is to say, the first origin of the Municipality rests with the Executive Government, and not with the Legislature; and, Sir, will any Hon. Member here say that, under the circumstances of India, less freedom and discretion should be left to the Executive Government by the Legislature than is left in England?

So much as to the first classification of Municipalities with regard to the degree of elective municipal freedom which they are to exercise after the passing of the Bill. I now pass to that part of my amendment which is embodied in the words "the Lieutenant Governor may, from time to time, vary or cancel such order." I have purposely put that as a separate amendment, because some Hon. Members who agree in the object of the first amendment, to leave the first classification to the Lieutenant-Governor, may perhaps not accept the second, which is to allow the Lieutenant-Governor to make subsequent alterations.

Now I think that, when we consider the vast unexplored region which we are now entering upon, not only is it unreasonable to expect that this Council will be able to draw up properly classified Schedules, but that it is unreasonable to expect that the Lieutenant-Governor should not make mistakes. It may be reasonably expected that he will pass orders at first which he, after experience, will wish to undo; and I think that the largest possible discretion should be left to him.

And not only will mistakes have to be corrected, but I think, further, that the conditions of individual Municipalities in this country are liable to change in themselves. I will take a shaft from the quiver of the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Macaulay). He has said in his dissent that the existence of local dissensions may be a fair reason for denying to any particular Municipality the right of electing its Chairman. Now, is that a good reason or is it a bad reason? If it is a bad reason, of course it must be rejected in the first classification; but if it is a good reason, I ask, even if no such dissension exists at the time of the passing of the Bill, what guarantee is there that dissensions will not have sprung up when the second or third vacancy in the Chairmanship shall have occurred? If the existence of such dissensions is a good reason for the Government to appoint a Chairman in the first instance, why prevent the Government from acting upon that good reason on the occurrence of future vacancies? If I may return to the simile of the ship, when it is known that the shoals and sands are shifting in their character, why insist upon the ship being taken on all future voyages along the precise course which is a good course to take according to present condition.

As regards this future power, it will probably be answered that no such authority exists in England for the withdrawal of a Charter when it has been once given. I am not informed upon that point, but, if that be so, my reply is that, in the first place, the changes of circumstances, the shifting sands and shoals, do not exist in England in the same degree as in this country; and secondly, that in England they are not breaking into unexplored and unknown tracts of which they have no experience, but they have a well-used path to follow, and therefore that they are less likely to make mistakes in the first instance.

For these reasons I would leave the widest discretion to the Local Government, and I would remind Hon Members of Council that the exercise of an official discretion by an authority of that sort is not the same thing as the exercise of arbitrary will by private individuals, for such a discretion is to be exercised subject to the responsibility to superior Governments and subject to the responsibility to public opinion; and I feel certain that any retrograde step in a liberal policy would have to be made under an amount of hostile criticism and discussion which would afford material guarantees against its being lightly or unnecessarily undertaken.

I see my friend opposite (Mr. Macaulay) is impatient to get up and demolish me with an argument which, I am afraid, is much more practical than convincing: that he is ready to say to me tempora mutantur, tu non mutatus in illis. Nevertheless, am I obliged to urge before this Council these arguments which seem to me to be of weight against a course which runs the risk at least of being mischievous, in some instances, to those very communities for the benefit of whom it is designed and for which there is absolutely no necessity, in our advance towards the great object which we all seek—the development of self-government. I have now the honour to move the first amendment which stands in my name, that the last clause of section 8 be omitted.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said:—I beg to oppose most respectfully, but strongly, the amendment which has been moved by the Hon. Member. The important features of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, which are decidedly improvements on the existing law, are the following:—The Bill divides the Municipalities into three classes. In the first class, unrestricted privileges have been given to the tax-payers to elect their own representatives who will be two-thirds of the number of the Commissioners as fixed by the Local Government, and the Commissioners will have the right to elect one of their number as their Chairman. The second class will consist of those Municipalities mentioned in the second Schedule of this Bill, in which the tax-payers will have a similar privilege, so far as the election of two-thirds of the number of the Commissioners is concerned, but the appointment of their Chairman shall rest with Government. The third class will be composed of those Municipalities entered in the first Schedule of this Bill, in which the whole number of the Commissioners will be appointed by the Local Government, but the Commissioners so appointed will have the right to select their own Chairman. In every case, all the Municipalities will have the privilege of electing their own Vice-Chairman, and the election will no longer be subject to the sanction of Government. So long as the Municipality discharges its duty properly and efficiently, the Bill secures to it perfect independence and freedom of action, and it is only in the extreme case of a Municipality going far wrong and persistently neglecting its duties, or abusing its powers, that the Government is authorized to interfere in the interests of the Public and suspend it for a specified period. This Council, composed as it is of the ablest and most experienced Government officials, and non-official representatives from every part of the Province, has before it the opinion of the local officers and the views and wishes of the Public, and is in a position on the materials placed before it to determine which Municipalities should have the privilege of the elective system; and it has, according to the local circumstances and requirements, classified the Municipalities into three groups mentioned above. Hitherto, the Magistrates presiding as Chairmen in the municipal meeting had a predominant voice in the determination of all questions brought before it, and the things used generally to be done and managed according to his views and wishes. Now happily under the Bill, the change has been made for the better; and for the first time the non-official Municipal Commissioners and Chairmen have been armed with real powers and independent authority, and left to exercise their own unfettered judgment without the interference of the Magistrate in municipal matters. Accordingly, the educated Public of Bengal hailed with joy and welcomed with cordiality the excellent provisions of the Bill, which would open to them a fair field for the independent exercise of their administrative talent and intelligence, and development of their natural parts for managing public business, and afford them a fine opportunity for giving proof of their public spiritedness and devotion to the cause of the common good Therefore at the last meeting of the Council, when the Hon Member in charge of the Bill moved that the Bill be taken into consideration, I had a mind to say a few words approving of the general scope and tenor of the Bill, and expressing the best thanks of the whole of Bengal to the Local Government, as well as to the Hon. Member in charge of the Bill, for having conferred on the Province the boon of municipal self-government on the basis of representation; but, on reading the amendments proposed by the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Dampier), I thought it proper to wait till the result of these amendments was known, inasmuch as it struck me that if these amendments were to be carried, the above privileges and boon would be practically nullified, and that the present Bill would be shorn of the new improvements, and that we would be left to the existing state of things. In my humble opinion it would be as well to move for the withdrawal of the present Bill, and leave the existing law as it stands at present, as to press the amendments in question. The Hon Member by his amendment proposes to leave the introduction and withdrawal of the elective system as regards Municipal Commissioners and Chairmen entirely in the hands of Government, and to empower the Local Government to act in the matter from time to time, according to its pleasure. I fail to perceive the force of his arguments, or the advantages of the measure as proposed by him. I do not see any reason why the aforesaid privileges should not once for all be conferred on the people as the Bill proposes to do. I do not see why the function of the legislature, so far as it is in a position to perform it just now, should be delegated to the Executive Government, which I am afraid will not be better qualified than this Council to arrive at a correct conclusion. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, I have no doubt, entertains very liberal views on the matter, and will freely extend the elective system to the majority of the Municipalities; but his successor (for aught we know) may be quite of a different opinion, and may under the discretionary powers proposed to be vested in him, withdraw the said privileges: thus the value of the boon will be lost by want of permanency and certainty in the matter. Now, to come to the point, so far as the present amendment is concerned, I do not see why the Local Government, having all the necessary materials before it, shall not be in a position at the time of creating a new Municipality to determine whether the circumstances of that locality justify its being inserted in the first or second Schedule of the Act or in neither, and notify accordingly. I therefore oppose the motion.

The Hon. BOYKANTO NATH DE said:—I do not see sufficient reason for omitting the clause, because such a provision is necessary to show under what schedule a newly-created Municipality is included. When this is done, the nature of such a Municipality cannot be ascertained. I am sorry, therefore, I cannot accept the amendment.

The Hon. MR. DAMPIER said:—I have only a few remarks to make on what has fallen from the Hon. Member opposite (Babu Hurbans Sahai). The Hon. gentleman has expressed some apprehension as to the whims of the successor of the Lieutenant-Governor. I can only remind him that the discretion exercised by an authority in the position of the Government of Bengal is very widely different from the whims of an arbitrary and private individual. He has said that he is satisfied with the views of the present Lieutenant-Governor, that they are liberal views, and that reminds me of a saying I have heard, "Orthodoxy my doxy; Heterodoxy other doxy." The views of the present Lieutenant-Governor are in accordance with the views of the Hon. gentleman, and therefore those views are sound; and that being so the present Government may be allowed to tie the hands of its successors.

Then the Hon. Member said that the Lieutenant-Governor is not in a better position than this Council is to decide on the question of classification of the Municipalities in Schedules, the decision of which depends on intimate knowledge of local circumstances. I shall leave that part of his argument to speak for itself; it is a rather far-reaching one, no doubt.

Lastly, the Hon. gentleman has spoken of the public-spiritedness and devotion to the cause of the public good of the educated classes. I entirely acknowledge and recognise the willingness of those classes to devote their time and attention to local public affairs, and I desire to express my appreciation of it. But, as I have said already, I have thought it my duty to undertake the invidious and unpopular task of asking the Council to take care lest, in yielding to any attractive consideration of the sort, they should lose sight of the duty of the Government to hold the balance evenly between one class and another, and so should allow the material interest of the classes, whose wishes do not find expression, and who, perhaps, are not competent to form their wishes at all on the subject, to be thrown into undue shadow by the sunlight of other more brilliant considerations.

Lastly, as to withdrawing suddenly and arbitrarily any larger powers which have already been given, I ought to explain that I shall anticipate that if such discretion is left to the Government, it will not be exercised in the direction of restricting the freedom of action of any corporate municipal body; but that the considerations which will call for restriction in the future will rather arise from varying circumstances, bearing on the question of election and the exercise of the franchise, and as to the appointment of the Chairman, instead of allowing the Chairman to be elected by the Commissioners. I may mention one instance in which it occurs to me that there may really be some practical difficulty, and from which considerable disadvantage may arise to a Municipality from the Government not being allowed to restrict the right of appointment of the Chairman. I refer to the question of borrowing money. I believe from what I have seen in the administration of the Court of Wards' estates, that the credit of a Municipality which requires to raise money for any public purpose, would with some possible lenders of money be better if the Government had the power of appointing the Chairman of the Commissioners. I believe that some persons who would otherwise be willing to lend money, would be inclined to make such a condition before they consented to do so. This may be a condition of some importance in cases where a loan is needed for the carrying out of any large improvement.

The Hon. MR. DAMPIER's motion to omit the last clause of Section 8 of the Bill was then put to the vote and declared to be lost.

At the request of Mr. Dampier a division was taken, and the following votes were recorded :—

Ayes 4.	Noes 6.
The Hon. Mr. Alexander.	The Hon. Kumar Boykonto Nath De.
,, Mr. Beverley.	,, Hurbans Sahai.
,, Mr. Dampier.	,, Mr. Caithness.
	Colonel the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
,, the President.	The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
	,, Mr. Reynolds.

So the motion was negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved to substitute the following for the last clause of section 8 :—

"Every notification declaring a town or village to be a Municipality shall specify (subject to the provisions of section 13) the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality, and whether or not the provisions of sections 14, 15 and 16, and of section 24, shall apply to such Municipality.

"Notwithstanding any such notification, the Local Government may at any time by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette, extend the provisions of the said sections or any of them to any Municipality."

He said :—Much of what I had intended to say, Sir, has already been anticipated by my Hon. friend (Mr. Dampier), and has been put to the Council with much greater force and eloquence than I could have used. But I think it due to myself to state at the outset that the amendments which I have the honour to place before the Council are in no way antagonistic to the principle of the Bill, which I accept. The main principle of the Bill, as I take it, is this, that, as a rule, two thirds of the Commissioners of every Municipality shall be elected by the rate-payers, and that the Local Government shall not have the power to withdraw the franchise or privilege of election. Of that principle, I am as stout an advocate as any Hon. Member in this room. My experience as Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality has convinced me that a body of elected Commissioners have their strong as well as their weak points, and that as time goes on and the people begin to take a greater interest in local affairs, the strong points grow stronger, while the weak points sink into comparative insignificance. But while laying down this principle, the Bill, as originally introduced into Council, left a discretionary power to the Local Government to exclude certain Municipalities from the exercise of the elective privilege where it was thought that it could not be properly introduced. The Bill then went into Select Committee, and a majority of the Select Committee, for reasons no doubt known to themselves, but which have not been communicated to the Council, have thought fit to withdraw from the Local Government the discretionary power originally allowed to it, and instead of that to lay down a hard and fast rule as to the Municipalities to which the elective principle shall apply. The object of my amendments (for the whole of my amendments must be read together) is simply to go back to the original Bill, and to re-introduce the power of the Local Government which has been taken away by the Select Committee. And in order that the Council may see that this is not an unimportant matter, I would beg to remind Hon. Members that, according to the Civil List, there are at present no less than 128 Municipalities in Bengal. Of these, I believe three already possess the elective franchise. Schedule I contains the names of 21 only; so that the amended Bill declares that in the case of no less than 104 Municipalities the Council is prepared to say that they are fit and qualified to elect their own Commissioners. Schedule II again contains the names of only 38 Municipalities; so that the effect of the amended Bill is to declare that in no less than 90 Municipalities the Commissioners are at the present moment qualified to elect their own Chairman. These figures, I take it, will show the Council that this is a matter of very great importance, greater perhaps than might be supposed at first sight from the small number of names which appear in the Schedules.

Now, the first reason I shall lay before the Council why the proposal of the Select Committee should not be accepted is this, that this Council has no authority to usurp or encroach on the prerogative of the Crown, as represented by the Local Government, in conferring the franchise on any particular Municipality. The privilege of incorporating any town or village is a privilege, as we all know on the authority of Blackstone, appurtenant to the prerogative of the Crown. If it be said that these places have already been incorporated, I reply that so long as the franchise has not been given, the incorporation is inchoate only and incomplete. The Local Government may call these places Municipalities, but by calling them so, it has not divested itself of the power of regulating their internal affairs through its own nominees. Therefore I appeal to you, Sir, as the Law Officer of the Crown, to say whether, in thus restricting the prerogative of the Local Government, this Council is not exceeding its authority.

Nor, in my opinion, Sir, ought the Government to be divested of its responsibility in this matter. The Government has means for ascertaining the fitness of a town or village for exercising the franchise which this Council does not possess. The Government has its district and sub-divisional officers, and its Commissioners of divisions. On the other hand, what has the Council on which to proceed? Merely the reports which have been laid before us, and the arbitrary lists of names which have been inserted in the Schedules of the Bill. Now, is it because the Government is afraid to incur the odium of excluding Municipalities from the franchise that it wishes to shift the burden to this Council? Or are we to understand that the promoters of this measure are themselves so little confident of its success that they desire to transfer the risk and ignominy of failure? I put this question in all seriousness, and I hope it will be answered. In my opinion the responsibility ought not to be transferred to this Council, but ought to remain with the Local Government, which alone has the requisite facilities for enquiring into the fitness of towns for exercising the franchise.

The next argument I had intended to urge is, that we have no authority from the Local Government to legislate in the direction proposed; but I understand from the Hon. Member opposite (Mr Macaulay) that the principle of having Schedules has been accepted by the Head of the Government, though not the details of the schedules as they stand. If that is so, I have nothing further to say on that head.

If, Sir, we now turn to the report of the Select Committee, we find not only the Committee itself torn asunder by internal dissensions, no two Members agreeing as to the places to be put in the Schedules, but we also find no sufficient reason given for the form in which those Schedules are presented to the Council. I have already said that the Select Committee have given no reason at all for substituting Schedules for the discretionary power vested in the Local Government by the original Bill. I now say that we have very insufficient reasons for the vague manner in which the Schedules have been framed. Had the Select Committee been unanimous in their recommendations, I should have had the greatest possible hesitation in withholding my assent to them. Or had the majority (such as it is) given reasons for framing the Schedules in the form in which they are presented to us, the Council would have been in a position to judge of their cogency. But, as a matter of fact, Sir, there appears to be no principle whatever in the arrangement of these Schedules, or if there is any principle, it is admittedly one which is qualified by numerous exceptions: and I ask the Council whether it is on such a principle that it ought to proceed to legislate. If no principle can be found of general application; if, as is admitted, these Schedules must after all be framed with regard to local circumstances, it seems to me that the wiser course will be to leave the framing of the Schedules to the Local Government to whom those circumstances are known.

I now pass on to the papers which have been circulated with the reports of the Select Committee. But before doing so I should like to refer to the reports of the Select Committee, and to notice what they have said on this point. In their preliminary report the Select Committee say—"The most important sections of the Bill are those which relate to the constitution of Municipalities, and in these we have made material changes. The Bill, as originally drafted, left the Government an entire discretion to determine in what Municipalities the elective system should be introduced, and what Municipalities should have the power of electing their own Chairman. The wording of the Bill would even have left it in the power of Government to introduce the elective system into a Municipality and subsequently to withdraw it, and to direct the adoption of the system of the nomination. Such provisions appear to us to be incompatible with the declared intention of Government that the elective system shall be introduced into all considerable Municipalities. We therefore propose that certain Municipalities shall be specified in a Schedule appended to the Bill, and that in these exceptional cases the Commissioners shall be appointed by the Local Government; but that in all other cases the system of election shall be followed." Thus reasons are given why the power of the Government to withdraw the franchise should not be allowed, but no reason is given why Schedules have been substituted for the discretionary power of the Government to determine in what Municipalities the election system shall be introduced. Then as to the details of the Schedules, the Select Committee say this:—"In determining what Municipalities shall be allowed to exercise the privilege of election, we have considered the opinions, but have not in every case been guided by the recommendations, of the local and divisional officers." I think when we look into the details we shall see a very large number of exceptions, and it will be for the Council to consider, when my Hon. friend (Mr. Dampier) divides the Council on each item in those Schedules, whether the reasons for those details are, or are not, sufficient in each individual case. Meanwhile, in going through these papers, I find that when the Bill was originally published, very few indeed of the Municipalities or of the local officers have noticed this question at all. It seems to have been accepted as a matter of course that the Local Government should have the power reserved to it, and that provision seems to have given general satisfaction. It was only when the point was raised in Select Committee, and the amended Bill went forth to the Public, that the question was noticed at all; and even among the papers that have come in on the amended Bill, I find a very large proportion, not only of the officers of Government, (including, I think, no less than six Commissioners of divisions) but a large number of Municipal Commissioners themselves, are opposed to the change made by the Select Committee, and in favour of retaining in the hands of the Local Government the power proposed to be done away with. I propose very briefly to draw attention to some of these reports. The first I take up is from the Chairman of the Patna Municipality. He says:—"To the majority of the Commissioners the introduction of the elective system does not commend itself; and it is considered that a Committee, consisting chiefly of elected members, would in Patna develope either into a bear garden, or into a tyranny of the majority. Patna City is peculiarly circumstanced. It is a city where party feeling runs very high, and is most difficult to keep under even moderate restraint." But I do not find Patna in the first Schedule; so that, notwithstanding that the Patna Municipality has come up with a deliberate opinion that it is not desirable to introduce into Patna the elective system, this Council is called upon, with no further information before us, to give it the elective franchise. I next come to a paper from Chittagong. The Commissioner says:—"The system about to be introduced is an experiment, regarding the success of which many persons competent to form an opinion, are not very sanguine; and, under such circumstances, it would be most unwise to grant the franchise without possibility of recall. The power to disfranchise is one that the Lieutenant-Governor may well be trusted to exercise with prudence and discretion. I am quite of opinion that there are Municipalities to which it would be impolitic to extend the right of election, and which should be entered in Schedule I; but there is no guarantee that every Municipality at first not entered therein will be found fit to exercise the rights conferred by the Act, for the selection of particular districts must at first be a mere matter of opinion, which experience may prove to be erroneous; and until the change has been working for some years it will not be known which places are fit for the exercise of these powers. At first, therefore, and until we have had some experience of the working of the Act, I am of opinion that the Lieutenant Governor should have the power to place a Municipality in Schedule I, on sufficient grounds appearing." As regards the election of the Chairman, the Commissioner of Chittagong thinks that in every place in which the Local Government sees cause to admit the principle of election, and the rate-payers are allowed to elect their own representatives, the Commissioners should be allowed to elect their own Chairman. The Chairman of the Noakholly Municipality says:—"The proposals with regard to excluding certain Municipalities from the operation of the election of members, and the appointment of the Chairman by Government—in fact the application of Schedules I and II—seemed to commend themselves as generally applicable to this Municipality, and my own experience of the extreme apathy of the rate-payers when the proposals were made known in August last, convinced me that it will require considerable pressure on the rate-payers to induce them to record their votes." That is to say, the present Municipal Commissioners of Noakholly think that Noakholly ought to be included in Schedules I and II, but I don't see it in either of the Schedules. I next come to the Municipality of Bhabua in Shahabad, which passed the following Resolution:—"That some provisions be made in section 14 for the appointment of Commissioners on nomination, inasmuch as the elective system is not suited to such backward subdivisions as Bhabua;" but I don't see Bhabua in the first Schedule. The next paper is from the Durbhanga Municipality; there I read that it was "resolved unanimously that the elective system cannot be introduced into the Municipality;" but I don't see Durbhanga in the first Schedule. The next paper is from the Chairman of the Dinagepore Municipality, who writes:—"The Committee deprecate the universal introduction of the elective system, and would leave the Lieutenant-Governor the option of extending it to such Municipalities as were fitted to exercise it." The Commissioner of Chota Nagpore says:—"I agree with the Select Committee in thinking that those Municipalities in which it is not considered that the inhabitants are sufficiently advanced to elect Commissioners, should be specified in the Schedule No. 2 appended to the Bill. In my opinion neither Commissioners nor Chairmen would be elected in any of the Municipalities of the Chota Nagpore division." There are two Municipalities in that division which are not included in the first Schedule. The Chairman of the Sasseram Municipality writes:—"The inclusion of certain Municipalities in Schedule I will be empirical. There will be no guarantee for the successful working of the elective system in those not included in the Schedule. There are many Municipalities, considerable in point of population, yet deficient in the spirit of local self-government, and wanting leading citizens of sufficient intelligence and leisure to be able to dispense with the services of officials. Regard being had to the tentative nature of this new departure, I am of opinion that it would be unwise not to reserve a power to Government of introducing and withdrawing the elective system." It will be understood that I do not go so far as to advocate the withdrawal of the elective system after it has been once conceded. The Commissioner of the Dacca Division says:—"I agree with Messrs Dampier and Allen in their note to the report, that the Government should have discretionary power and the responsibility of proceeding cautiously and gradually on the matter." The Commissioner of Bhagulpore says:—"I agree in the remarks entered in the foot-note signed by Messrs. Dampier and Allen, which is appended to the preliminary report of the Select Committee." The Municipal Commissioners of Bankoora passed the following resolution:—"Resolved, with reference to the question of election, as to whether it should be the rule or the exception, that the principle should be recognised, subject of course to the special orders of the Local Government in each case. The Commissioners, however, are of opinion that the entry of names in a schedule of the Municipalities where the system of nomination would prevail, would tend unnecessarily to hamper the executive, they not being empowered under the Bill to enlarge the schedule at any subsequent period." The Commissioner of Patna says:—"I cordially agree with the remarks appended by Messrs. Dampier and Allen to the report. For the reasons given and in the words therein, the Executive Government should most certainly have the discretionary power, and with it the responsibility, of proceeding cautiously and gradually towards its object * * I also would object to withdrawing from the Lieutenant-Governor the power of proceeding tentatively in the matter of allowing the inhabitants of Municipalities to elect their own Commissioners." The Municipal Commissioners of Mozufferpore say:—"It does not appear that there is any particular or urgent necessity for any hard and fast rule to be laid down just now. It would be well if, for the present, the matter is left to the discretion of Government, which can very properly be exercised in consultation with the Municipal Commissioners and the District Officers." The Chairman of the Moorshedabad Municipality writes:—"The other Commissioners are of opinion that, as it is very likely that the system of election may fail, Government should be allowed the power of withdrawing it and that the sections at the end of the Act, viz, 340 and 341, giving Government power to supersede the Commissioners, are wholly inadequate to meet the apathy and incapacity which would, in all probability, have to be faced. One of the members remarked that a case in point of this apathy had come before the meeting that very day."

I think, Sir, I need not read any more extracts from these reports. I have read sufficient to show the Council that there is a difference of opinion in the matter among the trusted advisers of the Government, and among the present Commissioners of the Municipalities themselves, and I would ask this Council whether it is prepared on such reports as we have before us, and from which I have read extracts, in the case of the 104 Municipalities excluded from Schedule I, to say that they are qualified and fit to exercise the privilege of the franchise; or whether in the 90 Municipalities excluded from Schedule II it is advisable and desirable that they should at once have the right of electing their Chairman. I think, then, that I have shown good reasons why the recommendations of the Select Committee should be rejected by this Council when they propose to substitute Schedules I and II for the discretionary power proposed by the original Bill to be given to the Government. In some of the opinions which I have read, mention has been made of the withdrawal of the franchise, but, as I have already remarked, I am not in favour of the withdrawal of the franchise after it has been once conceded; and for that very reason I consider it requires very careful consideration, and great responsibility will attach either to this Council or to the Local Government to see that a Municipality is fit to exercise the privilege before the franchise is extended to it. I think that under the Bill the power of control possessed by the Government and the local authorities will be quite sufficient, if properly worked, without any power of disfranchisement. The control which the Government possesses consists, first, in the appointment by nomination of one-third of the Commissioners; secondly, in the approval of the election, if not the appointment, of the Chairman; thirdly, in the power of suspension proposed to be vested in local officers; fourthly, in the power which the Bill gives to the Local Government to compel the performance of certain duties; and lastly, in the power which the Bill provides for the supersession of a Municipality. That is a power which, it is hoped, will be very rarely, if ever, exercised: still it is a power it will be well to reserve.

To recapitulate, I trust I have shown that in touching what I call a prerogative of the Crown, as represented by the Local Government, this Council is proceeding beyond its authority; that the Government ought not to be divested of its responsibility in this matter; that the Select Committee itself is divided on this question, and that we have had no reason whatever given for transferring the duty of framing these Schedules to this Council, and no sufficient reasons for the details of the Schedules themselves; that no principle of general application is apparent in the Schedules, and that details can be far more wisely left to the Local Government; and lastly, that the opinions of the local officers and of the present Municipal Commissioners are divided on the point, and that there is a very large number of opinions in favour of restoring to the Local Government the power with which it was vested by the original Bill.

Before sitting down, I wish to draw the attention of the Hon. Member in charge of the Bill to one part of my amendments, which does not affect their general principle, and it is this, that at present there is no time fixed within which the Local Government must make rules and the elections be held. If no such provision is made, it is possible that the operation of the election principle may be indefinitely postponed, or even that it may altogether remain a dead letter. With these remarks, Sir, I beg to move the amendment which stands in my name.

The Hon. Mr. MACAULAY said.—I gave a silent vote, Sir, on the amendment of my Hon. friend, Mr. Dampier, because I proposed to reserve my remarks till the Hon. Mr. Beverley's amendment, which affects the same question, though in a different form, should come before the Council. The Council have now heard both amendments expounded, and Hon. Members have doubtless observed that they involve two different principles. One point of difference has been referred to by the Hon. gentleman who has just sat down. His amendment would allow Government to exercise its power of exclusion within six months only of the passing of the Act, while Mr. Dampier's amendment would confer a permanent power of exclusion to be exercised at any time. I will revert to the point hereafter. Meanwhile I wish to address myself to another point of difference—a difference of principle in regard to the municipal franchise. Mr. Dampier's amendment involves the principle of the old Act—the principle that Government shall ordinarily appoint, but may, in special cases, allow rate-payers to elect. Mr. Beverleys' involves a very different principle—the principle that the rate-payers shall ordinarily elect, but Government may, in special cases, appoint. Now, Sir, my Hon. friend, Mr. Dampier, was at least consistent in bringing forward his first amendment; though I have just learnt that his consistency has ended with his defeat, and that he has joined Mr. Beverley. There was a melancholy fitness in the circumstance that the last note of opposition to the principle of the elective system in Municipalities should be sounded by the Hon. gentleman. The Council do not require to be reminded that the Act which we are about to repeal was in great measure the handiwork of the Hon. gentleman himself, and knowing as we do his natural affection for that which he has himself constructed, I doubt if any of us was much astonished to recognise among his amendments sundry fragments of that monument of legislative ability. I trust, Sir, that I may not be misunderstood as desiring to disparage the Act under which the Municipalities of this Province have been administered during the past eight years. I desire to speak with all respect for the high abilities, the wide experience, and the distinguished reputation of Mr. Dampier, and I think that the fact that, notwithstanding amendments in regard to constitution, and additions which are in great measure of the nature of consolidation of special Acts, the main lines of the old Act have been adhered to, and the greater part of its framework maintained, is a satisfactory testimony to the skill and knowledge of its framer. But he has himself admitted that its provisions as regards election have proved a failure. Indeed, it was hardly open to him to do otherwise, seeing that they have not been applied to a single Municipality in the Province. Three Municipalities had the privilege of election before it was passed, and those three alone have it to-day. The Hon. gentleman attributes the failure to the proviso regarding the petition from one-third of the electors—a proviso which, in his own words, in the debate of 1876, was adopted as a check on the Magistrate—and he calls it an obstruction, and has discarded it. I wish I could believe that in doing so he has been actuated by a real desire to promote the elective principle, but I am afraid, from his general tone and the sequence of his proceedings, that, to use his favourite illustration of the ship, of which we have had so much to-day, the discard is only a part of the operation of throwing bulk overboard. We have had many indications of this, and I have watched the tactics of, I will not say his attack, but his retreat, with much interest and attention. The spectacle of a retiring enemy gradually divesting himself of his impedimenta to facilitate his flight can never be witnessed by an adversary with indifference. In his first amendment the Hon. gentleman threw away the proviso regarding the antecedent petition by one-third of the rate-payers, retaining, however, the words of the old Act regarding the formal appointment of the Commissioners by Government. In his second amendment he still further lightened his load by casting off these words, and in this he was undoubtedly right, for the words had no meaning at all taken with the preceding section; but still he seemed uncertain where to turn. He then disappeared from view under a convenient but ambiguous phrase regarding "corresponding alterations in the subsequent sections." He has now been driven from his last cover and defeated. But I have only just learnt the extent of his disaster. Not only has he been defeated, but he has lost his armour, and he is a fugitive in Mr. Beverley's camp. He has thrown away in his flight even the buckler of principle, flying as Horace fled from Phillippi, relictâ non bene parmulâ. For, such is the price which the Hon. gentleman has had to pay for the unholy alliance into which he has just entered with the Hon. Mover of the second amendment. In the amendments, such as they were, which the Hon. gentleman himself proposed, the principle of the old Act was adhered to. But the amendment of my Hon. friend, Mr. Beverley, as I have already said, recognises a totally different principle. The principle of the old Act was, that nomination should be the rule and election the exception. The principle now adopted is, that nomination shall be the exception and election the rule. The nomination principle is dead; it has been abandoned on the field by the Hon. gentleman. I will not dwell further upon this melancholy episode, but will simply congratulate the Council on the clearing of the issues before us. The principle of election having been accepted, the first question is—Shall we make it of universal application, or shall we recognise that some places are not yet fitted for it? The former course has not been recommended by the Select Committee, though I confess that personally I should not have been opposed to it, for I think that with the safeguards we have adopted, the objections to it will hardly bear examination. We have heard a good deal on the subject of the elective system from the Hon. gentleman opposite. Mr. Dampier has favoured us with some very beautiful and striking illustrations derived from nautical operations, and these deserve attention, for the Council are probably aware that no member of the Civil Service has had such opportunities for obtaining experience of this character as the Hon. gentleman himself has enjoyed. We have been invited to consider the Lieutenant-Governor a Pilot, this Council a Captain, and a Mofussil Municipality a Crew. A ship manned by ourselves and the Municipal Commissioners is nearing a harbour. The Lieutenant-Governor offers his services as Pilot, which are declined. The ship is then wrecked. I suppose that we are all drowned, for a good Captain sticks to his ship, and of course we are, so far, a good Captain, but we have not been supplied with the details of our fate. The picture is a lively one, but its general lines are far from clear. Then we had a further illustration of another ship sailing among shoals, the purport of which, I confess, I could not understand at all. I gathered, however, that sands do not shift so much in English as in Indian waters. This is a question of submarine geology which I do not feel myself competent to discuss. Mr. Beverley placed before us an array of opinion from officers of Government, and from the Commissioners of certain Municipalities against the introduction of the elective system into certain places. Indeed, his extracts were so copious that but, for an unwillingness to interrupt him, I could, I think, fairly have suggested that they would be more pertinent to a discussion on the details of the Schedules than to a discussion on the general principle. One thing at least they cannot have failed to bring home to the Council, and that is, that we have ample material before us for constructing the Schedules. As regards the opinions of local officers, I will only point out that Mr. Beverley has read from unfavourable reports, and that other reports of a very different character are to be found among the papers. It appears that the Municipal Commissioners of Patna consider that their committee will be turned into a bear-garden if the elective system is introduced. The Commissioners of other Municipalities object to the system chiefly on the shadowy ground that it will fail. I should be disposed to receive with considerable reserve the opposition of these gentlemen to a measure which they apprehend will lead to their own extinction. I do not believe that it will. I believe that in most cases practically the same men will be returned as we now select. But they evidently apprehend that they themselves will be excluded. Both the Hon. gentlemen opposite (Messrs. Dampier and Beverley) appear to overlook altogether the safeguards which we have adopted. Government in all cases nominate one-third of the Commissioners: if the rate-payers do not elect the other two-thirds, Government can nominate them also, and ample powers are reserved for Government, acting through the local officers, to compel the Commissioners to do their duty, and to restrain them from doing evil. Many officers have expressed the opinion that precisely the same class of men would be elected as are now nominated, and this has certainly been the experience of Kishnaghur, Serampore, and Burdwan. It is not pretended that the people will all at once take a vehement interest in the matter; but, if we guard against harm being done, why can we not at least give them the opportunity? My Hon. friend Mr. Dampier himself admits that Government should go in advance for the purpose of gradually exciting interest. Why then should we be deterred by the fear of apathy only, when we have the power of nominating Commissioners if the people will not elect them? I confess I do not understand the terror which seems to seize upon some people when they come face to face with the elective system. Whether they fear a revolution or fear a collapse they do not say; but that their knees are loosened by some vague apprehension, if the elective system is widely extended, is only too apparent. For my part, I cannot see that, with the safeguards with which we are armed, there is any fear either of a revolution or of a collapse. But as the Select Committee have decided to recommend that the system be withheld for the present from some backward Municipalities only, I am content.

The next question is, how is the power of restriction to be exercised? The amendment of my Hon. friend would leave it to the discretion of Government. The majority of the Select Committee, and, I trust, the majority of the Council, consider that it should be exercised by the Council, and that we should at once declare the exceptions to the general principle, leaving it to Government hereafter to extend the system to any of the excepted places, or, in extreme cases of misconduct, to place any Municipality on the list of exceptions. And this, I submit, is the proper course to pursue. My Hon. friend Mr. Beverley has raised the legal question whether the Council has power to deprive Government of the privilege of extending or introducing the franchise. I do not feel myself competent to discuss such a question with any authority; but I confess that, as a layman, I am unable to see the force of the objection. This Council gave the elective system absolutely to the Calcutta Municipality, and Government could not now withdraw it. If we declare that in one Municipality the elective system shall prevail, why should we not, if we choose, declare that it shall prevail in all? I am not aware that the Legislature in England is supposed to interfere with the prerogative of the Crown in conferring the franchise. I observed, Sir, that you shook your head when the Hon. gentleman was expounding his view, and I am glad to hope that I may claim the weight of your opinion in favour of that side of the question which I venture to support. My contention in regard to the authority which should exercise the power of restriction is simply this. We have accepted the principle of election. Having accepted it we are bound to see that it is not violated. It is for us to give it legislative protection, and not leave its adoption or rejection to the discretion of any other authority. I may say at once that, if the amendment is carried, the result will be much the same as if it is lost. The Council may have every confidence that there is no danger of power being abused by the Head of the Bengal Government within six months of the passing of the Act. But however well founded this confidence may be, I submit that it affords no jurisdiction for admitting a provision which might conceivably be so worked as to negative the principle which has been deliberately adopted. We propose to affirm the principle of election. Yet the amendment, if carried into law, would make it possible for the Lieutenant-Governor, within six months of the passing of the Bill, without even recording a reason to disfranchise every Municipality in the Province outside Calcutta, by a stroke of his pen.

So much for the question of principle. Now, as regards the application of the power of exclusion. The Council will observe, as I have already said, that under the amendment now before us, the Local Government can only exercise its arbitrary power within six months of the passing of the Act. The amendment, while leaving untouched the power of Government to exclude for misconduct, does not recognise any power of exclusion on account of changes in general circumstances or in general policy, such as was foreshadowed in the lost amendment of Mr. Dampier. It assumes in fact that Municipalities should be judged according to their present circumstances. This appears to me to be a reasonable and proper principle. The only question is who is to be the Judge, the Government, or this Council? I conceive that the only reasonable ground on which the elective system can be withheld from a Municipality is the extreme backwardness of the place, and the extreme ignorance and apathy of the people. Now I submit that the Council is in as good a position to judge of these conditions as the Government can be. We have before us all the material that is available for the formation of an opinion. I appeal to the speech of my Hon. friend Mr. Beverley, to show how copious is the material that we have before us. We have the views of local bodies and the opinions and recommendations of local officers. By coming to a decision upon them, we safeguard the principle which is the corner-stone of this part of the Bill, and I submit that we should discharge our function by deliberately extending the privilege to every Municipality which we may consider fit to receive it.

I have referred, Sir, in the course of my remarks, to the opinions of our President, whose absence from our deliberations we so much deplore. I am glad, however, to be able to say that I have reason to hope that, at our next meeting, we shall see him again in the Chair, and that he will have an opportunity in closing this debate, of declaring to the Council the broad and liberal views by which he has always been actuated in the consideration of this question of municipal reform.

The Hon. HARBANS SAHAI said:—I entirely agree with what has fallen from the Hon. Mr. Macaulay. I have only to refer to the recorded opinions just read by the Hon. mover of the amendment. He thinks that the present Municipal Commissioners and the general Public are one and the same body. I beg to inform the Council that it is nothing of the kind. The Hon. gentlemen relies on their opinion that certain Municipalities are not in a position to receive the boon of the elective system; but it should be remembered that the present Commissioners are the nominees of the Magistrate, and have been recommended by him as proper persons to be Municipal Commissioners; and the Government has simply complied with the nominations of the Magistrate. These gentlemen are afraid that, if this Bill is passed, they will be turned out; therefore, not only have they disapproved of the Bill, but they have tried their best to influence the opinion of the Magistrate in the matter. If it had been the deliberate opinion of the Public, or rather of the people, I admit it would have carried much weight. But if the present Commissioners were asked whether they thought the men, who are to be appointed in their place, will be proper and fit persons to be so appointed, it will only be natural for them to say that the men would not be fit men to become Commissioners. Could, therefore, the Council rely much on the opinions of the present Municipal Commissioners? And as regards the Magistrates, there can be only two opinions. In the first place, the Magistrates have naturally to consult the Municipal Commissioners, and they are much influenced by their opinion. Moreover, as Hon. Members are aware, in Mofussil Municipalities the sub-divisional officers and other Government officials are the Chairmen, and those officers and others employed under the Municipality must have strongly advised the Magistrate against the wholesomeness of the provisions of the Bill; consequently, much reliance cannot be placed on the opinion of the present Municipal Commissioners.

The Hon. KUMAR BOYKANTONATH DE said:—I do not see the necessity for the substitution proposed by the Hon. Mr. Beverley. When a Municipality is once declared by a notification as belonging to the first or the second Schedule (which is the object of the last clause of section 8 of the Bill), it will very easily be known whether the provisions of sections 14, 15, 16 and 24 are applicable to such a Municipality. I am therefore opposed to the amendment before the Council.

The Hon. MR. DAMPIER said:—I should like to explain, shortly, why I intend to vote for the amendments which are now before the Council. My opinion was, and is, that in deciding on the degree of municipal freedom to be exercised by any Municipality, the Executive Government should be left absolutely free to judge whether it will admit to full municipal freedom or whether it will impose restrictions. Whichever direction the Lieutenant-Governor may wish to take, he should have a level road before him. That principle I admit to have been rejected by this Council on my amendment. I understand the principle of the amendment before the Council now to be that the Council shall affirm that, subject to exceptions, every town which was a Municipality under the old law is qualified to exercise full elective freedom. As I have said, I do not agree to that view, but the Council having refused to accept my views, I come down to those of the Hon. Mover of the present amendment, and I vote for his amendment, which says that, exceptions apart, we acknowledge every such town to be qualified to exercise full municipal privileges; we throw the whole dead weight in favour of full privileges. If the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to restrict any Municipality in the exercise of such full privileges, he has to go uphill. If he does not act within six months, then the full elective system takes effect in each Municipality. I accept even this as something better than the principle of the Bill as it stands, which makes this Council undertake the classification of Municipalities according to degrees of privilege to be exercised; therefore I shall vote for the amendment.

I am not surprised that the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Macaulay) did not care to answer what I detained the Council so long in saying. It appears to me that he has not answered it in any single point, and as my amendment has fallen to the ground, perhaps it is not necessary to do so. But I should like to know whether I correctly heard the Hon. Member to say that in my speech I said that this Council had heard the last note of opposition sounded to the extension of municipal freedom.

The Hon. MR. MACAULAY.—What I said was that I hoped that the Council had heard the last note of opposition to the principle of the municipal franchise. I proceeded to point out that whereas the Hon. Mr. Dampier's amendment, which had been lost, adhered to the principle of the old Bill, he had abandoned that, and adopted the amendment of Mr. Beverley.

The Hon. MR. DAMPIER continued.—Taking the Hon. Member's sentence exactly as now put, I repudiate the position that anything I have said to-day can be construed into any opposition to the principle of municipal franchise. My dissent to the Select Committee's report, and my amendments, only raised a question as to the mechanism by which the applicability of that principle to individual cases shall be judged.

The Hon. Member mentions my connection with the Act of 1876. I say that, whatever he has been able to say to-day in favour of a further extension of the municipal system, is due to the development of that system under the Act of 1876. The reasons for imposing the restriction of section 16 of the Act of 1876 existed eight years ago, and I have said to-day that the reasons still exist in some degree. But I think that although the reason for caution exists, the particular way of being cautious on which section 16 of the Act of 1876 insisted has been found to fail, and that, therefore, it should be abandoned.

Then the Hon. Member has spoken about the anticipation of dreadful things which were to happen, and the terror which was felt by Members who wished to be cautious in our progress. On the present occasion, he has heard nothing from me to which such expressions can be applied, for I have studiously avoided using a single word of exaggeration, or anything which should have a sensational effect.

Much has been made by the Hon. Harbuns Sahai of the fact that the Lieutenant Governor, the Executive Government, might at any moment disenfranchise any Municipality. Has not there been other legislation in India on the subject of local self-government? Has any other legislature seen the force of this objection? Has Bombay, has the legislature passing the law for the Central Provinces, or any other Province? Has not the legislation for other provinces adopted the principle of leaving it to the Local Government to exercise the power of withdrawing privileges which experience may show to have been unwisely conferred? I speak under correction. I am not aware whether this is so or not.

Then the Hon. Member said that we have ample materials before us to judge as to the proper action in each case. I will again take Uterparah. Can it be said that we have sufficient materials here? Does not one of the contending parties pray this Council to call for the records of the Bengal Government in the Medical and Municipal Departments, where the question was fully discussed and considered, before taking upon itself to reverse the deliberate decision then arrived at by the Government as to the propriety of withholding the franchise? Which alternative is it? Is it that the records in question are already fully placed before this Council? Or is it the Lieutenant-Governor for the time being called for a number of unnecessary papers before coming to a decision on the subject?

One more point was this.—The Hon. Member, the mover of the amendment, has given a string of instances in which not only the local officers, but Muncipal Commissioners, have objected to the elective system being introduced. To these it has been speciously replied that the Municipal Commissioners are not the elect of the people, and, with somewhat l ss of delicacy, it has been said by the Hon. Member opposite (Babu Harbuns Sahai) that these gentlemen (I am putting a gloss upon his words) have not the independence and impartiality by which the coming men will be distinguished. Putting aside any considerations for the public good, they have, according to the Hon. Member, simply exerted themselves, not only by giving an opinion against the elective system, but by influencing the opinions of the local officials, to prevent the introduction of election so as to avoid being turned out of their places by the elected men. I would ask the Hon. Member what else we are to do to get at the opinions of the people? Do not these Municipalities, as a general rule, contain certain independent members? Have not the Government, as a general rule, added to its own servants, as Municipal Commissioners appointed by Government, several independent non-officials? Men of the very class who may expect to come in by election? And, if so, I ask whether municipal bodies so constituted are not the nearest approach available to us to ascertaining the wishes of any particular community concerned? If this is not the nearest approach to the expression of popular feeling, have Hon. Members who take the other view anything better to give us? If, in such and such Municipalities the Commissioners have voted against the elective system, can Hon. Members, who answer us by saying that the present municipal bodies consist of interested men whose opinions are worthless, say—"Here we lay before you now the real representations of what may be called reasonably the sense of that particular community on this point?" They have nothing of the kind to show us.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the further debate on the amendment be adjourned to the next meeting of the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 2nd February 1884.

Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

DURING the week ending 19th January 1884, births and deaths were recorded in the first class Municipalities in Bengal at the rates, respectively, of 25·4 and 26·9 per 1,000 against 23·4 and 26 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 12th January, indicating an improvement in the registration of both events, particularly of births.

(2) These events were recorded in the highest proportions in the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Bhagulpore ..	46·2	Burdwan ..	51·9
Burdwan ..	39 7	Purneah ..	48·5
Durbhanga ..	36·2	Suburbs of Calcutta	40·9
Gya ..	34·8	Gya ..	36 9
		Serampore ..	29 4
		Bhagulpore ..	29·0

(3) Referring to the principal death-causes, cholera is reported to have proved fatal at the rate of ·6 per 1,000 of population against the same proportion in the preceding week ; small-pox at ·9 against ·5 per 1,000 ; fever at 13·1 against 11·9 per 1,000 ; bowel-complaints at 4·2 against 4·3 per 1,000 ; injury at ·4 against ·2 per 1,000 ; and other causes at 7·7 against 8·5 per 1,000. The noticeable feature presented by these figures is that the mortality from fever had increased at a sensible rate.

(4) Of the above-named diseases cholera, small-pox, fever and the diseases classed under the head of "Other causes" were most fatal to life in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Howrah ..	2·0	Durbhanga	4·7	Purneah	45·0	Poori	19·3
		Gya	4·1	Burdwan	38·1	Suburbs of Calcutta ..	15·1
						Bhagulpore ..	11·8
						Dacca	11·7

(5) Under the heads of Sex, Class and Age the mortality stands as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ..	28·8	Christians ..	4 3	Under 1 year ..	192·6
Females ..	24·7	Hindus ..	25·5	1 and under 5 years ..	32·6
Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths ..	131	Mahomedans ..	30·9	5 and under 10 „ ..	15·0
		Budhists ..	24·2	10 and under 15 „ ..	14·9
				15 and under 20 „ ..	19·3
				20 and under 30 „ ..	17·0
				30 and under 40 „ ..	19·0

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 80 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of December 1883 aggregated maunds 3 86,555, as compared with maunds 3,49,889 carried during the corresponding period of 1882, and maunds 3,46,210 carried during the previous month, showing an increase of maunds 36 666 in one case, and maunds 40,345 in the other

Of the several increases and decreases the following are the most prominent ones and worthy of separate explanation :—

Increases.

Lime and kunker ... ... Mds. 4 645

Due to the building of a new Indigo Factory near Dooly, and to the Hajeepore Extension.

Piece-goods ... . Mds 5,243

The increase under this head is due to the stock in the local markets being exhausted.

Railway materials ... ... Mds. 18,389

Due to materials for Hajeepore Extension being worked up to Mozufferpore.

Salt ... . Mds. 47,275

The favourable rates now ruling in the Calcutta market having induced merchants to import largely.

Saltpetre .. .. Mds. 18,561

Due to the high rates at the port during the early portion of the month and the extension of the lime.

Decreases.

Coal ... ... Mds. 39,220

The completion of the Civil Courts at Motihari and Durbhunga, Moharajah of Durbhunga's palace, and the Eastern and Western Extensions of this Railway, accounts for this decrease.

Food-grains . ... Mds. 5,516

Due to the short crop this season.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 18,296

Owing to the gloomy prospects of the coming season and the consequent high prices likely to be ruling merchants are holding back, hence this decrease.

Traffic Superintendent.

LIBERALITY OF KUMAR GIRIJANATH ROY OF DINAGEPORE.

No. 364, dated Calcutta, the 7th February 1884.

From—COLMAN MACAULAY, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Munpl. Dept.,
To—The Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 280Mct., dated 23rd October 1883, and subsequent report, in which you state that Kumar Girijanath Roy of Dinagepore has expressed his desire to extend the drainage works of the town of Dinagepore at his own expense for the benefit of his fellow townsmen, and that he has deposited a sum of Rs. 5,000 in the Government treasury as a first instalment of the funds that will be required for the work. The total cost of the scheme is estimated to amount to Rs. 20,000.

2. In reply, I am directed to request that you will be good enough to convey to the Kumar an expression of the Lieutenant-Governor's satisfaction at this proof of his public spirit and liberality. The Public Works Department will be requested to make arrangements for conducting the preliminary surveys, and for preparing the detailed plans and estimates of the work without delay.

No. 280Mct, dated Darjeeling, the 23rd October 1883.

From—Lord H. Ulick Browne, Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Political Department.

I have the honour to enclose a copy of a letter No. 182, dated 16th October 1883, from Kumar Girijanath Roy to the Collector of Dinagepore, in which the Kumar expresses a wish to confer a gift upon his fellow townsmen in Dinagepore in commemoration of the Lieutenant-Governor's approaching visit to that station, the gift taking the shape of carrying out a system of drainage in the town. A copy of the Collector's memorandum, No. 451G, forwarding the Kumar's offer for acceptance, is also enclosed.

2. Government, in the Municipal Department, may remember that some years ago the Municipal Commissioners of Dinagepore were enabled by means of their own funds, by borrowing a further sum, and by obtaining a grant from Government, to carry out some works of main drainage. These have been beneficial to the health of the town, but have proved insufficient by themselves to remedy the unhealthiness of the station, and until, and unless, the whole of the town is drained on a scheme based on the main drainage works already effected, the full benefit of the latter cannot be obtained, nor can there be any reasonable hope of material and permanent improvement in sanitation. I consider that the Kumar's proposal is an excellent one, and that the carrying out of it is likely to result in his name being remembered with gratitude by his fellow townsmen in the future. I therefore recommend that his offer be accepted with the thanks of Government, and that a competent Engineer be deputed to take levels, examine the main system of drainage and the town, and draw up a complete scheme with plans and estimates for approval.

No. 182, dated Rajbari, Dinagepore, the 16th October 1883.

From—Kumar Girijanath Roy,

To—The Collector of Dinagepore.

I have the honour to inform you that, in commemoration of the visit of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, occurring as it does on attaining my majority and assuming the management of my estate, I am desirous of conferring a gift upon my fellow townsmen of Dinagepore I wish this gift to take the form of a lasting benefit to the town, and I am informed that the most useful boon which could be conferred upon the town would be the extension of the drainage system which already exists, and the thorough connection of the town therewith. I am therefore prepared to pay all the expenses which may be necessary to accomplish the object, and would feel much obliged if you could obtain the services of an Engineer from Government for the purpose of carrying out the scheme.

No. 451G, dated Dinagepore, the 19th October 1883.

Memo. by—A. C. Tute, Esq., Collector of Dinagepore.

Copy forwarded to the Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division. I have much pleasure in endorsing the request, and hope that an Engineer may be spared us to do the work well, which is worth doing.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY 1884

THE month of January in Bengal resembles in all its more important meteorological features the previous months of December and November The chief conditions are low temperature, considerable differences between the day and night temperature, a clear, dry atmosphere, and the prevalence of cool, light northerly winds The atmospheric condition usually begin to change at the end of January or the commencement of February. With the increasing elevation of the sun, the temperature begins to increase, and the thermal contrasts between land and sea becomes more marked These initiate the gradual change by which the northerly land winds are replaced by southerly moist winds, which begin at first feebly in the beginning of February, but gather increasing strength during the months of March, April and May, and culminate in the establishment of the south-west monsoon in the month of June.

The change usually commences first by the setting in of southerly winds along the West Bengal and Orissa coasts. They are at first very local and confined to the sea coast, and a narrow belt seaward and landward. They are usually not fully established until after a series of oscillations between the two sets of winds, the southerly and northerly winds replacing each other several times

The normal meteorological conditions of Bengal in January are thus very simple. The exceptions to these conditions, i.e, the atmospheric disturbances of the month, are almost entirely, so far as past experience indicates, due to what were termed in last month's report, north-east monsoon disturbances or storms These are rarely accompanied by strong winds or stormy weather, except in the hills They commence as areas of depression with the formation of cloud and with rain in the Punjab, and travel south eastwards or southwards into the North Western Provinces and Behar, or into the Central Provinces

These disturbances give rise to southerly and south-easterly winds in Bengal, and to damp, cloudy weather, and hence form brief periods during which the ordinary atmospheric conditions are completely changed.

Sometimes, but more rarely, from causes not only difficult to explain, but much more difficult to foresee, the barometer falls locally over Bengal This accompanies the formation of cloud and light rainfall. The cause in these cases appears to be vertical ascending motion of the air due to some more or less prolonged action.

The weather conditions of January are thus generally similar to those of December, with the one exception that disturbances due to bad weather or cyclonic storms in the Bay rarely, if ever, occur in January.

The average rainfall of the month is everywhere small in amount. It nowhere exceeds an inch, and barely averages half an inch for the whole Province. The amount is slightly greater in North Behar (for which it averages ·6″) than elsewhere, and is least in Orissa (for which it averages ·37″).

The chief features of the meteorology of the month (January 1884) were—

(1) Excessive pressure
(2) Decreased temperature.
(3) Greater dryness of the air than usual.
(4) Unusual steadiness of the cool northerly winds.
(5) An almost entire absence of rainfall.

Pressure was very light at the beginning of the month. It was ·06″ above the average during the first week, and ·1″ during the second week

Pressure then began to fall in connection with a disturbance in Upper India, which advanced slowly southwards into the Central Provinces. It was only ·04′ above the average during the third week, and was almost normal during the last ten days of the month.

Low temperature is usually (but not invariably) associated with high pressure, and is undoubtedly closely connected with it. This holds very clearly for the past month. Temperature was very considerably (from 1° to 5°) below the average during the first two weeks It increased during the last two weeks, so that, although it continued slightly below the average in Bengal and Orissa, it was above it by an amount which averaged 1° in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The mean temperature of the month was hence considerably below the average in Orissa (2½°), and slightly in Bengal (1°), whilst it was above it in Behar and Chutia Nagpur by amounts which averaged ½°.

The almost entire absence of disturbances in Upper India was an important feature of the month. Hence northerly winds were unusually steady in the Province during the month, and the humidity of the month was below the average, more especially in Bengal and Orissa The only important disturbance was that already referred to, which commenced in the Punjab on the 10th and travelled slowly southwards into the Central Provinces. The skies clouded over in Bengal and light showers fell in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and North Behar on the 17th or 18th. Showers also occurred in North Bengal on the 21st.

The rainfall of the month was very small in amount and only exceeded an average of one-tenth of an inch in Orissa (where it was ·12″).

The characteristic features of the past month have hence been the continuation of similar features in the meteorology of the past months of November and December, and are apparently related to the unusual weakness of the south-west monsoon current in September and October last year.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province, for the month of January 1884:—

Meteorological Office, Bengal,
The 11th February 1884.

John Eliot,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

THE returns of the first class Municipalities in Bengal, for the week ending 26th January 1884, disclose the following results :—

(1) That births and deaths were recorded in these Municipalities in the proportions per 1,000 of their population of 24·1 and 26·7, respectively, as opposed to 25·4 and 26·9 per 1,000, respectively in the preceding week ending 19th January, indicating a reduction in the registration of both events.

(2) That the highest proportions of births and deaths were returned from the undermentioned Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Comillah	46·2	Suburbs of Calcutta ..	40·3
Monghyr	38·0	Poori	40·7
Burdwan	36·6	Burdwan	39·7
Durbhanga	36·2	Midnapore	37·2
Chupra	36·1	Gya	33·5
Serampore	35·3	Bhagulpore	29·9

(3) That the mean mortality from the principal death-causes stands as follows, in comparison with the mortality during the preceding week from the same causes :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	26th January 1884.	19th January 1884.
Cholera	1·6	·6
Small-pox	·8	·9
Fever	11·8	13·1
Bowel-complaints	4·5	4·2
Injury	·3	·4
Other causes	7·6	7·7

The above figures denote that, in comparison with the preceding week, there occurred during the week under notice a sensible increase of mortality from cholera with a considerable decline in that from fever, the other diseases exhibiting only fractional variations.

(4) That referring to the death-causes above indicated, while injury and bowel-complaints were not noticeably severe anywhere, cholera, small-pox, fever and the diseases classed under the head of "Other causes" proved most fatal to life in the undermentioned Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Suburbs of Calcutta ..	6·0	Gya	3·4	Purneah ..	27·7	Poori	23·5

Gya ..	2·0					Suburbs of Calcutta ..	13·0
						Bhagulpore ..	12·7
						Midnapore ..	12·4
						Gya	10·9
						Dacca	10·4

(5) That the death-rates in relation to Sex, Class and Age were returned at the rates indicated below :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ..	27·5	Christians ..	26·1	Under 1 year ..	233·6
Females ..	25·7	Hindus ..	27·8	1 and under 5 years ..	24·6

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to few Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

≡ fog; ⌓ dew.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·5° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The month under review has again witnessed a falling off in the traffic as compared with the same month in the previous year. The total decrease amounts to 3286·30 tons, and is mainly contributed by the jute and gunny traffic. Against this is to be noted a favourable increase in salt, and a steady, though small, improvement in the tea and tobacco traffic.

INCREASES.

Ale ... ... Tons ·89

This is a fluctuating traffic. It is mainly dependent on the season

Food-grain ... ... Tons 278·22

This increase is in the downward traffic. Prices in the Calcutta market have advanced, and holders of stock evince an inclination to sell, now that the recent discouraging accounts of the scarcity of the new crop, owing to the continued draught, have been contradicted.

Railway material ... ... Tons 973·92

The total quantity of material lifted during the month was 3,169·09 tons, of which 1,885·23 tons was coal for the Locomotive Department.

Salt ... ... Tons 530·69

At this time of year any large increase in this traffic is due to favourable railway-freights and market prices, and the accessibility of the markets in the interior.

Sugar ... ... Tons ·33

There is nothing doing in this staple.

Tea ... ... Tons 31·59

During the month there has been a fair demand for Darjeeling teas.

Tobacco ... ... Tons 93·66

Though the close of the season, small quantities of Bispat and Pulu are still coming forward. Sample consignments of the new crop are expected early next month.

DECREASES.

Ginger ... ... Tons 19·63

I find, as transactions recorded in this staple in Calcutta, all price quotations are nominal.

Gunny-bags ... ... Tons 1,094·06

A partial cessation in the despatches of hand-made gunnies began in October, and it was explained in the report for that month that this was due to a scarcity of the raw material and its high price. These drawbacks still exist, and have considerably curtailed the industry.

Jute ... ... Tons 3,613·31

During the month under review both the demand for, and the price of, loose jute in the Calcutta market have declined Stock-holders in the interior are waiting for better prices, and an extensive traffic is therefore impossible.

Miscellaneous ... ... Tons 372·47

Under this heading used to be included numerous items of traffic, such as gunny, coal, &c., which are now shown separately: any fair comparison therefore with the previous year is impossible.

Piece-goods ... ... Tons 96·11

During the past three months large quantities of this staple have been coming forward, and this decrease is therefore not unusual. No improvement need be anticipated till the new year has fairly set in.

GOODS.

Although there has been a serious falling off in the receipts from one or two staples, notably wheat, the transactions of the month have resulted in a total net increase of 6,76,477 maunds in weight carried, and of Rs. 3,85,104 in revenue.

The staples in which there has been marked fluctuation in traffic are :—

INCREASES.

Grain and pulses (exclusive of rice) and wheat.
Coal
Saltpetre.
Opium.
Railway material, foreign.
Cotton.
Piece-goods.
Indigo.

DECREASES.

Wheat.
Salt.
Rice.

REMARKS.

Grain and Pulses.—An increase of maunds 4,02,580 in weight, and Rs. 92,250 in receipts, is accounted for by increased demand in various local areas owing to scanty rainfall last season.

Railway Material, Foreign.—The increase in the despatches of foreign railway material to Patna, Bareilly, Faizabad, and other places has amounted to maunds 3,17,490 in weight, and Rs. 1,69,790 in freight, and is due to the works on the Bengal and North-West and other Railways on the north of the Ganges and in Oudh being in course of active construction.

Coal.—In the downwards traffic there has been an increase of maunds 1,80,050 and Rs. 30,240, while in the up traffic a decrease of maunds 15,750 in the weight carried is covered by an increase of Rs. 2,860 in freight realized.

Cotton.—A brisk demand in the Calcutta and Bombay markets owing to an anticipated failure of the American crop has resulted in an increase of maunds 65,220 and Rs. 49,790 in this staple.

Saltpetre.—There has been a satisfactory increase of maunds 30,810 in weight carried, and Rs. 14,190 in freight on this article of commerce.

Piece goods.—An increase of maunds 15,670 and Rs. 20,130 is accounted for by a fair demand in up-country markets, principally for grey piece-goods.

Opium.—There has been an increase of maunds 11,190 and Rs. 16,450 in opium.

Indigo.—An increase of maunds 7,890 in weight and Rs. 7,720 in freight on despatches of this article.

DECREASES.

Wheat.—A serious falling off in this traffic to the extent of maunds 1,92,590 in weight, and Rs. 1,52,900 in freight, is due to an absolute want of demand in European markets and to unprecedented large stocks being on hand in English ports.

Rice.—There has been a decrease of maunds 1,44,880 and Rs. 9,530 owing to want of local demand for long distance traffic.

Salt.—An increase of maunds 23,570 in weight is neutralized by a decrease of Rs. 1,920 in receipts, which can only be accounted for by shorter leads.

Train mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal train mileage—

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

Saturday, 9th February 1884.

Present:

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, President.
The Hon. G. C. Paul, C.I.E., Advocate-General.
The Hon. H. L. Dampier, C.I.E.
The Hon H. J. Reynolds.
The Hon. C. P. L. Macaulay.
Colonel The Hon. S. T. Trevor, R.E.
The Hon. H. Beverley.
The Hon. W. L. Alexander.
The Hon. Harbans Sahai.
The Hon Mahomed Yusuf.
The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De.

POLICE EXPENDITURE (HOWRAH AND THE SUBURBS).

The Hon. Mr Reynolds moved for leave to introduce a Bill to regulate the police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta. He said:—The Municipal Bill which is now before the Council does not authorise the application of any part of the Municipal funds towards the payment of the Municipal Police. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons, which was laid before the Council with the first draft of the Bill, the question of police was referred to in the following words:—"Part V of the present Act, relating to Municipal Police, has been omitted from the Bill. Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta are the only Municipalities which have not already been relieved from the charge of maintaining the police force required for their watch and ward, and a separate Bill to meet the cases of these two Municipalities will be introduced hereafter." This is the Bill which I have now to ask the leave of the Council to introduce. It is impossible, upon financial grounds, for the Government to undertake to bear the entire expenditure of the police of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta. The expenditure on account of Police in the Suburbs is about one-and-a-half lakhs, speaking in round numbers, and in Howrah about half a lakh. Until recently, the Government has borne one-fourth of the cost in each of these Municipalities; that is to say, about Rs. 38,000 in the Suburbs and about Rs. 12,500 in Howrah. Lately, in consideration of the extra expenditure to be entailed on the Suburbs in the proposed extension of the water-works, Government have agreed to bear one-half of the cost in the Suburbs, and still bear one quarter in Howrah. Under the Bill which I have the honour to ask leave to introduce, it will be proposed that the Government shall bear three quarters of the cost in both the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs. That will raise the Government contribution to something like Rs. 1,15,000 in the Suburbs and about Rs. 37,000 in Howrah, leaving the balance of expenditure to be borne by those Municipalities. The Bill will be a very short one, and will be based simply upon Part V of the present Municipal Act.

The motion was agreed to.

EXTENSION OF LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The Hon. Mr Macaulay said:—I have the honour to move that the Hon. Mr. Beverley be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to extend the system of Local Self-Government in Bengal, in the room of Mr. Allen. I am glad to have this opportunity of saying a few words on the course which events have taken regarding this Bill since I had last the honour of addressing the Council on the subject. Hon. members are aware that, when the Bill was referred to a Select Committee at the close of last sessions, the scheme of control by a Central Board had been recommended to the Secretary of State by the Government of India. There was every reason to hope that sanction would soon be received, and that the opinions of the local officers upon the Bill might be received in time to admit of the Select Committee framing a report early in the current session. These hopes have not been realised. Early in August the Government of India communicated to us the refusal of the Secretary of State to sanction the scheme of a Central Board, and the Lieutenant-Governor was invited to consider a suggestion made by the Secretary of State to entrust most of the powers which it had been proposed to confer on the Central Board to District Committees presided over, at all events in the first instance, in most cases by the District Magistrate. The Lieutenant-Governor considered that there were objections to this proposal. He adhered to the view which he had previously expressed, that the efficient and independent working of the Local Boards would be endangered by the establishment of District Committees. He pointed out, moreover, that as it was admitted that some of the powers of the Central Board could not be entrusted to any local body, but must be reserved to Government, or at least to the Commissioners of Division, a District Committee constituted as proposed would be neither a working body nor a thorough controlling body. Again, the Lieutenant-Governor considered that the Chairmanship of the Magistrate would not be satisfactory either to the Committees or to the Magistrate himself; and he urged that the proper position of the Magistrate was outside and above the Local Boards, as controlling authority in the district, his duties being confined to advice, direction and supervision, and only in cases of necessity, and with the sanction of the Commissioner of Division, extending to initiation. He therefore proposed to adhere to the sub-divisional Board as the largest ordinary unit of administration, control being exercised, within precisely defined limits, by the Commissioner of Division, working through the Magistrate of the District, and certain exceptional powers being of course reserved to Government. These proposals were accepted by the Government of India, and recommended to the Secretary of State. We have now learnt, however, that the Secretary of State adheres to his scheme of District Committees presided over, at any rate in the first instance, in most cases by the Magistrate of the district. I propose therefore to invite the Select Committee to proceed at once to assist me in re-casting that portion of the Bill which relates to control, care being taken to leave the appointment of an official or a non-official Chairman of the District Committee to the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor. I hope that our report may be ready for the consideration of the Council within three weeks, so that the amended Bill may be published for general information before the close of this session. The opinions of the various officers of Government and of public bodies will then be invited, and I hope the measure will be passed into law early in the next session of the Council. I may add that the Secretary of State takes no exception to the general scheme of the Bill apart from the system of control. We shall, therefore, I trust, be able to provide for a large measure of initial independence to the Local Boards, and I should hope that there will be no objection to providing, as in the case of Branch Committees under the Cess Act, for Local Boards being in special cases declared independent of the District Committee. We should thus be able to give freer scope to such elected Boards as I hope to see established in Serampore, for instance, and Ranaghat.

The mention of elected Boards leads me to say a few words regarding Union Committees, which are to be the general basis of the system of election. The Lieutenant-Governor was anxious that no time should be lost in making the preliminary arrangements for the construction of Unions in selected sub-divisions, so that on the passing of the Act the ground might have been cleared for its practical application, and for the establishment of Local Boards on the elective constitution designed for them. In order therefore to secure both uniformity and despatch, he determined to intrust the supervision of the necessary proceedings, in communication with the local officers, to a special officer, and for this duty he selected Mr. Westmacott. The excellent manner in which Mr. Westmacott is discharging the duty entrusted to him will, I have no doubt, be acknowledged by Government in due course. I am glad to say, too, that the sub-divisional officers, notably Mr. Collier of Serampore, Mr. Ritchie of the head-quarters sub-division of Nuddea, and Baboo Ram Charn Bose of Ranaghat, have taken the keenest interest in the work, and have displayed great energy and ability in carrying it forward. Progress reports have been received, and, with the permission of the Council, I will read portions of them Mr. Collier says:—"With reference to the attitude of the educated classes, I am of opinion that it has been quite satisfactory. I have seen no signs of an attempt on their part to monopolize the power of election On the contrary, I have been struck by their evident wish that those persons who possess the confidence of the majority of the people should be elected. The theory of popular representation appears to be perfectly familiar to all classes. This is owing, no doubt, to the fact that such representation forms part of their ordinary system of managing village and caste affairs On the other hand, I have not found any disposition on the part of the educated classes to hold altogether aloof. They appear perfectly willing to serve if elected, and also come forward to vote." And again:—"The usual praise of a popular candidate is that he is 'a very straight man,' 'a very just man,' and so on. The ryots understand that the Committees will have certain sums of money to spend for the benefit of the community. They look upon the members elected as trustees on their behalf, and therefore are particularly anxious that they should be men whom they can trust. I do not mean to say that they lay no stress upon education and intelligence, but I think that what they look at chiefly is honesty and fairness. In my opinion, they are quite right. The electors are, I believe, very good judges of character. The men they have chosen are probably the best who could have been selected." Again—"From the lists already submitted, it will be seen that the representatives come from many classes. Zemindars, jotdars, medical practitioners, money-lenders and traders are about all, I think. The impression on my mind from the elections that I have held so far is that there is much more harmony among the various classes in the mofussil than I had previously supposed. One is always liable to be too much influenced by one's judicial experiences in such matters, forgetting that they are necessarily confined to the darker side of things. The representatives elected undertake the work quite willingly." Of the Kishnaghur sub-division of Nuddea, Mr. Ritchie says:—"All classes of the people have come forward as electors. The local zemindars have usually been present, and contingents both of the 'bhadra' and the 'chasa lok.' They (the educated class) have not held aloof at all. They appear to me to be in harmony with the people and to possess their confidence. I have found no difficulty in any case in reconciling the wishes of the common people with those of the educated classes." In Ranaghat the average number of electors present was nearly 65 for every hundred households. Mr. Westmacott concludes his report with these words:—"I think that the experiment has so far proved most satisfactory; that the rural population is really desirous of being represented by men in whose hands their interests will be safe; that they consider that there are such men among their substantial and respectable neighbours, and that these men are willing to undertake the management of local affairs for the public benefit." In a later report Mr. Collier, speaking of a very largely attended rural election, says:—"The contrast between these figures and those which represent the attendance of rate-payors at municipal elections is very remarkable. I am at present strongly inclined to the opinion that the explanation is to be found in the difference of the modes of election. The simple one, that of calling the people together and letting them choose their own representatives, is one which they understand, and which accords with their traditions, practice and modes of thought. The going up singly to a polling booth and recording their votes without any discussion is a method which is exactly the reverse. With the other system it is impossible not to observe that the people take not only a keen interest, but also a considerable amount of pleasure, in the elections." Now, Sir, I commend these results to the consideration of those who sneered at the system of Union Committees, and who told us so confidently that the people at large would take no interest whatever in the management of their village schools, roads and water-supply; who told us that no one but a few half-educated, penniless adventurers knew or cared anything about Local Self-Government; who told us that there could never, under any circumstances, be any sympathy or any touch between the educated classes and the agricultural classes in this country. I think these results show conclusively that in the Union system we have hit upon the very best means of interesting the people at large in the management of their own affairs, and of establishing a compact, intelligent, interested body for the election of members for the higher administrative Boards. I commend these results especially to the consideration of those who apprehend failure from the general extension of the elective system to Municipalities. We are told that the elective system has not succeeded in Serampore town. Yet we find that it has succeeded beyond all expectation in the rural Unions in the Serampore sub-division. Is the failure the fault of the people, or the fault of our administration of the system? In Serampore town, of course, we know that the circumstances have been special, and that the system has suffered simply from atrophy. It flourished with a household franchise. In 1880 the qualification of voters was raised to Rs. 4. The people at once ceased to show any interest in the matter by giving their votes in large numbers, for the simple reason that nine-tenths of them had no votes to give. The constituency was at one stroke reduced from about 7,000 to about 600. The system flourished before, and will flourish again, in Serampore, with a proper franchise. But we need not look only to places like Serampore and Burdwan. In them the elective system would naturally succeed. But look at the smaller Municipalities. They are at least as advanced, in Bengal at any rate, as these groups of villages, and if we find 60 per cent. of the villagers in Ranaghat sub-division coming forward to elect the members of these Union Committies to administer the affairs of their Union, is it not reasonable to suppose that, with a mode of election suited to their ideas and traditions, the rate-payers of the smaller Municipalities will take an interest in the election of the Commissioners to administer the affairs of their Municipality? Mr. Collier's last report opens up an important subject for the consideration of the local officers and Government in regard to the method of election. Meanwhile, I think we may congratulate ourselves upon the excellent results of what I may call this preliminary application of that part of the Bill which refers to Union Committees. I have now the honour to ask that the motion which stands in my name may be proposed to the Council.

His Honour the President said:—I wish to add for myself a few words to the remarks which have fallen from my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay on the subject. The question of introducing a Bill for Local Self-Government has naturally attracted the attention of the press and the public, and the Government of Bengal have been taken to blame for the delay which has occurred in introducing and carrying out this measure. It has been objected to us that, while the other provinces have received their measure, and passed Acts for carrying out this system, Bengal is still in the background, and there is nothing known as to what course the Government is going to take in the matter. From the observations which my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay has addressed to us, I think it is clear that, if there is blame, it does not attach to us. We have been in correspondence since the last session with the Government of India, and the Government of India with the Secretary of State, upon several of the important principles in connection with the measure, and I may add that the correspondence is not yet finished. We have not received the last despatch, which we understand is coming out from the Secretary of State. But we do know this, that while the Secretary of State has rejected our proposal for a Central Board of control, he has also gone further and adhered to a suggestion which he had previously made, that the system of Local Self-Government should have, in connection with it, District Committees, and that District Committees should, at the first starting of the measure at any rate, be under the presidency of the District Magistrate, and that the Magistrate should have the supervision of the Commissioner of the Division. That is the final decision of the Secretary of State, and is one which we can no longer contest. Now I do not regret the delay which has occurred in dealing with the question, because it clears the way for our consideration of the whole subject in the clearest manner. The Bill has been introduced into this Council, and has been referred to a Select Committee, and is now before that Committee. But the lines upon which the Bill was drawn will have to be considerably re-cast in deference to the views of the Secretary of State, and it will be for the Select Committee to consider in what form that re-casting should take place. The Hon. Mr. Macaulay has stated, and it is intimated in the despatch of the Secretary of State, that these District Committees should be rather Committees of control than Committees of administration. They are, in all cases nearly, to be presided over by the Magistrate of the district. I think it is quite open to the Select Committee, if they should think fit to do so, to consider whether there should not be an enlargement of that point; that is, while the Magistrate of the district should be at their head, whether they should not take upon themselves administrative duties in addition to duties of supervision and control If that should be sanctioned by the Select Committee, it will be for the consideration of the whole Council, after having had an opportunity of consulting the District Officers, whether that shall not form part of the Bill; that is to say, that District Committees should be, in addition to Committees of control, as well Committees of administration.

I also do not regret the delay myself, because we are now considering the equally important measure as regards Municipalities. I have every confidence that that measure will, if possible, be passed in February, and after it is passed a great deal will devolve upon the Executive Government and its officers in giving effect to the Act throughout the country. It will entail a good deal of time, consideration, and trouble, and I should be very sorry to have to bring into operation two Bills of that kind at the same time. If we can satisfactorily establish a wider and more independent system of municipal administration this year, and can see it established in all our districts, I think we shall have done very good work; and it will be very well to leave to the next session to finish the other Bill about Local Self-Government, because, with the Select Committee's report on it before the close of the present session, we can refer it to local officers for opinion, and next session be ready for its final consideration and disposal. We shall then have the advantage of seeing the system of Municipalities established this year, and ask you to take in hand the larger question of Local Self-Government next year. I should be sorry to have two such large measures in hand at the same time.

The motion was agreed to.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities.

The adjourned debate on the Hon. Mr. Beverley's motion to omit the last clause of section 8 and substitute the following in its stead was resumed :—

"Every notification declaring a town or village to be a Municipality shall specify (subject to the provisions of section 13) the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality, and whether or not the provisions of sections 14, 15, and 16, and of section 24, shall apply to such Municipality.

"Notwithstanding any such notification, the Local Government may at any time by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette extend the provisions of the said sections or any of them to any Municipality."

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said :—The division which was taken at the last meeting of the Council absolves me, I think, from the necessity of replying to a good deal of what has been urged by the two hon. members who have moved these amendments. That division may fairly be considered to show that a majority of the Council are in favour of the scheme of specifying certain municipalities in schedules appended to the Bill. Some arguments have been used in the course of the debate which seem to me hardly to require a serious answer. The hon. member whose amendment we are now discussing suggested if I heard him rightly) that the Bill was beyond the powers of this Council to pass, as being an encroachment on the prerogative of the Crown. The hon. member must surely have forgotten that the Bill only asks the Council to do for certain mofussil municipalities what it has already done for Calcutta. It is only in virtue of a vote of this Council that the elective system has been established in the Calcutta Municipality, and what the Legislature could do for Calcutta it can do for Dacca and for Hooghly. Then the hon. member on my left said that, on the analogy of the English Municipal Acts, the charter of incorporation ought to be granted by the act of the executive Government. Certainly; but what has the charter of incorporation to do with the election of Commissioners? The Municipalities which we are discussing have received their charter of incorporation already: those which may be created hereafter will receive theirs in the same manner. But putting aside these considerations, which I can scarcely suppose to have been intended to be taken seriously, I wish to say a few words in explanation of the course which the Select Committee have adopted, and I quite admit that such an explanation is due to those members of Council who were not Members of the Select Committee. We have been asked what principle the Select Committee has followed, and how far the particular recommendations we have made are in accordance with that principle, or with any principle at all. The object we have sought to attain is discussed and explained in the letter of the Government of Bengal, dated the 5th July 1882. That letter declares that the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared, as a rule, to extend the elective system to all first class Municipalities and all the larger Municipalities of the second class. It is remarked that "the law constituting and regulating Mofussil Municipalities has now been in operation for many years: the area over which such Municipalities exercise jurisdiction is limited and well defined: and the places at which such Municipalities have been established are generally centres of trade and population, where we may expect to find not only men of education and culture, but men who have gained practical experience of municipal administration under the system which has been in force during the last twenty years." It is expressly stated that "it is entirely the wish of the Lieutenant-Governor that the partial failures of past limited experiments should not be accepted by district officers as a sufficient reason for declining to extend the trial to other Municipalities." Then, with regard to the appointment of a Chairman, the letter goes on to observe that, "in the mofussil, the presence of the chief executive officer at the head of the Board has very frequently the effect of discouraging the free expression of independent opinion; and, though this may be materially altered by the working of the elective system, still there can be little doubt that the object of encouraging Local Self-Government would be promoted by the removal of this overshadowing influence, sufficient power being retained to compel the Commissioners to discharge their duty to the public, should they persist in neglecting it." These being the objects to be attained, there were three ways in which we might have sought to carry out our instructions We might have adopted the plan of the hon. member on my left, which allows the Government at any time to enfranchise or disfranchise a Municipality at its pleasure: or the plan of the hon. mover of the present amendment, which leaves the first decision of the matter with the Government, but declares that the decision must be made within six months after the passing of the Bill: or the plan adopted in the Bill, which leaves the question, as regards existing Municipalities, to be settled by the Legislature. We had no hesitation in rejecting the plan of my hon friend on the left. Such a scheme would not have been a scheme of genuine self-government at all: it was opposed to the orders of the Government of India, and it would have been little better than a fiction and a shadow. If we had adopted the Hon. Mr. Beverley's plan, we should have done so in the fullest confidence that the power thus given to the Lieutenant-Governor would be wisely, righteously, and liberally exercised But it appeared to us that this was a matter of principle, and that it was inconsistent with the objects which the Bill was intended to secure that the power of defeating its provisions should be left in the hands of any individual, even of the head of the Government itself. We therefore adopted the scheme proposed in the Bill, and we did so, as the Council has already been informed, with the full concurrence of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. The plan of specifying certain Municipalities in schedules was suggested, if I remember rightly, by the British Indian Association, and the precedent of the Embankment Act was referred to—a precedent which seems to me very applicable to the present case. Hon. members will perhaps recollect that certain schedules were annexed to the Embankment Act of 1873, and it was declared that such embankments as were specified in one of those schedules should be repaired and maintained at the expense of the Government, and that other embankments which might be taken over should be repaired at the expense of the zemindars concerned. It seems to me that this Council is as competent to decide whether the elective system should be introduced into certain municipalities as the Legislature was to determine whether certain Embankments should be repaired at the expense of Government. This, then, was the principle which the Select Committee followed, that the full elective system should be extended, by the action of the Legislature, to all the larger and more advanced Municipalities, unless in particular cases there was special reason for excluding them from the operation of the system.

Before I proceed to notice particular cases, I wish to glance at an argument which was put forward by my hon. friend to the left (Mr. Dampier). He said:—"You admit that there are circumstances which would make it undesirable to extend the elective system to certain Municipalities: what guarantee have you that those circumstances will not arise hereafter? You admit the existence of party spirit as one of those circumstances. How are you going to be sure that it will not arise when the elective system has been extended"? That is an argument which the hon. mover of the amendment which we are now considering (Mr. Beverley) is not entitled to use, because the difficulty, if there be a difficulty, is not met by his amendment; but no doubt the hon. member on my left is entitled to use it. I might think it sufficient to reply that the question has been disposed of by the division which has already been taken. But I do not wish to give such an answer. I would rather face the difficulty than attempt to evade it, and my reply to the hon. member would be this:—We hope with some confidence that Municipal Self-Government will of itself supply an education, the lessons of which will go far, not altogether to extinguish party spirit, but at least to prevent it from having any injurious effect upon municipal administration. I think I may say that that result has been obtained in Calcutta, and I should hope that it will be attained in the same way in the mofussil. But if our expectations are disappointed, the Bill provides such a complete system of control that the evils which my hon. friends seem to apprehend are not likely to arise. If party spirit makes a Municipality too inactive, the Government has power to apply the spur. If the tendency is in the opposite direction, the Government can use the rein. If party spirit has such an effect as to render the Municipality unable to perform its duties, the Bill gives power to suspend it altogether.

I now wish to refer to some particular examples which have been noticed in the course of the debate. I will first take the case of Utterpara, which the Hon. Mr. Dampier spoke of as a crucial example. [The HON. MR. DAMPIER:—I said it was an instance before the Council.] What are the facts as to Utterpara? It is a first class Municipality; a place of considerable wealth and importance, not a straggling collection of huts, but a compact town, with schools and dispensaries, and a public library; and it is inhabited by people of more than average intelligence and education. A priori, it is eminently fitted for the introduction of the elective system. It is quite true that the Commissioner of the Division has reported against the extension of the elective system to Utterpara. But what reason did he give? He said that the system would be a mere farce, because you would get exactly the same members by election as you would by nomination. If that shows anything, it shows that the elective system can be introduced into Utterpara without the slightest risk. But the hon. member said that the Council had before it a petition from Utterpara protesting against the introduction of the elective system there, and yet it was proposed to force this system upon the people.

[The HON. MR. DAMPIER:—I said that you are going to reject a decision of the Local Government on certain papers which were referred to in the petition, without knowing anything about it. There is a decision of the Local Government as stated in those papers. If that is so, then the Council, without having good reasons, are absolutely upsetting a decision which the Executive Government of Bengal have come to on a consideration of those papers.]

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS resumed:—The hon. member was careful to tell us that he attached no importance to such petitions, and that they are generally worthless. But it seems that when they are in accordance with the views he advocates, they are entitled to our respectful consideration. As to what has been said of the former decision of the Government, it must be remembered that the present Bill was not at that time before the Government, and I would remind the Council that, if we have one petition from Utterpara against the elective system, we have two others requesting us to give them that privilege; and all the petitions show is that there are two parties in the town, one of which wishes to have the system and the other does not, and we have been assured by the Commissioner of the Division that by the introduction of the elective system very much the same class of Commissioners will be elected as under the present system of nomination. It seems reasonable to assume that the two parties in the town will be represented among the elected Commissioners in much the same proportion as they are represented among the residents, and if so, the existence of these parties is no valid objection to the introduction of a system of election. Another instance referred to by the Hon. Mr. Beverley was the Municipality of Noakholly. Now the letter from Noakholly is for the most part an expression of the individual opinion of the Magistrate. It is tolerably clear that the Vice-Chairman, who is the only native Commissioner whose opinion is noticed in the letter, did not agree with the Magistrate in his view. And what was the main point of the Magistrate's argument? He said of Noakholly, just as we have already been told of Utterpara, that the result of the elective system would be the same as that of the system of nomination. Then let us take the case of Patna. Here we have a letter from the Magistrate saying that the majority of the Commissioners do not desire the elective system.

Hon. members have seen in the newspapers a telegram from that place, on which I do not desire to lay stress, as it is not officially before us, but I may remark that the only two Commissioners whose opinions the Magistrate quotes in his letter are both of them in favour of the system of election in Patna. Indeed, the Magistrate himself seems conscious of the weakness of his cause, for he goes on to say that he concludes the elective system will be introduced into Patna. I do not see how any other conclusion could be possible. If we are going to introduce the elective system anywhere in Bengal, it would surely be a monstrous thing that a great city like Patna, the capital of a large province, with a population of 175,000, and the centre of great wealth and commerce, should be thought unfit to have this system introduced in it. If the letter of the Magistrate had been the only expression of opinion on the subject, I should still have hesitated to agree that Patna should be excluded from the elective system. But that is not the case. There have been four public meetings held there, and at each of these there was a unanimous and very strongly expressed wish by those who attended that the elective system should be introduced. Then take the case of the city of Moorshedabad. We have a letter from the Deputy Magistrate, the officer in charge of the sub-division, deprecating th introduction of the elective system. My answer to that is the same as in the case of Patna, that it would be monstrous to exclude places like these from the elective system. Moreover, the Deputy Magistrate's only reason for his conclusion was that he was apprehensive that the elective system would prove to be unsuccessful. If this should be the case, the powers reserved in the Bill will enable the Government to deal with the matter. Then came Dinagepore. The Commissioners of that place only said that they did not approve of the universal introduction of the elective system. But the Bill, as it stands, does not propose to introduce the system universally. Then with regard to Durbhunga. We have two letters from Durbhunga. The letter from which the hon. member quoted was written on the first draft of the Bill. The later letter from Durbhunga approves generally of the Bill, and I do not see the smallest expression of opinion in it that Durbhunga should be excluded from the operation of the elective system. It is true that the Commissioners say that the Government ought to reserve the power to disfranchise any Municipality at its pleasure. If that is the opinion of the Municipal Commissioners of Durbhunga, I have the misfortune to differ from them entirely. It appears to me that the powers which this Bill proposes to confer on the Commissioners of a Municipality, are powers which ought to be exercised not durante bene placito, but quamdiu bene se gesserint; and this is the view which I hope the Council will accept and endorse. I do not intend to detain the Council further with particular instances, but I hope that what I have said, if it does not altogether remove the objections of the hon. mover of the amendment, will at any rate satisfy him that the Select Committee have not proceeded in that hasty and inconsiderate way in which he appears to think they have. In fact, if the Select Committee have erred, they have erred on the side of over-caution. Where there was any reasonable doubt whether a Municipality should have a place in the schedule they put it into the schedule, leaving it to any hon. member to move its exclusion. I should like to appeal to the hon. member whether, after this explanation, he will not withdraw his amendment and allow the Council to go on with the consideration of the Bill.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said:—Having watched the debate in the Council on the last occasion, and having read, amongst others, what the Hon. Mr. Macaulay said on the amendment under discussion, I fully agree with what has fallen from that gentleman, and I endorse every word of what he has said. It is not, therefore, necessary for me to take up the time of the Council at any length, but I desire it to be understood that the principle I advocate is that legislation on any subject should be as perfect and complete as possible, and that very little should be left unprovided for by it. A Statute should embody all rules, and meet all cases, unless it is a matter of detail upon which the Legislature has not at present complete information. With the permission of the Council I will read an extract (which I consider to be very relevant) from the debate on the Bill for the regulation of Coolies in Hill Municipalities:—

"The Hon. Mr. Dampier said that, before this Bill was referred to a Select Committee, he wished to draw attention to the definitions. They gave very broad powers to the Executive Government. A Hill Municipality might mean practically any Municipality in Bengal which the Lieutenant-Governor chose to say was a Hill Municipality. Then who were the coolies to whom, the provisions of the Bill might be extended?—"any person included within 'the classes of persons specified in an order published by the Local Government under section 4.' That was to say, putting an extreme case, that it was left to the Executive Government to declare that any person working for hire within any Municipality in Bengal might be brought under the Act.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said that he agreed with his hon. friend to the right (Mr. Dampier that there should be a definition in the Bill, which should not be left in such doubt and uncertainty as the term "holding" was left in another Act; in which a holding was defined as anything which the Magistrate choose to declare a holding. Another point was that the rates of hire should be fixed by the Act He thought that the persons upon whom the Act was to operate should have a right to be heard—a right to represent to to Council or to the Lieutenant-Governor by memorial their views on the subject. But if the power to fix the rates was left to executive authority, those whom the rates would affect would be subject to their operation without having had the right to urge their objections (if any) to their sufficiency or propriety.

His Honour the President said that the observations which had been made seemed to him to have very great force, because, personally, he should be very sorry to accept the responsibility either of defining what a hill coolie was or of taking other executive action in a matter which should properly and rightly be defined by law Therefore he hoped that the remarks which had been made would receive the careful attention of the Select Com-committee before the Bill was brought up for final consideration."

Now it cannot be said that the subject-matter of the present amendment, or that which preceded it, is such that this Council has not all the information which it should have in order to legislate upon the same on proper principles. Why, then, leave your functions to somebody else and transfer the responsibility from your own shoulders to those of others? If this were not so, it might as well be to have a single section in the Act empowering the executive to frame rules and alter the same and extend the principle or withdraw the same, as it thought proper In fact, the very necessity of legislation would be doubtful. But I go a step further, and submit that the Council, according to its very constitution, has advantages for providing for a subject which the executive has not. And if the result of the two processes had been the same, we should not have had the amendments that were proposed at our last meeting. It is apprehended that this Council might commit some mistake which it is necessary should be rectified. I have one further observation to offer, and that is this, that this Council should be expected to listen to the voice of reason in the same way as anyone else. If, therefore, it is really found out in course of time that anything done by the Council is not as it should be, proper steps might be taken to remedy the wrong; and if the wrong really exists, no one need give himself up in despair. What is the use of going into the matter in a half-hearted way? Why take away with the left hand what you give with the right?

The Hon. the Advocate-General said:—I did not intend upon this occasion to trouble the Council with any remarks of my own, because I thought, having duly considered the observations made by my hon. friend Mr. Dampier and my hon. friend Mr Beverley, that the principle on which this amendment was proposed had been fully understood; but seeing from certain observations that the principle has been entirely misunderstood, I think it right to say a few words on the motion. The proposition which the Hon. Mr. Dampier put forward was a very simple one. It was whether this Council is in a position, having sufficient evidence before it, to determine whether the schedule which has been annexed to the Bill is a proper one; or, in other words, whether the Council has sufficient evidence before it to declare that particular Municipalities, except those which are mentioned in the first schedule, shall come under the elective system. Is the evidence sufficient to justify us in taking the responsibility which will attach to us by declaring that all Municipalities, except those few specially excepted, should come under the elective system? Well, upon that subject the last speaker says we have before us all the evidence which the Local Government has. That is his opinion, and it may be he is right; but the hon. member certainly gave us no reason to suppose so. But the question still remains. The Hon. Mr. Dampier challenged the assertion that we have sufficient evidence laid before us, and the Hon. Mr. Beverley gave some very strong reasons to show that it is a question of grave doubt whether the elective system should be extended to all these Municipalities by this Council. The hon. member who spoke last says—and I quite endorse the opinion—that where the Council is in a position to accept the sense of responsibility, it would be cowardice on the part of the Council to shuffle it off upon the shoulders of the Lieutenant-Governor. But if, on the other hand, we have not got sufficient evidence before us, as I think we have not, it will be very wrong to assume a responsibility which more properly belongs to the Lieutenant-Governor, who has better opportunities of enquiry and before whom the parties who object to this schedule may be heard. With regard to Uttarpara, that is a notable instance; and while agreeing with my hon. friend Mr. Dampier that we should not attach too much importance to petitions, still it appears that there is a strong feeling on the subject there, demanding a careful enquiry. My views on this question have been already before the Council, and I cannot say that I feel at all satisfied with the arguments which have been urged against them. But the principle having been accepted by a majority of this Council, I will be very glad to do my very best to support the conclusion arrived at. We must, however, take care that we do not put into any Act matter as to the propriety of which we are not satisfied. If in this particular case we are not satisfied that there is sufficient evidence to enable us to say clearly that these Municipalities should be considered elective Municipalities, then it is our bounden duty to say we shall not insert them in the schedule Mr. Beverley's amendment is that the Lieutenant-Governor, who has an intimate knowledge of these Municipalities, and is in constant communication with those in favour or against the system of election, should be allowed to judge. Sufficient evidence has been produced by Mr. Beverley to show us that in 20 or 30 large Municipalities there is a great diversity of opinion. Petitions have been read asking that the system shall not be introduced into them. [MR. MACAULAY corrected the hon. speaker, saying that MR. BEVERLEY had not read any petition. MR. BEVERLEY said he had read extracts not from petitions, but from reports.] I meant reports, and there are many reports which are of more value than petitions. Of course I have the same opinion of petitions as my hon. friend Mr Dampier, but I think that they ought to put us on enquiry. The reports of officers who are on the spot are of great value, and we have reports from many persons who have come forward and told us that the elective system ought not to be introduced. In answer to that, the Hon. Harbans Sahai says that these are the cries of the very men who are going to be displaced. No doubt there is some truth in this remark. On the other hand, it is to be observed that although the hon. member's statement is one way of putting an argument, I cannot forget the fact that these are the men conversant with the working of Municipalities, whose opinions, however interested, should be respected until further enquiry is made. We are not bound to reject them. What do we now propose to do? We propose that the Lieutenant-Governor shall have the power to extend the elective system after full evidence is taken that the system should be extended in particular cases. That is all that we ask, and all that the Hon. Mr. Dampier referred to. I think it would be unnecessarily taking up the time of the Council to say anything more on the subject. I must ask hon. members to weigh carefully and consider well the arguments put forward by the Hon. Mr. Dampier, and, so far as I have been able to judge of the debate, it does not appear to me that those arguments have been met by the hon. members who have spoken

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said that as he spoke at the last meeting on the motion before the Council he had no right to speak on the present occasion, but he would ask His Honour the President whether there was any means by which he could place before the Council the telegram which had been referred to by the hon. member in charge of the Bill.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said he did not think there was any objection to the hon. member reading the telegram which he had received, with the permission of the Council.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY, with the leave of the Council, then read the telegram, which was as follows:—

"The Municipal Commissioners of Patna—26, of whom 10 are officials—we, 11 non-officials, are strongly of opinion that the Patna Municipality is quite ripe for elective franchise Khodabux, Sukhraj Bahadoor, Alihassan, absent, but joined election meetings; Nawab Valayet Ali presided at a public meeting, where the election was unanimously resolved, and no meeting of Commissioners ever was held to discuss this question. Chairman's note, quoted by Mr. Beverley, is unknown to us. Please read this in Council. We could not consult others."

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL asked whether the telegram which had been read was in answer to any communication which had been made to the persons who had sent the telegram.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said that it was certainly not the case. He had made no communication whatever to the parties. He had received the telegram, and was asked to read it to the Council.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said that from the course which hon. members had taken in not speaking to his amendment, though they addressed themselves to the arguments which he had brought forward in the course of their speeches on the Hon. Mr. Beverley's amendment, he had no opportunity of answering what he had been said against his own motion.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY reminded the Hon. Mr. Dampier that he had spoken immediately after MR. MACAULAY at the last meeting and had endeavoured to answer him.

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY said:—Sir, at the last meeting of the Council we were informed that, although the idea of appending the Schedules to the Bill was adopted by the Select Committee deliberately and of its own motion, that idea nevertheless had the concurrence of the head of the Government. That was, of course, Sir, before you had heard what was to be said on the other side. You are now aware, Sir, that several members of your Council are opposed to the schedules, and I am sure they may rely on your considering the question on its merits, after weighing the arguments urged on either side, and without feeling yourself bound in any way by any opinion you may have expressed before this debate took place.

I regret that it should be necessary for me again to repeat that I am in no way opposed to the elective system, or possessed by that vague terror which the hon. member opposite [Mr. Macaulay] has attributed to me The hon. member knows as well as any one that my amendments in no way trench upon the principle of the Bill, and that his arguments tend to raise a false issue, and to divert attention from the real point of the controversy. That point, Sir, is simply this: the Bill as presented by the Select Committee recognises the two principles of—(1) election of a majority of the Committee, and 2) election of the Chairman; but it says that these principles cannot be universally introduced at present, and that there must be exceptions in both cases, i.e., Municipalities which are not as yet to elect their Commissioners, and Commissioners who are not as yet to elect their Chairman. And a slender majority of the Select Committee wish to impose upon this Council the responsible and perhaps invidious task of saying what Municipalities shall be thus excepted. We, on the contrary, say that, if there must be exceptions, it is for the Local Government to decide what they shall be. We say that such exceptions must necessarily depend on local circumstances and peculiarities of which this Council has no knowledge. We say that the Government has its local officers and local reports on which it can act; while the information before the Council is of the most meagre description. My hon. friend says that the extracts I read to the Council at the last meeting prove how ample and copious is the material at our disposal. But the hon. member knows better. He must be aware that the information before the Council on this point is of the most meagre character, and that, as regards the fitness of the majority of the present Municipalities to exercise the franchise, this Council has absolutely no information at all. This great bundle of papers consists mainly of criticisms on other points in the Bill, and not of reports as to the fitness of the various Municipalities to elect their own Commissioners or their own Chairman. Some opinions on that point there are; but they are, so to say, sporadic, scattered here and there, and wholly insufficient to enable this Council to come to an opinion on the point. As regards the great majority of Municipalities, I repeat the Council has absolutely no information whatever.

This, then, is the first ground we take; but we go further and say that, even in cases where the local opinions have been laid before us, the Select Committee have not been guided by them. Now, if local opinions and local reports are not to be our guide, I would ask in all humility, upon what is this Council to rely in framing these schedules? The hon. member himself was forced to admit that the Council must be guided by these local reports; but when the reports do not happen to chime in with his own views, he gravely proceeds to discredit his own witnesses. When the present Municipal Commissioners, the nominees of Government, express a deliberate opinion that any place is unfit to exercise the franchise, the hon. member insinuates that they oppose the measure because they apprehend it will lead to their own extinction. Sir, I feel sure that my hon. friend was not speaking seriously when he made this imputation.

I now pass on to the remarks of the hon. member in charge of the Bill, and if I understood him aright, he disputes the position that the opinions which I quoted were the opinions of the Municipal Commissioners. In that case I must ask hon. members to refer to those reports again. The Magistrate of Noakholly says that he explained the Bill very carefully to the Municipal Commissioners, and that they were of opinion that Noakholly should be entered in the schedules. The Chairman of the Patna Municipality distinctly writes:—"To the majority of the Commissioners the introduction of the elective system does not commend itself." The Chairman of the Moorshedabad Municipality gives the opinion of five out of six Commissioners, and distinctly says that he himself expresses no opinion. As regards Dinagepore, I see that in March last the Commissioners were of opinion that the elective system might be introduced into that town. That opinion was overlooked by me. The opinion quoted was that expressed at a subsequent meeting in April. The later letter from Durbhungah, to which reference has been made, does not touch the question as to the fitness of that place for the enjoyment of the franchise. It is quite immaterial to my argument whether these places are or are not fit; I simply say that in these cases, amongst others, the Select Committee have not acted on the opinions before us.

Sir, it seems to me that our difficulties will only have begun if the Council accepts the task of framing these schedules. On the last occasion I pointed out, not only that local opinions had been ignored by the Select Committee, but that, if there was any principle apparent in the schedules, it was a principle qualified by numerous exceptions. My remarks mainly had reference to Schedule I. They are also applicable to Schedule II. It might be supposed that, when all the Commissioners are appointed by Government, they might safely be left to elect their own Chairman. Of the twenty-one places in Schedule I, however, in eleven only are the appointed Commissioners to be allowed to elect their own Chairman, while the other ten are entered in Schedule II. And on what principle? Apparently the backward, out-of-the-way towns are to be allowed to elect their Chairman; while at sudder stations and sub-divisions, where there is a Magistrate on the spot to watch and control the work of the Municipality, the Commissioners are not to be allowed to elect their Chairman. If this is the principle adopted, it is scarcely one that will commend itself to this Council. It is with no little confidence, then, that I ask you, Sir, and this Council, to accept my amendments and leave to the Government a task which properly belongs to it, and which it is far better qualified to discharge. Why should the Council seek to tie the hands of Government in this matter? Why should the Government wish to tie its own hands? The work of this Council, Sir, I take it, is to assert the general principle, and to leave it to the Local Government to qualify that principle as it may see fit, giving to it the necessary powers for that purpose.

His Honour the President said:—I am glad to be able again to preside in this Council to take part in these discussions, and I am specially glad to do so in connection with the important measure which is now engaging our attention. The amendment which the Hon. Mr. Beverley has put forward is one which affects an important principle of this Bill, and though he has on his side the fact that the Bill as originally framed left to the Government the full discretion of saying which Municipalities ought to have the elective principle, and which Municipalities should enjoy the privilege of electing their own President, and though I see the hon. member is supported in his views by a great many officers with large local experience, I have no hesitation in saying for myself that I accept the position which the Select Committee have adopted in this matter. And I may be allowed to add that it was at my own instance that the basis on which the schedules were framed has been somewhat enlarged, and a considerable addition has been made to the Municipalities which should be excluded both from the first and the second schedules, of the Municipalities which have the right of election of Commissioners, and of the Municipalities in which the Commissioners would have the right to elect their own Chairman. Of course it may be said that the granting or withholding these full elective privileges is not exactly the point on the present occasion, and those who support the hon. member in this amendment may not without reason urge that, while they would like to see the extension of these privileges made as wide as possible, and while they do not grudge the concession, and are in favour of the principle, the point which they contest is that the right should not be definitely conferred by the Bill, but should rather be left to the discretion of the Government, which would be in the best position to say which Municipalities should have and which should not have full privileges. I understand the argument to be that the grant of full elective privileges once conferred would be almost irrevocable; and if that fact is so, it may have the liability of placing the Government in a serious difficulty, and bringing discredit upon municipal administration. I fully recognise that there is some force in this argument; but, notwithstanding that, the advantages on the side of a definite declaration by law of the position of Municipalities in respect to their elective privileges are in my opinion greater and should prevail.

I will now proceed to give briefly my reasons for this conclusion. I have had the great advantage, which all the members of this Council have not enjoyed, of personally interviewing the leading members of most of the principal Municipalities in the province, and in the course of my tour during the last two seasons I took the special opportunity of convening meetings at every place to which I went, and, in conference with the principal members of the Municipality and the leading gentlemen of each station, of discussing the leading points and principles of the measure which we are now considering; and I have no hesitation in saying that in the large majority of these instances, though I admit there were some exceptions, the members of the Municipalities with whom I had conversation clearly wanted the concession of the points on which we are now dealing in this amendment. It was natural for me to ask those who put forward these requests, especially as to the right of election, "why, when you have the power in your present law of obtaining the right of election by petitioning for its introduction, did you not take advantage of that provision of the law to bring the system of election into force into your own stations" The reply was reasonable, and I think not unsatisfactory. They said:—"The law may allow it under certain conditions and restrictions, but they are of a character which it is almost impossible to fulfil, because we have to get the signatures of two-thirds of the rate payers before we can even ask the Government for the concession. The getting of these signatures in a place like Patna or Dacca involves great delay of time and much trouble, and any new matter like this requires a great deal of explanation to the people; and after all, when we have gone through all this trouble to secure a certain number of signatures, we may not get the concession at all. But now that the Government is going to pass a Bill on a broader basis, we should like to have the privilege of election, and also the other privilege of allowing the Commissioners to elect their own Chairman" It comes then to be considered how this power should be given, and this brings me to the amendment which my hon. friend Mr. Beverley has moved I confess that for many reasons I prefer to give this power at once by definite enactment to all but the most backward of our Municipalities. It is admitted by the strongest opponents of the section of the Bill under consideration that the Government in this matter should be in advance of the country. Yet it seems to me to be just the contrary, for after what has been stated as the general wish of the people as proved, too, by the references made to the subject by the Press, the country would appear to be somewhat in advance of some of the leading members of this Council. Now we want in many places the very relief which this Bill would give to our overworked Magistrates and Collectors in charge of districts. In almost every district in the province it has been found necessary to have new buildings and additions to the cutcherries and other public places on account of the increase of departments to give room for work. In some districts, where they have not been so lucky as to get an allotment from the Public Works Department, the court-houses are so crowded as to make it necessary to utilise even the verandahs for office purposes, and extreme inconvenience is caused to the transaction of business. That was another form in which it was brought strongly to notice that the burden of work is rapidly increasing, and that relief would be welcomed. The principle of these schedules is certainly such as I should like to see adopted, namely, that we directly should confer this privilege of election of Commissioners, and the privilege of election of their own Chairman by the Commissioners, in all Municipalities in sudder stations, and in all the principal sub-divisions. For, after all, having regard to the fears expressed respecting failure and disasters, what is it we are conceding to the rate-payers? the right of electing those who should represent them in municipal administration; and what to the elected Commissioners? the right of electing their own Chairman. It does not strike me that there is anything very revolutionary in that, or even that it introduces very large changes. In practice, I believe, although I may be wrong, the result will be that in most places, even if the right of electing their own Chairman was conceded, the Commissioners, in the first place, will be glad to get the assistance of the Magistrate or of some Government officer to preside at their discussions and deliberations, and thus there will be very little change in the present system. The argument put forward this morning by the hon. Mr. Beverley is that you are wrong to do this, because a great many Municipalities and District Officers and Commissioners of Divisions have declared themselves against it. Well, I think I may fairly contend against this argument, that there is a provision in the Bill by which, if any of the Municipalities to whom we tender these privileges do not desire to accept them, they may absolve themselves of the burden. It will be quite competent under the 15th section of the Bill as it is proposed to be amended, for any Municipality which does not desire to adopt the system, to refrain from electing Commissioners, and then the Government would exercise the power of nomination. Similarly, if the Commissioners did not proceed to elect their own Chairman, the Government would nominate a Chairman. So that I say that those Municipalities which have been brought forward as hostile to the principle of the measure, if they are still of the same mind and wish not to have election in any form, can by a very simple process relieve themselves of it. Allusion has been made to a certain Municipality which has strongly represented by petition their disinclination to adopt this principle. I would refer to two Municipalities myself, which I am glad to see have still been excluded from the first and second schedules. One is Monghyr and the other Dinagepore, where, during my stay, a memorial was read to me by the existing Commissioners saying "we are perfectly satisfied with the present state of things, and do not wish for any change regarding it." I took occasion at Dinagepore to say, after some conversation with gentlemen on the subject, that I had greater confidence in their diffidence than I had in a great many other places where they were anxious to obtain an immediate and absolute independence. Dinagepore and Monghyr are both sudder stations and the capitals of their districts. They are fairly large towns and centres of comparative wealth and intelligence; and I have little doubt they both contain constituencies quite capable of exercising the privilege of electing their own municipal representatives. I think they should have the option of choosing for themselves in the matter. But whether they accept it or not is not much to the point. We have safeguarded the measure from negligence and failure by providing an efficient system of outside control, and now the fullest responsibility of carrying out the new system rests in their hands. We have for nearly thirty years had municipal administration, in one form or other, in Bengal. We have been able during that time to see the growth of these institutions, and we may affirm of the gentlemen who are Municipal Commissioners, that in the manner of doing their business they have realised the responsibilities which attach to the position of Municipal Commissioners. Considering we are going to adopt the system in large places only, where there is a Magistrate or Sub-Divisional Officer on the spot, and have safeguarded the exercise of the powers under the Bill by a proper and efficient control, we need have no hesitation in all these places to confer the privilege, not by the uncertain and discretionary will of the Government, but by the positive provisions of law. We cannot expect sudden and great improvement, but in five years, as in the case of the Calcutta Municipality, we shall, I think, be able to congratulate ourselves that we did not do anything to prejudice the measure of independence in the constitution of the Municipalities to which this discussion refers. And as regards the success of the general scheme of Municipal Self-Government, our hope is that Municipalities which have accepted it will loyally come forward to give effect to the confidence which has been reposed in them. I am willing to give them that confidence, believing that, when they accept it, they will accept it under a right sense of their responsibilities and duties. I shall therefore oppose the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley's motion was then put to the vote and declared by the President to have been lost.

A division having been called for, the following votes were recorded :—

Ayes.—4.	Noes.—7.
The Hon. Mr. Alexander.	The Hon. Boykantonath Dé.
The Hon. Mr. Beverley.	The Hon. Harbans Sahai.
The Hon. Mr. Dampier.	The Hon Mahomed Yusuf.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.	Col the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
	The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
	The Hon. Mr. Reynolds.
	The Hon. the President.

So the motion was negatived.

Section 8 was then agreed to.

Section 9 having been read—

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that at the end of the section the words "or village from the operation of this Act" be omitted, and the words "village or land from the operation of this Act, or alter the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality" be substituted for them. He said that the introduction of the word "land" was rendered necessary by the language of section 12. As to the rest of the amendment, he had already pointed out, when presenting the report of the Select Committee, the material difference between this section of the Bill and the existing Act. Under the present law, the Government was empowered, of its own motion, to alter the limits of a Municipality, or to withdraw a place altogether from the operation of the Act. The section as it stood allowed this to be done only on the recommendation of the Commissioners in meeting, and this change was in accordance with the resolution which had already been carried. Then, though the number of the Commissioners might be fixed by Government, yet, if the Municipality were subsequently sub-divided or considerably increased in area, it would be proper to allow of an alteration of the number of the Commissioners. The section, as it was proposed to be amended, would give the Government the power of making such an alteration, if the Commissioners in meeting recommended this to be done.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De said, with reference to the amendment proposed, that he thought the addition of the words "or land" after the word "village" was a happy suggestion. It not unfrequently happened, while defining the limits of a Municipality, or revising the same, a portion of land, belonging to any village within such Municipality, was excluded from its boundaries. The amendment was therefore quite acceptable so far as the local limits were concerned.

As regards the latter portion of the amendment proposed, namely, "or alter the number of the Commissioners of such Municipality," he begged to point out that section 9 dealt with the local limits of a Municipality, and was not therefore the proper place where an amendment on a different subject could be introduced. The hon. member had also proposed to add similar amendments at the end of clauses 1 and 2 of section 13. His proposed amendment to section 9, with reference to the power of altering the number of Commissioners, would not only be superfluous, but also wrongly placed; he could not therefore accept the latter half of the amendment.

The HON. HARBANS SAHAI considered the proposed amendment right. He did not think the hon. member who had just spoken had seen the effect of the amendment in section 13. The amendment to section 13 anticipated that the amendment now before the Council had been made

The amendment was then carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Sections 10, 11 and 12 were agreed to.

Section 13 having been read, the following amendment, moved by the HON. MR. REYNOLDS, was agreed to:—

To add the words "or by any subsequent notification under section 9" at the end of clauses 1 and 2 respectively.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER withdrew the amendments to section 13, of which he had given notice. He did so because his amendment on section 8 having been negatived, these amendments fell with it

The section as amended was then agreed to.

Section 14 having been read, the HON. MR. REYNOLDS said it had been brought to his notice in connection with the wording of section 1, and the wording of the subsequent section 25, that the expression "take effect from" might be liable to be misunderstood. He therefore moved to omit the words "take effect from" in paragraph 2 of section 14, and to substitute for them the words "be deemed to have been made on."

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 15 having been read, the HON. MR. BEVERLEY withdrew the amendments on this section, of which he had given notice.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS the word "such" before "election" in paragraph 1, line 11, was left out.

The HON. HARBANS SAHAI, on behalf of Baboo Chunder Madhub Ghose, withdrew the amendments on this section, of which notice had been given by the last-named member.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER moved that the last proviso of the section be left out, and the following be substituted for it:—"No person who is not entitled to vote at the election of Commissioners shall be deemed qualified for election to be a Commissioner of such Municipality." He explained that the object of the amendment was merely to explain more correctly what he thought was the intention of the section. He understood that the amendment was accepted by the hon. member in charge of the Bill

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 16 having been read—

The HON MR. REYNOLDS moved that this section be omitted, and the following substituted for it:—

"The first election of Commissioners under this Act shall take place at such time, not being more than six months after this Act comes into force, as the Local Government shall direct.

If the persons entitled to elect Commissioners for any Municipality fail, within the time appointed for the first election under this Act, or for every subsequent election within the time prescribed by the rules mentioned in the last preceding section, to elect the whole number of Commissioners allotted for election to such Municipality, the Local Government shall appoint one or more Commissioners to complete the number so allotted as aforesaid."

He observed that, as had been pointed out, the section as it stood in the Bill was incomplete in not specifying when the first election should take place. He thought that that might have been provided for under rules to be framed under section 15, but on consideration he agreed with his hon. friend Mr. Beverley, to whom he was indebted for bringing the matter to his notice, that some specific date ought to be prescribed to declare when the election should take place.

His Hon'ble the President remarked that the only question was whether the period of six months was sufficient to allow the Commissioners to make up their minds to adopt election.

The Hon. Mr Macaulay observed that it was not at all improbable that the preliminary discussions might be prolonged, and if the Local Government had not decided what the rules were to be, it would be hard upon the Municipality that it should be deprived of the privilege of election. He suggested that the word "may" be substituted for "shall" in the second clause.

After some conversation, this proposal was agreed to, and the Hon. Mr Reynolds' motion, as so amended, was put and carried.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds withdrew the amendment, of which he had given notice, to insert the words "the rules mentioned in" after the word "by" in line 4 of the section.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier moved that the following clause be added to the section:—

"The persons entitled to elect Commissioners shall be deemed to have failed to elect, as required by the above clause, whenever the number of persons who have voted at any election is less than two hundred."

or some clause to that general effect.

He said that he had in his speech laid some stress upon the point that he feared that, under the name of entrusting Local Self-Government to the hands of the elect of the people, the Government would be running the danger of entrusting it to persons who could not within any reasonable stretch of the term be the elect of the people concerned. Three thousand inhabitants was the minimum number to constitute a municipality under the Bill, and he had accordingly in this amendment provided that the election should not be accepted if it was a mere travestie of an expression of the governed masses who were not within what he might call the governing class. He asked the Council to consider this point from a practical point of view, with reference to the circumstances of the country, and the possibility of a so-called election being represented by the registration of the votes of no more than a score of voters even in a large Municipality.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds said he did not think the Council should accept the amendment, because he did not see that it was at all necessary to provide for a minimum number of voters. Of course an election by 200 people in such a place as Patna or Dacca would not be an adequate expression of public opinion: but Municipalities differed greatly in population, and, if any amendment was adopted at all, it should be by way of percentage rather than of any absolute number.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay asked whether the Hon. Mr. Dampier had considered the question with reference to the previous sections. He had told the Council that the minimum number of inhabitants to constitute a Municipality was 3,000. On an average of five persons to each house, that would give 600 houses. The franchise was the payment of Re. 1-8 per annum in taxes, and this would exclude many householders. How many, it would be difficult to say: but he might mention, as bearing generally on the question of the average rate, that the Commissioner's report showed that out of 28,963 rate-payers in the Municipality of Patna, no less than 26,766 paid less than 4 rupees a year. Mr. Macaulay thought that, if any amendment in the direction proposed was adopted, it should be in the form of a proportion of those qualified to vote. He would point out, moreover, that the section was designed to provide not for the annulment of an election, but for the supplementing of it. It referred to cases where the rate-payers should not elect "the whole number of Commissioners allotted," and provided for Government appointing Commissioners "to complete the number." Such an amendment, therefore, should in any case be thrown into a separate section. But he could not see any practical advantage in any amendment of the kind.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai was opposed to any limitation of the kind proposed at present.

His Honour the President said, if there was a difficulty in adopting the amendment, it might perhaps be met by the rules to be passed to regulate the elections, but he did not know whether it would be consistent with the Act to provide by rule that a certain proportion of the population must vote. If the matter was left to be determined by rule, the Government would then be in a better position to consider the question.

After some further conversation the motion was put and negatived.

Section 16 as amended was then agreed to.

Section 17 having been read—

The Hon. Mr. Beverley withdrew the amendment on the section, of which he had given notice.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf also withdrew the amendment, of which he had given notice.

The Hon. Boykantonath De moved to add the words "or to transfer the same to the second schedule" at the end of the second paragraph.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he understood the proposal to be that, when power was given to the rate-payers to elect their own Commissioners the Government might at the same time transfer the Municipality to Schedule II, thus reserving the right to appoint the Chairman. He had no objection to the adoption of the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay remarked that the two things were distinct—one was the election of the Commissioners, the other the election of their own Chairman by the Commissioners. He would suppose the case of a Municipality working under an elected Chairman for a series of years. The rate-payers were at length allowed to elect two-thirds of their Commissioners. Yet the arrangement regarding the Chairman was to be simultaneously upset. Why should a nominated Chairman suddenly become a necessity? He could not understand why, after the Government had decided to allow the election of Commissioners, it should withdraw the right to elect the Chairman.

The Hon. Boykantonath De, by leave, withdrew the amendment.

Section 17 was then agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley withdrew the motion, of which he had given notice, for the introduction of a new section after section 17.

Section 18 having been read, the Hon. Mr Reynolds moved that it be left out. He said the section was rendered unnecessary by an amendment which would come later on, and of which he had given notice.

The motion was agreed to, and the section was accordingly left out.

Section 19 was agreed to.

Section 20 having been read, the Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved that the section be left out. He said that the section empowered the Government to remove any Commissioner for misconduct in the discharge of his duties, or disgraceful conduct. He thought that the words used were of such a general and vague character as to render it unadvisable to retain them. In moving the omission of the section, he did not intend to imply any want of confidence in the Local Government, but there might be cases in which the words of the section might be strained and injustice worked under them.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said that the only remark he should make on the motion before the Council was that it was tantamount to the substitution for this section of another section, providing that of whatever misconduct in the discharge of his duties a Commissioner may be guilty, however disgraceful the conduct which may have been brought home to him, there should be no power which would be able to remove him from the body of the Commissioners.

The Hon Mr. Reynolds said he could not accept the amendment. The section was merely a reproduction of the existing law, although perhaps the wording was open to criticism. The wording of the section was much discussed in 1876, when he was a member of the Council, but the present form was ultimately adopted, and he was not aware that any practical reasons had ever been brought forward for omitting or altering it.

The Hon. Boykantonath De said :—He was of opinion that it would be repugnant to the very principle of the Bill to arm the Local Government with the power of removing a Commissioner on a charge of misconduct, or disgraceful conduct. These words would admit of different degrees of interpretation. A Commissioner might be too independent or too assertive, or may sometimes lose his temper, and was he to be removed on a charge of misconduct, or disgraceful conduct? A Commissioner should be removed only when he was guilty of moral depravity, and when such a charge against him was proved in a Court of Justice. Sections 21 and 56 of the Bill provided for the disqualification of Commissioners under certain circumstances, and contained, he submitted, the necessary provisions on the subject.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds reminded the Council that it was only on the recommendation of the Commissioners, in meeting, that the Bill proposed to give the Government this discretionary power.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De and the Hon. Harbans Sahai (on behalf of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose), respectively, withdrew the amendments on section 20, of which they had given notice.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier moved that the words "if it thinks fit, on the recommendation of the Commissioners" in lines 2 and 3 of section 20 be left out. The object of his amendment was to leave to the Government of Bengal the right of removing any Commissioner "guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties or of disgraceful conduct." He would give an instance to show why he thought the power of moving in the matter should not be left to the Commissioners. It might happen that a pure party question arose, and that in connection with it a Commissioner might commit himself in a way which was obviously improper, and to such an extent that his being allowed to remain in office would be a scandal in the eyes of all impartial lookers on. Being a party question, his continuing in office would depend on the numerical strength of the respective parties, and a man who had so offended might remain a Commissioner with the certain result of constant future friction and obstruction to public business.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said the Council should trust that those to whom they delegated the functions of Commissioners would be ready to get rid of any member of their body who was guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, or of disgraceful conduct. If they did not, and the consequence was any want in the proper administration of municipal affairs, the Government had the power to intervene. The section as reproduced here was the wording of the present Act, and during the last four years, during which he had been in charge of the Municipal Department of the Government, there had never been any instance, as far as he could recollect, in which the Local Government had occasion to exercise the power which the hon. mover of the amendment proposed to confer.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf observed that, in the absence of any definition of misconduct or disgraceful conduct, he did not think it was desirable that the amendment before the Council should be carried.

The motion was then put and negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the words "at a meeting" be inserted after the word "Commissioners" in line 3 of section 20.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved that the words "shall have been declared an insolvent by a competent court or" be inserted after the word "Commissioner" in line 5 of section 20.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he was not in favour of this amendment. A Commissioner was elected for only three years, and it was hardly necessary to class insolvency with disgraceful conduct. It might be assumed that, if a Commissioner became insolvent, he would not be re-elected.

The motion was then put and negatived.

Section 20 as amended was then agreed to.

The further consideration of the Bill was postponed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 16th instant.

INTRODUCTION OF THE SYSTEM OF UNION COMMITTEES

The following papers are published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 139, dated Calcutta, 9th February 1884.

From—E. V. WESTMACOTT, Esq., on special duty,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

REFERRING to your letter No. 1413TM of 17th October 1883, I have the honour to submit a brief report on the progress made in introducing the Union system under the scheme of Local Self-Government.

I was directed to confine my operations to the Presidency and Burdwan divisions, and to the Moonsheegunj sub-division of the district of Dacca, and I began by consulting the Commissioners of Burdwan and the Presidency, as to the sub-divisions in which the scheme might be introduced with the best prospect of success.

In the Burdwan Division it was decided that nothing should be done in the districts of Bankoora, Beerbhoom, or Midnapore, and that Unions should be introduced only in Burdwan, Hooghly, and Howrah. Of the three sub-divisions of Hooghly, Jahanabad was excluded from the scheme, and work taken up only in the sudder and Serampoor sub-divisions, the whole of which will be divided into Unions. In Burdwan, operations have been confined to the sudder and Kulna sub-divisions, excluding Raneegunge and Kutwa; and, even in the sub-divisions selected, Mr. Larminie doubted whether all the thannas were fit for the introduction of Unions. On this subject I am in correspondence with Mr. Coxhead, the present Magistrate, but hitherto Unions have been sketched out in one thanna only of each sub-division. In Howrah it was determined to exclude Oolooberiya, and form Unions in the sudder sub-division only.

Considerable delay was experienced in obtaining maps on a large scale. Hooghly was the only district in which they were forthcoming, and much time was consumed in obtaining copies or tracings from the Surveyor General, while for many thannas I have been unable to obtain them at all. My proceedings were further delayed by changes in the Magistrates of districts, officers with whom I had made arragements in personal consultation, being succeeded by others with whom I had to enter into explanations afresh. I have not therefore made so much progress as I at first hoped. I have, however, held elections in four out of the five selected sub-divisions of this division, and in those sub-divisions the work is now proceeding regularly and under a uniform system under the management of the local officers.

Considering the area and population of each thanna, I first roughly sketch on the map the boundaries of the Unions into which I think it should be divided. The Sub-divisional Officer next revises these boundaries with full inquiry into all local circumstances which may render it advisable that certain mouzas should be kept together in the same Union, such as being under the same zemindaree management, possessing joint interests in schools or other institutions, or being grouped together under one chowkidaree punchayet, and on completion of this inquiry prepares a list of the villages in each Union, with such statistics as may be available respecting area, population, schools, pounds, village roads, and similar matters. Unions having been thus sketched out, a date is fixed for holding elections, a place being generally selected at which elections for two Unions may be held at the same time, and notices are sent to each village, inviting the people to assemble.

Elections are held by dividing the villages forming the Union into groups, generally five in number, according to their contiguity and any joint interests which they may possess. The persons present belonging to every village in the group are seated together and counted, and if it is considered that the people are fairly represented, the object of the formation of a Committee is explained to them, and they are directed to consult and declare the name of some person in whom they feel confidence, and whom they wish to select as their representative. In most cases, each village wishes to have a representative of its own, and it is necessary to explain that this is impracticable, that the village is not to be dealt with as a unit, but that the affairs of a number of villages are to be managed jointly by one body of representatives. Each village is generally unanimous in the selection of a representative, and cases in which there are contending parties have been much more rare than I had expected, but it is seldom that a group of villages can agree unanimously, and generally two, three, or more persons are nominated. The votes in favour of each are counted by show of hands, and their number recorded, and when the nominations by every group have been noted, the officer holding the elections, taking care that the maximum number of nine is not exceeded, declares the names of the Committee duly elected. He is not always guided by a mere numerical majority of votes, but frequently accepts the nomination of a minority, whose representation appears desirable.

Serampore was the first sub-division in the Burdwan Division in which I was able to hold elections. It consists of five thannas, but the greater part of the area of thanna Serampore is under Municipal management, being seven square miles only. This small area I have thought it advisable to form into a Union, so that the whole sub-division may be brought under a uniform system. Of the remaining thannas I have divided Chanditala and Singoor into five Unions each, and Haripal into six, and am awaiting proposals regarding Kristonogore. The average area of each Union, excluding that in thanna Serampore, is a little over sixteen square miles, and the average number of households 3,246; but they are not uniform, and the jurisdiction of the police outpost of Tarkeshwar has been formed into a Union considerably exceeding the average size. The average number of villages in a Union, according to the census tables, is 38, but I believe the enumeration is by hamlets, and not only by the mouzas recognised in the maps and survey records. On the 28th November, I held elections for three Unions in thanna Chanditala, at three different places. I have not adopted this plan in subsequent elections, as I find the people too unpunctual in assembling to allow of elections in more than one place on the same day. In the first Union 210 electors were found present, principally Goalas and Mahomedans, and I understand that very few of the residents belong to the educated classes. A Committee of five persons was elected, a Brahman, a Mahomedan, and three other Hindoos, one being a jotdar and merchant, one a dealer in bricks, one a money-lending izaradar, and two gomashtas who were also collecting members of chowkidaree punchayets. Only one of them knew English In the second Union, the number of educated persons was greater; 184 electors were present, and a Committee of six was elected, three Brahmans, two other Hindoos, and a Mahomedan Four of them knew English. One was a mooktar, a Municipal Commissioner for Serampore, and Vice-Chairman of the Road Cess Committee. As he only comes home from Saturday to Monday, I had some doubt whether he was a fit person to represent the people, but gave way to a strong desire to elect him. One was a schoolmaster, and the others petty landholders, also engaged in money-lending or trade. The third Union is an interesting one, as containing the villages of Jonai and Baksha, in each of which a Board of Guardians has been formed for local improvements. The people wished that each of these places should form a separate Union, but for reasons into which I need not now enter, it is not considered advisable to form such small Unions. 198 electors were present, principally Goalas and Mahomedans, but there were more of the educated class present than in the other two Unions. Several members of the Mookerjee family, zemindars of Jonai, were present, and taking an active interest in the proceedings. One of them, a member of the present Board of Guardians, was elected, with four Kayasths, one of whom was a medical practitioner, and the others petty landholders. Mr. Collier, the Joint-Magistrate, is proceeding with elections for other Unions, of which he has already held seven, completing the work in thannas Chanditala and Singoor.

I append a note by this officer of the progress which he has made, observing that whereas in thanna Chanditala the average number of electors present was little more than one from every nineteen households, it rose in thanna Singoor to nearly one to eleven.

In the sudder sub-division of the Hooghly district there are five thannas, including Hooghly, of which the extra-municipal area is 13 square miles only. This has been divided into two Unions, for one of which elections were held on the 10th December. The number of electors present was more than one from every ten households, but the number of electors present for the adjoining Union in thanna Polba was so small that I did not think it advisable to hold elections. Some of those present said that they came as elected representatives of their villages, but I felt no assurance that these elections had been properly held, and refused to recognise them. I held elections again for this Union on the 31st January, and 421 electors appeared, being about one to every six households; and it was not till then that I felt that I could safely leave the work to the Joint-Magistrate, Mr. Brojendronath De. That officer is now proceeding to hold elections for four Unions in thannas Polba and Hooghly, and I am waiting for proposals for the formation of Unions in the other three thannas. The average size of Unions in thanna Polba is 21 square miles, with an average number of 3,291 households.

Work in the district of Burdwan has been much hindered by delay in obtaining maps, and by Mr. Larminie leaving the district after I had arranged operations with him. Mr. Coxhead, the present Magistrate, is interesting himself greatly in the matter. He is undertaking the work in the sudder sub-division himself, and will supervise the proceedings of the Assistant Magistrate in charge of the sub-division of Kulna. On the 30th January, I was present at elections held for a Union in thanna Gangoriya in the sudder sub-division, at which 215 electors were present out of something over four thousand households. I have already said that it is not yet decided to what extent Unions should be introduced in the remaining thannas of the Burdwan district.

In the sudder sub-division of the district of Howrah, I was present on the 2nd February at elections for two Unions in thanna Domjoor, at which one elector from every seventeen households was present. There are four police outposts in this thanna, and, as I think it desirable to respect any form of grouping which the people have learnt to recognise, I have approved smaller Unions than elsewhere, in order to make their boundaries coincide with those of the outpost jurisdiction. The total number in the thanna will be six, or perhaps seven, and their size will be by no means uniform. The only other thanna in this sub-division is Jogotbollobhpoor, for which I have approved four Unions, of which the average area will be 18 square miles with an average of 3,386 households. Mr. Grimley, Magistrate of the district, was present at the elections, and proposes to undertake those for the remaining Unions of the sub-division.

It will thus be seen, that out of five selected sub-divisions in the Burdwan Division, elections have commenced in four, but that little progress has been made except by Mr. Collier in the sub-division of Serampore. Committees have been elected for fifteen Unions in the division, eight of them in my presence.

In the Presidency Division the progress made has been much more satisfactory than in Burdwan. It was determined to confine operations to the sudder and to other sub-divisions of the district of Nuddea, and to the Baraset sub-division of the 24-Pergunnahs.

On the 1st December, I supervised elections for two Unions in thanna Naihatee of the Baraset sub-division, and the Deputy Magistrate, Baboo Kedarnath Dutt, has since held elections for nine more, completing the thannas of Naihatee and Baraset. There remain thannas Deganga and Habara, but parts of them are considered unfit for Unions. In one Union electors came forward in the proportion of one to every three households, and in none were there less than one to ten households. The average size of Unions in this sub-division is 18 square miles, with an average of 2,113 households in each.

In the district of Nuddea, elections are proceeding in the sudder, Ranaghat and Meherpore sub-divisions. On the 12th December, elections were held in my presence for two Unions in the sudder thanna, and since that the Joint-Magistrate, Mr. Ritchie, who has entered enthusiastically into the scheme, has held nine more. I append an interesting note by this officer on the progress made. The whole of the sudder sub-division consisting of six thannas has been blocked out into thirty-one Unions, each with an average area of 22 square miles, and containing an average number of 2,010 households. The average number of electors coming forward has been one from every seven households.

On the 3rd January, elections were commenced in my presence for the Ranaghat sub-division, and the people came forward to elect representatives in greater numbers than anywhere else. There was nearly an elector present for every household in the Union. I attribute this partly to the thorough manner in which the village chowkidars have been organised by Major Ramsay, Superintendent of the district police, whereby intelligence is rapidly circulated in the district, and partly to the trouble taken by the Deputy Magistrate, Baboo Ram Charan Bose, to explain beforehand to the people the real meaning of the scheme of representation. The four thannas of which this sub-division consists have been divided into 17 Unions, each with an average area of 24 square miles, and containing on an average 2,310 households. Committees have been elected in six Unions. The average number of electors present has been nearly 65 from every hundred households.

On the 15th January, elections were commenced in my presence for the sub-division of Meherpore, and Committees were formed for two Unions, an average of more than ten electors being present for every hundred households. The thannas of Meherpore and Koreempore have been divided into 14 Unions, of which the area averages 23 square miles, containing an average number of 2,188 households. The present opinion of the Joint-Magistrate, Mr. Melitus, is that there is not sufficient intelligence among the people of his remaining thannas—Gangnee and Tehatta—to admit of the formation of Unions; but I think it possible that when elections for all the unions already blocked out have been completed, he may find that there is more intelligence among the lower orders of the people than he expects. I have not received any report of elections held since my visit.

It will thus be seen, that elections have commenced in all the four selected sub-divisions of the Presidency Division, and that Committees have been elected in 30 out of 75 Unions of which I have approved, while it is probable that some additional Unions may be formed in the Baraset and Meherpore sub-divisions.

It only remains to mention the Moonsheegunge sub-division in Dacca, and of this I have nothing satisfactory to report. I attempted to hold elections for two Unions on the 7th January, but the number of electors present was so small that I was obliged to abandon the attempt. Out of a population of 64,567 only 150 electors appeared. I have since received representations from the Deputy Magistrate making various excuses for the scanty attendance, and assuring me that there is a real wish among the people to elect Union Committees, and I have therefore fixed another date for holding elections.

My notes of the number of Unions approved by me in each thanna are incomplete. I have a list of about 125, but I think there are more of which the local officers have my notes. Committees have been elected in 45 of these, and for several thannas I have not yet received proposals.

As I have been present at 18 elections, I have had considerable opportunity of observing the attitude of various classes of the people, and can endorse the remarks made by Messrs. Collier and Ritchie whose notes I append. Believing that the success or failure of the Union system will depend in great measure on the attitude which the educated classes of the people assume towards it, I have especially observed these classes. I thought it possible that they might, on the one hand, hold altogether aloof from the rural Union Committees as spheres inadequate to their political aspirations, or that they might, on the other hand, endeavour to keep the whole representation in their own hands, discouraging such of the lower orders as they might be able to influence from meddling in matters too high for them. In neither respect has the event justified my fears. That educated men would be elected members of Union Committees I considered probable, as well as desirable, but

I entertained some doubts as to their being selected by the bulk of the people as persons to whom they might confidently entrust the conduct of affairs for the general good, and some fears that they might be representatives of their own class only. Educated men have come forward as freely as others to choose their representatives, and educated men have been freely chosen by the people generally to represent them. Mr. Ritchie has observed that their authority is founded on caste, and as regards the lower orders of Hindoos, he is right; but I have noticed that Mahomedans, who have come forward as electors in large numbers, are quite willing to be represented by educated Hindoos, and by no means anxious to elect persons of their own creed, and I cannot feel that it is caste alone which gives men of education influence among their neighbours. It is very seldom that a man who cannot read and write has been chosen, and about two-thirds of the representatives elected are acquainted with English. Mr. Ritchie gives a table showing the caste and calling of 69 of the men chosen, and these may be taken as fairly typical of the rest. Brahmans head the list by a large majority, and Mahomedans come next, and nearly three-fourths of the whole are holders of land. These figures tally with my own observations, and in every election at which I have been present I have ascertained that it was the opinion of those who, from local knowledge, were qualified judges, that the people made admirable selections, choosing men of substance and respectability, who were the natural leaders of rural society. As Mr. Collier has noted, the people expect material improvement from the Union system, and they have intelligently chosen the men to whom they think their interests may most safely be entrusted. I think that the experiment has so far proved most satisfactorily that the rural population is really desirous of being represented by men in whose hands their interests will be safe, that they consider that there are such men among their substantial and respectable neighbours, and that those men are willing to undertake the management of local affairs for the public benefit.

Note on progress made in election of Union Committees in the Sudder Sub-division of the district of Nuddea, by J. G. RITCHIE, ESQ., Officiating Joint-Magistrate, dated 3rd February 1884.

WITH reference to your demi-official, dated the 2nd instant, I have the honour to submit the following progress report in connection with the local self-government elections.

1. Fourteen unions in three thanas have been approved by Mr. Westmacott.

2. Elections have been held in 11 unions up to date.

3. Proportion of electors coming forward to number of households in each union will appear from the following table:—

Number of union.	Union.	Electors.	Households.
2.	Bamunpukuria...	278	1,438
3.	Belpukuria	611	2,349
4.	Deboolea	248	2,360
8.	Matteeari	140	2,270
9.	Jurunpur	95	1,917
12.	Debogram	190	2,074
13.	Mooragacha	396	2,594
14.	Nakasheepara	223	1,643
15.	Gotepara	418	1,953
16.	Bikrampur	282	1,470
18.	Dogatchea	230	2,425
		3,111	22,493

Thus the proportion of electors present to households was 13 8.

4. All classes of the people have come forward as electors. The local zemindars have usually been present, and contingents both of the 'bhadra' and 'chasa lok.' The point is further discussed in the next paragraph.

5. Attitude of the educated classes.—In some of the unions, as 8, 9, 12, and 18, there are very few educated people, and the electorate body has consisted entirely of common cultivators. In others, notably 3, 13, and 14, they are very numerous, and certainly had a preponderating influence in some of the elections. In the remaining unions there was a small contingent of 'bhadra lok' and a large one of cultivators. In unions 13 and 14 I think they may be said to have monopolized the franchise, but not in the other unions. They have not held aloof at all. They appear to me to be in harmony with the people, and to possess their confidence. I have found no difficulty in any case in reconciling the wishes of the common people with those of the educated classes. It must be remembered that their authority is founded on caste, which is all-powerful.

6. The classes from whom representatives are selected will appear from the following tables showing the calling and the caste of the 69 representatives chosen :—

Calling—

Zemindar-patnidar	15
Gomastah-tehsildar	12
Lakhirajdar	12
Jotedar-cultivator	12
Trader-mahajan	14
Government pensioner	1
Executive Sub-Engineer	1
Medical practitioner	1
School-master	1
Moodi-shopkeeper	1
	69

Caste—

Brahmin	38
Kaysth	2
Mussulman	17
Baidya	2
Gandabanik	2
Tanti	1
Tambuli	1
Sarnabanik	1
Goala	1
Rajbangshi	1
Kalhu	1
Kaibartta	1
Sadgope	1
	69

7. In every union, except one, the representatives have undertaken the task willingly. The exception was No. 9, the most backward union of all perhaps.

8. I think the functions of the union committees are fairly understood in a rough way by both representatives and electors. They are explained to each group of electors in turn, and to the elected committee at the end of the proceedings

---

Note on progress made in election of Union Committees in the Serampore Sub-division of the district of Hooghly, by F. R. S. COLLIER, ESQ., Officiating Joint-Magistrate, dated 4th February 1884.

1. THE division of two thanas into unions has been approved so far. These thanas are Chunditollah and Singoor. There are five thanas in the sub-division, but one of them—Serampore—is made up almost entirely of municipalities.

2. Elections of union committees have been completed in Singoor and Chunditollah. Ten committees have been elected.

3. The proportion of electors coming forward to households cannot be given for Singoor, as the village census statistics have not yet been received from the Collector. The calculation can be made for Chunditollah from the reports and returns already submitted, but the Singoor figures are much better. It will be observed from the report submitted that the attendance has gone on improving steadily. The attendance at the last election was better than at any of the preceding ones. I do not think, however, that the interest of the people can fairly be gauged by the proportion who attend the elections. Most of the more distant villages send deputations to represent them, which are authorized to speak in the name of the whole village.

4. All classes of people come forward as electors. I have not noticed that any class holds aloof.

5. With reference to the attitude of the educated classes, I am of opinion that it has been quite satisfactory. I have seen no signs of an attempt on their part to monopolize the power of election. On the contrary, I have been struck by their evident wish that those persons who possess the confidence of the majority of the people should be elected The theory of popular representation appears to be perfectly familiar to all classes. This is owing no doubt to the fact that such representation forms part of their ordinary system of managing village and caste affairs. On the other hand, I have not found any disposition on the part of the educated classes to hold altogether aloof. They appear perfectly willing to serve if elected, and also come forward to vote.

The voters appear to be perfectly independent and not to stand in awe of any one. As an instance of this, I may mention that at the election held at Singoor a respectable and well educated zemindar was elected by his ryots for one electoral group. Some of the voters of another group in the same estate wished also to elect his brother. But the majority flatly declined to have anything to do with him, saying openly they had no confidence in him. They therefore elected a jotdar instead. The educated class appear to be quite in harmony with the people as a class, though, of course, all the individuals of whom it is composed do not possess public confidence. The voters appear to me to look to personal character more than to anything else. If a man is well known for probity and impartialty he stands a good chance of being elected, even if he can barely read and write.

The usual praise of a popular candidate is that he is "a very straight man," "a very just man," and so on. The ryots understand that the committees will have certain sums of money to spend for the benefit of the community. They look upon the members elected as trustees on their behalf, and therefore are particularly anxious that they should be men whom they can trust. I do not mean to say that they lay no stress upon education and intelligence, but I think that what they look at chiefly is honesty and fairness. In my opinion, they are quite right.

The electors are, I believe, very good judges of character. The men they have chosen are probably the best who could have been selected. In two instances they elected men with whose honesty and independence of character I had been much struck when they came before me as witnesses in cases.

6. From the lists already submitted it will be seen that the representatives come from many classes. Zemindars, jotdars, medical practitioners, money-lenders, and traders are about all I think. In comparison with their numbers the proportion of money-lenders and medical practitioners elected is remarkable, and would appear to shew that both classes are very popular. The conventional notion of an Indian money-lender would seem to require for this part of the country at all events a very considerable amount of modification. We find the people here deliberately electing them as representatives on the ground of their proved honesty and equity.

The impression on my mind from the elections that I have held so far is that there is much more harmony among the various classes in the mofussil than I had previously supposed. One is always liable to be too much influenced by one's judicial experiences in such matters, forgetting that they are necessarily confined to the darker side of things.

7. The representatives elected undertake the work quite willingly.

8. The electors and representatives only understand the main outlines of the scheme, and are necessarily ignorant of the details. All that they understand is that each committee will look after certain works of public utility within a given area; that grants will be made to it for such purposes, and that subject to some control it will decide how they are to be spent. They understand that the committee will repair the village roads, manage the village schools, endeavour to improve sanitary matters and water-supply, &c.

I may here mention that the interest which the great body of the people take in the matter is of the most practical kind. They look upon it as a possible means of getting better roads and better drinking water. They have too many material wants to know the meaning of political aspirations. If they get material improvements by the self-government scheme they will continue to take an interest in it. If not, they will not value it at all; they will judge it by its fruits.

9. I cannot give any information as to the amount of funds likely to be at the disposal of each union-committee. I may mention one fact, however, and that is that such funds would, for purposes of undoubted utility, be largely supplemented by private subscriptions. The ordinary ryots here seem always ready to subscribe for a new road or a new tank. The other day the inhabitants of two villages drew up a subscription list of Rs. 1,000 towards getting two miles of road made pucca. I should like to commend this instance of the miserable and impoverished condition, to which British misrule has degraded the Indian ryot, to the notice of such writers as the author of the "Spoliation of India."

HEALTH.

Food, Dress, the Dwelling, the School, and the Workshop.

EDUCATION.

Apparatus used in Primary, Technical and Art Schools.

It is proposed to hold, during the year 1884 an International Health Exhibition which shall also illustrate certain branches of education, and which will occupy the buildings at South Kensington erected for the International Fisheries Exhibition.

The object of the Exhibition will be to illustrate, as vividly and in as practical a manner as possible, food, dress, the dwelling, the school and the workshop, as affecting the conditions of healthful life, and also to bring into public notice the most recent Appliances for elementary school teaching and instruction in Applied Science, Art, and Handicratts. The influence of Modern Sanitary Knowledge and Intellectual Progress upon the welfare of the people of all classes and all nations will thus be practically demonstrated, and an attempt will be made to display the most valuable and recent advances which have been attained in these important subjects.

The Exhibition will be divided into two main sections,—Division I, Health ; Division II, Education ; and will be further sub-divided into six principal groups.

In the First Group, it is intended especially to illustrate the Food Resources of the world, and the best and most economical methods of utilising them. For the sake of comparison, not only will specimens of food from all countries be exhibited, but the various methods of preparing, cooking and serving food will be practically shown. The numerous processes of manufacture connected with the preparation of articles of food and drink will thus be exemplified ; and, so far as the perishable nature of the articles will admit, full illustrations will be given of the various descriptions of foods themselves.

In the Second Group, dress, chiefly in its relation to health, will be displayed. Illustrations of the clothing of the principal peoples of the world may be expected ; and a part of this Exhibition, which, it is anticipated, will be held in the galleries of the Royal Albert Hall, will be devoted to the history of Costume.

In the Third, Fourth and Fifth Groups will be comprised all that pertains to the healthful construction and fitting of the dwelling, the school and the workshop, not only as respects the needful arrangements for Sanitation, but also the fittings and furniture generally in their effect on the health of the inmates. The most improved methods of school construction will be shown, and the modes of combating and preventing the evils of unhealthy trades, occupations, and processes of manufacture will form portions of the Exhibition.

The Sixth Group will comprise all that relates to Primary, Technical, and Art Education, and will include Designs and Models for School Buildings; Apparatus and Appliances for Teaching; Diagrams, Text-books, &c. Special attention will be directed to Technical and Art Education, to the results of industrial teaching, and to the introduction of manual and handicraft work into schools.

CLASSIFICATION.

Division I.—Health.

Group 1.—Food.

Class 1. Selected displays of unprepared animal and vegetable substances used as food in various countries. Stuffed specimens of animals, birds, &c. Models, drawings, and illustrations of the same.

„ 2. Prepared vegetable substances used as food, including tinned, compressed, and preserved fruits and vegetables. Bread, cakes, and biscuits of all kinds.

To the Secretary,

INTERNATIONAL HEALTH EXHIBITION, SOUTH KENSINGTON, LONDON, S.W.

A.—Applications for Space for Articles belonging to different classes must be made upon separate forms. Additional copies of the Form can be obtained of the Secretary.

B.—It is particularly requested that the description be made as complete as possible, as it will form the basis of the Catalogue Entry.

Exhibitors of apparatus requiring the use of water, gas, or steam, should apply to the Secretary for a special form. See Regulation 29.

REGULATIONS.

1. An International Health Exhibition, under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen and the Presidency of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, will be held in London in 1884.

2. The Exhibition will be opened on Thursday, 1st May, and will continue open for a period of not less than six months.
3. The principal objects to be exhibited are comprised in the classification, which is intended to illustrate chiefly Food, Dress, the Dwelling, the School, and the Workshop as affecting the conditions of healthful life, and also the most recent appliances for Elementary School Teaching and Instruction in Applied Science, Art, and Handicrafts.
4. Medals in Gold, Silver, and Bronze, and Diplomas of Honour will be awarded on the recommendation of International Juries.
5. No charge will be made for space, but Exhibitors will have to pay every expense of transit, delivery, fixing and removing their Exhibits, and erection of counters when required, and they must, either personally or by their agents, superintend the despatch, transmission, reception, unpacking, and installation, and at the close of the Exhibition, the removal of their goods; in default thereof the Executive Council reserves to itself the right of doing whatever may be considered necessary, and at the expense of the Exhibitor. Should any goods be deposited in the Exhibition premises during the absence of the Exhibitor or his Agent, the Executive Council will not be responsible for any loss or damage from whatsoever cause arising.
6. Applications for allotment of space must be made on printed form, which will be supplied on application to the Secretary, International Health Exhibition, South Kensington, S.W., which must be filled up and returned on or before the 1st February 1884. After this date no application can be received.
7. The nature of the articles which it is proposed to exhibit must be fully specified in the Form of Application for space.
8. The applications will be laid before the Council, and the Secretary will, as soon as practicable, notify to applicants their decision with regard to the amount of space, if any, allotted to them.
9. The Council reserve to themselves the absolute right of refusing to admit any exhibit.
10. The Foreign and Colonial Commissioners appointed by their Governments are invited to communicate with the Secretary. They will be charged with the consideration of all questions relative to the distribution of the space allotted to their respective countries, and the Executive Council will place at their disposal all information and plans that may be useful to them.
11. The applicant for space from countries in which no Commissioner has been appointed will correspond directly with the Secretary.
12. The Executive Council will endeavour to obtain, from the various English Railway Companies, special terms for the conveyance of exhibits to and from the Exhibition, and should they succeed in doing so such arrangements will be communicated to intending Exhibitors.
13. All packages containing goods intended for exhibition must have painted on them the distinctive mark I. H. E., together with the name and address of the Exhibitor. Labels will also be forwarded to each Exhibitor.
14. Packages from Foreign Countries must likewise have painted on them the letters I. H. E. They must all be marked in such a way as to show distinctly from whence they come, the name of the country and of the Exhibitor.
15. All cases, counters, platforms, &c., must not exceed the following dimensions without special permission:—

Show-cases and partitions	...	10 feet above the floor.
Counters	...	...	3 „ „ „
Platforms	...	...	1 foot „ „

16. Exhibitors may place railings around their stands subject to approval; but in every instance the railings must be within the area of the "stand," i.e., the space allotted.
17. The flooring must not be altered, removed, or strengthened for the convenience of arrangement, except by sanction of the Executive Council, and at the expense of the Exhibitor.
18. No Exhibitor will be permitted to display exhibits in such a manner as to obstruct the light or impede the view along the open spaces, or to occasion inconvenience, injury, or otherwise disadvantageously affect the display of other Exhibitors.
19. In order to ensure uniformity of decoration and general good effect, no Exhibitor will be allowed to put up any flags, banners, or other kind of decoration without special permission.
20. Signs or name-boards must be placed parallel with the main passages, that is, parallel with the frontage of the respective stands. These must be black with gold letters, and must be hung subject to the approval of the Council.
21. All hand-bills, printed matter, &c., connected with exhibits, for gratuitous distribution, must first receive the approval and permission of the Executive Council, which permission may be withdrawn at any time.

22. Cases must be unpacked as fast as possible and the empty cases taken away by the Exhibitors or their Agents. The Executive Council decline to accept any responsibility with reference to empty cases, which must be at once removed from the building at the expense of Exhibitors.

23. Exhibitors will be required to provide all necessary attendance and to keep their stands and exhibits properly cleaned and in good order during the whole period of the Exhibition.

24. No Exhibitor will be allowed to transfer any allotment, or to allow any other than his own duly admitted exhibits to be placed thereon, except by permission of the Executive Council.

25. All goods exhibited must be in the name of the person who signed the application form.

26. Exhibitors are requested to mark the selling price of the articles exhibited, so as to facilitate the judgment of the jury, as well as for the information of visitors.

27. Objects cannot be taken away before the close of the Exhibition, without the special permission in writing of the Executive Council. Special arrangements will be made with regard to perishable exhibits.

28. As refreshments come within the scope and classification of this Exhibition, all methods of preparing the same, whether by cookery or otherwise, and the display and sale thereof, will be matters of separate arrangement with those wishing to be represented in this section of the Exhibition.

29. Exhibitors of apparatus requiring the use of water, gas, or steam are requested to make application to the Secretary for a special form which has been prepared for this section of the Exhibition.

30. All stoves, grates, &c., must be arranged with a view to the abatement of Smoke.

31. All fulminating and explosive substances and all dangerous substances are absolutely forbidden to be sent.

32. Spirits alcohol, oils, essences, corrosive substances, and generally all substances which might spoil other articles or inconvenience the public, can only be received in solid and suitable vessels of small size.

33. The Executive Council reserves the sole right of compiling a catalogue of the exhibits under regulations which will be duly notified. Each nation will, however, have the right to produce at its own expense a catalogue of all the objects in its own section.

34. The Council reserve to themselves the right of causing any of the exhibits to be examined, tested, or analysed for such use as they may think fit.

35. No article exhibited may be photographed, drawn, copied or reproduced in any manner whatsoever, without the special sanction of the Exhibitor and of the Executive Council.

36. The Executive Council will not hold itself responsible for loss or damage occurring to any exhibit from any cause whatsoever, but while declining any responsibility it is the intention of the Council to take such precautions as it deems necessary.

37. No goods can be sent in previous to the 15th March without special permission; after the 15th April no goods will be received.

38. The right to add to, after, amend, or expunge any of these Rules is reserved by the Executive Council.

39. Both Englishmen and Foreigners in becoming Exhibitors declare by so doing their compliance with the whole of these Regulations, together with such other Regulations as the Executive Council may issue from time to time.

40. The Executive Council reserves the right to remove the objects belonging to any Exhibitor who may not conform to the Regulations.

41. If any damage, or injury shall be caused or occasioned during the Exhibition by any exhibited machine, implement, or article to any visitor or other person, or to any officer, servant, or others then and there employed by the Executive Council of the International Health Exhibition, 1884, then the Exhibitor to whom such machinery, implement, or article may belong shall indemnify and hold harmless the said Council from and against all actions, suits, expenses, and claims on account or in respect of any such damage or injury which may be so caused or occasioned.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the foregoing papers be published for general information in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, and that copies be forwarded to the Local Governments and Administrations noted on the margin for publication in the local Gazettes. The Government of India does not purpose forwarding a collection of exhibits to the International Health Exhibition, but the Secretary in the Revenue and Agricultural Department will be glad to give any advice or other assistance in his power to intending Exhibitors.

MEMORANDA.

THE subjoined table exhibits the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal for the month of December 1883. The leading features disclosed by it are—

(1). That the deaths of 146,722 person were recorded in these di-tricts among their population of 66,163,884, representing a death-rate of 26·52 per 1,000 against 24·24 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 26 88 per 1,000 during the corresponding month of 1882.

(2). That the highest death-rates were returned from the following districts as compared with the mortality in them during the corresponding month of 1882 :—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— December 1883.	December 1882.
Rajshahye ...	66·38	45·96
Pubna ...	61·44	40·44
Nuddea ...	56·52	60·00
Backergunge ...	51·60	41·88
Jessore ...	50·04	58·32
Khulna ...	38 28	45·48
Dacca ...	38·28	46·32
Faridpore ...	37·20	21·84
Rungpore ...	34·44	18·24

Districts.	Ratio per mille during— December 1883.	December 1882.
Murshidabad ...	34·08	35·28
Birbhoom ...	33·00	38·88
24-Pergunnahs ...	32·40	46·44
Midnapore ...	32·28	28·56
Poori ...	29·52	24·84
Burdwan ...	28·68	45·12
Serampore ...	28·44	31·08
Bogra ...	27·60	33·00

(3). That the principal death-causes presented the mortality exhibited below, in comparison with the casualty rates from the same causes during the preceding month and the corresponding month of 1882 :—

	Ratio per mille during— December 1883.	November 1883.	December 1882.
Cholera	1·44	·60	3·36
Small-pox	·08	·03	·06
Fever	20·52	19·68	19·56
Bowel-complaints	·96	·84	·96
Injury	·12	·12	·12
Other causes	3·24	2·76	2·64

The noticeable features disclosed by the above figures are that cholera was more severe than during the preceding month, but, as compared with the corresponding month of the preceding year, it was considerably less fatal, and that there was a rise in the death-rates from small-pox, fever, bowel-complaints and the diseases classed under the head of "Other causes" as compared with the results of the preceding month.

(4). That the greatest risk to life from cholera, fever, bowel-complaints and other causes was reported to have occurred in the following districts, the other diseases proving nowhere markedly fatal :—

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL,
The 18th February 1884.

R. LIDDERDALE, M.D.,
Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

THE birth and death returns of the first class Municipalities in Bengal, for the week ending 2nd February 1884, present the following results:—

(1). That births and deaths were recorded in these Municipalities at the rates, respectively, of 22·1 and 23·3 per 1,000 of their population, as opposed to 24·1 and 26·7 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 26th January 1884, indicating a considerable falling off in the record of both events.

(2). That the undermentioned Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths:—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Bhagulpore	37·1	Purneah	72·7
Comillah	34·7	Suburbs of Calcutta ..	38·3
		Poori	34·3
		Comillah	30·8
		Gya	30·1
		Naraingunge ..	29·0

(3). That, as compared with the results of the preceding week, there was a sensible abatement during the week under notice in the death-rates from fever and bowel-complaints with an increase of mortality from small-pox, the fatal results from the other diseases exhibiting only fractional variations:—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	2nd February 1884.	26th January 1884.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not reliable, owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The rates have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the rates under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans was similarly so cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Increase

	Tons.
Coal	20
This increase is due to merchants laying stock for sale.
Salt	21
This increase is due to urgent demands.

Decrease.

Edible grain	297
This decrease is due to failure of late paddy crop
Sugar and jaggree	45
This is due to previous stock not yet exhausted.
Silk and silk cloth	21
This is due to most of the silk being booked as parcel.
Sundries	56
This has probably taken this year river route
Revenue stores	25
This decrease is due to no ballast being carried by ordinary train.

Increase.

	Tons.
Coal	100
This increase is due to greater quantity of coal being required for the working of the mills at Canning
Rice	674
This increase is due to the working of the mills at Canning on an extensive scale
Paddy	268
This increase is due to greater demand for the mills at Canning.
Firewood	125
This increase is due to greater import at Bansrah and Canning and better supplying of wagons.
Hay	103
This increase is due to favourable market.
Straw	52
This increase is due to greater demand at selling stations.
Sundries	80
This increase is due to working of the mills at Canning.

Decrease

Railway materials	312
This decrease is due to works for the extension coming to a close.
Building materials	217
This decrease is due to works for the extension coming to a close.
Revenue stores	95
This decrease is due to less material carried for repairs.
Wooloo	56
This decrease is due to less demand at selling stations, the rate being very unfavourable.

HOWRAH AND SUBURBAN POLICE.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the Bill to regulate the Police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta be read in Council. He said:—The object of the Bill, as I explained last Saturday, is merely to authorize the payment, in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta, of aportion of the cost of the Municipal Police from Municipal funds. Under the general Municipal Bill which is now before the Council, no part of the Municipal funds can be spent upon the Municipal Police. The Bill is a short one, and is based entirely upon Part V of the Municipal Act. It will be observed that, although Government is unable entirely to relieve these Municipalities of Police charges, the Bill as drawn considerably reduces the charges which are at present made. Section 10 of the Bill provides that such expenditure shall not only not exceed 5 per cent of the valuation of holdings, but shall not exceed one fourth of the whole police estimate.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon. Mr Macaulay, the Hon. Mr. Beverley, the Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De, and the Mover, with instructions to report in two weeks.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds moved that the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities be further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 21 having been read—

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved to insert the words "Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or" before "Commissioner" in line 1. He said, this section, as it stood, was only applicable to a Commissioner. There was no provision made when a Chairman or Vice Chairman neglected to attend meetings, or was convicted of a non-bailable offence.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds observed that there seemed to be some misapprehension on the part of the Hon. Mover of the amendment. The Hon Member had omitted to notice that both the Chairman and Vice-Chairman were "Commissioners."

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay remarked that the Chairman when appointed by the Government was not necessarily a "Commissioner." He proposed to move an amendment in section 24 which, if adopted, would make the amendment now before the Council unnecessary.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds pointed out that by section 25 an appointed Chairman became a Commissioner.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said that the section only declared that he should have "the rights and privileges of a Commissioner" during his term of office.

The amendment was then by leave withdrawn, as well as the corresponding amendment of the Hon Kumar Boykantonath De in the same section, of which notice had been given.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved that the words "or shall have been declared an insolvent by a competent Court" be inserted after the words "non-bailable offence." He said that this section, as also section 56, enumerated instances of misconduct or disgraceful conduct, for which a Commissioner should be considered disqualified to continue in office. But bankruptcy might be another instance of misconduct.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds said he did not object to the amendment.

The Hon Mr Dampier remarked that as the amendment was worded, it would disqualify a man who was once declared an insolvent from ever becoming a Municipal Commissioner.

The Hon Harbans Sahai was opposed to the amendment on the ground that in the Mofussil the fact of a man becoming an insolvent would not be generally looked upon as a disqualification for the office of Municipal Commissioner, as insolvency did not necessarily carry discredit with it. An honest man, carrying on large mercantile transactions, might become bankrupt owing to circumstances over which he could have no control. No money was entrusted to a Municipal Commissioner.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that, in his opinion, a man who had become insolvent should not be left to deal with municipal funds.

The amendment was put to the vote and carried.

The section as amended was then put and agreed to.

Section 21 having been read—

The HON. HARBANS SAHAI moved that the words "shall cease to be a Commissioner" in the last line be left out and the following substituted: "may be removed from his office by a resolution of the Commissioners in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners shall have given their votes at a meeting specially convened for the purpose." He thought that the hard-and-fast rule in the corresponding section (22) of the present law had worked prejudicially to the interests of municipalities. There were many Commissioners who took great interest in municipal matters, and there were cases in which some of them for good and sufficient reasons might not be able to attend six consecutive meetings, and then under the stringent rule of the section they would have to go out. He wished to vest some discretion in this matter in the Commissioners themselves, so as to enable them to decide each case on its own merits If the Commissioners found that the defaulting Commissioner had been absenting himself intentionally or negligently or carelessly, they would remove him, but if they were satisfied that there was good and sufficient reason for his absence, they would only be too glad to retain the services of a man they could little afford to lose. As an instance, BABOO HARBANS SAHAI might be pardoned for mentioning his own case He was a Municipal Commissioner in Arrah, and having fallen seriously ill, was obliged to absent himself from the meetings for a time. The point arose whether he could continue to serve as a Commissioner, but the Commissioners found that they had no discretion left to them, although they desired to have him. So by experience it had been found that the hard-and-fast rule of the existing law did not work well. He thought, therefore, a discretion should be left to the Commissioners in the matter.

Then with regard to the provision that a Commissioner convicted of a non-bailable offence should cease to be a Commissioner. He thought the mere fact of a man being convicted of a non-bailable offence did not necessarily involve moral depravity Suppose a Commissioner found a poor helpless boy set upon by ruffians on a highway; he might hit the man a blow, and possibly kill him. The Commissioner might be tried and convicted of a non-bailable offence. Could it be contended that such a man was not fit to continue as a Municipal Commissioner? The Council would remember that Municipal Commissioners gave their services gratuitously, and they might be glad if they were relieved of the office. It was the interest of the Municipality to retain the services of these men, and all that BABU HARBANS SAHAI proposed was that a discretion should be vested in the Commissioners in both cases to determine whether the services of a Commissioner should be retained or dispensed with.

The HON. KUMAR BOYKANTONATH DE said the expression "shall cease to be a Commissioner" was a decent and polite one. To remove a Commissioner by such a formal procedure, and in such a public manner as was proposed by the amendment, would be against the rules of decency and civility. He regretted he could not therefore accept the amendment.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said the proposed amendment would reduce the section to a dead letter. The Council would observe that the omission to attend six consecutive meetings did not involve loss of office in the event of the Commissioner so absenting himself having obtained the permission of the Commissioners, and that was the plain, straight-forward way for a Commissioner who absented himself to act. Then with regard to the effect of the amendment as regards the commission of non-bailable offences, he thought no discretion should be left in the matter. There was nothing to prevent a person who ceased to be a Commissioner under the operation of this section, on account of non-attendance, from being re-elected.

The HON. HARBANS SAHAI'S motion was then put to the vote and negatived.

Section 21 as amended was then agreed to.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, the words "the first day of the year next following," in lines 3 and 4 of section 22, were left out. He said he had a further amendment in section 26, which he thought would provide in a more satisfactory way for the term of office of a Vice-Chairman.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

In section 23 the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, with the permission of the Council, moved that in section 23, after the word "meetings" in line 5, the words "or in consequence of his insolvency" be inserted. The amendment was rendered necessary in consequence of the amendment made in section 21.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 24 having been read—

The Hon. Mr. Dampier moved that the following new section be substituted for it:—

"On the first occasion on which it may be necessary to appoint a Chairman for any Municipality under the provisions of this Act, the Local Government may, by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, direct that the Chairman of such Municipality shall be elected by the Municipal body, or that such Chairman shall be appointed by the Local Government, and such direction shall be deemed to apply to all subsequent vacancies occurring in the office of Chairman of such Municipality," and that the following words be added to the section above proposed:—"Unless the Local Government shall at any time otherwise direct by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette."

He observed that the principle of this amendment, as of the first which he had had the honour to move, was to leave to the Executive Government the discretion, and to impose on it the responsibility, of extending or withholding certain privileges in the cases of the Municipalities severally. The Hon'ble Mover of the Bill had said that the Council had no hesitation in rejecting the principle, and elsewhere the result of the debate on the first amendment, as to the right of electing Commissioners, had been spoken of as if he (Mr. Dampier) had been in a minority of one, but if the Hon'ble Mover would analyse the division on that amendment, he would see that if only one member more had voted for the amendment, the fate of the day would have been changed and the schedules would have disappeared from the Bill. Further, the Council would observe that there was a marked distinction between the amendment he now proposed and that which was rejected before. If the Council were now to resolve on leaving the Executive Government the exercise of a discretion in the matter of allowing the Commissioners of individual Municipalities to elect their own Chairmen, there would be nothing inconsistent in that resolution with the resolution which would not leave to the Executive Government any discretion in the matter of restricting the right of the ratepayers to elect their own representatives as Commissioners. In conclusion, he said that, although he had felt bound to take as his motto in these discussions the Italian proverb che va piano va sano; che va sano, va lontano; che va forte va a la morte—he desired, as this was probably the last of his contentious opposition to the Bill on such grounds, to express his hearty wish for the success of the measure in whatever form it might be passed. He hoped it might realise the most sanguine expectations in promoting the real good and welfare of those whom it would affect. His opposition to it had been founded on reasons which might be concentrated into the words used by a Lord Chancellor of the present century. It was, he thought, Lord Lyndhurst, who, in speaking of the great essayist and historian, said:—"I wish I could feel as sure of anything as Macaulay does of every thing."

The motion was put and declared to be lost.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier having called for a division, the following votes were recorded:—

Ayes 4.	Noes 7.
The Hon. Mr. Alexander.	The Hon. Boykantonath De.
,, Mr. Beverley.	,, Mahomed Yusuf.
,, Mr. Dampier.	,, Harbans Sahai.
,, The Advocate-General.	,, Col. S. T. Trevor.
	,, Mr. Macaulay.
	,, Mr. Reynolds.
	,, The President.

So the motion was negatived.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice to add the following proviso to section 24: "Provided that whenever such removal is made, the reasons for it should be published in the local gazette."

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay, with the permission of the Council, moved that in section 24, after clause 2, the following words be inserted:—"The Local Government may at any time remove a Chairman appointed by it." This was a corresponding provision to that in section 25, of which he had given notice, by which the power of the Commissioners to remove a Chairman was limited to the case when such Chairman was elected by themselves. It seemed but right that if the Commissioners chose to ask the Government to give them a Chairman, it should be in the hands of the Government to remove him.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 25 having been read, the Hon. Mr. Macaulay moved that the words "any Chairman elected under the last preceding section" be inserted after the word "and" in paragraph 2, so as to make it clear that only a Chairman elected by the Commissioners, and not a Chairman appointed by the Government, could be removed by the Commissioners.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley remarked that any resolution under this section would require the approval of the Government under section 58, and it seemed to him to be fair that the Commissioners should have an opportunity of expressing their opinion on the point.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantnath De said:—He respectfully begged to oppose the motion. Because he did not see the reason why an appointed Chairman should not be removed by a resolution of the Commissioners if an elected Chairman might be subjected to such a removal. He did not see the justice and propriety of excluding an appointed Chairman from such removal. In his humble opinion, a Chairman, whether he was appointed or elected, should equally be liable to removal by the Commissioners. It might be urged that a Chairman who was appointed by the local Government ought not to be removed by the Commissioners, but might be removed by the Government alone. If this distinction was observed, then an appointed Chairman, being armed with the privilege given to him by this section, would naturally consider himself above the control of the Commissioners. The consequence of such a distinction might lead such a Chairman to act with high-handedness.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay observed that the principle on which he proposed this amendment was that the same authority which appointed should remove, and that was the principle he asked the Council to accept. His hon. friend Mr. Beverley was quite right in pointing out that should the Commissioners pass a resolution under the section for the removal of the Chairman, it could not take effect without the sanction of the Local Government. But he said it was right the Commissioners should have an opportunity of expressing their opinion. Mr. Macaulay saw no reason why the Commissioners should not at any time submit a representation to the Government without moving a formal resolution at a meeting.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay's motion was then put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai moved that the following clause be added to section 25:—

"If such Chairman shall have been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, or of any disgraceful conduct, or if he has been convicted of a non-bailable offence, or if found inefficient or negligent of his duties."

The object was to provide that in certain cases the Chairman should be liable to removal. Was it proper, under such circumstances, to vest the Commissioners with arbitrary power to remove a person occupying the important position of Chairman without any reason. It was true that their resolution would be subject to the sanction of the Government; but Baboo Harbans Sahai thought the Chairman ought to know that there was a certain charge brought against him, and have the opportunity of defending himself before the Commissioners; but as the section stood, the Chairman might not know the cause of his removal. According to rule a menial servant of Government had the privilege, when charged with anything, of knowing the nature of the charge brought against him, and was given an opportunity of explaining his alleged misconduct; but as this section stood, the Chairman would have no such opportunity given to him. There ought to be a certain specified charge, and the Chairman should be allowed to explain and defend himself, and ask the Commissioners to decide the matter fairly and honestly. The Commissioners should not be allowed to remove their Chairman at their pleasure without good ground.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said that the amendment, taken along with the explanation of the Hon. Mover of it, appeared to have two objects in view: firstly, to specify the grounds of the removal of the Chairman; and secondly, to give an opportunity to the Chairman to explain himself, that is to say, to show cause against his removal; the latter object, though stated in the explanation just made before the Council by the Hon. Mover of the amendment, did not form part of the amendment, nor was it the necessary result of it. The intention of the Hon. Mover of the amendment that the Chairman should have an opportunity afforded to him to clear himself of the charges brought against him was as likely to be defeated with the mere specification of the grounds of his removal in the Act, as without such specification. The amendment therefore failed to carry outthat intention, assuming that it was necessary to provide for it. The Chairman was equally liable to be taken by surprise with that amendment as without that amendment. That was one objection to the amendment, that it failed to carry out one of its objects. But apart from that, was it necessary to specify the grounds of removal by using such vague and general words as were proposed—words which were not defined and which were capable of meaning anything? It would in no way improve the Act, or introduce any element of certainty in it, if such words as "misconduct" or "disgraceful conduct" were to be introduced in this section: whilst on the contrary the use of such words was likely to give rise to a great deal of verbal dispute, whether any particular case fell within those words or not. It would be much better to leave it to the discretion of the Commissioners to deal with each individual case as they thought proper, and not to dictate to them the grounds of their action. The matter of removal being subject to the sanction of some other authority, the Commissioners would necessarily have to make out a case for dismissal before they could expect such dismissal to be confirmed. Due weight would be given to the recommendations of the Commissioners, and by the effect of the words that already existed in the proviso in question, it was quite clear that the removal of the Chairman was not an easy matter. Two-thirds of the Commissioners must agree before the Chairman could be removed, and in practice much stronger grounds than those contained in the amendment would have to be made out before any action could be taken under the section. The amendment seemed therefore wholly unnecessary. Of course, if the Chairman had not been heard in his defence, and if such a case could be contemplated as that of a removal without a hearing to the contrary, that of itself, if brought to notice, might result in a refusal to confirm until he has had such a notice and an opportunity to be heard.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier could not say that the amendment which the hon. member proposed was consistent with the persistent lectures which he and other hon members had been reading to Mr. Dampier throughout these debates, that any attempt to interfere with the discretion of municipal bodies exhibited a want of proper confidence in them. The moment the position of the Chairman of the Commissioners was touched, the hon. member from Shahabad, himself a representative of the future governing bodies, ut aside the whole principle of confidence which he had been impressing upon Mr. Dampier. What was a proper discretion before, now became an arbitrary power, which the Commissioners might take it into their heads to exercise so capriciously, and in a manner so opposed to ordinary justice, as to condemn a man and remove him from his post. The hon. member could not even trust them not to commit the unreasonable injustice of not listening to what the Chairman had to say. Mr. Dampier would, however, remind the hon. member that in this particular case the Bill did provide precisely the safeguard which he had desired to impose in other cases, the judgment of the Lieutenant-Governor. He supposed that if the Commissioners were to attempt to do anything so wrong, the Executive Government, without whose sanction such removal could not be carried out, would, in the exercise of one of those whims of which the hon. member has told the Council in the course of these debates that he is so much afraid, put an immediate extinguisher on the proceedings of the Commissioners. MR. DAMPIER had already expressed his apprehension lest the importance which was being attached to considerations affecting what he had called the future governing classes, in the consideration of this measure, should throw into shadow those more directly affecting the governed masses.

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY pointed out that what was aimed at in this amendment was almost entirely provided for by sections 20 and 21. An elected Chairman must be a Commissioner, and under those sections he could be removed under the circumstances therein stated. The amendment as worded did not really provide that the Chairman should be advised of any charge of inefficiency or negligence on which he was to be tried. He therefore opposed the amendment.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS thought it undesirable to adopt the amendment. He thought the section as it stood in the Bill would give the Chairman full opportunity of meeting the charge.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT thought where a meeting was specially convened for the purpose there could be no room for secret and underhand proceedings

The motion was then put and negatived.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that in paragraph 2 of section 25, the words "present at a meeting specially convened for the purpose, and of which one week's previous notice has been duly published" be inserted after the words "two thirds of the Commissioners." The object of the amendment was to provide that under this section a Chairman might be removed by a resolution in favour of which two-thirds of the Commissioners present at the meeting had voted, without requiring that the resolution must have the assent of two thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners. As the section now stands, it was simply unworkable, and would prove of as much worth as the section in the present Municipal Act, which empowered two-thirds of the rate-payers to apply for the elective system. It seldom occurred that two-thirds of the Commissioners were present at a meeting, and when the two thirds were present, there must be a unanimous vote for the re-appointment and removal of an officer. And as unanimous votes were seldom obtained on important questions, no action could be taken under the section. A very good officer might not be re-elected if a single negative vote was given by any one of the two-thirds present. The section had been designed for actual work, and not mere show: something for the ear and nothing in reality: it was fit and proper that it should be so worded as to be workable. In all public associations, from the House of Commons to the most insignificant vestry, the rule was invariably to take note of only those members who were present and not of those who were absent; and he saw no reason why they should make a departure from so sound, practical, and universal a rule. Those who were absent forfeited for the time their right to vote, except in money matters, when the right of proxy was admitted. As the Bill made no provision for proxy, and as even in the most important financial business it gave entire control to those Commissioners who were present, leaving the absent ones entirely out of reckoning, it was meet and proper that this section should be framed in the same way, and not revised in a way so as to make it unworkable.

The HON. MR REYNOLDS said the second clause of the section which he intended to propose in substitution of section 25 would provide a safeguard which he preferred to the amendment now before the Council. By this amendment it would be necessary, not only that two-thirds of the Commissioners should attend the meeting, but that two-thirds of the whole number should vote in favour of the resolution. One did not wish to multiply occasions for voting for the removal of the Chairman, and he thought the object would be better served by the wording of the amended section in the notice paper. He did not think previous notice to the Chairman of the ground of his proposed removal was necessary. It was sufficient that the meeting should be specially convened for the purpose. He could not therefore support the amendment.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf thought that in practice this section would not work, because it would be very difficult to obtain the votes of two-thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners. It would simply remain a dead-letter in the Act.

The amendment was then put to the vote and negatived.

The amendment in section 25, which stood in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose, was withdrawn.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds then moved that the following section, in which the amendment adopted by the Council on the motion of the Hon. Mr. Macaulay was adopted, be substituted for section 25 as it stood in the Bill:

"Notwithstanding anything in section 13 contained, every Chairman appointed under the last preceding section, if not already a Commissioner of the Municipality of which he shall have been appointed Chairman, shall, from the date of his appointment, during the term of his office, enjoy all the rights and privileges of a Commissioner of the Municipality to which such appointment relates but shall not be reckoned in calculating the proportions of one-third and one-fourth under the provisions of section 14. Every Chairman, whether appointed or elected, shall hold office for three years from the date of his appointment or election, and shall be eligible for re-appointment or re-election

"A Chairman elected under the last preceding section may at any time be removed from his office by a resolution of the Commissioners, in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners have given their votes at a meeting specially convened for the purpose."

The motion was put and carried, and section 25 as thus amended was then agreed to.

Section 26 having been read, the Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following section be substituted for it:—

"The Commissioners at a meeting shall elect one of their own number to be Vice-Chairman. He shall hold office for three years from the date of his election, and shall be eligible for re-election on the expiration of his term of office:

"Provided that a Vice-Chairman who has been re-elected on the expiration of his term of office shall not be again eligible for re-election on the next occurrence of a vacancy.

"The Vice-Chairman may at any time be removed from his office by a resolution of the Commissioners, in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners shall have given their votes at a meeting specially convened for the purpose"

It had been represented to the Select Committee that it was undesirable that the same officer should be elected for any lengthened period, therefore it was proposed that a Vice-Chairman should not hold office continuously for more than two terms, or a maximum of six years. After that he would not be eligible for election to the next vacancy; there must be an interval of at least one period of three years before he could be elected again.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley did not think a sufficient case had been made out for the insertion of the proviso. Anything that could be said in the case of a Vice-Chairman would also apply to the case of a Chairman. The proviso imposed a disability on the Commissioners, which was not needed and was not desirable. The Vice-Chairman was often in the position of a Secretary; he might be very able and efficient, but under this proviso the Commissioners could not retain him as Vice-Chairman for more than six years Under any circumstances, he must be re-elected every three years, and Mr. Beverley thought it should be left to the Commissioners to re-elect him or not, as they thought fit. He therefore moved the omission of the second paragraph of the section containing the proviso.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley's amendment was put to the vote and declared by the President to be negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley having asked for a division of the Council, the following votes were recorded:—

Ayes 7.	Noes 4.
The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De.	The Hon. Mr. Reynolds
,, Mr. Alexander.	,, Mr. Dampier.
,, Harbans Sahai.	,, the Advocate-General.
,, Mahomed Yusuf.	,, the President.
,, Mr. Beverley.
Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.

So the amendment was carried.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai withdrew the amendment on section 26 of which notice had been given.

His Honour the President said the Council will see that the following notice of motion stands in the name of the Hon. Mr. Macaulay :—

Section 26.—To add the following after the proviso—

"Provided also that any salaried Vice-Chairman appointed by the Local Government before the passing of this Act under any enactment repealed by Bengal Act V of 1876, who may lose his appointment under the operation of this section, shall be entitled to receive from the Municipal Fund such compensation by way of pension or gratuity as the Local Government may determine, not exceeding the amount to which he would be entitled for his service under the Municipality, according to the scale laid down in the rules in force for the time being for the regulation of the pensions and gratuities of uncovenanted officers of Government."

With reference to the above His Honour the President said :—I wish to say on behalf of the Government, rather than as President of this Council, that I have suggested the withdrawal of the amendment which stands in Mr. Macaulay's name. It is well known that this amendment applies to a particular officer, whose interests, as Vice-Chairman of the Suburban Municipality, had been saved under previous enactments connected with Municipal administration. He has pressed before us, before this Bill was brought forward, that he had been a servant of that Municipality for a long time; that he had given up several appointments; and that if no provision was made for him he might, probably, be put to a great deal of hardship. The answer which the Government gave to that memorial, and which was based upon other grounds with which His Honour would not trouble the Council, was the following :—

"The Lieutenant-Governor is unable, from considerations of policy unconnected with this particular case, to re-enact the clause which saved Mr. Sterndale's appointment when the Municipal law was amended in 1876. It is not, however, intended that he should be liable to lose his appointment without compensation. Under the existing law, the appointment is only terminable with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor; and it may be admitted that the Government would not have sanctioned Mr. Sterndale's dismissal for no fault, without insisting upon the award of compensation. It is now proposed to transfer to the Municipal Commissioners themselves the power which hitherto has rested with Government. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the transfer of this power should be accompanied by the transfer also of the corresponding responsibility. While, therefore, it is not possible by legislation to secure Mr. Sterndale in his appointment, or to accept any liability on behalf of Government, the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to recommend to the consideration of the Legislative Council that a proviso be added to the section relating to the election of Vice-Chairmen, that any salaried officer appointed by Government, who may lose his appointment under the operation of this section, shall be entitled to receive compensation from the Municipal Fund on the basis of the pension rules in force under Government."

It was in the face of that letter having been addressed that we thought we were bound to place before the Council a proviso by which an officer who had so long served the Municipality should not be put out of his appointment without some compensation. But it has recently been forced upon us that, while we are now going to give liberty to Municipalities to choose their own Vice-Chairmen, and other general powers, subject only to an external control, it would be unreasonable to impose any such conditions regarding compensation on a particular Municipality. If Mr. Sterndale may possibly, though I hope not, lose his appointment under the new Bill, all that I at present can say on the part of the Government is, that without pledging ourselves to a definite promise, we will do our best to try and find him some other office. It is in this view that I have suggested the desirability of not pressing this amendment upon the Council.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay then withdrew the proposed amendment which, he said, had been proposed only in his official capacity.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf withdrew his notice of motion to add in section 26, paragraph 3, after the words "two-thirds of the Commissioners," the words "present at a meeting specially convened for the purpose, and of which one week's previous notice has been duly published."

Section 26 as amended was then agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following section be inserted after section 26:—

Section 26A.—"The term of three years mentioned in sections 22, 25 and 26 shall be held to include any period which may elapse between the expiration of the said three years and the date of the next subsequent appointment or election not being an appointment or election under the next succeeding section."

The motion was agreed to.

His Honour the President said:—I wish, with the permission of the Council, and if it does not create any confusion or inconvenience, that we may proceed to the consideration of Part IV of the Bill regarding Municipal taxation, and I may briefly explain my reasons for suggesting this course. The hon. member, Mr. Alexander, has an important amendment to move regarding section 84, and I regret to say circumstances oblige him to leave Calcutta to-night, or to-morrow, and we shall not have the advantage of his services in connection with this Council after to-day. I do not think, in the ordinary course, that that section will come on for discussion to-day, and I should be sorry to lose the opportunity of hearing what that hon. member has to say regarding the important amendment of which he has given notice. I wish therefore to take up section 84, before proceeding with the rest of the amendments on the notice paper.

The Hon. Mr. Alexander said:—The amendment I have the honour to bring forward is somewhat different from that which stands on the paper, and I have been induced to modify it, because I found that, in some instances, the first clause would be inconvenient, if not impracticable. I wish, therefore, now, with the permission of the Council, to move that this section be amended as follows:—After section 84, clause (b), first Proviso, add—"Provided that the amount assessed in respect of the entire occupation of any manufacturing premises shall not exceed the sum of Rs. 1,000 per annum." And in case this shall not be passed, I wish also, with the permission of the Council, to move the following alternative amendment:—After section 84, clause (b), first Proviso, add—"Provided that if the amount assessed in respect of the entire occupation of any manufacturing premises shall exceed the sum of Rs. 1,000 per annum, it shall be competent for any person who is dissatisfied with the valuation or rating of any such premises to have the case referred to the Local Government for their decision." The proposal to give Municipal Commissioners power to apply the rate named in this section ad valorem to what is virtually an unlimited extent, and yet not to make any provision for an appeal to an independent tribunal, nor for any independent valuation of all the holdings in a Municipality, nor any stipulation that such a valuation shall be of universal application, appears to me an unfair one, for I cannot see why, after a certain point is passed, mere costliness should penalise a property. That the powers given in this section, read along with section 100, may be used so as to press most unfairly on mills and factories a very short consideration of one or two instances will suffice, I think, to show. In the budget estimates for the current year of the Serampore Municipality it is stated that the actual total receipts for taxes on houses and lands for the last completed year were Rs. 20,651. Under this law, it will be competent for the Commissioners to call upon the three mills situated therein to pay at least Rs. 10,000 or Rs. 11,000, or more than half of the whole revenue. In the Barnagore Municipality the total receipts for taxes on holdings in 1882-83 were Rs. 18,400, and of this sum the Commissioners, in like manner, could at their discretion collect about half from two mills situated therein, and so on. Surely these sums bear no fair proportion to the liabilities to taxation of these mills? In short, we have in these Municipalities the anomaly of one or two expensive holdings, occupying comparatively limited areas, causing comparatively little expenditure of Municipal funds for their special requirements, reaping no direct advantages from Municipal undertakings, and yet liable to be taxed, on account of the simple fact of their costliness, to produce sums greater than the aggregate amount produced by the assessment of many thousands of small domestic holdings in the same Municipality. And it cannot be said that if mills are heavily taxed, they benefit in proportion from Municipal Government. They attend entirely to their own conservancy, except in some suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah, where additional taxes are levied for this purpose. They, to all intents and purposes, guard their own property, while they make little or no use of roads, nearly all their traffic being water-borne. With respect to the form of the amendment, I have preferred to follow the principle adopted further on in section 320 of Part IX, of fixing a maximum tax, rather than to propose any reduction in the rates of assessment or valuation for mills and factories, partly because, as stated before, I object to the principle altogether of industrial enterprises being classed along with domestic holdings, and partly because the existence of such a maximum will remove what is sure to be a constant bone of contention and source of irritation between the mills and Municipalities, for extensions and alterations are continually going on, necessitating a frequent re-valuation. And another recommendation is that it will remove what I fear is only a too well-grounded apprehension on the part of mill owners, that the Commissioners may use their powers in an arbitrary manner, and succumb to the temptation of regarding a mill set down in their midst as a gift sent by God to relieve domestic holdings of their fair share of taxation. It may appear invidious to make a proposal of this kind by which small mills might be called upon to pay as much as larger and more costly ones, but I take it, the incidence of taxation ought to bear some relation to the expenses incurred by a Municipality on account of the existence of the taxed property, and this expense will generally be no greater in the case of a large mill than of a small one, and, as I have mentioned before, this principle of a maximum has already been adopted under precisely similar circumstances in a subsequent section of this Act. It is not necessary to enlarge on the probability of future projectors of mills being forced by oppressive taxation to seek for sites other than within Municipalities, or on the inconsistency of permitting burdensome impositions on, what are at many times, struggling industries, while at the same time Government is professing a desire to foster them. The whole case is very clearly stated in the memorial from mill-owners. I think, therefore, that an amendment fixing the maximum sum to be collected at the limit I have proposed should be passed. I am aware that in the suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah the effect will be to deprive those Municipalities of considerable revenues, but that is no reason for maintaining a manifest injustice, and it is better they should be forced to seek their income from some other source than that taxes, which may be appropriate enough for wealthy Municipalities like them, should be applied without any discrimination all over the mofussil. In these other Municipalities affected the practical result will be very small at present. I have no wish to curtail the revenues of Municipalities. On the contrary, I should be happy to see them increased, so that expenditure on desirable objects might be on a liberal, scale. All I ask is that there shall be some security that industrial enterprises may not be called upon, as is possible under this Act, to pay more than their fair share. I myself am inclined to think Rs. 1,000 is more than ought fairly to be levied on any bill for house tax, and I know it will not satisfy mill-owners generally; but looking to the much more serious possibilities involved in the powers to be conferred by this Bill, I should be glad to see this amount agreed to as a maximum.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De said:—With reference to the amendment proposed, I fail to see the reason for fixing a limit to the assessment of a mill, factory, &c. The present law does not prescribe any such limit. There are large buildings belonging to Government, private companies or private individuals, such as court-houses, colleges, dispensaries, banks and palaces belonging to millionares, which have hitherto been assessed without any limitation. I therefore do not understand the reason why mills and factories, &c., should have the exclusive privilege of being assessed with a limitation. There is at least some reason for such a privilege for public buildings which are exclusively used for charitable and other public purposes. But there is none for such buildings as mills, factories and palace-like houses, the owners of which would not feel the least difficulty in paying any amount of tax that may be assessed upon them. It may be urged by the Hon. Mover of the amendment that mills and factories providing for a class of community who earn their livelihood by means of labour, may be considered as very useful institutions, and that, as such, they are entitled to some consideration of lenient assessment. But I respectfully beg to point out that the owners and proprietors of such institutions are themselves largely benefited, whereas the owners and proprietors of charitable institutions and buildings derive little or no benefit. On the contrary, the public at large are benefited by such institutions.

It is but a truism that the burden of the tax is more keenly felt by the poorer than by the wealthier class of rate-payers. The principle of the limitation proposed is calculated to give relief to the owners and occupiers of large mansions and buildings, whereas the poorer class remain in the same state as before. I therefore regret to be under the necessity of questioning the justice of such a principle. Under these circumstances, I respectfully beg to point out that the amendment is not based upon any principle of equity. I therefore withhold my assent to the amendment.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said:—I approve of the principle of fixing a maximum limit in respect of the taxation on certain premises in the same way as is done in the Court Fees Act in respect of suits instituted in the Civil Courts. The question is whether this principle is applicable to the cases under consideration. No doubt the principle of municipal taxation is an ad valorem rate on moveable property. Court fees are levied on suits in the Civil Courts partly in order to provide a check on unnecessary litigation; but in the case of jute mills and other similar industries, if a certain limit is placed upon municipal taxation, it will be rather giving encouragement to those industries than otherwise. Therefore the principle for which the Hon. Mover contends is, I think, a reasonable one and ought to be applied to these cases, unless the hon. member in charge of the Bill can, by stating facts and figures, convince the Council that it is not desirable to extend the principle. I also consider that no reasonable objection can be raised against the alternative amendment proposed, that when the tax on such industries exceeds Rs. 1,000, an appeal should lie to the Local Government.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai said:—I oppose these amendments, and most strongly beg to oppose them. I do not see any reason why, in the case of mills alone, the Local Government should occupy the position of an Appellate Court. The amendment is opposed to the liberal principles of this Bill. If the amendment proposed that an appeal should lie to some independent authority, such as the Civil Court, I think that would be some good reason to urge, but it does not even propose that an appeal should lie to either the Magistrate or the Commissioner of the division, and the Hon. Mover wishes the appeal to lie direct to the Local Government. I think that, if the Council are going to grant relief in any way in the shape of an appeal, that appeal should be referred either to the Civil Court or to arbitrators who may be appointed by the Commissioners and the mill owners concerned, and certainly not to the Local Government.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said:—I shall support the amendment on the very strong ground that mills and other manufactories are comparatively young industries in this country, and require every possible encouragement for some time to come. They are also of very great benefit to the poorer inhabitants of the place, as in many of these manufactories thousands of poor natives obtain profitable employment. I consider these reasons are so obvious, that I do not think such industries should be in any way handicapped in their work. I think it unnecessary to take up any more time by further remarks, and I shall support the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—Although I shall not be able to support the amendment of the hon. member as it stands, it does seem to me that there is something to be said for the principle that, after the assessment on a holding, with the buildings on it, has exceeded a certain value, the taxation on that higher value should not be in the same proportion as it is on buildings of a more ordinary kind. If a man, for instance, should take it into his head to build a house which was peculiarly and exceptionally expensive, although it may be very foolish of him to do so, still it does seem to me, looking to the whole object of Municipal Government and taxation, that it would not be unreasonable to say that he shall not be assessed to pay according to the value of his house, as if it were an ordinary house. I am therefore inclined to say that the rule which is sometimes adopted in such assessments ought to be adopted, namely that beyond a certain value upon which the full rate should be charged, the rate of assessment should be in some smaller proportion than the rate which is chargeable upon such smaller value.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—I regret I cannot support the amendment of my hon. friend, either as to its principle or as to its form. The hon.

gentleman opposite (Mr. Dampier) has just said that the principle which it contains may be of value to us in regard to Municipal assessments, but I think that, if the hon. gentleman had listened to the speech of the Hon. Mover of the amendment, and had referred to the papers of which he spoke, he would have found that past experience shows that we have no need whatever to lay down such a principle. I think that the memorial of the mill owners, to which the hon. member has referred, in itself contains pretty fair evidence that experience does not suggest any necessity for limiting Municipal assessments on jute mills. The first of these memorials is one addressed to the Government by Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co., representing the Indian Jute Company. In the course of that paper they pointed out that, if the assessment had been made on those mills at the rate the law permitted, they might have been compelled to pay Rs. 4,329 per annum. I think that, if they had been compelled to pay this amount, they would be justified in saying that the law had been rigorously worked against them. But what are the facts? These Commissioners, who might have charged Rs. 4,329 on this mill, have in reality charged only Rs. 1,006-14, or practically the limit which the amendment proposes. In the course of the memorial from the jute mill owners at large, in which Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co, Messrs. Finlay, Muir and Co., and Messrs. Birkmyre Brothers are represented, they also submit facts which are valuable. I find that, whereas each of these three mills, if taxed to the full extent, would have had to pay Rs. 4,000 or Rs. 5,000 each, in fact they only pay an average of Rs. 1,050 each. In reality, therefore, up to the present time, there has been no unfair assessment, and for my part I should be inclined to say that there is not very much danger of such being the case. These very Commissioners have the power to charge some mills four or five times, and probably others ten times, what they do now, and the very fact that they have not abused their power seems to me a sufficient argument against placing a limit which we could not by any possibility extend hereafter. Then in regard to the form of the amendment, even if we do accept the limit, I think, in view of the extension of mills and other industries, it is quite impossible to fix a sum of Rs. 1,000 as a maximum rate. But I may say at the same time that there is a further objection to the amendment which is an extremely serious one. I observe that the amendment is peculiarly one of class legislation. I am quite alive to the importance of what has been said by the hon. and learned Advocate-General as to the desirability of fostering manufacturing industries. But I cannot see why manufacturing premises should be saved, while warehouses and other establishments are left untouched. I have in my hand at the present moment a paper which bears upon the case. I have given facts to show that jute mill owners have no cause of complaint up to the present time, but I may mention the case of a Municipality in which there is a large Government godown, and which proceeded to charge on that godown, not Rs. 1,000, as in the case of jute mills, but Rs. 15,365 a year. If, therefore, there is any one who has cause for complaint, it is the Government and not the jute mill owners. I consider that the objects provided for by the amendment are not such that this Council should accept either its principle or its form.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said:—I had occasion to make some inquiry to ascertain whether there has been any injustice caused by excessive assessments of the kind which it is the object of the amendment to provide against. The only case, so far as I am aware, in which any such complaint has been made is that of Serampore, and I am glad to perceive from the speech of the Hon. Mover of the amendment, that although the Commissioners of that Municipality had the power to impose assessments on three mills which would have amounted to one-half as much as the whole assessment on the rest of the Municipality, I do not understand him to say that that rate of assessment had actually been imposed. The Magistrate of Howrah has informed me that he does not consider the assessment of mills and manufactories in that Municipality to have been excessive or unreasonable. The effect of the proposed amendment would be confined to a few Municipalities, and I am not aware that it would have any operation anywhere beyond the Suburbs, Howrah, Serampore, and perhaps Serajgunge and Naraingunge. On the other hand, such an exceptional provision of law would have a very prejudicial effect; and, as has been stated by the hon. member opposite (Mr. Macaulay), it would be an example of class legislation which this Council has not hitherto endorsed or supported. The provisions of the Bill differ somewhat from the existing law, not in this section, but in section 100, to which the amendment of the hon. member properly belongs. The Bill provides that the annual value of a building shall not exceed 7½ per cent. on the cost of its erection, but it is expressly provided that the value of machinery contained in any building shall not be taken into consideration. There is a similar provision in the Calcutta Municipal Act excluding the value of machinery in the determination of the assessment. That being done, and it being borne in mind that 7½ per cent is the maximum assessment, it cannot be said that any reasonable safeguard which mill owners can ask for has been omitted. It is provided that the valuation shall not exceed 7½ per cent. on the cost of the buildings; but it does not follow that the rate assessed would be 7½ per cent. on the annual value. Then with regard to the argument that Municipalities may use this power arbitrarily to overtax particular classes of industries, I really think the remedy is for those interested in these industries to take part themselves in the business of the Municipality, and to show the Commissioners that their interests should be considered.

His Honour the President said:—My only difficulty in the matter at present is as regards the question whether Rs. 1,000 per annum would be a fair maximum figure to impose I really have no information to guide me beyond the few words which have occurred in the speeches addressed to this Council to-day. We hear, as regards these manufactories, that in no case do assessments exceed the maximum proposed by the Hon. Mover of the amendment, viz. Rs. 1,000; but on the other hand we hear that there is a Government institution not very far from this place which pays Rs. 15,000 per annum. I cannot conceive under what section of the Bill, which is merely a reproduction of the existing law, that taxation falls, and is so large. But it is not the Government which has to bear this Rs. 15,000 annually. It comes out of the pockets of the public; and if it is an unreasonable taxation, I think there is some ground for interference. I shall object to the amendment as it stands on account of the class legislation which it suggests. If it can be modified so that Municipal taxation shall not exceed a certain maximum, irrespective of the class of buildings or property to which it shall apply, I shall have less hesitation in accepting it. Nor should I like the second alternative amendment, which suggests that, should the maximum exceed Rs. 1,000, there should be an appeal to the Local Government. I think that, where we trust this measure to the Municipalities to decide, assisted, I hope, by Europeans concerned in many cases, they will come to a fair assessment on which a valuation should be made without any necessity of a reference to Government, which is open to many objections. I shall therefore support the first amendment which the Hon. Mr. Alexander has suggested, if it can be made general in its terms and application, leaving out the word "manufactories;" and a proper maximum can be ascertained.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier.—After what has passed in this debate, I understand the Hon. Mr. Alexander to be willing to withdraw his amendments, as there is practically no chance of either of them being carried.

The Hon. Mr. Alexander:—I should like my amendments to be put to the vote.

The amendments were then put and negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—As the result of the proposals which have been made in regard to these sections, I desire to propose an amendment which I think would get rid of the objection that such legislation would be class legislation in favour of one particular industry only, and which should also to some extent meet the object of the Hon. Mr. Alexander's amendment. I may mention that the Court of Wards, whose example I have so often held up to this Council, follows this principle of assessment in levying contributions on estates for the general expenses of supervision and management. The amendment which I suggest may now be put in this shape, the actual figures to be adopted being left for future consideration. "If the valuation of a holding shall be in excess of an amount which would yield so much at 7½ per cent., the assessment on such excess shall not exceed the rate of so much per cent."

His Honour the President said:—I think there is something to be considered in this amendment, and that it will be better that we should reserve it for fuller discussion at another meeting of the Council.

The further consideration of section 84 was according postponed.

The Council was adjourned to Wednesday, the 20th instant.

RECLAMATION OF THE SALT WATER LAKES AND IMPROVEMENT OF THE EASTERN CANALS.

THE following letter, No. 2041I., dated the 13th November 1883, addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Revenue, L. P., regarding the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes and improving the Eastern Canals, together with notes by the Chief and Superintending Engineers, and a report by Mr. R. B. Buckley, C.E., Executive Engineer, Circular and Eastern Canals Division, is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Lieut.-Col., R.E.,

Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,
P. W. Dept.

CALCUTTA,
The 26th February 1884.

No. 2041*I.*, dated Calcutta, the 13th November 1883.

From—H. C. LEVINGE, Esq., Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Public Works Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces.

I AM directed to forward, for the information of the Board of Revenue, a copy of a report by Mr. R. B. Buckley, Executive Engineer, on the improvement of the Bhangore Khall, together with notes by the Superintending and Chief Engineers on the project. The Lieutenant-Governor, on the information at present before him, considers that the scheme is one, not only likely to increase the usefulness of the Eastern Canals, but is also calculated to improve the sanitary condition of Calcutta and its neighbourhood. It appears probable that it will be financially advantageous, though there are difficulties in applying the revenues derivable from the lands to be reclaimed, towards the works necessary for bringing them under cultivation.

2. I am to ask that the Board will favour the Lieutenant-Governor with their opinion on the scheme with special reference to the proposed reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes. It should be ascertained if the persons interested are likely to agree to the works being undertaken under the provisions of Act VI (B.C.) of 1880 If this fails, it is possible that the proprietors of the lakes may be willing to dispose of their interest in them, and the Board are requested to report if it is probable that the lakes can be purchased ; and if so, at what price.

3. An opinion, based on past experience, appears to prevail that the proprietors of the Salt Water Lakes are equally opposed to their reclamation or sale, and in that case there is no alternative, if the scheme proposed is to be carried out, but to acquire the lakes under the provisions of Act X of 1870. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that this measure would be justified on the ground of the public interests involved in improving the sanitary condition of the town of Calcutta, and that, in this respect, it would make no difference whether the works were carried out by Government or by the agency of a public company.

4. The Board are requested to report fully on the various points involved, and on the financial aspects of the scheme. So far as the improvement of the canals is concerned, Government is willing to bear the cost of the necessary works ; but for the land improvement works contemplated, it is right that the persons whose property is to be improved should contribute.

5. An endeavour will be made to provide dredging plant for present use in the canal, but I am to ask that, as the future action of Government must be based on the result of the Board's enquiries, the matter may have early attention, and that the report asked for may be submitted at the earliest possible date.

Note by H. C. LEVINGE, ESQ., B.A., C.E., Chief Engineer, Bengal, on the proposed improvement of the Bhangore Khall and the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes, dated the 25th September 1883.

IN 1878 Mr. Isaac, Superintending Engineer of the Presidency Circle, under orders of Government, submitted a report on the condition of the Circular and Eastern Canals. Certain measures for the improvement of these works were proposed, and amongst them a plan for securing a sufficient depth of water in the Bhangore Khall The periodical silting up of this khall causes the most serious obstruction to the navigation of these channels, and forces all large and even moderately-sized boats to follow the outer route, where they are exposed to risks and danger in wide and open waters. It is therefore of great importance, if the traffic of the canals is to be maintained to its present extent even, that the Bhangore Khall should be improved. It must be remembered that the canals will now have a keen competitor in the B. C. Railway to Khoolna; and if this Government wishes to maintain its revenue from the canals, they must be kept in as efficient a state as possible. The revenue derived from them during the past 22 years, since they have been in charge of the Public Works Department, has been Rs. 89,81,285, while the expenditure during that period on maintenance and new works has been Rs. 36,66,376 and Rs. 42,44,709 respectively. No stronger case can be made out than is represented by these figures. The funds available for expenditure on the canals have, so far, been required for the construction of the Dhappa and Chitpore locks, the former of which was completed in August 1881, and the latter rebuilt and opened for traffic in February 1883. The improvement of the canal east of Dhappa has, however, not been lost sight of, and the present scheme is the result of enquiries which have been in progress for the last two years. The canal below Dhappa is open to the tidal flow which passes from the canal through numerous khalls into the Salt Water Lakes. These lakes and khalls receive a large quantity of water, and it is to the scouring action consequent on the ebb and flow of this volume of water that the maintenance of a sufficient depth of water in the canal between Dhappa and Bamanghatta is due. It is the same action that prevents the Biddiadhuree river from being silted up. At present the Calcutta storm-waters and sewage are discharged into the Eastern Canals below Dhappa through artificial khalls, numbered 1 to 4 on the index map which accompanies Mr. Buckley's report: the storm-water diversion works, which are now nearly completed, merely provide for carrying off heavy falls of rain which formerly entered the Circular Canal between Chitpore and Dhappa, and do not affect the present scheme.

2. Mr. Isaac proposed to convert the Bhangore Khall into a still-water reach by constructing a lock in the 16th mile on the west, and another leading into the Kooltee gang (27th mile) on the east end. There can be no doubt that these works would effectually secure the improvement required in the Bhangore Khall; but by diminishing the tidal flow they could not fail to exert a deleterious effect on the canal between the proposed lock on the 17th mile and Kantatolah on the 13th mile. This might be obviated by placing the lock at Kantatolah or Bamanghatta (11th mile); but in the latter case the Kantatolah gang must be closed. Any of these measures would, however, leave the canal between Dhappa and Bamanghatta, 5th and 11th miles, still liable to deterioration, and the most complete remedy would be that recommended by Mr. Buckley, viz. to convert the canal between Dhappa and Kooltee into a still-water reach. This would, however, as will presently be shown, necessitate some special provision for the disposal of the drainage of the country, which now enters the canal.

3. The navigation of the canal between Dhappa and Bamanghatta depends on the tidal flow to and from the Salt Water Lakes; and so long as they are not reclaimed, it is not probable that any serious hindrance to navigation in the part of the canal will arise: of late years the channel has rather improved than otherwise. The reclamation of these lakes is, however, a question to which some prominence has recently been given; a resolution in the Medical and Municipal Department, dated the 12th June 1880, stating that "the Lieutenant-Governor would be prepared to support the grant of any reasonable concessions to a substantial company" undertaking the reclamation of the lakes. A company was formed in 1865 with that object, and a Commission, with Mr. Dampier, Commissioner of the Nuddea Division, as President, and Messrs.

Smith, C.E., and Dr. Fawcus, as members, reported that a return of 5·09 per cent. would probably be obtained on a capital of Rs. 17,53,158 required to purchase the lakes and execute the works necessary for their reclamation. The scheme fell through owing to causes not affecting its merits. Mr. Buckley proposes to combine the works necessary for the reclamation of the lakes with those required for the improvement of the canal, as this is the only basis on which works of permanent utility can be carried out, the reclamation of the lakes being, in his opinion, a question which, as effecting the health of Calcutta, must be, within a moderate time, taken in hand. If the lakes can be acquired at anything like a reasonable value, that is, one based on present profits, or profits likely to be derived from them in their present condition, there is every reason to believe that a sufficient return would be derived to pay interest on the capital required for reclamation works.

4. If the works proposed are carried out, the drainage of the country, which is at present discharged into the canal, must necessarily be otherwise provided for, and the Calcutta sewage and storm-waters diverted into the Biddiadhuree river, which must be kept open artificially, as the tidal flow will be obstructed by the dam erected to prevent it flowing into the canal as at present.

5. The general abstract of the estimate (charges for interest under construction, establishment, and tools and plant, which would probably add one-third to the figures given being omitted) is as follows :—

		Rs.
1.	Preliminary charges	3,000
2.	Canal works	9,85,383
3.	Water-supply works	3,08,879
4.	Drainage works	2,73,688
5.	Sewage and storm-water works	1,77,662
	Total ...	17,48,612

This sum, it must be noted, is the cost of works only, and does not include the purchase of the Salt Water Lakes.

The advantages to be gained by this considerable expenditure are summarized by Mr. Buckley as follows :—

1st.—"The Bhangore Kkhall is so much impeded by silt that navigation in it is seriously prejudiced. It is proposed to improve this portion of the canal by making it a still-water reach from Dhappa to Kooltee.

2nd.—"The storm-waters and sewage of Calcutta are a serious nuisance in the canal below the Dhappa lock. It is proposed to exclude these entirely from the canal, and to give them an independent channel of discharge down the Byar Nullah into the Biddiadhuree river below Bamanghatta

3rd—"The Salt Water Lakes form great swamps, probably aggregating over 20 square miles in extent, which are now comparatively useless to the people, and prejudicial to the health of Calcutta and the Suburbs. It is proposed to reclaim the northern lake by closing both the Biddiadhuree river and Kantatolah gang at the points where they join the line of the canal, and to reclaim the southern lake also by means of sluices suitably disposed."

It may be necessary to state here that the provision of a channel for the supply of fresh water from the Hooghly forms an essential part of the project.

Mr Buckley adds that he believes "that this project, while effecting in the most satisfactory way the main object with which the scheme was undertaken viz. the improvement of the canal, will at the same time be a great improvement to the sanitary condition of a great portion of the country in the vicinity of Calcutta it will also have the advantage, which will be greatly appreciated by the people, of bringing fresh water within the reach of a large area of country where at present only brackish water is obtainable."

6. It must not be forgotten that the primary object of the project, viz. the improvement of the Eastern Canals, will only be secured to a limited extent, and further works for the improvement of the Teetooah Khall will be required, or an alternative channel suggested in paragraph 10 of Mr. Buckley's note, passing through the Bairmaree Khall, could be excavated. The Superintending Engineer is, however, of opinion that, if the improvement of the remainder of the canal between Kooltee and Burrisal is delayed, it would still be desirable to carry out the present proposals for the improvement of the Bhangore Khall. This opinion appears to be amply borne out by recent experience, it being recorded in a note to paragraph 9 of Mr. Buckley's report that, in consequence of a recent silt clearance, boats of 1,200 maunds burden are using the Bhangore Khall, having abandoned the outer route.

7. Regarding the project from an engineering point of view, it is sufficient for the present to state that, though the scheme is not free from difficulties, there is no reason to believe that the works proposed would not substantially accomplish the ends in view. Further criticisms of the details of the project are deferred until it is seen whether it is likely to be taken up in the form now proposed. The estimates are necessarily approximate, but the only instance in which a possible excess is indicated by the Superintending Engineer is closing the Biddiadhuree river, which he considers might cost Rs. 50,000 more than the amount allowed. There is, it is right to say, some doubt as to whether the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes might not, by diminishing the tidal flow, injure the Mutlah as a navigable river. The comparative volume of the tide passing up the Biddiadhuree is, however, limited, and the gradual reclamation of the lakes, which is even now in progress, must eventually affect the river as much as the present scheme.

8. The real difficulties in carrying out what appears to be in all respects a well-considered and beneficial project commence when the source from which the funds are to be obtained has to be decided. So far as the Rs. 9,85,383 which it is proposed to expend on the improvement of the canal is concerned, it is obviously proper that, as Government receives the tolls charged on boats navigating it, the cost of these works should be borne by the State; but much more than this is embraced in the project. It is intended to reclaim 19 square miles of land, from which a net revenue (after allowing interest on the present value of the land) of Rs. 1,00,000 is expected: works for excluding the sewage and storm-waters of Calcutta from the canal are provided; it is a question whether the municipality should not pay for these, and it is proposed to provide a supply of fresh water from the Hooghly, which will be required for flushing the sewage outfall, but will also be useful for drinking purposes as providing fresh water to a large area where only the supply is now brackish, besides being available for irrigation in dry years.

9. It is not likely that the works proposed could be executed under Act VI of 1880 (The Bengal Drainage Act), as the proprietors of the Salt Water Lakes are understood to be opposed to their reclamation, and in any case there would be considerable difficulty in apportioning the cost of the works appertaining exclusively to the drainage works. Mr. Buckley suggests that the best method might be that suggested in the Government resolution quoted in paragraph 3—"that is, to place the whole matter in the hands of a substantial company which might undertake the works, with certain Government and municipal concessions for the profit which must accrue on the reclamation of the lakes." Before proceeding further in the matter, the opinion of the Board of Revenue and civil officers, and the Sanitary Commissioner, might be invited on the main features of the proposed project The matter would then be referred to the Medical and Municipal Department.

10. All these enquiries and references are likely to occupy so much time, and the importance of keeping the Bhangore Khall open for boats is of so much importance, that I am inclined to think we should at once procure one, if not two powerful dredgers, with a sufficient number of barges, to be employed on this portion of the canal. Even if the works of improvement and reclamation recommended are carried out eventually, the dredger will certainly be ultimately required. The Superintending Engineer will be at once called on to submit for sanction estimates for dredging plant.

11. In concluding this note, I wish to draw attention to the able manner in which this difficult project has been got up, and the very clear and admirable report submitted by Mr. Buckley.

No. 4484, dated Calcutta, the 30th August 1882.

From—J. C. VERTANNES, Esq., C.E., Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle.
To—The Chief Engineer, Bengal, Irrigation Branch.

I HAVE the honour to submit, for your consideration and orders, the accompanying plans and estimates, with a note by Mr. Buckley, Executive Engineer of the Circular and Eastern Canals Division, for the improvement of the portion of the Eastern Canal between the Dhappa lock in the 6th mile and the Hurwa gang in the 26th mile of the route between the Presidency and Burrisal. The project for the improvement of the portion of the canal noted above has been prepared in connection with the reclamation of the north Salt Water Lake, or that lying between the Dhappa lock and the Dum-Dum station.

2. This scheme originated about two years ago on the transfer of the Circular and Eastern Canals Division to the Irrigation Branch of the department, and Mr. Apjohn, then Executive Engineer of the Circular and Eastern Canals Division, was requested by me to take it up, but the difficulty of keeping open the Biddiadhuree river below the proposed cross dam and the outlet sluice at Bamanghatta compelled him reluctantly to abandon it. The scheme was revived last year, and it then struck me that the difficulty of keeping open the Biddiadhuree river might be overcome if we were to provide a supply of water to the canal below the Dhappa lock for the purpose of constantly scouring out the channel, below the outlet sluice, whenever there was little or no drainage water being discharged from the canal. For this purpose I proposed to take in water from the Hooghly river through the Ichapore Khall above Barrackpore; and in this office No 118, dated 9th January last, I applied for sanction for the temporary establishment required for the preparation of the necessary survey and section of this khall, and which was duly sanctioned in Bengal Government No. 120E, dated 10th idem During the course of the survey Mr. Buckley, however, found that it would be a very expensive work to improve the khall in question for the supply of the required water from the Hooghly river, and in its stead proposed to utilize the Beddia Khall, which flows in the Hooghly river, a little above Cossipore, as this khall, being the shorter in length and nearer to the lakes, was more likely to give the required supply. The Beddia Khall has accordingly been adopted for this purpose, and the necessary survey made for its improvement and enlargement.

3. The scheme as now prepared provides, not only for the improvement of the Eastern Canal and the reclamation of the north Salt Water Lake, but also for the disposal of the Calcutta sewage and storm-waters. It is this last work which makes the scheme so expensive and difficult, as it is indispensibly necessary that the Biddiadhuree river below the proposed dam and outlet sluice at Bamanghatta should be kept deep and clear for the discharge of the Calcutta sewage and drainage waters. As far as the ordinary drainage of the country is concerned, it would not be of any great consequence if the Biddiadhuree river, below the outlet sluice, did silt up somewhat, as we could easily dispose of the ordinary drainage by means of the proposed outlet sluices at Bamanghatta and at Kooltee, and also by improving and sluicing the silted-up branch of the Biddiadhuree river below Kantatolah, which is mentioned in paragraph 32 of Mr. Buckley's note. There would be no difficulty of disposing of the ordinary drainage as proposed above; and, as far as ordinary country drainage is concerned, we need not bring in any supply of water from the Hooghly river. But for the Calcutta drainage this scheme would have been much easier and far less expensive than as designed and estimated for now.

4. The scheme, as now designed, is, I consider, quite feasible from an engineering point of view. The closing of the Biddiadhuree river, below Bamanghatta, will no doubt be a difficult work, as stated by Mr. Buckley in paragraph 39 of his note, and may possibly cost somewhat more than the estimated amount. Even if it adds another half lakh of rupees to the estimate, I would still recommend the adoption of the scheme, which will provide, not only for the improvement of the canal, but by the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes would confer upon Calcutta an incalculable boon from a sanitary point of view. There is no doubt but that the existence of the Salt Water Lakes, so close to the city, adds much to its insalubrity, as well as of the portion of the suburbs which are contiguous to the lakes. In deciding on the improvement of the Bhangore Khall, it may, I think, safely be assumed that the Teetooah Khall, referred to in paragraph 10 of Mr. Buckley's scheme, will also be ultimately improved, as also the other bad portion of the route between Calcutta and Burrisal: only the work cannot, for obvious reasons, be done at all places at one and the same time. Even if the Teetooah Khall improvemant were delayed, I am of opinion that the boats would still come up the Hurwa gang, and prefer passing through the Bhangore Khall, if improved, than to going by the Mutlah. This is proved from the number of boats using the Bhangore Khall since its recent improvement by partial silt clearance done last working season.

5. The scheme, as now submitted by Mr. Buckley, has, I consider, been prepared in very workmanlike and creditable manner, and is deserving of commendation. Mr. Buckley has provided for a flow off the whole of the drainage basin of $\frac{2}{8}$ inch in depth in the 24 hours by the proposed sluices at Bamanghatta and at Kooltee; but if we take into consideration the additional waterway afforded by the lock valves, &c., at Kooltee, the provision is practically for $\frac{3}{4}$ inch in depth of flow off in the 24 hours. This, I am of opinion, is more than ample, and might possibly be reduced somewhat when we come to prepare the detailed plans and estimates. The question of the flow off to be provided for should, I think, be decided on the same principle as that adopted for the drainage of the Howrah swamps, and should be regulated as to the level at which the accumulated drainage waters in the lake is to be kept up when it is reclaimed. This is a question which can be settled when the detailed estimates are prepared, and does not affect the feasibility of the scheme as now submitted, and in which I consider sufficient provision for drainage purposes has been made.

6. The other works provided for in the scheme need no special remarks, save the proposed outlet sluice at Bamanghatta, the plan for which is given in sheet No. 14 of the drawings accompanying Mr. Buckley's note. The plan is a novel one for tidal work, and has not, I believe, been tried as yet on any tidal drainage work. Till this be done on a small scale somewhere, I would not recommend its adoption on such a large scale as that proposed in this scheme. I fear the silt contained in the tidal waters will interfere with its working successfully. The rejection of the plan for this sluice need not, however, prevent the approval and consideration of the scheme, as the amount provided for it will be sufficient for the construction of a sluice on a different plan. The supply sluice for the Beddia Khall should have flap gates on the inside to prevent the flow back of the tidal waters from the khall when the water in the river begins to recede.

7. The question of the carrying out of this scheme will depend entirely as to whether the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta and the proprietors of the Salt Water Lakes are willing to contribute their share of the cost of the required works. The municipality cannot, of course, refuse to pay for the cost of a work required to provide for the ultimate disposal of the drainage of their town, but I fear very much that the proprietors of the lake will be very obstructive, and give us much trouble. I do not think they will ever agree to allow of the reclamation of the lake being taken up under the provisions of Act VI of 1880. If this could be done, the difficulty would be at once solved. Mr. Buckley suggests a company should take up the reclamation works, provided Government make certain concessions. But what these concessions are to be he does not mention. Neither the Government nor a private company can do anything towards the reclamation of the lakes, unless, in the former case, the proprietors consent to have the work done under Act VI of 1880, and in the latter case they agree to dispose of their rights to the company. I do not think the proprietors will ever agree to do either the one or the other. The question is, cannot something be done to overcome this difficulty, and will we allow a few obstructive zemindars to follow a "dog-in-the-manger" policy as it were, especially when the sanitation of the capital of India is concerned? They will themselves neither improve their lands nor allow others to do it for them. This might be allowed elsewhere in the district where the proprietors themselves are the sufferers, but surely when the health of a town containing 700,000 to 800,000 inhabitants, and that town the capital of India, is concerned, some special legislative measure might be adopted to compel the zemindars either to consent to leave the lands reclaimed under the provisions of Act VI of 1880, or to sell their property at a fair valuation to Government, or to a private company, as may be deemed proper.

8. Till this question about the lakes be first settled, I would not recommend any further surveys or detailed plans being prepared, and I have on that account refrained from making any special note on the scheme. The information given in Mr. Buckley's note is, I consider, sufficient to show the feasibility of the scheme from an engineering point of view, and the advantages of carrying out the proposed works. If it be determined to carry out the scheme as now proposed, I would, however, beg to recommend that the reclamation of the southern lake be taken up at the same time. If the lakes are to be reclaimed, I think both should be done at the same time, else there is not much advantage from a sanitary point of view in reclaiming one and leaving the other untouched. The southern lake will, comparatively speaking, not cost much after once the works provided for in this scheme are constructed. Only one outlet sluice for Gowlpotta Khall, and another on the Tolly's Nullah, and a short length of embankment, will be all that will be necessary. The two lakes should certainly be reclaimed together, as then we could apportion to each the cost of the works required for keeping open the channel below the outlet sluice. This cannot be done if the northern lake be reclaimed now and the southern lake be done some years after. I do not agree with Mr. Buckley as to the probability of the ryots utilizing the Calcutta sewage for the irrigation of the crops to be grown in the southern lake when reclaimed. The crops to be grown in the southern lake in the rains will only be paddy, generally produced on the low lands in Bengal, and for this we require two to three feet of water over the soil in the rains, and with this depth the sewage, if let in during the rains, will be apt to do more harm than good to the plants. The ground in the lake is too low and damp, and will be dry too late to admit of any rubbee crops being grown in it. I am of opinion that when the Salt Water Lakes are reclaimed, it will be necessary for the municipality to deodorize the sewage by means of chemical agents before it is discharged into the channel below the proposed outlet sluice at Bamanghatta. There will be little or no demand for sewage for irrigation purposes, and it would not be advisable to discharge the sewage into the river, with its limited scouring powers, in its present offensive state.

9. There are so many conflicting interest involved in the works provided for in this scheme that I fear there will be great delay in obtaining even preliminary sanction to the preparation of the detailed plans and estimates. To avoid unnecessary delay in references to and fro, I would beg respectfully to suggest for your consideration the expediency of appointing a committee, composed of the revenue and engineer authorities concerned, to consider the scheme on the following points, viz:—

I.—The apportionment of the cost of the proposed work between Government, the municipality, and the proprietors of the lakes.

II.—Measures to be adopted for the acquirement of the lakes in case the proprietors do not consent to have the lakes reclaimed under the provisions of Act VI (B.C.) of 1880.

10. In case you do not approve of the scheme as now submitted for orders, then I would beg to recommend that sanction may be given at once for widening and deepening the silted-up portions of the Bhangore Khall, and arrangements made for keeping it open by means of dredger. Unless the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes be carried out at the same time as the locks required for canalization of the Bhangore Khall, I would not recommend the construction of any masonry work for the improvement of the khall in question. It would be far better to let the khall in question remain open, and try and improve its condition for navigation purposes by dredging than to attempt the construction of a lock till such time as the lakes can also be reclaimed at the same time. Your orders on this point are solicited.

Note by R. B. BUCKLEY, ESQ., Executive Engineer, Circular and Eastern Canals Division, on the improvement of the Bhangore Khall and neighbouring country, dated 29th January 1882.

PART I.

SKETCH OF THE SCHEME AND ITS OBJECT.

1. The project, which is sketched in the following note, originated simply with the intention of improving the navigation of the Eastern Canals by opening out a portion of these canals, called the Bhangore Khall, for navigation by large boats. As the investigations proceeded, it became evident that the conditions which affected the improvement of the khall involved the consideration of many matters which might, at first sight, be thought to be quite independent of the main question, but which are really so closely inter-connected with it that it becomes necessary in dealing with—

(1*st*) the improvement of the canals;

to consider also—

(2*nd*) the disposal of the storm-waters and sewage of Calcutta, which are at present discharged into the canal;

(3*rd*) the reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes, which are now fed almost entirely from the canal;

(4*th*) the drainage of the country of which the canal forms the chief discharging channel.

2. These questions have from time to time received, in various reports, more or less consideration. Each of them involves interests more or less at variance with those involved in the others. The project here sketched out aims at the amalgamation of all these interests in one scheme of works which will benefit all those concerned, with as little disadvantage to any as is possible.

3. The chief points are these—

(1*st*)—The Bhangore Khall is so much impeded by silt that navigation in it is seriously prejudiced. It is proposed to improve this portion of the canal by making it a still-water reach from Dhappa to Kooltee.

(2*nd*)—The storm-waters and sewage of Calcutta are a serious nuisance in the canal below the Dhappa lock. It is proposed to exclude these entirely from the canal, and to give them an independent channel of discharge down the Byar Nullah into the Biddiadhuree river below Bamanghatta.

(3*rd*)—The Salt Water Lakes form great swamps, probably aggregating over 20 square miles in extent, which are now comparatively useless to the people and prejudicial to the health of Calcutta and the Suburbs. It is proposed to reclaim the northern lake by closing both the Biddiadhuree river and Kantatolah gang at the points where they join the line of the canal, and to reclaim the southern lake also by means of sluices suitably disposed.

4. The sketch map shows the localities referred to. It is believed that this project, while effecting in the most satisfactory way the main object with which the scheme was undertaken, viz. the improvement of the canal, will, at the same time, be a great improvement to the sanitary conditic of a great portion of the country in the vicinity of Calcutta: it will also have the advantage, which will be greatly appreciated by the people, of bringing fresh water within the reach of a large area of country where at present only brackish water is obtainable.

PART II.

THE EXISTING STATE OF THINGS.

(i).—The Bhangore Khall, as it exists, and MR. ISAAC'S plan for improving it.

5. The report by Mr. Isaac and Mr. Joll,* a copy of which is attached appendix No. 1, gives very full and interesting accounts of the Eastern Canals. These reports suggest several means for the improvement of the Eastern Canal. All the points referred to in those reports are receiving attention. The object of the present note is to consider those improvements which immediately affect the question of the Bhangore Khall.

No 4077 of 13th November 1878, from Officiating Superintending Engineer, Presidency Circle, to Chief Engineer, Bengal.

6. The traffic from Burrisal and the eastern districts follows the line of the Eastern Canal, with occasionally one or two deviations, to avoid bad places, as far as Bussuntpore on the 56th mile of the canal. From Bussuntpore the traffic divides. All small boats and boats up to about 500 maunds continue to follow the line of the canal past Haseinabad, Chytal, Kooltee, and Bhangore (the blue $ line on map No 1) to Calcutta. Larger boats leave the canal at Bussuntpore and follow the "outer route" (the dotted blue $ line on the map), past Port Canning and up the Mutlah and Biddiadhuree. At the present moment, as the† Chitpore lock is closed, all boats which wish to pass out into the Hooghly leave the "outer route" at Samookpatta and pass through Tolly's Nullah. When the Chitpore lock is opened nearly all the traffic will go through the Circular Canal and out into the river at Chitpore.

7. There can be no doubt that the "outer route" is rather a dangerous one. Wrecks on it are not uncommon. Mr. Isaac, however, to whose opinion considerable weight must be attached, thinks that the dangers of this route have been much exaggerated. The chief dangers are very strong currents on shoals, and the fact that in one or two places the rivers are so large that a heavy sea must be quite a heavy sea in stormy weather.

Paragraph 28 of Mr. Isaac's report above quoted.

8. The larger boats follow the "outer route" because both the Teetooah Khall and the Bhangore Khall are impassable, except at high water. The Bhangore Khall is practically impassable, except at high water springs, to all boats of more than 3 feet 6 inches draught. The Teetooah Khall has improved during the last two years owing to the breaches in the embankments of the Chytal Abad, which have caused an increased scour in the khall. There is now more than 12 feet of water at high water springs in the Teetooah Khall.

9. From Kooltee to Port Canning there is a broad navigable channel through the Dhoobrie Khall and Kharaiya river, shown by the dotted green $ line in the map. It would be possible, then, if the Bhangore Khall were made navigable for large boats, for the traffic to pass through it by following the "outer route" as far as Port Canning, and then passing up the Kharaiya river and into the Bhangore Khall at Kooltee. It is probable that if the Bhangore Khall were improved, a very large proportion of the boats would risk the difficulties of the Teetooah Khall and would follow the canal from Bussuntpore to Calcutta.‡ This appears probable from the fact that the trifling improvement which has been made this year to the khall has induced loaded boats of 500 and even 800 maunds to go this way rather than by the outer route. It is probable, however, that the largest boats, say those of more than 2,000 maunds, would still avoid the Teetooah Khall. If they did do so, the proposed improvements would be of no value to them, as the route by Kharaiya river would be no shorter than the present outer route.

10. So far then as the largest boats are concerned, it appears probable that the improvement of the Bhangore Khall alone would be of very little, if any, service. To the smaller boats and the large empty boats returning east the improvement of the Bhangore Khall would no doubt be a great boon. As, however, the main object of the improvement of the khall is to enable the heavy jute

† The Chitpore lock was opened on the 14th February 1883.

‡ Since this was written the Bhangore Khall has been again temporarily cleared of silt and widened. The result was that a large proportion of the large boats abandoned the outer route. Boats up to 1,200 maunds and even larger used the Bhangore Khall.

traffic to avoid the "outer route," it appears essential that the Teetooah Khall should be made easily navigable to the larger boats to ensure the success of any improvement to the Bhangore. The Teetooah Khall could be made navigable to the largest boats by dredging, but it would probably need the constant service of one large dredger to keep the channel in a really satisfactory state. It is probable that an alternative channel avoiding the Teetooah Khall might be made through the Bairmaree gang. This matter is receiving consideration.

Paragraph 35 of Mr Isaac's report

11. Mr. Isaac considers that the only feasible project for permanently improving the Bhangore Khall is to construct a lock at each end, as shown in the accompanying tracing No. A.

12. There can be no doubt that this is the easiest and most ready way of improving the khall. But it is open to grave doubt whether the improvement would be permanent. It is certainly worthy of consideration whether it would not be wiser to make the entire length of the canal from Dhappa to Kooltee into one still-water reach, and thus save the cost of the lock proposed at the west end of the Bhangore Khall.

13. The tides now enter the Bhangore Khall at Kooltee on the east, and at Kantatolah on the west. The tides meet about the 18th to 20th miles. The tides from the Mutlah flow up the two branches of the Biddiadhuree to Kantatolah and Bamanghatta respectively. The flood tide up the eastern branch bifurcates at Kantatolah, so that the flood runs from east to west between Kantatolah and Bamanghatta. The floods unite at Bamanghatta and flow up the Ballaghatta canal to Dhappa. Between Bamanghatta and Dhappa several khalls on the north bank, and one, called Bantollah, on the south bank, lead off the flood tide into the Salt Water Lakes. The salt lakes and the khalls themselves receive a large body of water. The scouring action, due to the retention and discharge of the water in the lakes and khalls, maintains the channel navigable between Dhappa and Bamanghatta. Indeed, this action has considerably enlarged this channel. Evidence that this is so is given in the report of the Commission appointed in 1865 to consider the question of the reclamation of the Salt Lakes.

Paragraphs 19, 20, 21 of report of Commission on Salt Water Lakes reclamation, dated 22nd July 1865.

14. So long as the Salt Water Lakes remain unreclaimed, the channel between Dhappa and Bamanghatta will be easily navigable. But if the canal is locked, as Mr. Isaac proposed, in the 16th mile, the tidal flow between the proposed lock and Kantatolah will be greatly restricted. The old branch of the Biddiadhuree running north may have sufficient capacity to scour this portion of the canal, but this old branch is rapidly silting up. It is, indeed, already greatly reduced in size, and is practically closed about four miles from the canal. A time must come when its action will be insufficient. When this occurs the lock in the 16th mile will be soon completely closed with silt. It would seem that if a lock is placed at the western end of the Bhangore Khall at all it should be either at Kantatolah or Bamanghatta. In the latter case the Kantatolah gang must be closed.

(ii).—The present disposal of the Sewage and Storm-waters of Calcutta.

15. The sewage of Calcutta at present amounts to about 11 million gallons a day (about 20 cubic feet per second). It may ultimately, with the increased water-supply, amount to about 24 million gallons, or, say, 50 cubic feet per second. The sewage, after being pumped at Palmer's Bridge, is discharged by the high level sewer into an open channel terminating in a sluice at the point A (map No. 2). Under normal conditions the sewage passes from A down two artificial channels to the Bantollah Khall (No. 4 in the map) to the Eastern Canal. When this is the case, khalls Nos. 1, 2, and 3 are kept closed by the municipality. At times when the channels are being cleared of silt the sewage is discharged by the Rajah's Khall (No. 1).

16. At present the storm-waters of Calcutta, mingled with sewage, are discharged into the Circular Canal through the common sewers of the town. The outfall works now under construction contemplate the discharge of these waters into the Eastern Canal through khall No. 1.* A sluice is to be built at the point B. For many reasons it has been frequently contended that the storm-waters and sewage should not be discharged into the Eastern Canal. There can be no doubt that they make the canal below Dhappa most offensive. So long as the salt lakes are unreclaimed, the sewage will be more or less pushed up into them by the tide. It is a question on which opinions differ—as to whether this is injurious to health. But it would seem at least probable that a swamp containing water, which is more or less diluted sewage, and in which the sewage is never exposed to the deodorizing effect of contact with dry soil, must be injurious to the health of Calcutta and the Suburbs.

* These works were first brought into use, though not entirely completed, in July 1883.

(iii).—The Salt Water Lakes.

17. A resolution by the Government of Bengal says:—"The reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes, to which Mr. Whitfield refers, is a project which the growing prevalence of fever in Calcutta makes it very desirable to see again brought forward."

Medical and Municipal Department, dated 12th June 1880. Calcutta Gazette of 16th November 1881.

18. In 1865 a Commission was appointed by the Government of Bengal for the purpose of enquiring into the project for the reclamation of the lakes. Much valuable information will be found in this. The Commission, after recording the evidence of several eminent medical men, stated that "the weight of evidence establishes the fact that the existence of the tract in its present state is most injurious to the health of Calcutta." The state of the lakes now is almost the same as it was in 1865.

Report dated 22nd July 1865.

19. Mr. Whitfield, lately the Executive Engineer of the Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, in speaking of the defective drainage of the 24-Pergunnahs, says:—"The most important, from its proximity to Calcutta, though not the most extensive of these marshes or bheels, is the Salt Water Lake, which lies on the eastern side of the town of Calcutta adjoining the suburbs, and is nowhere more than three miles from the town itself. The Salt Water Lake extends the full length of the town, overspreading an area of 21 square miles, over which the tide, coming up the Riddiadhuree and Calcutta Canal, overflows. For the most part the lake is very shallow, and on the outflow of the tide a considerable portion is left dry. This lake forms a basin for the reception of the Calcutta sewage. At first the greatest portion of the sewage flows into the canal, and the tide meeting the outward current brings it back and spreads it over the salt lakes. On the tide receding, a large portion of the lake is left dry, and exhales into the air the odours of fœtid sewage, combined with those of decomposing vegetable and animal matter, which, when an easterly wind blows, are carried over the town of Calcutta. The character of these exhalations can be best appreciated by going down the canal at low tide from Chitpore to Khoodhatti, about 15 miles down the southern limit of the Salt Water Lake. Whether Calcutta is affected by this, and, if so, to what extent, is more a question for medical men to decide than for engineers."

No. 744 of 31st March 1879, from Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, to Collector, 24-Pergunnahs. Calcutta Gazette, 30th January 1880.

20. The northern lake receives its supply of tidal water entirely from the Eastern Canal. The principal khalls by which the tide enters this lake are the Nuobhanga Khall, the Pouran Chupprassees Khall, and the Hatgachia Khall. These khalls are from 100 to 250 feet broad at their mouths. From these main khalls there are endless ramifications of smaller creeks, by which the tidal water is spread over the face of the swamp. The edges of all these khalls are somewhat raised, and in many cases there are small embankments, 12 or 18 inches high, along the banks of them. It is possible to walk in places along these embankments, but a few yards away from them a man sinks up to his ankles, and a little further again up to his knees in mud and water. The western portion of this lake above Dhappa is open and fairly free from jungle. It is a swamp more or less divided into shallow tanks by small embankments on the edges of little khalls. These tanks or bheels are sometimes open; sometimes covered with a low rank grass. The lower portion is in many parts thickly covered with jungle, composed of trees and bushes, and in other parts of tall grass. In the eastern part of the lake, where drainage is facilitated by the greater range of the tide, there are portions reclaimed and cultivated.

The greater portion of this lake is let out for fishing. The small embankments referred to have been made for fishing purposes. The water is allowed to fill into the embanked portions with the rising tide. When the tide recedes, nets or fishing boxes of bamboo are fixed at the outlets to catch the fish as they go out with the falling water. Sometimes bunds are thrown across the entrances to the embanked areas, and the fish are kept prisoners until it suits the convenience of the lessee of the fishery to catch them. In the northern lake the khalls can all be navigated at high tide by small boats right up to the margin of the lake, but there is no open expanse of water as in the southern lake.

21. The area of the northern lake below reduced level 7·0+M. S. L. is about 17½ square miles. There is no complete survey of the lakes existing. Drawing No. 3 is a partial copy from the 4-inch map in the Surveyor-General's office on to which the khalls have been plotted from a survey made in 1878 by Mr. Neuville, Executive Engineer. The levels given on the plan have been taken this year. From these it will be seen that in the lowest part of the lake the ground level is about 4·00 + M. S. L.

22. The southern lake, plan No. 4, is different in character to the northern one. It has fewer sources of supply. It may be said to be entirely clear of jungle. It forms at high tide almost one expanse of water over which small boats, of a few inches in draught, pass freely for miles. It is used more largely for fishing even than the northern lake, but there are hardly any small marginal embankments to the khalls. The fish are caught either by casting nets or by bamboo boxes fixed in the khalls.

23. The southern lake is almost entirely supplied with tidal water from two large khalls. The first of these, the Byar Nullah, or Gowlpotta Khall, enters the lake from the Biddiadhuree about midway between Bamanghatta and Samookpotta. This is the larger and deeper of the two khalls. The second is the Bantollah Khall, which enters the lake from the Eastern Canal about midway between Dhappa and Bamanghatta. It is often supposed that the southern lake receives tidal water from Tolly's Nullah. It does so, but the supply which enters from Tolly's Nullah is infinitesimal compared with that which is carried to the lake by the two large khalls previously mentioned. From the 12th to the 17th mile of Tolly's Nullah, that is, from about the village of Nowabad to Samookpotta, none of the khalls have any connection with the lakes. Between Nowabad and Gurreah there are several small khalls which are in connection with the lake during the rainy season, when the water in Tolly's Nullah, which, at that time, is almost entirely supplied from the Hooghly, is comparatively fresh. In the cold-weather, probably about January, these khalls are generally embanked, with the exception of one at Paunchpotta, which, during the present year, at any rate, has been left open. It is a small khall, only about 25 feet broad, and 10 or 12 feet deep at high water.

24. It is more than probable that, some years ago, the tidal channels of the Biddiadhuree and the Eastern Canal communicated by many more khalls with the southern lake than they now do. Khalls Nos. 1, 2, and 3 are, under normal conditions, kept closed by the municipality. Khalls 5, 6, and 7 have evidently silted up greatly, and that portion of the Byar Nullah which runs between Bantollah Khall (No. 4) and khall No. 6 is almost obliterated. It is dry at low water, and only about 8 feet broad at high water in the centre. Khalls Nos. 5, 6, and 7 are now closed by the villagers. The Bantollah Khall is known to have widened considerably of late years, and it is supposed that the Gowlpotta Khall has done the same.

25. There are considerable areas on the margin of the southern lake which are more or less cultivated now. The ryots sow rice in the hope that it may prosper; sometimes they get a crop, and sometimes none. If the rainfall is particularly heavy, the crop may live; if not, it is killed by the salt water. This is more the case in that part of the lake which borders on Tolly's Nullah than that near the canal. In the former case the water is not so salt in the rains, as the supply from Tolly's Nullah is fresh.

(iv).—The drainage of the country of which the Canal forms the discharging channel.

26. It is difficult to define exactly the area which now drains into the canal. The areas coloured green on map No. 2 are as fair approximations as can be made.

27. The area which drains into the northern lake is marked as 74 square miles. It is probable that this may exaggerate the area concerned, as it is almost impossible to say what becomes of the drainage of the more northern portion of this area. It is quite probable that some of the rainfall may escape through the Khurdah Khall or by the Nawai Nuddee, which runs on the northern boundary of this area. A scheme is now under preparation for the improvement of the Nawai Nuddee and for sluicing the khalls which drain, more or less, the area lying to the west of the Nawai Nuddee. The northern lake receives, during the rainy season, in addition to the rainfall over its catchment area, a supply of water from the Hooghly through a small khall, called the Beddia Khall, which enters from the Hooghly a little north of Burranuggur, crosses the Barrackpore road and Eastern Bengal Railway between the Barrackpore and Dum-Dum stations, and flows into the extreme northern boundary of the salt lake near Dum-Dum. This khall, drawing No. 5, is a very small one, and during a portion of its course is quite lost in the rice fields. All the villagers on its course agree in stating that a very considerable amount of water is brought into the country through this khall during the rains from the Hooghly.

28. The area draining into the canal to the north of the Bhangore Khall, marked 43 square miles, may be accepted as fairly reliable. The old course of the Biddiadhuree is practically closed a little below Ooreahparah. The watershed from Ooreahparah eastward is well defined. It is probable that some spills from the Nawai Nuddee do find their way across the road in the neighbourhood of Ooreahparah, but these must be comparatively insignificant, and ought to be compelled to follow their natural drainage line, which is through the upper branch of the Biddiadhuree through the Hurwa gang to Kooltee.

29. On the south of the canal the catchment area of the southern Salt Water Lake, south of the Byar Nullah, is about 33 square miles. On the north of the Byar Nullah there is an area of about 4½ square miles, which drains, and must always drain, into the canal. The drainage of the 33 square miles is at present discharged partly into the canal, chiefly into the Biddiadhuree through the Gowlpotta Khall, and to some comparatively small extent into Tolly's Nullah by the smaller khalls which are opened by the villagers during the rains.

30. The area between the Biddiadhuree and the Kantatolah gang does not affect the canal to any appreciable extent.

31. Eastwards of this and south of the canal there is an area of about 15 square miles bordering on the canal which drains, and must always drain, into it.

32. The stream shown on the map as the Biddiadhuree Nullah, running from about the 18th mile of the canal to a point a little south of Taurdah, is now practically obliterated. It is completely closed at its southern extremity. Whatever drainage enters it is either impounded in tanks in its bed or discharged partly through a small khall which has opened out between the 17th mile of the canal and the old bed of the nullah, or through the Moosur Khall which connects this nullah with the Kantatolah gang. It would be quite easy to compel all the drainage of the Surrelleah Khall to be discharged southwards either through the Moosur Khall or by opening up the old bed of the nullah towards Taurdah. For these reasons it is quite safe to ignore any drainage affecting the canal through the old Biddiadhuree Nullah.

PART III.

THE PROJECT.

(i).—The Eastern Canal up to Kooltee.

33. The deterioration of the Bhangore Khall, plans Nos. 6 and 7, is no doubt due to some extent to the gradual advance of the delta of the Ganges. This must in time—in the course of ages it may be—cause the extinction of all of the channels running at right angles to the general direction of the tidal flow, and to many of those running parallel to it. It is more immediately due to gradual land reclamation on both banks of the khall. This reclamation of land cannot and should not be stopped.

No one can say how long it will be before the same action that has deteriorated the Bhangore Khall will similarly affect the canal between Dhappa and Bamanghatta The time may be far distant, but it will certainly come. Already the construction of the Dhappa lock has to some extent restricted the tidal flow. The silent, but steady, progress of petty reclamation in both lakes is perhaps at present insignificant, but time may make it sufficiently potent to nearly destroy the present canal. Should the salt lakes be reclaimed, as they can easily and profitably be, and as the Government desire they should be, the navigation between Dhappa and Bamanghatta could only be maintained either by most costly dredging operations, or by adopting in the end the main proposals which are set out in this note.

Is it not wiser to grapple at once with the full difficulties of the position rather than to dabble with expedients which can but give comparatively temporary advantages?

34 The main feature of this project is the conversion of the canal from Dhappa to Kooltee into one still-water reach. This it is proposed to do by placing a 40 feet lock, plan No. 7, at the eastern end of the Bhangore Khall at Kooltee, and by closing the Biddiadhuree below Bamanghatta, and the Kantatolah gang below Kantatolah. This would exclude all tidal action from the canal, except that some water would find its way through the southern lake by the Gowlpotta and Bantollah Khalls into the canal. It is proposed to place a sluice at the point C (drawing No. 2) to exclude the tide from entering the canal in this direction.

35. In order to dispose of the drainage of the country, which must discharge into and through the canal, it is proposed to open up one of the old channels which enters the Byar Nullah a little below the point C. It may perhaps be necessary to excavate an entirely new channel here. A sluice is proposed to be placed at the tail of this channel, capable of discharging half an inch in 24 hours over the area of 136½ square miles, which may be supposed to drain into the canal. The lock at Kooltee is to be placed at the tail of a new channel (drawing No. 8) which is to be excavated from a little below the 24th milestone to a point opposite to, and a little above, the mouth of the Kooltee gang. The old channel is to be utilised as a silt trap. It is proposed to place near the mouth of this old channel a sluice (drawing No. 9) which can be utilised both for the discharge of drainage and also to admit tidal water into the canal, should it be necessary at any time to do so. This sluice is designed to admit only surface water from the Kooltee gang.

36. The water level in the new still-water reach between Dhappa and Kooltee must be one which will constantly vary. It is proposed that in the cold-weather the level should be generally kept at about R.L. 1·00 + M.S.L., but during this season the actual level will probably vary from R.L. 0·00 + 2·00 + M.S.L It is proposed to excavate the canal, where necessary, to a bed level of 6·00—M.S.L., so that there would always be at least six feet of water in the canal. A longitudinal section of the proposed canal is shown in plan No. 12.

37. As the canal will be at a low level, the lockage, both from the eastern and also from the western end, will almost invariably be into the canal, and not out of it. It has been calculated that the amount of water brought into the Dhappa and Kooltee Reach by lockage will approximate to the evaporation from the canal.

38. The Byar Nullah or Gowlpotta Khall and the Biddiadhuree between Bamanghatta and Samookpotta are now kept open by the tidal scour. When the Biddiadhuree is closed, and the Byar Nullah is sluiced, it is considered certain that both of these streams will silt up, unless arrangements are made for constantly scouring them out. If the sewage and storm-waters of Calcutta are to be excluded from the canal, it is essential that these two channels should be kept open for their discharge. It is proposed to effect this by admitting a considerable supply of water into the canal during high tide, and to discharge it at low tide through the channels which it is desired to keep open. It is proposed to place a sluice at the mouth of the Beddia Khall on the Hooghly bank, and to excavate a channel, plan No 5, from it to the Nowbhangha Khall, which flows through the northern Salt Water Lake into the canal below the Dhappa lock. This sluice and channel are proposed to be made of such dimensions, appendix No. 2, that it will be possible to give a discharge of about 400 cubic feet per second during one low tide daily down the Byar Nullah and Biddiadhuree. This discharge, it is considered, will be sufficient to keep these channels sufficiently clear of silt. This discharge can be passed from the canal into the channels concerned, either from the drainage sluice at the point C, or down the proposed sewage channel from the Rajah Khall to the point C.

39 The success of this project depends entirely on the feasibility of closing the Biddiadhuree and Kantatolah gangs. Cross sections of these rivers are given on plan No. 4. The Biddiadhuree is at least 15 feet deep at low water. The tide in it is very strong. It must certainly be a costly undertaking to close this river. It would perhaps be necessary to close several of the larger khalls leading into the northern lake, and to complete the new drainage channel and sluice referred to in paragraph 34, before it would be feasible to throw an embankment across the Biddiadhuree. It would be comparatively easy to close the Kantatolah gang by temporarily closing the Bhangore Khall and the Sitamary Khall. A lump sum of Rs. 1,15,000 has been entered in the estimates for closing these two channels.

(ii).—The disposal of the Sewage and Storm-waters.

40. It is not improbable that when the southern lake is reclaimed the whole of the sewage of Calcutta might be utilised in the cultivation of the bed of the lake. But as it must be years before this can occur, it is essential to provide a satisfactory channel which will carry the sewage to the Biddiadhuree without contaminating the proposed still-water reach of the canal. This is easily possible. Instead of permitting the storm-waters of Calcutta to enter the canal through the Rajah Khall, it is proposed to continue the open channel, which is now being excavated for these waters, from the Rajah Khall down the present course of the sewage outfall channel across the Bantollah Khall, and down the silted-up bed of the old Byar canal, between the Bantollah Khall and the point C. At the point C this channel would terminate in the outfall sluice, plan No. 10, which it is proposed to construct there. This channel is already partly made by the municipality north of the Bantollah Khall. It would only be necessary in that portion to broaden and deepen it It would be necessary, of course, to embank both sides of this channel, which would necessitate closing the Bantollah Khall. Sections of this khall are given in plan No. 4 At the point where this channel would leave the Rajah Khall it is proposed to place a sluice, plan No 11, capable of discharging 400 cubic feet a second into the sewage channel. This sluice would be fitted with draw-gates, and could be used daily to flush out the sewage channel, and to keep open the Gowlpotta Khall below the outfall sluice at C.

41. The longitudinal sections on plan No. 12 shows the levels propored for the bed of this channel. As there is no accurate survey existing, the length of the channel, which must be approximately correct, has been taken from the map. It is proposed to use this channel to discharge both the storm-waters and the sewage. It will be noticed from the sections that the floor of the existing sewage outfall sluice is above the bed of the proposed new channel. It will be necessary to prevent the sewage from finding its way up the storm outfall channel to Palmer's Bridge. For this purpose a light self-acting sluice, plan No. 14, is proposed to be erected a little above the point where the present sewage outfall sluice will discharge into the new channel.*

42. The storm-waters of Calcutta are supposed to be carried off at the rate of one-fourth inch per hour over the entire area of the town, including 60 acres of the maidan. This gives about 1,162 cubic feet per second. The storm-water outfall channel, which is now being constructed by the municipality, has 25 feet base, 1½ to 1 side slopes, and a fall of 1 in 4,000. Such a channel, with 10 feet of water, and with a surface slope equal to the bed slope, would discharge over 1,300 cubic feet a second.

* Since this was written a large outfall sluice has been built at this point, so that the light self-acting sluice here referred to will be unnecessary, and has been expunged from the estimates.

43. The channel, as now being constructed, is about three miles long. Its capacity as a reservoir up to 10 feet above bed level is 6 millions of cubic feet. This is only equivalent to the rainfall discharge for about 1½ hours, even supposing the channel to be empty. In the event of the heavy rain falling a few hours before high tide, the discharge of the rainfall must be impeded by the channel, for the surface slope of 1 in 4,000 cannot be obtained until the tide falls to 4·75+ M S. L. at Dhappa, which might not be until three or four hours after the channel had become full up to the tide level. If the channel is extended, as is now proposed, this impediment to the discharge will be increased, unless the channel is enlarged below the point from which it is now proposed to extend it. For these reasons it is proposed to make the extension down the Byar Nullah 40 feet base, 2 to 1 side slopes, and with about the same bed slope as the channel now under construction.

44. The full water level of the storm-water channel at Palmer's Bridge is 8 75+M S. L. Until the water in the outfall channel had risen to this level there would be no impedient to the discharge of the intercepting sewer. The proposed new channel below the Rajah Khall would, during the rainy season, rarely drain below 1 00, or even 2 00+M. S. L. The capacity of channel between 2 0 and, say, 8·75+M S. L. would be about 9 millions of cubic feet, which is only equivalent to rather more than two hours' rainfall over the Calcutta area at one-fourth inch per hour. It is highly probable, then, that, whether the outfall channel be extended or not, the intercepting sewer will often be surcharged. When it is so the outfall channel will be able to discharge constantly through the sluice at C, as the tide there does not rise above 7 50+M. S. L But the discharge will be slow.

45. The sewage and storm-water outfall sluice at C (drawing No. 10) is proposed to have four openings of 10 feet width. The depth flowing through this sluice would vary with the rainfall and tide levels. It is most difficult to estimate the discharge of this sluice. The conditions would be so extremely variable and uncertain. It certainly cannot be assumed that the level below the sluice would be the tide level of the Biddiadhuree, for the sluice is about three miles from that river, and the discharge of the sluice itself would fill the channel below it to a considerable depth. In fact, the discharge would be regulated much more by the size of the channel than by the sluice. The channel below the Rajah Khall would be competent to carry as follows —

Depth of water.	Area of water-way.	Slope per 1,000.	Velocity.	Discharge.
12 feet	768	·05	1 7	1,305
10 do.	600	·10	2·2	1,320

so that with a very trifling slope the channel would carry the discharge.

46 The waterway of the sluice at H. F. level is 680 feet, so that a velocity of 2 feet per second would be sufficient at that level to carry the discharge. At half tide a velocity of less than 4 feet per second would carry the discharge of the channel at that level. A very small head on the sluice would ensure these velocities.

47. The sluice is designed with gates facing both ways. The upper gates are of wood; the lower ones of iron. It is doubtful whether it is wise to put gates looking up the channel. They would be useful in order to impound water in the channel to give a good scour at the turn of the tide: they would be useful also to enable the villagers to irrigate their fields, and it is chiefly for this latter reason that they are provided. They might be dangerous if a heavy storm in Calcutta found them closed.

48. The sewage channel is now cleared of silt by hand excavation. While this is being done the sewage is diverted into another channel which discharges into the canal through the Rajah Khall. If the works which are proposed in this report are carried out, this temporary diversion of the sewage will not be easily possible. It is propcsed, then, that the sewage channel, as well as the extension, shall be cleared, when necessary, by dredging. A small steam dredger, similar to those in use in the Sone Canal, of 6 H. P., would be capable of keeping the channel clear.

(iii).—The Reclamation of the Salt Water Lakes.

49. The northern lake, as has been described above, is inundated by tidal water flowing up the Biddiadhuree and Kantatolah gangs. These rivers it is proposed to close entirely. This lake also receives to a small extent tidal water in the rains through the Beddia Khall. This will be closed, or rather will be regulated by the head sluice of the supply channel.

51. Simply for the purpose of improving the Bhangore Khall it is not necessary to construct any works for the reclamation of the southern lake, but the necessary works go such a long way towards the reclamation of the southern lake that it has been thought advisable to include the remaining works in the estimates.

52. The Bantollah Khall not only partly supplies the southern lake, but also drains some of the country in its vicinity. This drainage must either be provided for by a drainage cut running parallel to the proposed extension of the sewage outfall channel, or a drainage sluice must be placed at the point where the sewage outfall channel crosses the Bantollah Khall In the former case the channel must fall into the Khurkee Khall, a little above the point where it joins the Byar Nullah, that is, a little below the main outfall sluice at C. In the latter case the sluice must discharge into the sewage outfall channel. This may perhaps be considered a disadvantage by the municipality, but this plan is on the whole preferable, for this reason that it would be possible to utilise the sluice not only as an escape for the drainage, but also as an inlet for the sewage into the lake. When the lake is reclaimed the sewage would very probably be valuable, not only for occasional irrigation of the rice crop, but also during the dry season for the irrigation of the succulent crops It appears highly probable that the southern lake might be extensively cultivated during the dry season.

53. The reclamation of the southern lake would be effected by the construction of a sluice at the point where the Khurkee Khall falls into the Gowlpotta Khall, and by the construction of two or three small sluices on Tolly's Nullah. Hardly any embankment would be necessary, except perhaps a few miles on the Gowlpotta Khall and a short length on Tolly's Nullah. The existing khalls would form the drainage channels.

54. In the resolution of the Government of Bengal, Medical and Municipal Department, dated 12th June 1880, it is stated that "the Lieutenant-Governor would be prepared to support the grant of any reasonable concessions to a substantial company undertaking" the reclamation of the lakes. There is little doubt that a company could be formed for the reclamation of both lakes, but until it is decided whether this project is taken up by Government or not, the company could not commence operations ; for if the tides are not excluded from the canal, the works necessary to reclaim the lakes must be of a different and more extensive character.

(iv).—The Drainage of the Country which drains into the Canal.

55. The rainfall over the area which will drain into the proposed Dhappa-Kooltee Reach may be best estimated from the rainfall returns of Baraset, Dum-Dum, Alipore, and Barripore. The rainfall returns of the last twelve years for these places give the following results. The figures give the average of the four places named :—

56. Whenever the rainfall has exceeded 4 inches it has been local, that is, to say, that more than 4 inches of rainfall has not, during the twelve years referred to, ever fallen simultaneously at all the places named. The one day when 12 32 inches was recorded at Baraset, the rainfall was 7 9 at Dum-Dum, 0·64 at Alipore, and only 2·70 at Barripore.

57. The greatest monthly rainfall recorded during the last twelve years was 29·54 inches at Alipore in June 1871. The greatest daily rainfall at the same place during that month was 5·43 inches. But the average rainfall over the four stations quoted during that same month was only 19·42 inches. The following statement gives the average monthly rainfall for the last twelve years :—

58. The area which will drain into the canal varies in level from 3 00+ M.S.L. to 8·00+M S.L. There are occasional local mounds rising above this, but these are not extensive. The area concerned is almost entirely under rice cultivation Experience in the Dancoonee drainage works appears to show that it is ample if arrangements are made to drain off five-eighth of an inch in 24 hours over the entire catchment area, and that the rice may remain from six to eight days under water, if the water be clear, without much damage being done to it Mr. Whitfield thought that one-fourth inch per day was sufficient to provide for in the Ampta drainage scheme. General Haig, in his notes on the projects prepared by Mr. Dejoux and Mr. Kimber for a canal in eastern districts, allowed half inch in some parts and one inch in others.

59. It is proposed in the present case to allow for a discharge of five-eighth inch in 24 hours over the entire catchment area when the canal level has risen to 6·00+M. S. L.

60. The area which would drain into the new reach would be—

		Miles.	Miles.
West of Kantatolah, north. of canal	... ...	74
Ditto ditto, south of do.	... ...	4½
			78½
East of Kantatolah, north of canal	... ...	43
Ditto ditto, south of do.	... ...	15
Total	...		136½

61. The area drained by the Surrelleah Khall lying to the south of Bhangore near Narainpore (map No. 2) is about 10 square miles. A portion of the drainage of this now finds its way into the Bhangore Khall, but it can easily be diverted either into the Kantatolah gang or down the old bed of the Biddiadhuree Nullah into the Mutlah.

62. The drainage from the catchment of 136½ square miles would have two ordinary means of exit—the drainage sluice at C on the Byar Nullah (plan No 10) and the sluice at Kooltee (plan No. 9). When requisite, the tunnels of the Kooltee lock, which would carry between 400 and 600 cubic feet per second, or even the lock itself, might be used to escape drainage.

63 It is intended that the water level in the rains shall be generally about 6·00+M. S. L., but under extreme circumstances this may rise to 7·00, or even 7·50+M. S. L. The latter level would only give about 4½ feet of water in the lowest ground, and would be approximately the present highest flood level. The main drainage channel from the canal to the point C would be about 1 mile in length: it would join the Byar Nullah at that point. From the point C to the Biddiadhuree is about three miles. The channel from the canal to the Biddiadhuree, then, would be in all about 4 miles long. During the time of discharge of the maximum amount of drainage this channel would be monopolised by the drainage water, and may fairly be regarded as a channel having a constant level at the canal and subject to tidal levels at its tail. Low water level in the Biddiadhuree would rarely be below 2·00—M. S. L., or above 7 50 + M. S. L., so that the surface slope of the channel would vary, if the canal were at 6 00+ M. S. L., from 0 to 2 feet per mile. Probably it may be safely assumed that the discharge which would be obtained down the drainage channel would be in excess of that due to a fall of 3 inches per mile, or, say, ·05 per thousand, acting during such time as the tidal level was below the canal level.

64. It is proposed to excavate the drainage channel to a bed level of 3·00—M. S. L., side slopes of 1½ to 1, and a bed width of 140 feet. The side slopes might not improbably silt up or cut away to 1 to 1. The following table shows the discharges of such a channel with a slope of ·05 per 1,000 with 1 to 1 slopes :—

Reduced Level of Water in Canal.	Depth in channel.	Discharge per second in cubic feet.	Velocity in feet per second.
	Feet.
3·00 + M. S. L.	6	1,225	1·4
4·00 + „	7	1,600	1·5
5·00 + „	8	2,017	1·7
6·00 + „	9	2,472	1·8
7·00 + „	10	2,959	1·9

65. The highest tide level may be taken to be about 7·50. The tidal curve shows that the tidal level would not remain above 6+M.S.L. more than about three hours at the outside during each tide; so that with the canal at 6·00+M. S. L., the discharge through the channel would continue during about 18 hours at the rate of 2,472 cubic feet per second, or at an average rate throughout the entire 24 hours of 1,857 cubic feet per second. This represents half an inch over the entire catchment of 136½ square miles, or 0·88 inch over the catchment west of Kantatolah of 78½ square miles.

66. The sluice at the point C, drawing No. 14, when the channel was running under these conditions, would act only as a bridge across the channel. The level of the water below the sluice would vary but little from that above it. When the water was at 6·00+M.S.L., the waterway of the sluice would be (4×15×8)=480 superficial feet. An afflux of about 9 or 10 inches would cause sufficient velocity—about 5 feet per second—to discharge the amount referred to. The Gowlpotta Khall below the point C is a stream varying from 110 to 160 feet broad at high water level. The bed is from 8 to 14 feet below M.S.L. It is therefore amply large enough to carry the drainage discharge.

67. In addition to the discharge of the main drainage channel the sluice at Kooltee (drawing No. 9) would, with the canal at 6·00+M.S.L., be competent to discharge at least 400 cubic feet during the time the tide was below 6·00+M.S.L., or an average of 300 cubic feet per second during the 24 hours. This amounts to 0·2 inch over the catchment of 58 square miles east of Kantatolah.

68. The two sluices referred to would be competent, then, to carry off five-eighth about inch in 24 hours with the canal level at about 6·00. At times of extraordinary rainfall the canal might safely rise to 7·00, or even above that level. This would increase the discharging capacity of the channels by at least 20 per cent, and if at such times the Kooltee tunnels or the lock itself were opened for the discharge of drainage, it is thought that there would be more than ample power of discharge.

PART IV.

The Estimates.

69. The estimates have been prepared from the best information available, but they must only be taken as approximations to the probable cost of the works proposed in this note. There are no detailed surveys or levels of the khalls which it is proposed to utilize for the sewage and storm-water channel, but the ground is very flat, and the estimates of this portion cannot err greatly, as the general ground level is known. In taking out the quantities for the sewage channel it has been assumed that the existing khalls have no existence, so that the earthwork is certainly greater than it should be.

70. The quantities of earthwork in the Bhangore Khall have been taken from plan No. 6. This was made in 1880 by Baboo Kirty Chunder Chowdhry. The khall has probably altered to some slight extent since then.

71. The estimate for the Kooltee lock has been chiefly prepared by comparison with the estimates of the Chitpore lock. Drawing No. 7 is an outline of this work, prepared by Mr. Horn.

72. The estimate for the supply channel is based on the longitudinal and cross-sections shown on plan No. 5: these have been recently taken.

73. The estimates have been divided into five main sections—

1*st.*—Preliminary charges.

2*nd.*—Canal works—

(a)—Deepening and straightening the Bhangore Khall and the new channel at Kooltee.
(b)—Closing the Biddiadhuree and Kantatolah gangs.
(c)—The Kooltee lock.
(d)—Inlet and drainage sluice at Kooltee.
(e)—Inspector's residence at Kooltee.

3*rd.*—Supply works—

(f)—Channel from Dukkynessore to the head of the Salt Water Lake.
(g)—Head sluice of this channel.
(h)—Other masonry works on the same.

4*th.*—Drainage works—

(k)—Drainage channel from the canal to the Byar Nullah.
(l)—Drainage outlet sluice into the Byar Nullah at the point C.
(m)—Outlet and flushing sluice from the canal at Rajah's Khall into the sewage and storm-water discharge channel.

(n)—Sluice-keeper's quarters at outfall sluice at point C.
(o)—Works for reclamation of southern lake.

5th.—Sewage and storm-water works—

(p)—Enlarging and deepening the present outfall channel from Rajah's Khall to the Bantollah Khall.
(q)—Extending the sewage outfall channel from the Bantollah Khall to the Byar Nullah at the point C.
(r)—Closing the Bantollah Khall.
(s)—Alterations to the sluice at the tail of the present sewage open channel.
(t)—Sewage and storm-water outfall sluice into the Byar Nullah at point C.

74. The earthwork of the canal and of the supply channel has been taken out in detail from the sections given in the drawings. The estimates of the masonry works have, in most cases, been approximately taken out by sub-heads of work from the drawings, but in some cases the cost of masonry works has been obtained by approximations from similar designs.

75. Land has been allowed for in all cases. There seems some doubt, however, whether Government should pay for land, such as that in the Byar Nullah, which has been formed by the silting up of an old channel.

PART V.

Financial Considerations.

76. Mr. Isaac (paragraph 36, appendix 1) considered that the improvement of the Bhangore Khall in the manner proposed by himself would cost six lakhs of rupees. This estimate does not seem to have taken cognizance of works which would be necessary to discharge the drainage which would have fallen into the khall. The present estimate for "canal works," that is, for that portion of the project which deals only with the canal as a navigable line, amounts to Rs. 9,85,383. This is the only figure which should be charged against the Eastern Canals.

77. The supply works are chiefly necessary to keep open the sewage and storm-water channels, but they are also most valuable, both from a sanitary and agricultural point of view, for they give good fresh water to a large area where the water is now salt. The water brought into the khalls and the canal from the Hooghly would certainly be used for drinking, and also for irrigation in dry years. The cost of these works is Rs. 3,08,879, without book charges. Of this amount perhaps 1 lakh might be considered the share due to the necessities of the Calcutta sewage channels, and the remainder might be treated in whatever way it is considered advisable to treat the drainage works.

78. It is most difficult to say how the cost of the drainage works should be met. There can be little doubt that these works would improve the drainage of all the area concerned; that they would very greatly improve the drainage of all the lower lands in the neighbourhood of the canal, and that they would at once raise the value of all the Salt Water Lake land at least 300 per cent. It would probably be difficult to work this portion of the project under Act VI of 1880, the "Bengal Drainage Act;" the area concerned is large, and the number of proprietors must be very great. The reclamation of the lakes is a matter probably affecting the health and prosperity of Calcutta, and it might be desirable on these grounds to treat the drainage works as works of public sanitation, the cost of which would be properly defrayed out of ordinary provincial revenues; but if this were done the owners of the lake lands would benefit very largely.

79. The sewage and storm-water works are estimated, without book charges, at Rs. 1,77,662. This sum should, strictly speaking, be borne by the Municipality of Calcutta, together with a share of the supply works. But as Government has consented to bear half the cost of the present intercepting sewer and attendant works, probably the same arrangement would be equitable in this case; the remainder might be charged to provincial revenues.

80. Possibly the most satisfactory way of meeting all the cost of drainage, supply, and sewage of storm-water works would be that suggested by the resolution of the Government of Bengal of 12th June 1880, that is, to place the whole matter in the hands of substantial company which might undertake the works, with certain Government and municipal concessions for the profits which must accrue on the reclamation of the lakes.

81. It must be borne in mind that the estimates given are for the cost of works only, the book charges for tools and plant, establishment, pensions, interest under construction, &c., have not been added. These would increase the ultimate charges by about 33 per cent.

Supplementary note by R. B. BUCKLEY, ESQ., dated 27th July 1883.

(1) I have been asked to supplement the foregoing note, in order to "indicate the returns likely to be earned by a company, on the supposition that the Salt Water Lakes could be purchased under the Land Acquisition Act at a moderate (equitable) price."

(2) I take it that twenty years' purchase of the net revenue now derived from the lakes would be an equitable price. But this price would, I feel sure, not be readily accepted by the zemindars. They, for some reason or another, are opposed to the reclamation of the lakes.

(3) The revenue now collected by the zemindars is chiefly from fisheries, but partly from those small portions of the lakes which have been reclaimed and cultivated From enquiries made by myself, personally, I estimate that the gross revenue derived by the zemindars over the entire area of the lakes proper does not average Re. 1 per bigha. Thus I find—

		Rs.
(1)	In the village of Goalbarreah a plot of 1,000 bighas, of which about 350 is cultivated, pays	1,050
(2)	Another plot of 700 bighas, of which 150 is cultivated, pays ...	1,000
(3)	A plot close to Bamunghatta (an eligible site) of 2,000 bighas pays for fisheries alone	1,600
(4)	Another plot in the same locality of 1,000 to 1,100 bighas lets for fisheries alone for	750

Thus the fishery rights appear to be worth about 12 annas a bigha. Lands which are reclaimed may perhaps bring in a gross revenue to the zemindars of Rs. 2 and Rs. 3 per bigha; but these areas in the lake proper are small, and the cultivation is precarious. The Government revenue paid by the zemindars is, I understand, less than one anna a bigha. The cost of collection of revenue and loss from bad debts, &c., may be taken at not less than one anna in the rupee; so that the net profit to the zemindars does not probably exceed 14 annas a bigha; and as I have no doubt that there are considerable areas which bring in no revenue, I think that twenty years' purchase on 14 annas a bigha is an equitable price to be paid for the lake proper, and that this valuation overstates the present value of the land. The price per bigha to a company would then be as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Twenty years' purchase, at 14 annas	17	8	0
Statutory allowance, at 15 per cent.	2	10	0
Value of trees (on the average, say)	4	14	0
Cost of establishment, at 6 per cent.	1	8	0
Add capitalization of Government revenue, say ...	1	4	0
Total ...	27	12	0

or, say, Rs. 30 per bigha.

In 1864-65 the lands were valued at rather more than Rs. 10 per bigha, taking them all round. The fishery lands were priced at Rs. 30, and the unclaimed jungle at Rs. 5 per bigha.

Paragraph 7, page 17 of report, dated 22nd July 1865, by the Commission.

(4) Mr. Clarke, the Engineer to the Corporation of Calcutta, in 1872 estimated the cost of reclaiming the lakes at Rs. 2,74,160, or about Rs. 5 per bigha, on the area treated. Mr. Whitfield, the Executive Engineer of the Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, estimated, in 1879, the cost at Rs. 1,50,801 (paragraph 27 of page 664 of Supplement to Calcutta Gazette of 30th June 1880): this was for a somewhat smaller area, making the cost about Rs. 4 per bigha.

(5) The works which are necessary for the simple purpose of reclaiming the Salt Water Lakes would be of a nature totally different from those proposed in the foregoing report. The works there described treat the reclamation of the lakes as subsidiary to a project the main object of which is the improvement of the canal. A company taking up the lakes would proceed by means of marginal embankments on the large khalls with sluices at intervals. The following is an approximate estimate of the cost of the works necessary:—

	Rs.
Sluices, aggregating 400 square feet of waterway, at Rs. 200 per square foot	80,000
32 miles of embankments, at Rs. 2,500 per mile ...	80,000
Raising sites for villages	20,000
Clearing jungle and contingencies	20,000
Total works ...	2,00,000
Add for tools and plant and establishment charges ...	50,000
GRAND TOTAL ...	2,50,000

(6) The total area cannot be accurately defined. I am inclined to consider the area under-estimated, at 21 square miles, if the lake be defined as the area lying below the highest spring tide level. But the area which might be profitably taken up by a company would not, I think, exceed 19 square miles, or, say, 36,000 bighas of land, of which about 3,000 bighas would be required for embankments, village sites, &c., leaving 33,000 bighas of culturable land.

(7) The Commission which reported on this matter in 1865 thought (paragraph 4, section 7) that there would be no difficulty in obtaining a rent of Rs. 4 per bigha over the area of the reclaimed lakes.

I do not think this rate would be obtained over the entire area—certainly not for some years; but there would be some income from fisheries and trees, which have been omitted in the report of the Commission.

(8) I estimate the capital cost of the scheme to a company as follows:—

	Rs.
36,000 bighas of land, at Rs. 30	10,80,000
Reclamation works (including engineering charges) ...	2,50,000
Interest during construction, say 5 per cent. on above, for two years	1,33,000
Total Capital ...	14,63,000

(9) The revenue would be—

33,000 bighas, at Rs. 3-8	1,15,500
Fisheries	12,000
Miscellaneous revenue from trees, &c, say	2,500
Gross Revenue ...	1 30,000

(10) The maintenance charges would be—

Maintenance of masonry works, 1 per cent. on 80,000 ...	800
Ditto of 32 miles of embankments, at Rs. 200 per mile	6,400
Total ...	7,200
Collection charges, 5 per cent. on Rs. 1,30,000 ...	6,500
Managers' and Directors' fees	12 000
Legal and other expenses, say	4,300
Total ...	30,000

(11) The net revenue would then be Rs. 1,00,000 on a capital of Rs. 14,63,000, or rather more than 7 per cent. per annum. The Commission, however, not only estimated the receipts at Rs. 4 per bigha, but said that there was reason to believe that much higher rates would be obtained if the Calcutta sewage were utilized in cultivating a higher class of crops. In this case the Commission anticipated that Rs. 6 pef bigha would be obtainable. I do not think this probable myself, but I have actually been told by villagers in the southern lake that they would give Rs. 6 per bigha, if the lands were thoroughly reclaimed and fresh water were introduced instead of salt.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE THIRD QUARTER OF 1883-84.

No. 106B, dated Calcutta, the 18th February 1884.

From—C. E. BUCKLAND, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

H. A. COCKERELL, Esq., C.S.I.

I AM directed to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the third quarter of 1883-84, comprising the months of October, November, and December 1883.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter under report amounted to 23,16,480 maunds 2 seers 11 chittacks, against 28,29,977 maunds 30 seers 3 chittacks in the previous quarter, and 22,74,150 maunds 13 chittacks in the corresponding quarter of the previous year; and the net amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 43,03,994-8, against Rs. 52,25,981-8 in the previous quarter, and Rs. 42,46,106-8 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The quantity of excise salt sold in the districts of Cuttack, Pooree, Balasore, and 24-Pergunnahs during the quarter under review, from the stock of the different seasons' manufacture, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shewn in Table I.

4. The above statement shews that the total sale of excise salt during the quarter under review amounted to 1,06,909 maunds 25 seers, against 92,102 maunds 5 seers in the previous quarter, and 76,565 maunds 25 seers in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

5. The subjoined Table II shews, in comparison, the importations into the port of Calcutta and the total clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter under review, and the corresponding quarters of the previous two years:—

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 23rd February 1884.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
Burdwan Div. 1	Burdwan. Feb. 28 '84	Nil	Weather—getting warmer Rainfall confined to the Culna sub-division. No change in prospects of rubbee crops, which will be about four-annas throughout the district. In the Culna sub-division about 2,500 bighas of land are being sown with boro paddy. Public health generally fair.
	Culna ...	0·38
2	Bankoora, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—beginning to be warm. Sugarcane being pressed Wheat and barley ripening Common rice selling at 19 seers per rupee. Stock of rice is ample in the district, and the exportation is not yet so extensive as to affect the price materially. Public health good.
3	Beerbhoom, „ 23 „	0·01	Weather—much warmer. Slight rain in some localities. Aman crop all harvested. Outturn of aus and aman together about eight annas. Rubbee crops fair. Average price of common rice 17 seers per rupee. General health good. A few cases of cholera and small-pox in thana Mouressur
	Rampore Hat ...	Nil
4	Midnapore. „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—warmer. Rain much wanted. A few cases of cholera still reported in the Contai and Ghatal sub-divisions.
5	Hooghly, „ 23 „	0·02	Weather—getting warmer. Condition of winter crops good. General health good.
	Howrah, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—fine and clear, with cool nights. Sugarcane is being cut, and coarse sugar being manufactured. No other crop of importance on the ground. Boro paddy is being sown in many localities Vegetables for table use largely cultivated this year and are giving good returns. Price of common rice stationary. Public health remarkably good.
	Central Districts.
Presidency Div. 6	24-Pergunnahs, Feb. 26 '84	0·17	Weather—seasonable, but cloudy and rainy in the latter part of the week. Prospects of winter crops promising. Public health generally good.
7	Nuddea, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—hot during the day, but cool at night. Prospects of crops good. Public health generally good.
8	Khoolna, „ 23 „	0·30	Weather—foggy mornings; high wind on the 18th; a storm of rain at Khoolna on the 17th; latter part of the week warm. Spring rice (boro) and til benefited by rain. Prices unchanged, averaging 16 seers per rupee. Public health good.
9	Jessore, „ 23 „	0·49	Weather—seasonable. Harvesting of rubbee crops progressing. They will yield a good outturn. Price of rice has remained stationary. Ploughing for early sowings has commenced. General health good.
	Jhenida ...	0·24
	Magura ...	0·25
	Bongong ...	Nil
10	Moorshedabad, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—getting warm. Slight clouds gather occasionally, but disperse after a while Crops doing well, but a little rain would be beneficial. Public health generally good, except a few cases of cholera reported from thana Jellinghee.
Rajshahye Div. 11	Dinagepore, Feb. 22 '84	Nil	Weather—bright and clear. Outturn of mustard fair. Prospects of pulses good. Rice selling at from 13 to 16 seers per rupee.
12	Rajshahye, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—getting warm. Prospects of winter crops continue fair, especially in Nattore, where rain on the 14th instant did much good. Ganja is being manufactured. Public health good.
13	Rungpore „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of cheena, kaon, wheat and tobacco good. Land is being prepared for aus and jute cultivation. Public health good.
14	Bogra, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—slightly warmer during latter half of the week. State and prospects of cold-weather crops continue favourable. Public health on the whole good.
15	Pubna, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—warmer; foggy mornings. Crops doing well.
16	Darjeeling „ 23 „	1·31	Weather—misty and cloudy. Rain towards end of week. In Terai mustard, crop has been good, and prospects of tobacco and sugarcane also continue good, In hills wheat and barley are not making much show.
17	Julpigoree, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—getting warm. During the week it has been alternately cloudy, windy and hazy. Mustard being collected. Pulses are reported to be in good condition. Cultivation for aus proceeding.
	Eastern Districts.
Dacca Div. 18	Dacca, Feb. 23 '84	0·01	Weather—days warm and nights still cool. Ploughing going on. Winter crops being reaped. Prospects continue favourable Public health good.
	Manickgunge ...	0·43
	Moonshigunge ...	1·10
19	Furreedpore, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Rain has facilitated ploughing, and has done good to the standing crops. General health good. A few cases of sporadic cholera reported from Goalundo and thana Kotalipara.

Chittagong Div. 22	Chittagong, Feb. 26 '84	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of winter crops continue favourable. Prices steady. Public health good
23	Noakholly, „ 21 „	Nil	Weather—rather warm; occasionally cloudy; mornings very foggy. State and prospects of rubbee crops promising in some places, but in others they are bad, owing to the lands being submerged during the late rain. Preparation for sowing aus paddy being made.
24	Tipperah, „ 23 „	1·14	Weather—hot and bright. Beginning of the week stormy. Crops on the ground promise well. Cultivation in good progress. Price of rice stationary. Sporadic cases of cholera reported
	Brahmunberiah ...	0·93
	Chandpore ...	2·30
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts „ 19 „	0·86	Weather—cloudy for the most part of the week, and a shower of rain on the 15th; gradually getting warmer. Sugarcane being pressed. Mustard nearly harvested. Tobacco doing well. Joom cutting going on.
	Hill Tipperah „ 20 „	1·44	Weather—getting warm. All standing crops doing well. Public health good.
BEHAR.
Patna Div. 26	Patna, Feb. 23 '84	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of rubbee crops generally fair Rahar flowering well. Small-pox prevalent in the Sudder sub division.
27	Gya, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—fair Prospects of crops continue good. Early rubbee crops being gathered in places. Public health good. Cases of small-pox reported.
28	Shahabad, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—clear and bright. Prospects of rubbee crops on irrigated lands continue to be fair Planting of sugarcane progressing.
29	Durbhunga, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—somewhat cloudy for nearly two days, but has now cleared away. Prospects unchanged. Harvesting of tobacco and mustard and other oilseeds and pressing of sugarcane progressing. Prices stationary. Small-pox in the town has not wholly disappeared.
30	Mozufferpore, „ 22 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable and clear. Prospects of rubbee crops not improved; getting worse in Sitamarhi, but unchanged elsewhere. No apparent prospect of rain which is wanted in Sitamarhi for cheena sowing. Wheat and barley ripening in Hajeepore.
31	Sarun, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—clear and bright, with occasional clouds; days warm; nights and mornings still cool. Prospects of rubbee crops (estimated yield about 10 annas) continue fair. Peas and mustard being harvested Wheat, barley, and other crops have commenced to ripen. Rahar still doing fairly well. Poppy almost all in flower, and promises to be an excellent crop. Sporadic cases of small-pox continue; public health otherwise good.
32	Chumparun, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of rubbee crops, where irrigation is possible, are generally good; elsewhere they are suffering from want of rain. Public health good.
Bhagulpore Div. 33	Monghyr Feb. 23 '84	Nil	Weather—clear and getting warm. Prospects of rubbee crops continue unfavourable A poor outturn from 2 to 6 annas expected. A few cases of small-pox reported from the Jamui sub-division, otherwise public health good.
34	Bhagulpore, „ 24 „	Nil	No rain, though the sky was overcast, and there was every appearance of it on the 16th; weather getting warm. Mustard crop has yielded a better outturn than was expected, except in the south. Rubbee crops near the Koosi river and in pergunnah Chye are very good, but elsewhere they are poor, except where irrigation is available. Cheena is being sown extensively in some parts. Prices stationary.
35	Purneah „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—becoming warmer. Crops in the south of the district very poor; in the north they are fair. Public health fair.
36	Maldah, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—getting warm, and clouds in the beginning of the week. There was a little rain in thana Nowabgunge, which should do some good to the rubbee crops. Mustard and kalai nearly gathered; outturn varies from 4 to 12 annas in different parts of the district. Price of common rice 12 to 16 seers per rupee. Public health good
37	Sonthal Pergns. „ 23 „	0·06	Weather—much warmer than last week, though mornings and evenings are still very cool and pleasant There was a light shower on the morning of the 21st, but too slight to affect prospects Rubbee crops reported good in the Rajmehal deara and in parts of Godda, Pakour and Jamtara. On the whole the outturn will be much below the average, probably between 6 and 8 annas. Generally prices are stationary, though about 15 or 20 per cent. higher than in the corresponding season of last year. Public health good.
ORISSA
Orissa Div. 38	Cuttack, Feb 22 '84	Nil	Weather—fair and warm; nights slightly cold Dalua rice and cotton growing well. Sugarcane being pressed and manufactured into goor State of miscellaneous crops good. Mango partially damaged by rain and mist. Price of rice stationary, although exportation is largely going on. Public health good.
39	Pooree, „ 21 „	2·82	Weather—seasonable. Thrashing of sarad paddy going on. In places land is being ploughed for the ensuing paddy crop. Sugarcane is being pressed. Moong doing well. Rainfall during the week was beneficial to mango and dalua crop. Common rice selling at 22 seers 8 chittacks per rupee
	Khoorda ..	1·59
40	Balasore, „ 22 „	0·12	Weather—foggy and cloudy at times. There are at present practically no crops to report on.
CHOTA NAGPORE
South-West Frontier Agency
41	Hazaribagh, Feb 22 '84	Nil	Weather—bright and seasonable. State of cold weather crops still unimproved for want of rain. Prices not much altered Small pox still prevalent in the town of Hazaribagh. General health good.
42	Lohardugga, „ 23 „	Traces of rain.	Weather—clear at head quarters; cloudy in Palamow. Rubbee crops suffering from want of rain. Even if there were a fall now it would be too late to do good. In Palamow the outturn is not expected to exceed 6 annas Prices on the whole steady. General health good.
43	Singbhoom, „ 22 „	Nil	Weather—bright and warm. Rubbee crops indifferent, and have suffered to the extent of 6 to 8 annas from want of rain. Cattle-disease reported from one outpost. General health good.
44	Manbhoom, „ 23 „	Nil	Weather—cool and clear. Pressing of sugarcane continues; average outturn expected to be 8 annas. Oats, wheat, barley and other rubbee crops reported to be doing tolerably well. Rice sold in the Purulia market at 21½ seers per rupee on the 23rd. Public health generally good, except a few cases of small-pox reported from Chirkunda, and of cattle-pox from Jheria in the Govindpore sub-division.

Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

DURING the week ending 9th February 1884, births and deaths were reported to have occurred in the first class Municipalities in Bengal at the rates, respectively, of 22·9 and 28·8 per 1,000 of their population, against 22·1 and 23·3 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 2nd February, indicating a fair advance in the registration of deaths, and a fractional variation in that of births.

(2). These events were returned in the highest proportions from the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Arrah ...	49·1	Jessore ...	67·3
Utterpara ...	37·8	Purneah ...	58·9

		Midnapore ...	34·1
		Kishnaghur ...	34·1
		Patna ...	30·5
		Poori ...	30 0
		Bhagulpore ...	29·0

(3). From the figures in the subjoined table it appears that, excluding injury, the mortality from all the other death-causes was more severe than during the preceding week, prominently from fever and the diseases grouped under the head of "Other causes":—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	9th February 1884.	2nd February 1884.
Cholera	2·2	1·4
Small-pox	1·5	1·1
Fever	11·4	9·4
Bowel-complaints	4·2	3·8
Injury	·3	·3
Other causes	9 2	7·2

(4). Of the abovementioned diseases cholera, small-pox, fever and the diseases classed under the head of "Other causes" proved most fatal to life in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Utterpara ...	18·9	Gya ..	7·5	Jessore ...	67·3	Poori ...	25 7

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The total quantity of goods carried during the month of January 1884 aggregated maunds 3,63,741, as compared with maunds 3,09,000 carried during the corresponding period of 1883, and maunds 3,15,948 carried during the previous month, showing an increase of maunds 54,741 in one case and maunds 47,793 in the other

Of the several increases and decreases the following are the most prominent ones and worthy of separate explanation:—

INCREASE.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 3,888
Entirely due to the extension of the line.

Lime and kunker ... ... Mds. 3,755
Partly due to the construction of a new Indigo Factory near Dooly, and partly to the importation of kunker from Belaspore to Durbhunga for road-cess.

Railway materials ... ... Mds. 24,655
Due to the opening of the extension.

Saltpetre ... ... Mds. 13,126
Entirely due to the opening of the western extension of this line.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 14,186
Due to high prices in the Calcutta market

Timber ... ... Mds. 27,940
Due to the despatch of sleepers for the Bengal and North-Western Railway and for the Hajeepore and Kosi extensions by contractors.

DECREASE.

Coal ... ... Mds. 15,404
Due to the completion of the extension of Tirhoot State Railway and Civil Building, &c., at Durbhunga.

Indigo ... ... Mds. 4,915
The bulk of the crop was carried earlier this season.

Food-grains ... ... Mds. 4,094
Owing to the partial failure of the paddy crops.

Salt ... ... Mds. 5,879
Due to heavy importation during the last half-year.

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL, Presiding.

The HON. H. J. REYNOLDS.
The HON. C. P. L. MACAULAY.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS, the Council proceeded with the further consideration of the clauses of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities.

Section 33 was passed after a verbal amendment made on the motion of the HON. MR. BEVERLEY.

Section 34 was agreed to.

Section 35 was passed with the insertion of the words "at a meeting" after the word "Commissioners" in line 2, on a motion of which notice was given by the HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE, and which was accepted by the hon. member in charge of the Bill.

Section 36 of the Bill was agreed to.

Section 37 was also agreed to. A motion of which notice had been given by the HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE, for the insertion of the words "and shall be registered," was not carried, not having been accepted by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, on the ground that the amendment was rather an amendment of the Registration Law than of this Bill.

Sections 38, 39, and 40 were agreed to.

Section 41 was passed with the insertion of the words "unless otherwise provided for in this Act" at the end of the first paragraph.

Sections 42, 43, and 44 were agreed to.

On section 45 a motion to omit the second clause stood in the name of the HON. MAHOMED YUSUF, who was not at the time present.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he was not prepared to accept the amendment. The section as it stood in the Bill was a reproduction of the existing law.

The section was then passed as it stood.

Section 46 was agreed to.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said:—The question of granting pensions and gratuities to municipal servants was brought before the Council by a communication received from the Government of Bengal in the Municipal Department, in which it was suggested that it would be a desirable thing to provide powers to grant pensions and gratuities to municipal servants. Such powers have been granted to the Calcutta Corporation since 1876 This morning I received a communication from the Secretary to the Suburban Rate-payers' Association, who appear to think that the grant of this power to the Commissioners may be misused or prostituted to other purposes. The memorialists went on to say in the latter part of their memorial—

"That, so far as your memorialists are aware, the want of such a provision has never been felt in any Municipality, and accordingly there has been no demand made on their part for such a power. It did not find a place either in the Bill as first framed or in the Bill as amended, and afterwards re-amended by the Select Committee. The first indication of such an idea was discerned in the Hon'ble Mr Macaulay's late amendment to section 26, and it was only after that proposal had been disapproved of by the public that the Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds gave notice of his amendment Your memorialists most respectfully submit that it is not desirable that such an important alteration in the law should be proposed at such a late stage, when practically there will be no opportunity for the expression of public opinion in regard thereto"

I do not entirely follow the principle on which the Committee of the Rate-payers' Association put forward these objections, because they seem to me to imply something like distrust of the Municipal Commissioners. The memorial seems to imply that, if you trust the Commissioners with these powers to grant pensions and gratuities, to be exercised at their discretion, they will not exercise them rightly and properly. I do not myself think that that ought to be a reason for not introducing this section. The power to grant pensions is certainly a very desirable one for any public body to be able to exercise. It gives the employers a good hold over their servants, and, as far as I can judge, is one of the most effectual means of making the servant perform good and faithful service. I think it very desirable that the Commissioners should be authorized to exercise this power; and it does not seem to be an unreasonable thing that, when we are giving them other and larger powers, we should trust them to make proper rules on a subject of this kind, and to see that their rules are observed in a proper manner. If the Council are not disposed to accept the views put forward in the memorial, the Committee ask that the power be safeguarded as it is in the Calcutta Act. No doubt it is a fact that in the Calcutta Act it is made necessary that the rules should be voted by not less than two-thirds of those present at a Special General Meeting. I omitted that, because it seemed to me to be hardly necessary to declare that the rules must be assented to by two-thirds of the Commissioners, when we have the safeguard that the rules are not to take effect until they have been confirmed by the Local Government. But if the Council should be of opinion that it is desirable to put some further restrictions upon the Commissioners making rules, I have no objection to add words to that effect. I have to move the addition of the following, after Section 46 :—

Section 46A.—"The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, make rules for pensions and gratuities to be granted, and to be paid out of the Municipal fund, to their officers and servants, and may repeal or alter such rules

"The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities to any of their officers or servants as to the Commissioners may seem fit."

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—The amendment proposed by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, to which the memorial of the Committee of the Rate-payers' Association refers is divided into two parts. The first is that the Commissioners at a meeting may make rules for the grant of pensions and gratuities, and to that first part the safeguard will be put in the section which gives a list of the measures to which the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor is required. To this first part of the amendment I have no objection, and I entirely endorse all that the hon member has said as to the value which pensionary benefits will secure in getting good and honest work from subordinates generally. I think that we who have spent the best part of our lives in gauging the feelings of employés on this subject, may fairly ask the Council to accept this as the result of our experience. With reference to the second part of the amendment, the application of these rules to cases when they occur, I understand that it is to this that the memorialists object most strongly. One objection is that some Municipalities are poor. The answer to that, I suppose, is that the exercise of the power to make rules for the grant of pensions and gratuities is not compulsory, but discretionary. If a municipality cannot afford it, I suppose that the boon will be withheld on the ground of the want of funds. The Rate-payers' Association urge that "such a provision did not exist either in the Act of 1864 or in that of 1876, and this omission was evidently deliberate, having regard to the scanty resources of Mofussil Municipalities, as well as to the likelihood of the abuse of such a power in the interior." They further say:—"It is true that eight years have since elapsed, but your memorialists will venture to observe, with due deference to the experience of the hon. member in charge of the amendment, that those circumstances have not yet ceased to exist so as to justify the introduction of a measure which was not deemed expedient in the year 1876." I am loath to take up the time of the Council in flogging a dead horse, but in fairness to those gentlemen who have taken the same views as I have as to the general lines of the Bill, I do not see how I can resist asking your Honour and the members of the Council to say whether the tree is not already bearing the fruit we feared. From the beginning to the end, I have said—"are you quite sure that in relying to this extent in the governing bodies which will be created, you will represent the wishes of the people? In giving them powers are you still sure that you are giving them powers which their constituencies will be willing to trust them with?" From first to last I have harped upon this to the Council, and I ask now whether this memorial is not a striking illustration that my apprehensions were not unfounded. Here are rate-payers immediately beginning to protest against our trusting their nominees with such powers. It is impossible for me, having given up my contentious opposition to the principle, to say that because one particular Municipality has objected on one point, because the Suburban rate-payers have expressed their mistrust of their nominees in one possible contingency, the Council can properly depart from their principle of giving full confidence; and it is only on a par with the rest of the Bill that confidence should be placed on the discretion and wisdom of the Municipal bodies in this particular respect. Of course, if the rules are made, powers must be given to apply them, and I entirely concur in the remarks of these rate-payers that the power should be safeguarded in every possible way. It is invidious to discuss this question which is unpopular and unpleasant, and I think my reasons will be obvious I shall accept the first portion of the amendment as it stands; and with reference to the second, I would add such safeguards as may be thought proper.

The Hon. Boykantonath De said:—I am opposed to this amendment because the means of mofussil municipalities are notoriously so limited that they are not sufficient for the legitimate requirements of the rate-payers. A pensionary charge will be a serious burden upon them. There are many private institutions which do not provide for pensions to their officers and servants, and it cannot be said that they do not get efficient men to do their work. It is true that it will rest in the discretion of the Commissioners to give pensions, but I do not think that such an important matter should be left to their discretion. Should the Council, however, decide upon giving the power to the Commissioners, I hope the provision will be assimilated with the like provision in the Calcutta Municipal Act, Section 39 of Bengal Act IV of 1876.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—Probably the hon. gentleman who spoke last has not noticed that the Hon. Mr. Reynolds intends to propose an amendment in Section 58 for making all the resolutions passed in reference to this and other questions subject to the approval of the Local Government. As regards this matter, it appears to me that pension or gratuity is really deferred pay. You retain a man's services, and when the man has rendered those services, you pay him after retirement in the same way as when those services were being rendered. If you can trust the Commissioners to pay their servants while they are rendering services to the Municipality, you can trust them to pay them after they are incapable of rendering further services. I shall propose, if the hon. member in charge of the Bill does not object, that the rules framed under this section and sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor be published in the Calcutta Gazette. With regard to the question raised in the memorial, I may mention that on more than one occasion Commissioners have wished to grant gratuities when they have had to dispense with the services of a good officer for special reasons, but Government has been obliged to prohibit such grants on the ground of their illegality. It was decided to take steps to remove this disability without any reference whatever to the particular case to which the memorial refers The question was considered and decided on its own merits.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said:—The system of giving pension has become so popular in every civilised community that it occurs to the public as inevitable and as necessary as leave on account of ill-health: an opposition to any proposal for granting pensions cannot but be looked upon with disfavour. But pensions and gratuities for good service are not such unmixed good as to be always encouraged. In the light of political economy, a pension means reserved pay, or a rough and ready system of insurance. When a man accepts a situation to which a pension is attached, he looks upon the amount of pension as so much kept back from his salary to be given him when he becomes unfit for further work. Acting on this principle, the East Indian Railway Company has established a scheme for deducting a certain percentage from the salaries of their officers and servants in order that the sums so deducted and the interest thereon may be afterwards given in the form of pensions and gratuities The Civil Service Annuity Fund and other annuities are also founded on the same principle. The annuities, however, have the superior advantage of being subject to the control of the subscribers; whereas Government pensions are entirely dependent upon the pleasure of Government. Pensions are likewise liable to be entirely forfeited on dismissal from office or on the abolition of an office, if the office-holder fail to get another post under Government within one year. Thus Government pensions do not provide the same security which insurance offices and annuity funds do. To my knowledge many officers of Government have after protracted good service failed to get pensions, because in their old age they failed to give satisfaction, or were guilty of some slight fault or other. A man under such circumstances loses his savings of a life-time. This is an element of uncertainty which does not obtain in insurance and annuity funds. I am, therefore, clearly of opinion that it is far better to resort to a system of annuity such as obtains in the East Indian Railway Company, instead of offering pensions which may prove delusive and disappointing. I would, therefore, respectfully suggest that, in the proposed section, the words "pension and gratuity" be replaced by "annuity," with such additional words as would legalise a monthly deduction from pay to keep up an annuity fund, an equivalent increase being granted from the Municipal Fund to cover the deduction. Should this suggestion not meet with the approval of the Council, I would urge that a rider may be put on the proposed section to the effect that pensions shall not be granted except at a special general meeting, at which at least two-thirds of the whole number of Commissioners vote in favour of it. This being an important matter, scarcely less important than that contained in Section 25, relating to the removal and re-appointment of the Chairman, the action of the Municipality should be subjected to the same restrictions as those which the Council has determined upon with reference to Section 25, viz. that the resolution must be that of two-thirds of the whole number of Commissioners.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley said:—I think that the amendment as framed is sufficiently wide to provide for a provident or annuity fund as my hon. friend (Moulvie Mahomed Yusuf) has suggested.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said:—I wish to bring to notice another point in the memorial of the rate payers. They are afraid that if such a section is put into the Act, it will raise expectations on the part of the present Municipal employés that they will all get pensions, whereas the salaries allowed them have been fixed on the supposition that there were to be no pensions. I suppose it will be quite within the scope of the rules to make it clear that previous service on a pay fixed without reference to pension will not count, or will not fully count, towards pension under these particular rules. Then with reference to what the Hon. Mr. Reynolds has just said to me, I withdraw my remarks about safeguarding the second part of the amendment. If these rules are made, it is a mere mechanical process to admit persons to pension under them as applicable to each case. Whether any safe guard is required when any Municipality may wish to make an exception for particular reasons, and not give the full benefit of the pension which the rules would allow, is another question, but the mere application of the rules is a mechanical process, and I therefore think that it need not be safeguarded.

Colonel the Hon. S. T. Trevor said:—I agree with a good deal of what has fallen from my hon. friend to the left (Moulvie Mahomed Yusuf). It is becoming the fashion, now-a-days, to have provident funds instead of pensions and gratuities. My hon. friend Mr. Beverley said that the wording of the amendment was sufficiently wide to cover provident funds, but I think it might be made clearer in this respect, so as to provide for the creation of such fund when desirable, as well as for the payment of pensions and gratuities.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds:—After what has fallen from hon. members, I should like to ask the permission of the Council to postpone the consideration of this amendment to enable me to modify it and bring it forward in a clearer form.

His Honour the President said:—It appears to me a remarkable sign that the objection to this section comes from native gentlemen. Not only, as the Hon. Mr. Dampier has pointed out, do the rate-payers object, but the native members of this Council also, one of whom, though not present to-day, has given formal notice of an amendment, and two of whom have supported the principle that this power should not be vested in the Commissioners. As to the propriety of giving pensions and gratuities to the servants of Municipalities, my own opinion is that it is right: some form of pension or gratuity is desirable if you want good service. If you are to expect honest and laborious service, you must hold out the prospect of pensionary allowances. But I quite agree that it would be an improvement to the amendment if the suggestion made by my hon. friend Colonel Trevor that contributions from salaries for the formation of a fund should form part of the section. I think it is therefore desirable that this section stand over for consideration till the next meeting.

The further consideration of the section was accordingly postponed.

Sections 47 to 55 were agreed to.

Section 56 having been read, the HON. MR. DAMPIER moved that the following proviso be added to the section. He understood that the Hon. Mover was inclined to consider the last item at any rate as too little to be made the subject of legislation. It might be so, for he MR. DAMPIER) had taken the provisions from the legislation of a very small State,—England. They were taken from the Municipal Corporation Act of 1882 :—

"Provided also that the prohibition aforesaid of this section shall not be deemed to apply to any share or interest which a Commissioner may have in—

(a) Any lease, sale, or purchase of land, or any agreement for the same ; or

(b) Any agreement for the loan of money, or any security for the payment of money only ; or

(c) Any newspaper in which any advertisement relating to the affairs of the Municipality is inserted.

"But no person having any such share or interest shall act as a Commissioner or Member of a Ward Committee in a matter relating to any matter in which he has such share or interest."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he did not oppose the amendment, but it did not necessarily follow that because a similar provision was contained in an English Statute, it should be introduced here. With regard to items (a) and (b), he thought there might be room for objection. He doubted whether a Commissioner should be interested in the sale or lease of land or the loan of money to the Municipality.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said that where the land which was required by the Municipality belonged to a Commissioner, he could not without some such clause as (a) lease or sell it to them until he ceased to be a Commissioner. Clause (b) was intended to provide for the case of a local banker who, being a Commissioner, wished to take up a loan to the Municipality.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS presumed that the word "contract" in this section was to be rather strictly construed, and would not apply to the cases contemplated by the amendment. The section in this Bill was more broadly expressed than in the existing Bengal Act V of 1876: it provided not only that no Commissioner should be interested in a contract with the Municipality, but that he should receive no pecuniary gratification. If he remembered right, it was the Darjeeling Municipality which represented that a mere prohibition against being interested in contracts was insufficient, if liberty was given outside a contract to receive a pecuniary gratification ; and therefore the section was so worded.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF thought the amendment an improvement, and the prohibition of the last clause that no person so interested should act as a Commissioner in such matter was a sufficient safeguard.

After some conversation, the further consideration of the amendment and of the section was postponed.

Section 57 was agreed to.

The consideration of section 58 was postponed.

Sections 59, 60, and 61 were agreed to.

Section 62 having been read, the HON. KUMAR BOYKANTONATH DE moved that the following section be substituted for it:—

"Whenever the Commissioner of a Division or the Magistrate of a District is of opinion that the execution of any resolution or order of the Commissioners of any Municipality, or the doing within those limits of any act which is about to be done or is being done in pursuance of, or under cover of this Act, is in excess of the powers conferred by law, or the execution of the resolution or order, or doing of the act, is likely to lead to a serious breach of the peace, or to cause serious injury or annoyance to the public, or to any class or body of persons; he shall make a report to the effect to the Local Government, which may issue an order prohibiting the execution of such resolution, order or act, with or without modification, permanently, or for such period as it thinks fit."

He explained that the section as it stood gave too summary powers to the Commissioner of the Division and the District Magistrate to suspend the operation of Municipalities. He was of opinion that the power ought to rest with the Local Government upon the report of the Commissioner or the Magistrate.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he was not able to accept this amendment. The substance of the section as it stood in the Bill was taken from Act XV of 1883, the North-Western Provinces Municipalities Act. It was quite evident that the powers to be exercised under this section should be exercised at once: a reference to the Local Government would make the power useless.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section, as it stood, was agreed to.

In section 63 the Hon. Mr. Dampier moved to substitute the words "work or act which it is incumbent on them to perform" for the words "duty imposed on them by, or" in lines 6 and 7.

The section, as it stood in the Bill, was then agreed to.

Section 64 having been read, the Hon. Mr. Dampier moved to insert the words "in the opinion of the Local Government" after "if" in line 1. He said that the object of the amendment was to close one door to litigation. Under the section as it stood legal proof might be required that the Commissioners were not competent to perform, or persistently made default in the performance of their duties, or had exceeded or abused their powers, before the Government could exercise the power conferred upon it by this section. It therefore seemed to Mr. Dampier desirable to close that door by making the decision of the Government final on the point.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay submitted that the words "by an order published, with the reasons for making it" showed that the decision of the question was left to the Government.

The motion was put to the vote, and carried on the following division, the President having given a casting vote in favour of the amendment:—

Ayes 4.	Noes 4.
The Hon. Mr. Beverley.	The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De.
,, ,, ,, Reynolds.	,, ,, Mahomed Yusuf.
,, ,, ,, Dampier.	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
,, ,, The President.	The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved to insert the words "after giving due notice to the Commissioners" after the words "Government may" in the same section. The object was to give the Commissioners an opportunity of explaining why they had not been in a position to perform the duties required of them.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds thought the amendment was somewhat inconsistent with the decision to which the Council had just come. The object of that amendment was to close a door to litigation, but this amendment would open the door again. It was not to be presumed that the Local Government would pass an order under this section without giving some previous intimation to the Commissioners. At the same time, to provide by law for due notice being given might raise the question whether due notice had or had not been given. He therefore considered the words unnecessary, and that they were likely to have a bad effect.

The motion was put and negatived.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

Section 65 was agreed to, the Hon. Mr. Dampier having withdrawn the amendment of which notice had been given.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved that the words "shall have been or may hereafter be" be substituted for "may be" in lines 5 and 6 of section 66. The object was to include fines levied under other Acts, such as the General Police Act, the Cattle Trespass Act, the Births and Death Registration Act, and the Vaccination Act, which also formed part of the Municipal Fund.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds said it was a mere question of drafting: the words "may be" covered "shall have been or may hereafter be."

The motion was put and negatived, and the section as it stood in the Bill was then agreed to.

Section 67 was passed with verbal amendments made on the motion of the Hon. Mr. Beverley.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved that in section 68, clause (5), line 3, the words "except such houses and schools in which religious instruction forms a part of the educational course" be inserted after schools. He said:—The recognized policy of Government was neutrality in religious matters, and religious instruction did not form a part of the educational system of Government. Following this principle he would exclude religious schools from the scope of this section. It was true that the grant of aid to religious schools would be in the discretion of the Commissioners, but where Hindu Commissioners might preponderate, they might give a grant for instruction in the Hindu religion to the annoyance of the religious feelings of Mahomedans and Christians; and where Mahomedan or Christian Commissioners might preponderate, they might do likewise with their respective religions. There would thus be raised a feeling of religious rivalry which would not be conducive to the well-being of the general community. For those reasons he proposed this amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he could not accept this amendment, and must express his regret that it had been brought forward. He was not aware of any reason why an alteration of the law was necessary. When the present law was passed the question whether religious instruction should be referred to was discussed, and the Council decided not to insert such words as the hon. member now proposed to introduce.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said he did not see how, in conformity with the principle of full confidence which the Council had affirmed, the amendment now before the Council could be accepted.

The amendment was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath De moved that the following clause be inserted between clauses (8) and (9), namely "the construction of serais and their maintenance," which he thought was an object which legitimately fell within the province of a municipality.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds thought the words unnecessary, as clause (4), which mentioned generally "other works of public utility," was sufficient to cover serais. He might explain that some of the works specially mentioned in the existing Act had been advisedly omitted by the Committee. Embankments, for instance, were not considered proper objects for municipal expenditure, and "jetties and urinals," the mention of which was also omitted, were covered by clause (4), nor did it appear why they had been inserted in the Act of 1876. Urinals, moreover, were covered by "latrines." The only subject of expenditure which was intentionally omitted was embankments: the other omissions were merely meant to be verbal improvements of the section.

The motion was then put and negatived.

His Honour the President asked whether "tramways" were covered by "roads." There was more than one Municipality now which had under its consideration the construction of tramways.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley said he believed that in the cases referred to the tramways were to be constructed by Companies, not by the Commissioners. He thought the Council should seriously consider before giving Municipalities power to enter into works of a speculative character.

Colonel the Hon. S. T. Trevor observed that the Tramways Act provided that Municipal Commissioners themselves might be promoters, and therefore Municipal Commissioners were at present empowered to use the funds in their charge in the construction of tramways. He moved that the word "tramways" be inserted after "roads" in clause (1).

The Hon. Mr. Beverley reminded the Council that the Calcutta Municipality had endeavoured to construct a tramway, and that it had proved a miserable failure. He thought it would be sufficient to leave the construction of tramways to be dealt with under the special Tramways Act.

The HON. MR MACAULAY thought that to obviate any doubt the word "tramways" had better be inserted.

COLONEL TREVOR'S motion was then put and carried.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY stated for the information of the Council that in other Provinces Municipalities (particularly one in Bombay) had devoted Municipal funds to the construction of warehouses for the reception of goods coming from the interior, and the result had been a great success and considerable profit to the Municipality. A proposal was made to the Government of Bengal about three years ago to consider whether that plan should not be adopted here, but the reply was that the policy was not considered a good one, and was not authorized under the law. He wished to point out that the section now before the Council would not admit of the expenditure of Municipal funds on such objects. He himself considered that Municipal funds should not be devoted to speculative purposes.

Section 68 as amended was then agreed to.

Section 69 was agreed to.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that in section 70, paragraph 1, the words "for a week" be substituted in place of "for a day." He thought one day quite insufficient for the inspection of a month's accounts: one day in the week would perhaps be sufficient.

The HON. MR REYNOLDS said the section reproduced the existing law It was not intended that it should be rigidly confined to a day, but there would be a great objection to fixing a whole week. He had no objection to insert the words "or days" after "day."

The HON. MR BEVERLEY reminded the Council that so long as the books were open to the inspection of the rate-payers, the work of the Account Department could not go on.

The amendment was by leave withdrawn, and on the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS the words "or days" were inserted after "day" in paragraph 1, section 70, and the section as amended was then agreed to.

Sections 71 to 82 were agreed to.

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY moved the insertion of the words "at a meeting" after "on the recommendation of the Commissioners" in the first paragraph of section 83. He said that, unless the words "at a meeting" were inserted, the extension of the powers of the Chairman might be made on the recommendation of the Chairman himself, as under the Bill the Chairman was empowered to exercise all the powers of the Commissioners except those which were expressly directed to be exercised at a meeting.

The motion was agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

The consideration of sections 84 and 85 was postponed.

Sections 86 to 90 were agreed to.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that the words "the Commissioners shall" in line 8 of section 91 be substituted for "the Commissioners may" in line 8 of section 91. The section gave power to apply for a reduction of assessment in altered circumstances, but left it optional with the Commissioners to grant or refuse reduction of assessment in such cases. He contended that reduction of assessment should be made imperative where the means and property of the assessee had been reduced, and entire exemption should be given where a holding was ceased to be occupied.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS remarked that the amendment would require the Commissioners in these cases either to pass an order of exemption or to revise the assessment, but the clause did not apply only to the case of a man who ceased to occupy premises, but also to reduction of assessment. He therefore could not accept the amendment. He understood the object of the amendment to be that when a man had ceased to occupy, the Commissioners must in that case exempt; but the fact of ceasing to occupy need not necessarily in every case give an absolute right to exemption. He should therefore prefer to give the Commissioners the discretion provided in the section. The words "may exempt" imposed on the Commissioners the duty of exempting if cause was shown.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Sections 92 to 98 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds drew attention to the amendment in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose for the substitution of "two weeks" for "one week" in line 3 of section 99, as the period for submitting certain returns called for by the Commissioners, but he considered the period of one week quite sufficient for the purpose.

The section as it stood was agreed to.

The consideration of section 100 was postponed in connection with sections 84 and 85.

Sections 101 to 108 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved that the following words be added to the second clause of section 109, "and that the application for refund is made within six months from the date on which such notice is delivered at the office of the Commissioners." The object was to provide some time within which such applications for refund must be made. It was a provision taken from section 82 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, and sufficiently explained itself.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he did not object to the amendment. He would take this opportunity of mentioning that a representation had been made by the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling with reference to the necessity for a definition of a vacant holding. The Deputy Commissioner said it was a common thing for an unoccupied house in Darjeeling to be kept more or less furnished, and to be left in the charge of a chowkidar or caretaker, and it was a question whether, as long as the owner received no rent, the holding should be treated as a vacant holding. Mr. Reynolds did not think that the holding should, under such circumstances, be considered a vacant holding, and he had not therefore brought forward any proposal for defining a vacant holding.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley's amendment was agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

Sections 110 to 119 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds drew attention to an amendment standing in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose to insert the words "on the serving officer making an affidavit stating the due service of the bill and the notice" after "defaulter" in line 18, paragraph 1 of section 120. He could not accept the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved to substitute the words "moveable property belonging to any other person," in place of the words "such moveable property" in line 21, paragraph 1 of section 120. The object of the amendment was to make the law clear, and not to alter it in any way.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds accepted the amendment, which merely prevented the possibility of mistaking the intention of the existing law, regarding which there could be no doubt.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Section 121 was agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds drew attention to an amendment on section 122 in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose, which was of a similar character to that on section 120, and which he consequently could not accept.

Section 122 was then agreed to.

Sections 123 to 129 were also agreed to.

Section 130 having been read, the Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved to omit the words "to Government or" in clause (c), lines 1 and 2, as he did not see why carriages and animals belonging to Government should be exempted any more than public offices and other public buildings.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he could not accept the amendment The exemption of carriages and animals belonging to Government had always been made by law. The reference by the hon. member, Mr. Reynolds thought, was an argument which cut both ways: it might go to show that Government buildings ought to be exempted.

After some conversation the motion was put and negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved that the following clause be added to section 130—

"(h) Carriages or animals kept in Calcutta and habitually used in the Suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah."

He said that the section provided that not only carriages that are kept but also those which are habitually used within the municipality should be liable to the tax, so that persons living in Calcutta and having their work in the Suburbs or at Howrah, would under the section be liable to pay twice over—first, in Calcutta; and secondly, in the Suburbs or Howrah, where their carriages were habitually used.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds thought that if such persons were entitled to claim exemption anywhere, they should claim it in Calcutta, but he could not agree to their exemption from taxation in the Suburbs or Howrah, where their carriages and horses were habitually used and wore out the roads. Either people who habitually used their conveyances in the Suburbs or Howrah should not keep them in Calcutta, or they should apply to the Calcutta Municipality for exemption.

The Hon Mr Beverley said the section not only applied to carriages and animals belonging to private individuals, but also to the owners of hackney carriages.

After some conversation, the motion was put and negatived on the following division:—

Ayes 2.	Noes 6.
	The Hon Kumar Boykantonath Dé.
	,, ,, Mahomed Yusuf.
The Hon. Mr. Beverley.	Col The Hon. S. T. Trevor.
,, ,, ,, Dampier.	The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
	,, ,, ,, Reynolds.
	,, ,, the President.

The section was then passed with some verbal amendments made on the motion of the Hon Mr. Beverley.

Sections 131 to 139 were agreed to.

The Hon Mr. Beverley moved to insert the words "except for special cause shown" after the words "the Commissioners" in the ante-penultimate line of section 140.

The motion was agreed to, and the section as amended was passed

The Hon. Mr. Beverley said, with reference to the proviso in section 141, that carts used in Howrah or the Suburbs of Calcutta were already taxed and registered under the Calcutta Act, the proceeds of such taxation being divided in certain proportions between the three Municipalities. With a view to make the proviso applicable to that state of things, he moved verbal amendments which would make it run as follows:—

"This section shall not apply to—

(a) Carts which are the property of the Government or of the Commissioners;

(b) Carts which are kept without the limits of the Municipality, and are only temporarily and casually used within such limits;

(c) Howrah or the Suburbs of Calcutta.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

Section 142 was agreed to.

Section 143 was passed with a verbal amendment.

Sections 144 to 146 were agreed to.
Sections 147 and 148 were passed with verbal amendments.
Sections 149 to 151 were agreed to.
Section 152 was passed with a verbal amendment.

His Honour the President, in adjourning the Council, drew the attention of the members to rule XI of the rules for the conduct of business. That rule provided as follows:—"In discussing questions which come before the Council for consideration a member shall speak from his place, shall rise when he speaks, and shall address the President. A member shall not be allowed to read his speech, but may refresh his memory by referring to notes." He thought the Council was getting somewhat lax in the observance of that rule, and that the reading of prepared speeches tended to prolong the proceedings of the Council. Large allowance must of course be made for the native members of the Council, who had not the same facility in speaking English as other hon. members, although many of them often excelled in oratory. Every latitude would, however, be given for reference to notes, but he wished to remind the Council of the existence of the rule and the desirability of maintaining it as far as it could be done.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 23rd instant.

Saturday, 23rd February 1884.

PARTITION OF ESTATES.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier moved for permission of the Council to withdraw the Bill to amend the "Estates Partition Act, 1876." He said:—Sir, while the Bill for the amendment of the Estates Partition Act has been before this Council, a strong feeling has been expressed against any legislation which shall have the effect of restricting the right which proprietors of small interests in estates now have of obtaining a perfect partition of their interests, both as to land and as to the general liability for the payment of land revenue. That feeling has found expression not only in this Council, but also outside in the exponents of the opinions of some classes of the public, and I found in personal discussion with some of the officers from the districts in which partitions are most common that they also share in the feeling. I therefore thought it right to lay before your Honour the objections which had been made to the measure, and to ask whether your Honour considered it desirable, under the circumstances, that the measure which had been entrusted to me should be further proceeded with in this Council. Your Honour came to the conclusion that it should not be proceeded with, observing that the relief sought to be given to public officers would, to some extent, be met by the provisions of the Tenancy Bill, which will simplify the carrying out of such partitions. It is a pleasant thing, Sir, to sail with the fair wind of popular opinion instead of being obliged to beat up against it. It is, therefore, with some satisfaction that I ask the leave of this Council to withdraw the Bill to amend the Estates Partition Act.

The motion was agreed to

The Hon Mr Dampier:—I beg to withdraw the Bill to amend the Estates Partition Act of 1876.

HOWRAH AND SUBURBAN POLICE.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to regulate the Police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta.

AMENDMENT OF THE CALCUTTA TRAMWAYS ACT.

Colonel the Hon S. T. Trevor moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880. He said:—I hope I shall not detain the Council many minutes in explaining the circumstances which have rendered the introduction of this Bill necessary. The construction of tramways in Calcutta and the Suburbs was first authorized in Act I of 1880 of this Council This Act provides for the construction of tramways along certain routes which are specified in the agreement which is appended to the Act. The routes are also recited in Section 3 of the Act, and the Preamble of the Act shows its intention to be to provide also for "such other tramways between such other places in Calcutta and the Suburbs of Calcutta, and by such other routes as may hereafter be approved." Section 3 of the Act provides for the construction of tramways in Calcutta within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Corporation. Section 4 provides for suburban and other tramways not specified in the Act, and prescribes the procedure to be observed in bringing them under the operation of the Act. Now, while I think there can be no doubt, having regard to the Preamble of the Act, that the intention of it was to provide for and cover not only the particular tramways enumerated, but such other tramways between such other places in Calcutta and the Suburbs of Calcutta, and by such other routes as may hereafter be approved, yet the literal wording of the Act actually covers only such tramways as are wholly within the jurisdiction of the Corporation, or of the Municipal Commissioners for the Suburbs, and does not cover any portion of such tramways as it may be expedient to carry across any portion of the maidan. As a matter of fact, portions of the tramway have been made on the maidan. For instance, a portion of the Corporation tramway No. 5, which is included in the Act, and runs along Dhurrumtollah, Esplanade Row, and Old Court House Street, I mean the portion along Esplanade Row, is situated on the maidan, and not within the limits of the Town of Calcutta. It was found that Esplanade Row was too narrow to admit conveniently of a double line of tramway being constructed on it, and the grantees applied to the late Lieutenant-Governor for permission to encroach on the maidan, and this permission was granted, without, at the time, attention being drawn to the fact that a strict interpretation of the Act made such permission ultra vires. The tramway itself was provided for in the Act, but there was no provision for allowing the location of it to deviate a few feet to the south, such deviation taking it over the boundary of the Corporation. To show how the deviation was made in complete ignorance of the fact that it carried the tramway out of the provisions of the Act, I may mention that the grantees continued to pay rent for the line to the Corporation, as provided in the agreement. Then there is another instance in the tramway which has been made across the maidan to connect the suburban tramway from Garden Reach to Kidderpore with the town tramways at Dhurrumtolah. The suburban portion of the tramway to Kidderpore was sanctioned, and has been made quite in accordance with the procedure laid down in the Act. It was always intended that the line should be prolonged from Kidderpore to join the town system of tramways, and the route by which this junction was to be effected was the road along the southern margin of the maidan. It seems to have been taken for granted that such a junction was permitted under the provisions of the Act. When the grantees began to make the suburban line, they applied to change the route by which the junction between the suburban and town line was to be effected, from the position first assigned to it along the south edge of the maidan, to the road which runs diagonally across the maidan from the Kidderpore Bridge to Dhurrumtollah corner. This proposal was considered merely as one to change from an already authorised line to another more convenient one. The sanction of the Government of India was obtained to it, and as the grantees pressed for permission to go on with it and complete it before the Exhibition, permission was granted; and it was only when the agreement came to be drawn up that it was discovered that the Act did not cover it. Hence the necessity for introducing a short Bill to amend Act I of 1880, so as to extend the definition of Calcutta so as to include the maidan, and to confer on the Government of Bengal, in respect of any portion of the line which crosses the maidan, the same powers as are vested in the Municipalities, in respect of the portions within their respective jurisdictions.

The motion was agreed to.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS, the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities was further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS asked the Council to go back to section 46. When the question of pensions and gratuities was last discussed he understood the Council to be in favour of the principle of the section then proposed, and it was suggested that it might be a convenient arrangement to provide for contributions from salaries in the way of Provident and Annuity Funds. It was a question whether the wording of section 46A, which stood in the first paper of amendments, was sufficiently wide to cover the creation of such funds, as it merely provided that pensions and gratuities might be granted; and he understood, it was considered, on the advice of the legal officers of Government, that the section as then drafted was not sufficient. The following section was accordingly drafted, and he moved that it be inserted in the Bill:—

46A.—"The Commissioners at a meeting, by a resolution, in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at such meeting shall have voted, may from time to time make rules for—

(a) the granting of pensions and gratuities out of the Municipal Fund; or

(b) the creation and management of a Provident or Annuity Fund for compelling contribution thereto on the part of their officers and servants, and for supplementing such contribution out of the Municipal Fund.

And may repeal or alter such rules.

The Commissioners, at a meeting, may from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities, or grant allowances or annuities out of such Provident or Annuity Fund, to any of their officers or servants as they may see fit."

The HON. MR. MACAULAY did not know if the hon. member proposed to give any further information to the Council regarding the general provision for the establishment of these funds. He considered it would be a mistake. It would be tantamount to suggesting to the Municipalities that they should adopt a general line of conduct in regard to pensions which they had not hitherto adopted, and which he thought should not be adopted. The original proposal was intended to provide for special circumstances, but the section as now worded was likely to lead to much larger results, and he thought the Council should hesitate to accept it in the absence of fuller explanation. There were several questions connected with it which required consideration.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF said that the remarks which had just been made applied equally to the grant of gratuities as well as of pensions, because, apparently, the sense of the rate-payers of the Suburban Municipality was against the grant of either pension or gratuities. But if it was determined that some provision of this kind should find place in the Bill, then he thought the section now proposed should be adopted. He considered, however, that, as in the case of the removal of the Chairman, the consent of two-thirds of the whole number of Commissioners should be required to the making of rules, instead of two-thirds of the number present at a meeting; because when rules were once framed the grant of pensions and gratuities in individual cases must be governed by those rules.

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY said he understood that the principle was accepted at the last meeting, that the Commissioners should be allowed to make rules for pensions and gratuities, and that such pensions and gratuities might be secured by way of a Provident or Annuity Fund. A provision for the grant of pensions or gratuities was a valuable guarantee for good and faithful service, for so long as an officer knew that by any gross misconduct he would forfeit his claim to pension (which, after all, might be defined to be a portion of his pay reserved for future payment), he had an incentive to good behaviour. But if the question was to be re-opened, MR. BEVERLEY was inclined to support the objection of the hon. member, Mr. Macaulay: he was not in favour of allowing the Commissioners to establish Provident or Annuity Funds. An officer who contributed a portion of his pay to any such fund would imagine he had a right to his accumulated balance even in case of dismissal, and would consider it a grievance if he forfeited it; whereas the grant of pensions or gratuities was entirely in the discretion of the Commissioners: the guarantee, therefore, to which he had referred, would be done away with, and he thought that was a strong argument against the establishment of Annuity or Provident Funds.

The HON. the ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he could not understand the objection taken to the section, as it was now proposed to be passed. It was admitted on all hands that it would be a proper thing on the part of Municipalities to reward their servants for faithful service With regard to clause (b) of the section, if a municipality was not wealthy enough to grant pensions or gratuities, it could establish a Provident or Annuity Fund and supplement the contributions thereto of their servants, so that in due course they might get pensions: to that there could be no possible objection. With regard to the objection taken by the hon. member who spoke last, that the servants who subscribed to a fund would consider they had an interest in it notwithstanding their dismissal from service, he thought that, in such cases, the rules would naturally provide that the subscriber would receive back the amount of his subscriptions.

COL. the HON. S. T. TREVOR said that at the last meeting he thought mention was made by himself that it had become customary, even in some Government establishments, to have Provident Funds. The revenue establishments of the Railway Department were non-pensionable, and Provident Funds had been established which answered the same purpose as the usual pension rules.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he was not in favour of the amendments suggested by the Hon. Mahomed Yusuf, and he thought it was quite right that the determination to frame rules should rest with two-thirds of the members present at a meeting; and he also thought that when rules were passed, the grant of pensions in individual cases should not be restricted by the limitation proposed that two-thirds of the whole number of Commissioners should vote in its favour. The removal of the Chairman was a very exceptional case, and two-thirds of the whole number of Commissioners might reasonably be required to vote for such a resolution; but the grant of a pension, which was merely the particular application of general rules, might safely be left to the vote of a majority of the Commissioners at a meeting. With regard to the general principle, he understood at the last meeting that the addition to the section of some words to provide for the establishment of Provident and Annuity Funds had been agreed to. He thought the objections to it were in some degree unfounded.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT observed that the whole section was permissive. The first part of the section permitted the Commissioners to make rules, and the second part provided that the Commissioners might, in accordance with those rules, grant pensions to their officers and servants. Would it not be in the power of the Commissioners to make a rule that for granting a pension to any one, two-thirds of the whole body of the Commissioners must be present?

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS replied that there was nothing to prevent the Commissioners from adopting such a rule.

The motion was then put and agreed to, and the section, as amended, was passed.

The consideration of section 56, which was also reserved at the last meeting, was resumed.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said it was suggested by the Hon. Mr. Dampier that a proviso should be added to the section excepting certain kinds of contracts from its operation, and the sense of the Council was that some such provision was necessary: the revised section of which he had given notice enlarged the exceptions in the existing Act, but the provisions now introduced were in accordance with the English law. He moved that the following section be substituted for section 56:—

56. (1) "No Commissioner or member of a Ward Committee shall have, directly or indirectly, by himself or through others, any share or interest in any contract made with the Commissioners; and if any Commissioner shall have such share or interest, he shall thereby become disqualified to continue in office as Commissioner, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(2). A Commissioner shall not be so disqualified by reason only of his having a share or interest in—

(a) A contract entered into between the Commissioners and any incorporated or registered company of which such Commissioner is a member or shareholder; or

(b) any lease, sale, or purchase of land, or any agreement for the same; or

(c) any agreement for the loan of money, or any security for the payment of money only; or (d) any newspaper in which any advertisement relating to the affairs of the Municipality is inserted.

"But no such Commissioner shall act as Commissioner or Member of a Ward Committee, or take part in any proceedings relating to any matter in which he is so interested."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the following clause be inserted in the postponed section 58, with the object of providing that such rules should be subject to the approval of Government:—

"(d) Rules under section 46A for the making, repeal or alteration of rules for the grant of pensions or gratuities, or for the creation and management of provident funds."

The HON. MR. MACAULAY suggested the addition to the clause of the words "and shall, after the approval of the Local Government, be published in the Calcutta Gazette." He considered that publicity in regard to these rules was highly desirable, and pointed out that the Calcutta Act required publication of all pension rules in the Gazette.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS did not think a legal enactment was required for the publication of the rules, and besides he did not consider they would be of such general interest as to need publication in the way proposed.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS' motion was carried, and the section as amended was passed.

The consideration of the postponed section 84 was allowed to stand over to the next meeting of the Council.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that in the postponed section 85, clause (d), the words "and not exceeding five per centum when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied," be omitted. He said these words had the effect of imposing a water-rate in cases in which the payer of the rate had no interest, inasmuch as he did not get the benefit of water in his house.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS could not accept the amendment. The provision was in accordance with the Calcutta Act, and he thought it would be admitted that whether there was water laid on in any particular street or not, the introduction of a pure supply of water was a benefit to all the inhabitants, and all the rate-payers should therefore be called upon to pay the water-rate. The section provided a differential rate in those more favoured streets which had the advantage of a direct supply of water, but the other rate-payers benefited as well, though in a less degree, and it would be against every principle of fairness and justice to say that they should not pay at all.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT remarked that the provision objected to appeared more open to question than it really was. When water was laid on in a large city like Dacca or Bhagulpore, those who enjoyed a direct supply greatly benefited, but others benefited as well. He supposed the Commissioners would regulate the rate according to the benefit derived by particular streets.

The Hon. the Advocate-General observed that when such a provision was retained, it might act as an inducement to the Commissioners not to lay down water throughout the whole town.

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon. Mr Beverley moved that the words "or such other rate as is provided by section 311" be added to clause (e) of the same section; this addition, he said, was necessary because by section 311 a lighting rate was imposed in municipalities which might not impose a rate on holdings.

The motion was agreed to, and the section, as amended, was passed.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved to substitute the words "the present market value of the house" for the words "such cost" in the postponed section 100, proviso 1, lines 6 and 7. He said that according to this proviso if a building cost five lakhs of rupees, although its value might have dwindled to Rs. 5,000, the rate could be assessed on the original cost. He did not see the justice of assessing the rate on the original cost of a building; but if the market value was taken into consideration, a just assessment would be made. A golpatta house might cost Rs. 500 to construct but in five years might not be worth Rs. 50, and it would be very oppressive to assess the rate on the original cost of construction; moreover the operation of the proviso would work very harshly in the case of old families of distinction who had been reduced to poverty but still held to their ancestral mansions.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay did not think the Council should adopt the amendment, because in many cases there might be no market value. A man who possessed a palace might wish to dispose of it, but would probably not get a purchaser. The same might be the case with a mill or factory. The section gave something definite to go upon, whereas the amendment gave nothing definite.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds remarked that the amendment was opposed to the whole principle of the proviso, which gave a definite mode of valuation in cases where it was not possible to ascertain the gross annual rental; and that provision was safeguarded by the second proviso, that in estimating the value of a holding the value of machinery in it should not be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and negatived.

The further consideration of the section was postponed.

Section 156 was passed with the addition of the words "at a meeting" after "Commissioners" in line 3, notice of motion to which effect was given by the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose; and after a verbal amendment made on the motion of the Hon. Mr Beverley.

Section 157 having been read, the Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved that the words "with capital raised by loan" be inserted after "this Act" in line 7 of paragraph 1. He said that under this section the Commissioners might levy tolls on all bridges and roads, but the object of this amendment was to restrict the establishment of toll-bars to certain cases, namely, to bridges and roads constructed with capital raised by loans. If a municipality was not obliged to borrow money to meet extraordinary expenditure, why should additional taxation be raised? But if the income of the municipality was insufficient and the Commissioners were obliged to raise money by loan, there was then some reason for levying tolls in addition to the ordinary taxation.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai opposed the amendment, on the ground that it was not only the residents of the municipality who would be subject to the payment of tolls, but outsiders: he saw no reason why, because a municipality had sufficient funds to construct bridges and roads, they should not be permitted to levy tolls for the use of such bridges and roads.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said the present discussion afforded an example of the gradual progress in improved administration. Before the Act of 1876 was passed, tolls were generally imposed on roads and bridges everywhere. That was pronounced to be bad policy, and the levy of tolls in general was given up. This section was then introduced into the Act, so that the abolition of tolls should not act as a deterrent to a municipality in making new roads and bridges, and the levy of tolls on such roads and bridges was authorized until the cost of construction had been paid off. Now, another step forward was proposed by the Hon. Mover of the amendment,—that tolls should only be levied in cases in which money had to be borrowed for the construction of a road or bridge; and the next proposal, which might be that tolls should not be levied even in such cases, would be the attainment of ideal perfection. In the present state of Municipal funds, and in view of the existing requirements for improvement of communications, however, he thought that the special reason which existed in 1876 still prevailed—not to make any change which might have a tendency to discourage the making of new roads and bridges. He must therefore vote against the amendment, but he wished to bring to the notice of the hon. member in charge of the Bill what might be the effect of this section. Under the existing law certain roads and bridges lately made were now paying for the cost of construction by the levy of tolls. But the present Act would be repealed by this Bill. He doubted whether the continued levy of such tolls was covered by the saving clauses at the beginning of the Bill.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he was not prepared to accept the amendment before the Council, which proposed to confine the operation of the section to roads and bridges constructed by means of loans. The great mass of municipalities did not contemplate the construction of such large works as would require the contracting of loans. And generally speaking the tolls on these roads and bridges would be of a very moderate character. Then there was good reason in what had fallen from the Hon. Harbans Sahai that the effect of the section would be to recover a part of the cost of construction, not from the residents of the municipality, who already paid rates, but from those who lived outside municipal limits. With regard to what fell from the Hon. Mr Dampier, he might say that the point had been considered in Committee, and he understood it was the opinion of the Legal Members of the Council that section 2 was sufficient to cover the levy of tolls now raised on roads and bridges.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Sections 158 to 173 were agreed to.

Section 174 was passed with a verbal amendment.

Section 175 having been read, the Hon. Harbans Sahai called attention to the amendments standing in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose. One of these was to substitute "seven days" for "five days" as the period within which objections might be preferred against an order to do a certain work. The other amendment was a more important one. It was to add to the second paragraph the words "subject, however, to an appeal to the Commissioners in meeting," against the decision on such objection of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds observed that "five days" was the period allowed under the existing law for making objections, and there seemed no reason to extend the time. The proposal for an appeal to the Commissioners seemed unnecessary, because, under the succeeding section 176, the objection must be heard by the Commissioners at a meeting when the work to be executed was of any magnitude and the cost was likely to exceed three hundred rupees. The orders to be dealt with under section 175 were of a trivial character, and considerable expense and delay would be caused if every objection to a trivial order was to be heard and disposed of by the Commissioners at a meeting.

The motions were, by leave, withdrawn, and section 175, as it stood in the Bill, was agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved that the words "to the Commissioners such sum not exceeding three hundred rupees as the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall certify to be the probable" be substituted for the words "in the said sum of three hundred rupees to the Commissioners as the" in lines 8, 9 and 10 of the proviso to section 176. He thought the requisition for the payment of the full sum of three hundred rupees was rather unfair if a less sum would suffice. The owner should only be bound to pay the specific sum which the Chairman or Vice-Chairman considered the work would cost.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds thought the section a reasonable one. The supposition was that the person objecting alleged that the work would cost more than three hundred rupees, and it seemed fair that the Chairman should say—well, give us three hundred rupees, which you admit is less than the work will cost, and we will do the work Mr. Reynolds did not think the objector should be allowed to pay any smaller sum when by his own showing it was likely to cost more.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Sections 177 to 179 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley said he would explain the next three amendments together. They had reference to section 174, and would provide for cases in which there was doubt as to who the owners or occupiers were. He moved the following amendments :—

Section 180, paragraph 1, line 7 —For the words "such owners," substitute "such of the owners as are known."

In line 5 of the second paragraph, for the words "such occupiers," substitute "such of the occupiers as are known."

Section 181, line 7.—After the words "and occupiers" insert "or such of them as are known."

The amendments were agreed to, and sections 180 and 181 as thus amended were passed.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved the introduction of the following new section after section 181 :—

181A.—"It shall not be necessary to make the Commissioners a party to any suit for contribution brought by any owner or occupier who may have paid any portion of such expenses under the last two preceding sections, unless such suit is also brought to contest the liability of the said owner or occupier, or the amount of the expenses payable."

This section, he said, was the sequitur of what had just been done. It might be necessary for the owners or occupiers who had to pay for the cost of works to bring a suit for contribution against other persons, and the object of this section was to prevent the Commissioners being made parties to such suit, unless it was a case that came under section 184.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said he thought this section unnecessary. If the Commissioners were not necessary parties to the suit, they could not be made parties : if they were, this Council could not prevent the Court from making them parties.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

Sections 182 and 183 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved that the proviso to Section 184 be omitted, unless the Council considered that the interests of Municipalities required the sacrifice of a clear and equitable principle, viz. that proceedings should be stayed pending the decision of a Civil Court. If a suit had been decreed, it was in the discretion of the Appellate Court to stay execution, but this proviso declared that the pendency of a civil suit would not be a bar to the recovery of certain expenses and fees.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he could not agree to the omission of this proviso, which was a reproduction of the existing law, and was also contained in various other Acts.

The Hon. Harbans Sahay also opposed the motion. The effect of omitting the proviso would be that suits would be instituted and proceedings stayed for an indefinite time.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section as it stood was agreed to.

Section 185 was passed with a verbal amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley moved to substitute the following section for section 186:—

"In any such case the Court may, on the application of any person interested, summon the Commissioners and any other persons interested to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

'Upon the appearance of the parties, or in the absence of any of them upon proof of due service of the summons, the Court may proceed to determine the amount of damages or compensation payable by the Commissioners, and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same among the persons interested; and for this purpose may examine the parties, or any of them, and their witnesses on oath or affirmation; and the Court may also determine the costs of such enquiry, and by what persons and in what proportions they shall be paid.

"The provisions of section 363 shall mutatis mutandis apply to applications under this section."

He said this was rather an important matter. The necessity for the amendment arose from what appeared to be the incorrect drafting of the present Act. Sections 185 to 187 had been taken apparently from the Calcutta Municipal Act, Sections 353 to 355: but in the Calcutta Act those sections were contained in a chapter headed "Of the recovery of damages and expenses." and related to the realization of costs and expenses payable by private individuals, rather than to damages or compensation to be realized from the Commissioners. The recovery of expenses payable by private parties was provided for by Section 182, and Section 185 had been restricted to damages or compensation to be paid by the Commissioners. Section 186, however, which had been taken almost verbatim from the Calcutta Act, spoke of "either party," and Section 187 provided that the damages should be recovered by distress and sale of the Commissioners' moveable property. This, he thought, could never have been intended. The work of the Municipal Commissioners could not go on if their conservancy carts, for instance, were liable to be seized at any moment He had, therefore, re-drafted Section 186 and proposed to omit Section 187.

After some conversation the consideration of sections 186 and 187 was postponed.

Sections 188 to 190 were agreed to.

The Hon. Moulvie Mahomed Yusuf moved that the words "in respect of the removal of such rubbish, with the consent of the occupier of any house or land, from such house or land, or" in lines 11, 12, and 13 of section 191 be omitted. He said that under section 198 all rubbish was the property of the Commissioners, and under section 191 the Commissioners might charge fees for the removal of rubbish from houses and lands, as well as for the removal of rubbish which had accumulated in the exercise of a trade or business. He had no objection to a charge for the removal of trade rubbish, but he submitted that, as all rubbish was the property of the Commissioners, fees should not be charged for its removal from houses or lands even with the consent of owners. He was afraid of such provision being liable to abuse.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds objected to the amendment. He thought there was some misapprehension of the object and force of the section. The three cases for which the section provided were separate—first, there was the ordinary case in which house rubbish was placed in a convenient part of the road and then removed in the ordinary duty of sanitation; then there was the proviso for charging fees for the removal of trade rubbish. The third case was that in which rubbish was removed for the convenience of occupiers, not from the road, but from private premises The word "consent" did not apply to the charging of fees, but to the removal of the rubbish.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier asked, if the meaning was that the Commissioners and the owners of premises might enter into voluntary agreements for the removal of rubbish from the premises themselves, what was the use of stating in the law that they might do so?

The Hon. the Advocate General explained that the section empowered the municipality to enter into this particular kind of contract.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai thought the section should stand as it was. The three cases provided for by this section were already being worked. Unless the Commissioners were authorized by law to do so, they could not enter into a private contract with any individual. It was in some cases necessary and convenient to both parties that rubbish should be removed from houses according to arrangements entered into between them.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Section 192 was agreed to.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai withdrew the notice of amendment in section 193 which stood in the name of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose.

Section 193 was then agreed to.

Sections 194 to 201 were agreed to.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai, on behalf of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose, moved that the words "or show cause why the order should not be carried out" be added to the first paragraph of section 202. The amendment was simply by way of safeguard; it would allow a man fully to represent his case before a final order was passed

The Hon. Mr Reynolds thought it lay with the mover of the amendment to show why this additional safeguard was needed. He was not in favour of the amendment because he did not consider it necessary.

The Hon. the Advocate-General pointed out that as the owner or occupier was to be allowed eight days, or such longer period as the Commissioners might fix, to execute the work, there was nothing to prevent his representing to the Commissioners that what was complained of was not a nuisance.

The amendment was put and negatived, and the section as it stood was passed.

Section 203 was agreed to.

The further consideration of the Bill was postponed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 1st March 1884.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 3rd March 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

DURING the week ending 16th February 1884, the birth and death-rates of the first class Municipalities in Bengal stood at 23·4 and 30·0 per 1,000, respectively, as opposed to 22 9 and 28 8 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 9th February, showing an increase in the registration of both events.

(2) The following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Utterpara ...	47·2	Ranaghat ...	53·9
Comillah ...	42·4	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	46·5
Durbhanga ...	35·4	Purneah ...	45·0
Monghyr ...	34·4	Bhagulpore ...	40 7
Hughli ...	32 2	Burdwan ...	38 1
		Utterpara ...	37·7
		Patna ...	33·4
		Dacca ...	31·8
		Durbhanga ...	30·7
		Jessore ...	30·6
		Santipore ...	29 8
		Serampore ...	29·4
		Gya ...	29 4

(3). The mortality from the principal diseases exhibited below, contrasted with the death-rates from the same causes in the preceding week, stands as follows :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	16th February 1884.	9th February 1884.
Cholera	2·2	2·2
Small-pox	2·2	1·5
Fever	11 4	11·4
Bowel-complaints	5·2	4·2
Injury	·2	·3
Other causes	8·8	9·2

the noticeable features indicated by the above figures being that, in comparison with the figures of the preceding week, the mortality from small-pox and bowel-complaints was sensibly higher, that cholera and fever prevailed with equal fatality, and that the casualties from rest of the death-causes had diminished fractionally.

(4). Excluding injury, the mortality from which was high nowhere, the rest of the diseases proved most fatal to life in the undermentioned Municipalities :—

Cholera	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.
Suburbs of Calcutta ...	8·5	Gya ..	9 6	Ranaghat ...	47 9
Howrah .	4 4	Patna ...	4·9	Purneah ...	41·5
		Suburbs of Calcutta	3·1	Burdwan ...	24·4
		Durbhanga ...	3 1
		Bhagulpore ...	2·7

Bowel-complaints.	Ratio per mille.	Other diseases.	Ratio per mille.
Bhagulpore	10 9	Dacca	15·6
		Poori	15·0
		Bhagulpore	14·5
		Arrah	14·4
		Suburbs of Calcutta . .	13·6
		Midnapore	10·8
		Burdwan	10 7
		Hughli	10 7

(5). In relation to Sex, Class, and Age, the mortality of the week is stated to have been distributed as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ..	33·8	Christians ...	13·0	Under 1 year ...	262·5

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o overcast, g gloomy, t thunder, ≃ fog, ⌓ dew, lr. lightning reflection, p passing temporary showers.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS

As anticipated, there has been a considerable decrease in the traffic of the month under review, as compared with the despatches during January 1883, the falling off in the jute and gunny traffic not being covered by corresponding increases under other heads. Though it is disappointing to have again to record a decrease, the results of the month's working are not without interest and hope for the future, recording as they do a very large increase in the salt traffic upwards, and a revival of the rice trade.

As a matter of fact, the season of 1882-83, with which comparison is made, was a very favourable one for the jute and gunny traffic, no less than 1,058 635 bales being exported during the last five months of 1882, as against 585,910 bales for a similar period in 1883, while the present season has witnessed a poor out-turn of jute both as to quantity and quality, and a consequent depression not only to this traffic, but to the hand-made gunny-bag industry.

Increases.

Ale ... ... Tons 10·71

The weight lifted this month is principally made up of public consignments.

Food-grain ... ... Tons 531·38

With a fair demand and prices leaving a fair margin of profit consignments are at last coming forward.

Ginger ... ... Tons 10·47

The despatches during the month were 33 21 tons as against 22·74 tons last year, and the increase is due to fluctuations of traffic.

Railway material ... ... Tons 1,799·89

Materials for the Dinagepore Branch, and coal for the Locomotive Department, make up this increase as usual.

Salt ... ... Tons 935·10

During the past four months there has been a steady increase in this traffic, apparently due to favourable Calcutta prices and low railway freights.

Sugar ... ... Tons 19·62

After a lengthened depression this traffic has so far recovered as to show the above increase. With an increased local manufacture the imports of this article are likely almost to cease.

Tobacco ... ... Tons 266 67

A sudden demand for local consumption has caused this improvement. Sample consignments of the new crop have gone forward. The season is expected to be a fair one, but rain is badly wanted to insure complete success.

Decreases.

Gunny-bags ... ... Tons 1,406·01

The market for this article remains without animation, and the industry is not likely to recover from the depression it is suffering from, this season.

Jute ... ... Tons 5,912·97

The present demand for loose jute is not sufficiently strong to create an advance in prices, and holders in the mofussil will not accept any decline; business is therefore restricted.

Miscellaneous ... ... Tons 826·38

Though under this head a decrease is recorded, it is not really so great as it is shewn, as the gunny, coal, &c., &c., traffic should be added to enable a fair comparison to be drawn

Piece-goods ... ... Tons 119·36

As anticipated in my last report, there is a slight falling off under this head. The market is in a state of extreme dullness.

Tea ... ... Tons 291·23

This is the end of the season.

CLASSIFICATION OF SUB-DIVISIONS FOR THE PURPOSES OF MEDICAL ADMINISTRATION.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 7th February 1884.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Circular to all Commissioners of Divisions, No. 14T.—M., dated 27th October 1882.
Letter to Surgeon-General, No. 1302T.—M., dated 27th October 1882.
Letter from Surgeon-General, No. 9816, dated 13th December 1882.
Replies from Commissioners to circular No. 14T —M., dated 27th October 1882.
Resolution of Government in the Municipal (Medical) Department, No. 746T —M., dated 4th July 1883.
Letter from Surgeon-General, No. 928, dated 5th February 1884, and enclosures.

IN the Resolution cited in the preamble, the Lieutenant-Governor laid down the principle which will in future regulate the proportions in which the pay of a medical subordinate, holding charge of a sub-division conjointly with a municipal or other class I dispensary, will be borne by Government and the municipality or dispensary respectively. It was stated that the Government undertakes, as a part of the medical administration of the province, to maintain a civil medical officer at the head-quarters of every sub-division, irrespective of any arrangements that may be made by municipalities for the charge of their dispensaries; and that when any municipality desired to utilize, for the charge of its dispensary, the services of the medical officer provided by the Government for the charge of the sub-division, it should be entitled to avail itself of those services on payment of the usual dispensary allowance only, and should not be required to bear any part of the medical officer's grade pay. The Surgeon-General was accordingly requested to prepare a list of all the sub-divisions of the Province, classified according to the rank of medical officer which they require for the Government work alone, i.e., irrespective of the special wants of any municipality or class I dispensary at head-quarters. This list has now been received, and has received the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor. With a few modifications of minor importance, the classification proposed by the Surgeon-General is accepted, and for the future the various sub-divisions of the Province will be graded, for the purposes of the medical administration, in three classes as shown in the table appended to this Resolution. Class A includes those sub-divisions the circumstances of which are special, and which require for the proper conduct of the Government work a civil medical officer of commissioned rank. Class B includes those sub-divisions to which it is necessary to post an Assistant Surgeon. This class is sub-divided into B(1), B(2), and B(3), according as Assistant Surgeons of the first, second, or third grade are required for the sub-divisions it comprises. Class C includes all those sub-divisions for which officers of the Civil Hospital Assistant class are required. This class also, which is the most numerous of the three, is sub-divided into C(1), C(2), and C(3), according to the rank of the Civil Hospital Assistant allotted to the respective sub-divisions. Those sub-divisions which have been grouped together under the head C(3) are ordinary sub-divisions, whose requirements are not in any way above the average, and for which only Civil Hospital Assistants of the lowest class are required. In column (6) of the table is shown the charge that will in future be borne by the Government on account of the salary of the medical officer in each sub-division. It will be open to any municipality, or to the supporters of any class I dispensary, situated at the head-quarters of the sub-division, to obtain the services of a medical subordinate of the Government establishment of such higher rank as they may desire, on payment of the full amount by which the authorized pay and allowances of such officer may exceed the amount shown against the sub-division in column (6) of the table.

2. When any medical subordinate, whether Assistant Surgeon or Civil Hospital Assistant, is appointed to any sub-division of classes B or C in pursuance of the orders contained in this Resolution, the charge of the sub-division shall be held to be his substantive appointment, in virtue of which he receives the pay of his grade. The charge of the sub-division, in such cases, includes the medical charge of the sub-divisional jail. The charge of a dispensary, when held in addition to that of a sub-division, will carry with it an additional allowance. The amount of this allowance will be Rs. 10 per mensem in the case of a Civil Hospital Assistant, and Rs. 20 per mensem in the case of an Assistant Surgeon.

3. The Surgeon-General will be requested to carry out the arrangements which are indicated in the table appended to this Resolution. Where a sub-division is at present held by a medical subordinate of a higher rank than that to which its class entitles it, he should be replaced, as soon as an opportunity offers, by an officer of the prescribed class, unless, as already stated, the local municipality or dispensary committee, if there be any, desire to retain his services, and are willing to incur the additional expenditure. In certain cases, regarding which orders will be separately communicated to the Surgeon-General, the existing incumbents are drawing higher allowances than those to which they will be entitled under these orders. Steps will be taken as opportunities offer to bring these sub-divisions under the rules now laid down, without injustice to the present incumbents. Meanwhile the allowances now drawn in excess will be continued for the present, and will be borne by Government and, where such exists, by the local municipality or dispensary committee in such proportions as may be decided separately in each case.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1884.

The meteorological conditions obtaining in Northern India during the month of February were briefly indicated in last month's report. The most important factor is undoubtedly the rapid increase of temperature which commences during this month and is continued during the succeeding hot weather months. Temperature not only increases rapidly but also at different rates in different parts of the country determined mainly by their geographical position with respect to the adjacent seas and the Himalayas.

Hence the area of highest temperature or greatest heat (termed the thermal focus of India by Mr. Blanford) is gradually transferred from southern to northern India. During the month of February the hottest portions are the western and northern districts of the Deccan (as represented by Bellary, Belgaum, Poona, and Sholapore).

The rapid increase of temperature over Bengal as compared with the Bay of Bengal, during the month of February, causes the northerly land winds to weaken in force and to be gradually replaced by southerly winds. This change commences first of all along the north-west coast of the Bay, that is the coast of Orissa and south-west Bengal, where there is a considerable breadth of plain facing the sea. These sea winds are at first very local but gradually extend their influence seaward and landward These southerly winds are usually not fully established until after a series of oscillations, the number of which probably depends chiefly upon the strength of the previous northerly winds in Bengal.

The meteorological conditions of the month in Bengal are thus comparatively simple. Temperature increases rapidly; winds are light and variable, alternating between north-west and south-west on the coast, the air dry in the interior, and subject to sudden changes of humidity near the coast according as the wind shifts between north and south, and the sky generally clear.

Occasional disturbances occur. These are mainly of two kinds. The first are what were termed in previous reports north-east monsoon storms, which usually commence in north-western India as barometric depressions and extend eastwards and southwards. The other are more local in character and are probably due to interaction between the dry land winds and the southerly sea winds. These storms are usually known as nor'westers.

The average rainfall of the month is small, but is somewhat greater than in January, in consequence of the greater frequency of local storms.

It averages about half an inch in Behar, three-quarters of an inch in Northern Bengal and Orissa and between an inch and an inch-and-a-half over Eastern Bengal and South west Bengal.

The chief features of the meteorology of the past month are:—

1*st*—Excessive pressure;
2*nd*—Diminished temperature;
3*rd*—Greater dryness of the air than usual;
4*th*—Unusual steadiness of the dry land or northerly winds.

In these respects the month of February presents the same features as January.

Pressure was below the average during the first week of the month. It was afterwards steadily above the average, the excess being large during the third and fourth weeks of the month

Temperature was also below the normal during the month. The deficiency of temperature was most marked during the first and second weeks, when the mean daily temperature was from 2° to 5° below the average of the period. In the third week temperature was slightly above the average (less than 1°) at the Central Behar stations. During the fourth week temperature continued below the average in Bengal (in consequence of the unusual prevalence of northerly winds), but was from 1° to 2½° above it in Behar. Hence the mean temperature of the month is markedly below the average for Bengal and Orissa, and to a less extent in Behar.

One unusual feature of the month was the prevalence of northerly winds in South Bengal and Orissa This has an evident connection with the early establishment and abnormal strength of the north-east monsoon. Northerly winds occasionally gave way to southerly winds but the latter were feeble and were replaced by northerly winds after a brief interval The prevalent winds were hence north to north-westerly in Bengal and Orissa, and westerly in Behar.

Two slight general disturbances occurred during the month. The first apparently originated in Upper India and extended through the Central Provinces to Bengal and Orissa. It gave moderate but fairly general rain to the whole of Orissa, South-west Bengal, the adjacent districts of North Bengal and East Bengal, between the 14th and 18th. The second was a more local disturbance and was almost confined to Bengal, where it gave a series of thunderstorms accompanied with light to moderate rain in Orissa, South-west Bengal, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and a few light showers to East and North Bengal on the 25th and 26th.

The rainfall of the month was slightly in excess over the greater part of East Bengal and Orissa and in defect in South-west Bengal, Behar and North Bengal.

The characteristic features of the month are similar in character to those of the preceding months of January, December, and November. The main features have been strong land winds and weak sea winds.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of February 1884:—

CALCUTTA,
The 7th March 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 7TH MARCH 1884.

THE two preceding months of the present year have been characterized by weather due to a previous weak south-west monsoon followed by what may be called a strong north-east monsoon. In other winds during the past six months the sea winds have been weak and the land winds strong. These features have accompanied and given rise to unusually high pressure and low temperature, great dryness of the air, deficient rainfall, and unusual steadiness of the cold weather northerly winds, during the months of November, December, January, and February.

These conditions are now partly being modified by the increasing action of the sun, with its increasing elevation and the greater length of the day. Temperature is increasing at a more rapid rate than is usual at the beginning of the hot weather, and this has already had a perceptible effect on the other elements of observation, more especially wind direction and air pressure.

Pressure has been below the average during the week by amounts which vary from ·03″ in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur to ·07″ in Behar.

Temperature increased very rapidly during the early part of the week and was unusually high on the 5th, when it was from 6° to 8° above the normal. The mean temperature of the week was from 2° to 4° above the average. The returns of South Behar are at present unreliable, as they are apparently vitiated by inaccurate observation at Gya.

Winds have been generally normal in direction during this week. Southerly and south-westerly winds have prevailed in south Bengal and Orissa, whilst westerly dry winds have blown steadily across Behar and Chutia Nagpur.

Two or three very slight disturbances have occurred during the week, and have given thunderstorms and slight rain over small local areas. The rainfall of the week has been nil over the greater part of the province. East Bengal is the only part which has received rain of any value. The average fall for the week in east Bengal is a quarter of an inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 7th of March 1884 :—

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 12th March 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

The returns of the first class Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 23rd February 1884, disclose the undermentioned results :—

(1) That births and deaths were recorded in these Municipalities at the rates, respectively, of 24·5 and 29·2 per 1,000 of their population as opposed to 23·4 and 30·0 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 16th February, indicating improvement in the registration of births and a falling off in that of deaths.

(2) That these events were returned in the highest proportions from the following Municipalities.

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Serampore	37·3	Purneah	58·9
Burdwan	36·6	Kishnaghur	53·0
Bhagulpore	35·3	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	45·9
Durbhanga	33 8	Comillah	38·5
Santipore	33·3	Gya	36·9
		Burdwan	36·6
		Bhagulpore	31·7
		Arrah	31·1
		Patna	30·8

(3) That the diseases mentioned in the table appended to this memoranda proved fatal at the rates exhibited below, as contrasted with the results of the preceding week :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	23rd February 1884.	16th February 1884.
Cholera	3·1	2·2
Small-pox	2·7	2·2
Fever	11·4	11·4
Bowel-complaints	3·7	5·2
Injury	·2	·2
Other causes	8·1	8·8

The noticeable features disclosed by the above figures are, that there was no marked difference in fatal results from any of the diseases, except cholera and bowel-complaints, the former exhibiting enhanced mortality and the latter a great reduction in severity.

(4) That of the abovementioned death-causes, while bowel-complaints and injury were not noticeably severe anywhere, the rest of them proved conspicuously fatal in the following Municipalities :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.
Comillah ...	11·5	Gya ...	15·0	Purneah ...	48·5	Arrah ...	21·5

Kishnaghur ...	5·7	Suburbs of Calcutta	4·1	Santipore ...	22·8	Gya ...	10·9

(5) That the death-rates under the heads of Sex, Class and Age, stand as follows :—

According to Sex.	Ratio per mille.	According to Class.	Ratio per mille.	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ...	30·7	Christians ...	34 8	Under 1 year ...	247·0
Females ..	27·5	Hindus ...	28·4	1 and under 5 years ...	42·2
Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths ...	126	Mahomedans ...	30·9	5 and under 10 ,, ...	18·7
		Budhists ...	48·4	10 and under 15 ,, ...	15·4
		Other classes ...	36·4	15 and under 20 ,, ...	21·4
				20 and under 30 ,, ...	17·5
				30 and under 40 ,, ...	21·9
				40 and under 50 ,, ...	19·8
				50 and under 60 ,, ...	25·7
				60 years and upwards ...	60·1

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of ·re is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·1° lower; and thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor- during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew ·ter, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The total fall of rain from 2nd to 8th March 1884	Nil

The mean temperature and humidity are obtained by applying to the mean of the 10h, 16h, and minimum readings a correction dependent on the range, and derived from the hourly observations at the Surveyor-General's Office, Chowringhee, in past years.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, INDIA,
The 10th March 1884.

HENRY F. BLANFORD,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of India.

Report on East Indian Railway Traffic for the three weeks and five days ended 26th January 1884.

GENERAL REMARKS AS TO FLUCTUATIONS OF STAPLES.

INCREASES.

Coal.—This increase is due to a better demand for brick-burning purposes and for sea-going steamers.

Cotton.—This increase is due to improved demand in Calcutta.

Piece-goods, European.—Market transactions quieter, but the increase is due to active demand from Cawnpore, Tirhoot, Delhi, and Punjab.

Wheat, Pulses, and Rice, husked.—These decreases are due to the English market being dull.

Rice, unhusked, and other Rain and Spring Crops.—This increase is due to demand at up-country stations and Rajputana for scarcity arising from local want of rain.

Foreign Railway Materials.—Due to works on Bengal and North-Western and other Railways on the north of the Ganges and in Oudh being in course of active construction.

Saltpetre.—Demand at Calcutta for shipment.

Seeds.—Active demand in English and Foreign markets.

DECREASES.

Indigo.—This decrease is attributable to fluctuation.

Sugar.—Decrease in carriage covered by an increase in weight is due to demand for short distance traffic, owing to failure of local supplies and crops.

Minerals.—Ordinary fluctuation.

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

Saturday, 1st March 1884.

Present:

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL, Presiding.
The HON. G. C. PAUL, C.I.E., Advocate-General.
The HON. H. L. DAMPIER, C.I.E.
The HON. H. J. REYNOLDS.
The HON. C. P. L MACAULAY.

The HON. H. BEVERLEY.
The HON. HARBUNS SAHAI.
The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE.
The HON. BOYKONTONATH DE.

HOWRAH AND SUBURBAN POLICE.

THE HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to regulate the Police in the Municipalities of Howrah and the Suburbs of Calcutta be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said that the alterations which had been made in the Bill by the Select Committee were not in any way of an important character, and were really directed to nothing more than the abbreviation and simplification of the wording of the Bill as it previously stood. It was provided by the amended Bill that it should come into operation on the same day as the Bengal Municipalities Bill, 1884, as this was really the intention of the original draft, which declared that the Bill should come into operation on such day as the Lieutenant-Governor might appoint. The Bill was, in fact, only a chapter of the Bengal Municipalities Bill, which it was more convenient to enact as a separate measure. The Select Committee had omitted sections 4 and 5 of the Bill, which were taken from chapter 5 of the Act of 1876, and were framed in view of a state of things under which it was contemplated that the entire cost of the municipal-police should be defrayed from municipal funds. Under those circumstances, those provisions were quite proper for the protection of municipal interests, but the Select Committee thought it needless to reproduce them in a measure so limited in its extent as the present Bill. Under the existing law the share of expense to be defrayed by the municipality could not exceed 5 per cent. on the annual value of holdings within the municipality. They had reduced that to 2 per cent., as 5 per cent. had been found quite sufficient to cover the entire cost: 2 per cent. was considered sufficient to cover the limited cost.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds then moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said there were no amendments on the paper, and he would not propose to ask the Council to pass the Bill that day. If the motion was accepted, it would be convenient that the Bill should be passed at the same time as the general Municipal Act.

The motion was agreed to, and the clauses of the Bill were passed without amendment.

CALCUTTA TRAMWAYS.

Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor moved that the Bill to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, be read in Council. He said he need not take up the time of the Council by describing the provisions of the Bill at any length. It consisted of only five sections, and the purpose of it would be evident from the statement of objects and reasons. The Bill gave a definition of Calcutta so as to make it include all places within the local limits of the Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court, and that meant that Calcutta for the purposes of the Tramways Act included the maidan and Fort William in addition to the town as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876; and it provided by section 3 that all tramways constructed in Calcutta, but situate beyond the local limits of the town, that is, in fact all tramways on the maidan should be subject to the general management and control of the Local Government, and not that of the Corporation; and lastly, section 5 gave the Act retrospective effect in respect of such tramways.

The motion was carried, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon Mr Reynolds, the Hon Mr. Beverley, and the Mover, with instructions to report thereon in one week.

SUBURBAN WATER-SUPPLY.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds moved that the Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the suburbs of Calcutta be read in Council. He said:—This Bill is introduced in accordance with the leave given by the Council two and a half months ago, on the motion of my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay. I do not think I need add anything to the sketch which he gave on that occasion of the history of the question of the Suburban water-supply. The matter has been under discussion for about six years, and I am glad to be able to take to-day another step towards its final disposal by the introduction of this Bill. The arrangement contemplated by the Bill is that the supply of water to the Suburbs shall be furnished by the Corporation of Calcutta, but that the Commissioners of the Suburbs shall provide for the distribution of the water within the municipality. The Calcutta Corporation have, as, I believe, the Council are aware, already taken measures for carrying out their part of the engagement. It was necessary to order a new main from England, and a 42-inch main, which would have given an additional supply of eight million gallons a day, would have been sufficient for the wants of Calcutta. The Corporation, however, have ordered a 48-inch main, which will supply 12,000,000 gallons, and a daily supply of four million gallons will thus be available for the Suburbs. The new main is actually on its way, and proceedings for laying it will be commenced as soon as it arrives in this country. In fact, preparations have been made already. We may therefore hope for a speedy termination of the long delays which have impeded the settlement of this question. The point which remains to be determined is the fixing of the conditions of the arrangement by which the Suburbs are to reimburse Calcutta for the extra expense involved in the purchase of a larger main than Calcutta required for its own purposes. The Bill proposes to determine this point by declaring that the cost of the water shall be a charge upon the water-rate, and that any disputes regarding the cost shall be settled by arbitration. The Calcutta Corporation may, I think, reasonably ask for some further security than this. They may fairly demand either that the rate shall not be fixed below some specified amount, or that a certain quantity of water shall be taken and paid for daily, or that any sum by which the water-rate receipts fall short of the amount payable to the Corporation shall be a charge on the general revenues of the Suburban Municipality. It will be for the Select Committee to say whether any of these methods, and, if so, which of them, shall be adopted. As regards the remaining sections of the Bill I have little or nothing to remark, for those sections merely reproduce (with some trifling modifications) the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act which relate to the water-supply.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon. Mr. Macaulay, Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor, the Hon. Mr. Beverley, the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose, and the Mover.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS the further consideration of the clauses of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities was proceeded with.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS explained that since the last meeting of the Council an informal meeting had been held of some members of the late Select Committee, and it was determined that the amendments which formerly stood in the name of the Hon. Mr. Beverley should be moved by MR. REYNOLDS, and these therefore now appeared in his name.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE said that before he proposed the amendment on section 84, which stood in his name, he should like to be informed whether the hon. member in charge of the Bill had any particular facts before him which induced him to place Dacca among the exceptional places in which a higher rate of taxation might be imposed than in other Municipalities. He had been informed since he gave notice of the amendments that the rate on holdings now imposed in Dacca was 8 per cent. At the same time he ought to mention that of late years the sanitary condition of Dacca had greatly improved, and it was a question whether any higher rate than that now imposed should be authorized.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS replied that from what had been said it might be supposed that the provision to which the hon. member referred was now proposed for the first time. The fact was that the levy of a rate up to a maximum of 10 per cent. was legalized by Act II of 1870, was reproduced in Act V of 1876, and was the law at the present moment In regard to the necessity for retaining the rate, a letter from the Magistrate of Dacca was before the Council, in which he said that there was no reason for making any alteration in the special rate for Dacca, and the hon. member himself had said that the levy of an 8 per cent. rate in Dacca had been followed by a very great improvement in the sanitary condition of the town. That surely was a reason for not making any alteration in a provision which had caused such improvement.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose then withdrew his proposed amendment.

The further consideration of section 84 and of section 100 was postponed.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that section 182 be omitted. It was covered by section 360, and it was not necessary to have two separate sections for the recovery of sums due to the Commissioners.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 185 was passed after the insertion, on the motion of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, of the words "other than compensation payable under section 35" after "compensation" in line 1.

The Hon. Mr Reynolds moved that sections 186 and 187 be omitted. It seemed to him unnecessary to say what the method of proceeding should be before a Civil Court for compensation, and how damages or compensation awarded should be recovered. Those were matters for the Court to determine under the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code. The sections seemed to be superfluous, and need not be retained.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose withdrew the motion which stood in his name for the insertion of the words "at a meeting" after "Commissioners" in paragraph 1, line 18, of section 204.

In section 207 the Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved to insert the words "or two hundred and thirty-five" after "two hundred and six" in line 5, and to omit the word "or" in line 4. He explained that section 236 provided that a certain order made by the Magistrate should be deemed to be an order made in the discharge of his duty, and the introduction of these words in section 207 was necessary.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

In section 214 the Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved to substitute "three years" for "one year" in line 4 of paragraph 2. He said that there seemed no reason why the limitation in this section should be more than in the cognate provision in section 205, which provided a limitation of one year. He merely wished to assimilate the terms of limitation.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said he had given notice of an amendment in section 361 which affected the principle upon which surplus proceeds of sales, &c., should be dealt with. The principle which was involved in that section applied to a certain extent to surpluses proposed to be dealt with under the section now before the Council as well as other sections of the Bill. He had selected as a test amendment a strong case, and he thought it unnecessary to move amendments in regard to the same matter in so many sections of the Bill. He therefore asked the permission of the President to move his amendment on section 361.

His Honour the President observed that, although some of the sections to which the hon. member referred had already been passed, as the general principle was involved in the proposed amendment in section 361, he thought it would be best to consider that amendment first.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said the question of principle was whether the Commissioners would be precluded from restoring these surplus proceeds to the owners, if application for payment was made after the time fixed in the section for crediting the amount to the municipal funds.

The Hon. Mr Dampier said he understood the question to be whether the instruction given to the Commissioners to transfer a certain amount to the municipal fund after the lapse of a period of three years, if not previously claimed, would have the effect of barring a claim which any claimant had to the money under the general law.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said his question went a little further, namely, whether the Commissioners, without the claimant establishing his right to the money in a Civil Court, would be at liberty to pay the money after it had been credited to the municipal fund.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said, under the Bill, the money must be kept in deposit for a certain time, after which it would be transferred to the municipal fund. It then became the money of the Commissioners, and they could pay it to the claimant or do what they liked with it.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said, if that was the intention, the provision should be made clear. But it had been held that after once being credited to the municipal fund the Commissioners were not authorized to pay the money to the claimant. The construction which had been put upon the clause in the existing Act was that it must be claimed and paid within three years, or, if not so claimed, it must be transferred to the municipal fund, and payment could not be made thereafter. In his amendment he had adopted the general limitation of twelve years, but it was for the Council to consider what the period of limitation should be. If the sense of the Council should be that there should be no period of limitation, he would be glad to accept that principle. The law as it stood left the whole question in doubt. It did not say whether, when an owner claimed the surplus after three years, he could be paid the amount. It rather appeared as if the Commissioners had no power to pay the money after three years. The law in the corresponding provisions of other Acts provided no period of limitation within which the owner could claim the surplus proceeds, as in the case of the sale of an estate for arrears of revenue or other public demands when the money was to be paid to the rightful owner without limitation of time. The revenue circular orders were very clear on the point that the Collector was authorized to pay the surplus within the period of three years, but after that time it could only be paid with the sanction of the Board of Revenue. So far as the principle was concerned, the analogy between the two cases was complete. It had, however, been represented in some quarters that the means and resources of the Government were vastly different from those of municipalities. Although in the case of the Government there might be no inconvenience in paying the money to the rightful owner at any time, it might not be so with all municipalities, and there ought therefore to be a certain limit of time within which the owner should be obliged to claim the money, and that period, Baboo Harbuns Sahai thought, should be 12 years. A man should not be allowed to sleep over his claim.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said that this Council could not interfere with the law of limitation. The operation of this provision of the Bill should therefore be left to the ordinary law of limitation.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai then withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice, and moved in lieu thereof that, in section 361, paragraph 3, line 2, the words "shall be credited to the municipal fund and may" be inserted after the words "if any," and the word "shall" in line 2 be omitted, the effect of which would be to make the clause run thus—

"After deducting the amount due to the Commissioners as aforesaid, the surplus sale proceeds (if any) shall be credited to the municipal fund, and may be paid on demand to any person who establishes his right to the satisfaction of such Commissioners or in a Court of competent jurisdiction."

The motion was put and agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

The Secretary was directed to make amendments similar in principle to that involved in the amendment just made in all the other sections of the Bill dealing with the matter of surplus proceeds.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds then withdrew his amendment on section 214.

Section 219 provided a penalty of fifty rupees for certain offences.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose did not think the offences provided for in this section were of so serious a nature as to require a penalty of fifty rupees. It was not a sufficient reason to continue the same penalty because it was in the existing law.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he could not agree to the amendment, because it had not been shown that the operation of the law had acted injuriously or harshly. It was not to be supposed that the maximum penalty would always be inflicted; but there were cases in which he thought the maximum penalty would not be too much.

The motion was negatived on the following division:—

Ayes 4.	Noes 6.
The Hon. Kumar Boykontonath De.	The Hon. Mr. Beverley.
,, Chunder Madhub Ghose.	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
,, Harbuns Sahai.	The Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
,, The Advocate-General.	,, Mr. Reynolds
	,, Mr. Dampier.
	,, the President.

The Hon. Boykontonath De moved that in section 234, paragraph 2, line 6, the words "a reasonable time" be substituted for eight days. Eight days was too short a time to allow for the filling up of excavations: no limit might be fixed, because the time required would depend upon the quantity of the work to be done.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he did not think the amendment would be an improvement. It was necessary to have some specific time provided by law, but the Commissioners were not likely to require the owner to do the work in less than a reasonable time. The only way of enforcing compliance was by way of penalty, and the Magistrate would not inflict a penalty unless a reasonable time had been allowed.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier pointed out that the limitation was by way of minimum only, and, as he had been repeatedly told, confidence must be placed in the discretion of the Commissioners.

After some conversation, the amendment was altered on the motion of the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghosa to the substitution of "two weeks" for one week.

The amendment was carried after the following division, and the section as amended was agreed to:—

Ayes 6.	Noes 4.
The Hon. Kumar Boykontonath De.	The Hon. Mr. Beverley.
,, Chunder Madhub Ghose.	,, Mr. Macaulay.
,, Harbuns Sahai.	,, Mr. Reynolds.
Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.	,, Mr. Dampier.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
,, the President.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, section 236 was omitted.

Sections 237 and 238 were agreed to.

The Hon. Kumar Boykontonath De withdrew his proposed amendment on section 239, and the section was then agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following sections be substituted for sections 240 to 244:—

240. "Before beginning to build or rebuild any house not being a hut, the person intending to build or rebuild any such house shall give notice thereof in writing to the Commissioners, and shall accompany such notice with a general description of the building which he intends to erect, and of the provision which he intends to make in respect of drainage and latrine accommodation.

241. "Within fourteen days after the receipt of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners may refuse to sanction the building of the house, unless it be shown to their satisfaction that proper provision is or can be made for drainage and latrine accommodation within the holding or in the neighbourhood thereof.

242. "The Commissioners may also, if they see fit, within fourteen days after the receipt of the notice mentioned in section 240, require the person giving such notice to submit to them a plan showing the width of the foundation walls and the level of the lowest floor of such house by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Commissioners, and the Commissioners may direct that such house shall not be begun to be built without their sanction.

243. "Within fourteen days after receiving the plan mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall either signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of the foundation walls, or shall fix other levels and width of foundation walls in lieu thereof. If within fourteen days after receiving the plan as aforesaid, the Commissioners fail to signify their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation walls shown in such plan, or to fix other levels and width of foundation walls, the person giving notice may, unless sanction has been refused under section 241, proceed to build or rebuild the house in accordance with the levels and width of foundation walls shown in the plan:

"Provided that the house be otherwise built or rebuilt in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

244. "If any house is built, or begun to be built, without notice as required by section 240; or if such house is built, or begun to be built, after refusal of and without sanction under section 241; or if, when a plan has been required under section 242, the house is built, or begun to be built, before such plan has been approved, or before the expiration of fourteen days after the submission of such plan; or if, after the Commissioners have directed that the house be not begun to be built without their sanction, the said house is built, or begun to be built, without such sanction; or, if when levels and width of foundation walls have been fixed by the Commissioners, the house is built, or begun to be built, in accordance with levels and foundation walls other than those fixed; or, if the house is built, or begun to be built, in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may cause such house to be altered or demolished as they shall see fit."

He explained that the only new point involved in the amendment was section 241, which authorized refusal to the building of a house unless proper provision was made for drainage. In the same way section 245 of the Bill was introduced on the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling, who urged the necessity of giving the Commissioners power to prohibit the occupation of any new house until the drainage of the house was inspected and certified to be in a proper state. No doubt these sections would give extensive powers to the Commissioners, but they would only be extended on the special application of the Municipal Commissioners, and there would not be many Municipalities in which the Commissioners would desire to exercise these powers. There were, however, certain Municipalities in which the introduction of such provisions was necessary and desirable.

The sections were agreed to.

Sections 245 to 251 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved the omission of sections 252 to 254. These sections were a part of the existing law, but they had never been put in force, and would never be put in force in their present form. This part of the Act dealt with sanitary measures for the reclamation of bustees, and then provided that, if the Commissioners failed to act, the local Government might take certain proceedings in relation thereto. He supposed it was certain that no body of Commissioners would ask for the extension of these provisions, and he therefore proposed to omit sections 252 to 254 as useless; and it seemed to him that the powers reserved to the Government under sections 63 and 64 were so very full and complete, and gave such complete power to the Government to deal with any negligence or default on the part of the Municipality, that it was unnecessary to retain these sections.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Boykantonath De moved that section 258 be omitted. He said that this section placed a restriction on the sale of European drugs and medicines, which would interfere with the medical requirements of the people, particularly in the malarious districts where quinine and patented febrifuges were sold not only in miscellaneous shops, but also in the common markets. It was true that there was a qualified provision on this subject in the existing law, but, as far as he was aware, it had remained a dead-letter.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he did not attach much value to this section, but it was in the power of any Municipality to have its provisions extended or not as they deemed fit. It was part of the law in Calcutta, and though not at present introduced in the mofussil, there was no doubt that in the Suburbs, and probably in Dacca, the section would be useful. The provisions of the section were safeguarded by the proviso that it should not apply to the sale of drugs used by practitioners of indigenous medicines, whether these were recognized by the British Pharmacopœia or not, when such drugs were not sold in a shop or place where medicines recognized in such Pharmacopœia were dispensed upon prescription. That would exclude the operation of the section from many Municipalities. He should wish to leave it to the discretion of the Commissioners to extend this provision or not: he thought it undesirable to strike it out altogether.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section was then passed.

Sections 259 to 263 were agreed to.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the following section be substituted for section 264. The amendment was mainly of a verbal character, but the object was to omit the words "or otherwise disposed of," which was a kind of suggestion that some other means might be adopted under circumstances under which burning or burial would be the proper means of disposing of a body:—

"After the expiration of not less than twenty-four hours from the death of any person, the Commissioners may cause the corpse of such person to be burnt or buried, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recoverable as a debt due from the estate of such person. In every such case the corpse shall be disposed of, so far as may be possible, in a manner consistent with the religious tenets of the deceased."

The motion was agreed to.

Sections 265 and 266 were agreed to.

Section 267, which provided for the grant of licenses for certain offensive and dangerous trades, was passed, with the insertion of the words "and the renewal thereof" after "such license" in the last paragraph.

Section 268 was agreed to.

Section 269 was passed, with the substitution of the following for paragraph 2, which omitted to provide the amount of fee to be charged to milkmen, &c.:—

"The Commissioners may license places for such purpose, and may levy a fee not exceeding one rupee on the issue and renewal of any such license. Such license shall be renewed in the first and seventh months of each year."

Sections 270 to 278 were agreed to.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved that the following be substituted for section 279: the amendment was merely proposed in the direction of abbreviation and simplicity:—.

"Whoever, in a Municipality—

(1) begins to build, or to take down, or alter or repair, any house contrary to the provisions of sections two hundred and thirty-eight or two hundred and forty-four, or lets a house for occupation contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and forty-five; or, without written permission, erects or sets up any hoard, scaffolding or fence whatsoever; or who, being permitted, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition; or who does not, while such hoard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night; or who does not remove the same within eight days, when directed by the Commissioners; or

Offence under sections 238, 244, 245.

(2) without a license uses any place for any of the purposes specified in section two hundred and sixty-seven or section two hundred and sixty-nine; or

Offence under sections 267, 269.

(3) being a holder of a license under section two hundred and sixty-seven or section two hundred and sixty-nine, breaks any condition of such license; or

Offence under sections 267, 269.

(4) after the issue of an order under section two hundred and seventy, keeps horses or cattle exceeding ten in number in contravention of such order; or

Offence under section 270.

(5) keeps any pig-sty, pigs, sheep or goats contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and seventy-one,

Offence under section 271.

shall be liable, for every such offence, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence."

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS, section 280 was omitted.

Section 281 was agreed to.

The HON. KUMAR BOYKANTONATH DE withdrew his proposed motion to omit section 282, which was then agreed to.

Sections 283 to 285 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following new sections be introduced before section 286 at the beginning of Part VII under the head of "water-supply." They were practically in accordance with the Calcutta Act, with certain modifications to adapt them to the circumstances of mofussil Municipalities :—

Imposition of water-rate.

285A. "In any municipality to which the provisions of this Part shall be extended in the manner prescribed by section 224, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to impose an annual water-rate not exceeding six per cent. on the annual value of holdings, when the houses and lands are situated in streets supplied with water, and not exceeding five per cent. when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied.

The said water-rate shall be paid by the occupiers of the holdings by quarterly instalments in advance.

Valuation, assessment, and collection of water rate.

285B. "The annual value of holdings shall be the value determined by the Commissioners for the imposition of the rate on holdings under the provisions of Part IV of this Act, or if no such rate on holdings be imposed, the annual value shall be ascertained and determined in the manner provided in that Part. And the provisions of sections 95 to 108 (both inclusive) and 110 to 129 (both inclusive) shall mutatis mutandis, and so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Part, be applicable to the assessment and collection of the water-rate.

Occupier paying water rate may deduct one-fourth from rent due to owner.

285C. "Whenever the person by whom the water-rate shall have been paid, or from whom the said rate shall have been recovered, is not the owner of the house or land in respect of which the water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner one-fourth of the water-rate so paid or recovered, and may deduct the same from the rent payable by him to such owner.

When house is unoccupied, owner to pay one-fourth of water-rate.

285D. "Whenever any house or land has been unoccupied during an entire quarter, the owner of the said house or land shall pay to the Commissioners one-fourth of the sum which would have been payable as water-rate by the occupier if such house or land had been occupied.

The sum payable by the owner under this section shall be deemed to be due on the first day of the quarter following that in respect of which the said sum is payable.

Refund of water-rate when house ceases to be occupied.

285E. "Whenever any quarterly instalment of the water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him, the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to the entire quarter.

"Provided that notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being unoccupied, and that the application for refund be made within six months next after the date on which the house or land ceased to be occupied

"The date on which the said notice is delivered at the office of the Commissioners shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be the date on which the house or land ceased to be occupied"

Rate payable on house being re-occupied.

285F. "Whenever any house or land which shall have been unoccupied shall begin to be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable by the occupier in respect of such house or land a sum calculated at one-fourth of the rate that would have been payable if the house or land had been occupied during the entire quarter for the period during which the house or land was not occupied, and the full rate for the residue of the quarter.

And such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the rent, or otherwise recover from the owner, one-fourth of the water-rate that would have been payable if the house or land had been occupied during the entire quarter.

Person sub-letting to several different tenants to be deemed occupier

285G. "Whenever any person holding any house or land from the owner thereof has sub-let the same in severalty to two or more persons, the person holding from the owner shall, for the purposes of this Part, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Owner to pay water-rate in certain other cases.

285H. "The provisions of sections 312, 313 and 314 shall be applicable to this Part, provided that the owner shall not be entitled to recover from any occupying tenant more than three-fourths of the water-rate that would, but for this proviso, be recoverable by him under the said sections."

The motion was agreed to.

Sections 286 to 308 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved the omission of the second clause of section 309, which provided that arable lands, places of public worship, &c., should be exempt from the lighting-rate. He said there was a general exemption clause in section 97 relating to the house-rate, and there seemed no reason for having a different procedure for the lighting and the water-rate.

The motion was agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following be substituted for section 310. It was a mere reproduction of section 285B, which the Council had already passed:—

Valuation, assessment and collection of lighting-rate.

310. "The annual value of holdings shall be the value determined by the Commissioners for the imposition of the rate on holdings under the provisions of Part IV of this Act, or if no such rate on holdings be imposed, the annual value shall be ascertained and determined in the manner provided in that Part. And the provisions of sections 95 to 108 (both inclusive) and 110 to 129 (both inclusive) shall mutatis mutandis, and so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Part, be applicable to the assessment and collection of the lighting-rate."

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that section 311 be omitted. It contemplated circumstances under which provision should be made for lighting in places in which there was no rate on holdings, but merely an assessment on persons. It appeared on consideration that it was not desirable to introduce this section. It seemed unlikely that this Part of the Bill would ever be extended to places in which the tax on holdings was not in force; and if it was so extended, it seemed proper that the valuation on holdings for the assessment of the lighting rate should be made as it was for the water-rate, even though there was no valuation on holdings for general purposes.

The motion was agreed to.

Sections 312 to 330 were agreed to.

Section 331 was passed with verbal amendments.

Sections 332 to 360 were agreed to.

Section 361 was passed at an earlier stage of the meeting, where the proceedings in connection with that section are recorded.

Sections 362 to 364 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the following be substituted for section 365. He said that in revising this section it was thought desirable to adopt the language of the Criminal Procedure Code, so that there might be no possibility of any conflict with the provisions of the Code:—

"All police officers shall give immediate information to the Commissioners of the municipality of any offence committed against this Act.

Police Officer to report offences and arrest persons refusing to give name and residence.

"When any person, in the presence of a police officer, commits, or is accused of committing, any such offence, and refuses, on demand of a police officer to give his name and residence, or gives a name or residence which such officer has reason to believe to be false, he may be arrested by such officer in order that his name or residence may be ascertained; and he shall, within twenty-four hours from the arrest, be forwarded to the nearest Magistrate, unless before the expiration of that time his true name and residence are ascertained, in which case he shall be released on his executing a bond for his appearance before a Magistrate, if so required."

The motion was agreed to.

Sections 366 and 367 were agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the names of the following municipalities be omitted from Schedule I:—

"Chunderkona, Ramjeebanpore, Kotechandpore, Kandi, Purulia, and Kishoregunge."

The motion was put and agreed to, and Schedule I, as amended, was then passed.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the names of following municipalities be omitted from Schedule II:—

"Bishenpore, Ghattal, North Barrackpore, North Dum-Dum, South Dum-Dum, Meherpore, Nuddea, Coomercolly, Jessore, Madaripore, Kishoregunge, and Brahmanberiah."

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said he understood from the silence of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Municipal Department, that there was no objection on the part of the local Government to the omission of these names from Schedule II. On that ground, and on the ground that anything he might say would not have the slightest effect, the Council having made up its mind as to the principle of these schedules, he gave his assent to these amendments; but he must say that somebody (he was not quite sure who it was) had very seriously altered his mind as to which should be, and which should not be, the municipalities to which the right of electing their own Chairman should be given, since the Schedules were first laid before the Council.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said he did not think he was called upon to make any answer to the hon. member with reference to his position as Secretary in the Municipal Department; but as a member of the Select Committee the hon. member must know that the preparation of the Schedule was, after general discussion, left to the President of the select Committee, and that the other day, at a meeting of the Committee, MR. MACAULAY had given good reasons for removing these names from the Schedule. He had acted merely on information in the hands of every member of the Council. To take Bishenpore, the Municipality immediately before them, his reason for proposing its omission was the simple one that the people had submitted a petition asking for leave to elect their own Commissioners and their own Chairman. He would be prepared to give his reasons in regard to each of the other Municipalities, as they came up, should the hon gentleman desire it. But the papers were all before the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON. BOYKANTONATH DE moved that the names of the following Municipalities be omitted from Schedule II:—

"Suburbs of Calcutta, Patna, Gya, Santipore, and Utterpara."

He did not see any valid reason why the Municipalities of such highly advanced places should be deprived of the right of electing their own Chairman. If these towns were not considered qualified to elect their own Chairman, then very few places in Bengal could be presumed to fulfil the conditions which would justify the Government in giving them this privilege. He would ask that the names of these Municipalities be voted upon seriatim. His first motion was to omit the "Suburbs of Calcutta."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he could not agree to the omission of the Suburbs of Calcutta from Schedule II. It was one of those places in which it seemed very desirable that the power of appointing the Chairman should remain in the hands of the Government. It was a Municipality the work of which was very great, and in which there was really very much the same reason that the Government should appoint the Chairman as there was in Calcutta: it was in reality a part of Calcutta. The work would not be likely to be undertaken by an Honorary Chairman who would be able to devote sufficient time to it, and it was one of those Municipalities in which an official was very desirable at present. The time might come when both Calcutta and the Suburbs might have elected Chairmen, but he would be unwilling to say that the Suburbs at present should be excluded from Schedule II.

The motion was put and negatived.

The HON. BOYKANTONATH DE moved that Patna be left out of Schedule II.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said that Patna was a very large city, in which the municipal work was particularly heavy, and a non-official could not be got to do the duties efficiently. It was a place which had expressed a wish for election, and that wish had been complied with. The circumstances of Patna were not such as would justify its omission from the Schedule.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said that he had throughout advocated that these matters should be left to the discretion of the Government. He thought the responsibility ought to rest, in these doubtful cases, with the local Government. Notwithstanding the distinction drawn by his hon. friend opposite (Mr. Macaulay) between his position as Secretary to Government and his position as a member of this Council, it was impossible to deny that the Government was actually represented in this Council, and had an opportunity of making its views known. MR. DAMPIER understood, then, that the Government agreed with the hon. member in charge of the Bill as to these amendments: therefore, acting strictly in accordance with the principle which he had adopted all through the discussion of this question, he would vote that the amendment be rejected as not being in accordance with the judgment of the Government.

The motion was then put and negatived.

The HON. KUMAR BYKONTONATH DE moved that Gya be omitted from Schedule II.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said that Gya was in some respects a backward town, and it was a place in which the difficulties caused by the number of pilgrims who resorted to it made it desirable that the Magistrate should be the Chairman of the Municipality. On these grounds he thought that it was not desirable to allow the Commissioners to elect their own Chairman, and he was not prepared to accept the amendment.

The motion was put and negatived.

The HON. BOYKANTONATH DE moved that Santipore be omitted from Schedule II.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he did not agree to the proposal. The case as regards Santipore differed from that of the municipalities which had been previously referred to. The main objection in the cases of the Suburbs and Patna was the onerousness of the work. In Santipore the objection was the party spirit existing in the town. He thought the condition of Santipore was certainly such that it would be in the interests of the town that the power of electing the Chairman should be left to the Government.

The motion was put and negatived.

The HON. BOYKANTONATH DE moved that Uttorpara be omitted from Schedule II.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said the case of Utterpara was the same as Santipore. It was a case in which the feelings of the different parties were strong, and therefore it was not desirable to give that town the power of electing its own Chairman.

The motion was put and negatived.

Schedule II, as amended, was then passed.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE referred to an amendment which stood in his name for the introduction of a new Schedule (IIA). He said that the Schedule referred to section 15 of the Bill regarding the qualification for voting—

The HON. MR. MACAULAY rose to order. He would be very sorry to throw obstacles of a technical character in the way of the hon. member, but his recollection was that section 15 of the Bill had already been passed, and that this amendment, which was simply an appendage to section 15, was withdrawn. He then explained that if the hon. member had the figures before him in the case of Serampore, he would probably not have brought forward this amendment. The raising of the qualification in Serampore had made the elective system useless, and on that explanation the Hon. Harbuns Sahai, who was at the time in charge of the hon. member's amendments, withdrew the amendment in respect to section 15, and with it this Schedule.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE said the facts which had been stated to the Council might be correct; but he certainly thought that, as regards the Suburbs and Howrah, the proposed raising of the rate would commend itself to the consideration of the Council. He could only express his regret that an amendment, which so seriously affected those important Municipalities, should have been withdrawn in his absence.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said, as there were still certain sections of the Bill which remained for consideration, he proposed to give the hon. member an opportunity of stating at the next meeting of the Council his views on his proposed Schedule IIA in connection with section 15.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 8th March.

SUBORDINATE EXECUTIVE SERVICE EXAMINATION.

RESOLUTION.

APPOINTMENT DEPT

Dated Calcutta, the 17th March 1884.

READ—

The Resolution of the 23rd February 1883, and the subsequent orders, on the subject of the Examination of Candidates for admission into the Subordinate Executive Service.

Read—

The Report of the Examiners on the Examination held in January 1884.

In accordance with the Resolution of this Government, dated the 23rd February 1883, an examination of candidates for admission into the Subordinate Executive Service was held in the Senate House, Calcutta, on the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th January last. For this examination, Sub-Deputy Collectors of all grades, who had passed either the Native Civil Service Examination or the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University, and all persons whose names had been previously registered for appointment as Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors, were declared to be eligible. Intimation was given that there would be six appointments open to competition.

2. Altogether 99 candidates fulfilled the requirements of the rules, and were allowed to present themselves for examination. Only 82, however, actually appeared at the examination, and of these the six gentlemen named below have succeeded in obtaining the highest aggregate of marks :—

1. Baboo Gunga Narain Roy, M.A.
2. ,, Nilcanto Sircar, M.A.
3. ,, Sarat Chandra Chatterjee, B.L.
4. ,, Soorja Coomar Agasti, M.A.
5. Mr. H. H. Heard.
6. Baboo Bhai Baz Sinha.

These gentlemen will be appointed to fill vacancies in the Subordinate Executive Service as they occur according to the order in which they have been placed.

3 It was contemplated in the Resolution at the head of this paper that candidates passing this examination should be deputed to the interior and placed under the orders of Commissioners of Divisions for employment on any general duties which would qualify them for the public service as Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors. It was explained that they would be regarded only as probationers till appointed to the Subordinate Executive service, and their confirmation in such appointments would depend upon the manner in which they discharged their probationary duties. While holding such temporary offices, they were to receive a subsistence allowance of Rs. 50 per mensem.

4. It is ascertained that of the gentlemen who have now passed the examination, four are already in the public service drawing salaries higher than they would receive under the orders of the Resolution. It is not the wish of the Lieutenant-Governor to disturb them in their present appointments. Of the two who have no present employment as public officers, Baboo Sarat Chandra Chatterjee, B.L., will be posted to the Rajshahye Division, and Baboo Soorja Coomar Agasti, M.A., to the Burdwan Division. It will be understood that they have no official status, and can be vested with no revenue or criminal powers; but many ways of utilizing their services will doubtless suggest themselves to Commissioners and District Officers. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish that, as far as may be possible, the employment assigned to them may be such as will give them an insight into the duties they will eventually have to perform, the object being to afford these young men an opportunity of acquiring as much experience as possible of a practical and useful character.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioners of the Rajshahye and Burdwan Divisions for information, and for communication to the District Officers under whom the probationers may be employed.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation of Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the se[ason]. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast s[ky] by 1. In the "rainfall," the normal means are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub d[istrict] stations, in all, from the district, (i.e.) the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns, divided by the number of stations. A r[ain] for the week ending Friday, the 14th March 1884.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 14TH MARCH 1884.

The past week has been similar in its meteorological features to the previous week. Temperature increased rapidly, the air was unusually dry, and the rainfall almost nil and much below the average.

Pressure fluctuated considerably during the week. The low pressure of the previous week was followed by a rebound. Pressure was very high on the 11th and 12th, after which a large and rapid fall set in. The mean pressure for the week was above the mean by amounts which averaged ·02″ in Orissa and Bengal, ·05″ in Chutia Nagpur, and was slightly less than ·01″ in Behar. Behar is hence an area of less pressure at present relatively to the remainder of the Province.

Temperature increased steadily during the week. The increase was greatest in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, for which the mean temperature of the week was 4° higher than that of the previous week. The increase averaged 3° in South-West Bengal, 2° in East Bengal and 1° in Orissa. The rise was, as might be expected, more marked in the day than in the night temperatures.

The highest temperatures during the week were registered in Orissa and South-West Bengal. Cuttack registered the maximum temperature of the week, viz 101·4°. The lowest night temperatures, 53°, were observed in Behar and North Bengal. The Gya temperature observations are, as for last week, of doubtful accuracy.

The humidity of the air during the week was considerably below the average. In South Behar the humidity at 10 A. M. has averaged 29 and at Hazaribagh 26 per cent. The mean humidity, as determined by previous observations, is 36 for South Behar and 29 per cent. for Hazaribagh. Similarly, in South-West Bengal the humidity has been from 5 to 15 per cent. below the average.

Moderately strong winds, generally normal in direction, prevailed during the week, South-westerly winds blew across the east into South and East Bengal. Dry westerly winds, the continuation of the winds of Upper India, prevailed over South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, as far as the westerly borders of South-West Bengal. The easterly winds of the Assam Valley extended westwards across Northern Bengal. In Northern Behar light variable winds or calms prevailed.

The sky was almost cloudless over the whole Province during this week. Light showers fell at Midnapore, Howrah and Bhudarack in South-West Bengal, and at Darjeeling. No rain fell over the Province with these slight exceptions.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 14th of March 1884 :—

MEMORANDA.

THE following summary is deduced from the table appended to this memoranda exhibiting the vital statistics of the first class Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 1st March 1884 :—

(1) That births and deaths were registered in these Municipalities in the proportions, respectively, of 23·9 and 27 8 per 1,000 of their population, against 24 5 and 29 2 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 23rd February, indicating a falling off in the record of both events

(2) That the following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births	Ratio per mille	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Chittagong ...	... 42·3	Kishnaghur .	... 56 8
Bhagulpore ..	... 35·3	Gya ...	... 46 5
Santipore ...	.. 35 0	Burdwan ...	... 44 2
Serampore ...	... 33 4	Suburbs of Calcutta	... 43·2
Monghyr ...	... 32·5	Purneah ..	... 38 1
		Bhagulpore ...	... 38·0

(3) That of the principal death-causes exhibited in the table above mentioned, cholera is stated to have carried off 3·0 per 1,000 of the population of the Municipalities under notice, against 3 1 per 1,000 in the preceding week ending 23rd February; small-pox 2 5 against 2 7 per 1,000; fever 11 7 against 11·4 per 1,000; bowel-complaints 3·5 against 3 7 per 1,000; injury ·2 against the same rate; and "other causes" 6 4 against 8·1 per 1,000. These figures indicate that there was a sensible decline of mortality from those innominate diseases classed under the head of "Other causes," and that the other diseases exhibited only fractional variations in fatality, excepting injury, the death-rate from which remained stationary.

(4) That of the above indicated diseases, cholera, small-pox, fever and "other causes" caused the highest mortality in the under-mentioned Municipalities :—

Cholera	Ratio per mille	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille	Fever.	Ratio per mille	Other causes	Ratio per mille
Suburbs of Calcutta ...	9 9	Gya ...	16·4	Kishnaghur ...	47 3	Poori ..	15 0

Kishnaghur ...	5 7	Patna ..	4·9	Purneah ...	24 2	Bhagulpore	10·0
		Suburbs of Calcutta	2·5			Suburbs of Calcutta ..	9 3

(5) That under the heads of Sex, Class and Age, the mortality was distributed as follows :—

According to Sex	Ratio per mille	According to Class.	Ratio per mille	According to Age.	Ratio per mille.
Males ...	28·6	Christians ...	21 7	Under 1 year ...	175·0

				20 and under 30 ,, ...	22 3
				30 and under 40 ,, ...	17 5
				40 and under 50 ,, ...	21 1
				50 and under 60 ,, ...	31·1
				60 years and upwards ...	56 9

Data not available.

* A special census of the Municipality of Darjiling was not taken, as the cost of this section of the community taken in February 1881 was not available, pending the publication of the Report on the Census of India. The number of the natives residing in Darjiling was ascertained by the Municipal Commissioners by a house-to-house enumeration, and the figures thus obtained are given in the table. The population of Darjiling is largely fluctuating, and the Municipal Commissioners have no reliable means of ascertaining the number of persons residing in Darjiling at any given time. The figures given in the table are probably below the actual number of persons residing in Darjiling at any time during the year. The "Deaths" and "Births" also have been entered from information collected by the Municipal Commissioners, and are believed to be correct. The "Ratio per 1,000 of population per annum" cannot be calculated owing to the results of the Census under this head not having been compiled under the Administrative Areas of any description.

Increase.
Cotton	54
This increase is due to previous stock being entirely exhausted.
Salt	20
This is due to insufficient water in the river.
Sundries	38
This is due to insufficient water in the river.
Decrease.
Coal	91
This is due to a larger quantity imported last month.
Edible grain	165
This is due to failure of late paddy crop.
Silk and silk cloth	21
This is due to most of the silk being booked as parcel.
Seeds of all sorts	40
This is due to low rate in the market.

Increase.
Coal	210
This increase is due to greater quantity of coal being required for the working of the rice mills at Canning.
Rice	755
This increase is due to greater traffic of rice from the rice mills at Canning than at this time of the previous year.
Paddy	81
This increase is due to greater demand for rice mills at Canning and large export from Diamond Harbour and other stations on the extension.
Firewood	743
This increase is due to greater demand at selling stations and better working of wood wagons by specials.
Hay	81
This increase is due to favourable market.
Straw	67
This increase is due to greater demand at selling stations
Decrease.
Building materials	227
This decrease is due to less works for the extension.
Railway materials	546
This decrease is due to works of the extension drawing to a close.
Wooloo	20
This decrease is due to unfavourable market.
Sundries	745
This increase is due to less demand for the Diamond Harbour extensions and the rice mills at Canning.

AMENDMENT OF THE CALCUTTA TRAMWAYS ACT, 1880.

Colonel the HON. S. T. TREVOR presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880. He said that the only alteration which the Committee had made was to amend the definition of "Calcutta" so as to exclude Fort William from the provisions of the Bill. With that amendment the Committee recommended that the Bill be passed.

WATER SUPPLY TO THE SUBURBS.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds moved that the Hon. Mr. Miller be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta.

The motion was agreed to.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the Hon Mr. Reynolds the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities.

The Hon. the Advocate-General moved that the following proviso be added at the end of clause 3 of section 6:—

"Provided that where a number of adjoining holdings has been amalgamated for the purposes of habitation, trade, or business, such holdings shall be deemed one holding." Also that the words "or company" be inserted after "family" in the last line of clause 3, and that "or" be omitted after "firm" in the same line.

He said he thought it necessary to introduce this amendment in the Act, and he begged shortly to state his reasons. Hon. Members were aware that the definition of the word "holding" had given a great deal of trouble under former Acts. As defined in various Acts it meant anything that the Magistrate considered a holding. According to that definition a case arose where property which formed one set of premises was subdivided, and assessments were levied on each separate building, and the person who suffered from over-assessment had no remedy in law, because the Act defined a holding to be that which the Magistrate should consider to be a holding. In one miserable case of that sort the local Government considered the view of the law taken by the Magistrate very capricious, and insisted on a revision of the assessment, and since that occurrence it had been desired to find a better interpretation of the word "holding." He should have thought a holding was a thing sufficiently specific without any definition; but in order to obviate any difficulty in the construction of the meaning of the word, he thought it necessary to propose this amendment. He had been considering this matter. and considering it very seriously. The definition in the Bill so far as it related to small holdings was fair enough, but when there was one set of premises composed of a number of holdings, the definition was capable of being worked unfairly. Section 6, clause 3, said that "holding" meant land held under one title or agreement and surrounded by one boundary, and occupied by one person, firm, or family. Here, although he had not put the amendment on paper, he would suggest the addition of the words "or company." A company was not a firm in the ordinary acceptation of the word, and he supposed the Council would have no objection to add the words "or company." To come to the particular reason which induced him to put this amendment on the paper, if the Council would refer to section 100 they would find that the gross annual rent at which any holding might be reasonably expected to be let should be deemed to be the annual value thereof, and such value should accordingly be determined by the Commissioners, and entered in the valuation list. That was one method of assessment. Suppose a manufactory had a certain kind of land, and for the purpose of having stables or a smoking place for sircars or any other minor purpose, a piece of land was taken up abutting on two sides on public roads, so as to be in a very advantageous position, then, although the whole may be held to constitute one holding, the title to the lands would be by separate documents, and the manufacturer would be liable to be assessed as for separate holdings. The result would be that, although only a small parcel of land in an advantageous position would be thrown into the premises, it would not be assessed as a part of the whole, but separately. That instance might be multiplied by half a dozen instances, and the proprietor would have to pay separately for every piece of land he purchased for the purpose of constituting one set of premises for the manufactory. Furthermore, if the amendment in section 100, which stood in the name of the Hon. Mr. Dampier, was adopted, the amendment now proposed of the definition of holding would be necessary, because under the second part of that amendment there would be a limit imposed after the assessment amounted to Rs. 1,00,000.. Suppose one manufactory consisted of four holdings; each of them might be assessed at Rs. 1,00,000; and yet all the four parcels of land might constitute one set of premises, and for the purposes of assessment the whole of them should be taken as one holding. The definition in the Bill was open to this difficulty also.—"Title" did not mean the purpose for which the land was held; it was the interest which a person had in the land of which he was the occupying proprietor, and the title was that which was discovered in the papers relating to the land. In order to ascertain how a person acquired a certain land the title deeds had to be looked into to ascertain his title. Suppose A. purchased a piece of land on 1st January 1880, another on 1st January 1882, another in 1883, and another in 1884; he would hold those four parcels of land by four different conveyances and four different titles. It would not make any difference that he held two of them as zemindar and two as putneedar or izardar. It would not be the title by which land was held which constituted the liability to municipal assessment as a separate holding; for if A. sold the four parcels of land to B. in one title, then B. would only be liable to rating as for one holding. That necessarily left the matter in great difficulty, and therefore the Advocate-General proposed his definition of holding under which, if the four parcels of land were amalgamated for the purpose of business or trade, they became within the meaning of the law one holding. Under these circumstances he proposed his amendment, which he thought would make the matter clearer and remove some difficulties.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he was very reluctant to oppose the amendment, but he was not quite sure whether the Hon. and learned Advocate-General had considered the whole effect which the amendment would have. The definition which was proposed by the Select Committee had, as the Advocate-General had said, been very carefully considered, and it was the best definition which they could make, although it might perhaps be just as well to have no definition at all However, it was the best that could be devised, and he had since observed that the definition of holding very nearly agreed with that proposed in the Bengal Rent Bill, in which a holding was defined as "a parcel of land held under one lease or one set of conditions." If the Hon. and learned Advocate-General thought that in lieu of the words "one title or agreement" the words "one lease" or "one set of conditions" would be a more correct expression, Mr. Reynolds would not object on that point, but he thought some difficulty might be created by providing that where a number of holdings had been amalgamated for purposes of habitation, trade, or business, such holdings should be deemed one holding. He did not really quite know what was meant by a number of holdings being amalgamated for purposes of habitation, &c., whereas the definition in the Bill seemed to him specific and clear by providing that the land must be surrounded by one boundary and occupied by one person, firm or family. If there were two pieces of land used by the same firm or company, which were not contiguous, but were within separate boundaries, he was not sure that the Hon. and learned Advocate-General considered that they should be treated as having been amalgamated. [The Advocate-General—"One boundary in the definition would not be a physical boundary; but one boundary as specified in the document."] Then the Hon. and learned Advocate-General had referred to section 100, but the provision which was of general application was clause (a) of section 84, which referred to those municipalities in which a tax on persons was raised, and that was the case in the majority of municipalities. That section provided that the amount of assessment in respect of any one holding should not be more than Rs. 84 per annum. In the case of the Baranagore Jute Mills there were sixteen holdings, and they paid an assessment of Rs. 84 on each holding, and it was perhaps not too much for such a company to pay; but under the definition in the Bill he thought if those sixteen holdings were surrounded by one boundary they would very properly be considered one holding; but where two holdings were really separated, although they were occupied by the same firm, he thought it quite just that each of those holdings should be separately assessed.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said Hon. Members must bear in mind that the amendment now before the Council was intimately bound up with what the Council might do afterwards in regard to certain other points which he hoped would be left for decision at another meeting, although the question might be ventilated and discussed to-day. As a fact, until the amendment which stood in his name, or some amendment equivalent to it, was adopted, the remarks of the Hon. and learned Advocate-General had absolutely no bearing in the case of any municipality in which a valuation rate on property was in force, because, as the Bill now stood before the Council, it put no maximum on the amount which might be levied from any one holding, short of the total amount arrived at by calculating the rate percentage on the valuation of the property. As long as no maximum was imposed, it was obvious that the total amount assessed would be the same whether a piece of land on which buildings stood were treated as one holding or as several for purposes of assessment.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said his amendment had two or three bearings, and it would have special force if the graduated system was adopted. With regard to the first portion of section 100, the statements which he had made had not been understood. Take the case of a garden. Suppose a man had a house and garden with two bigahs of land held under one title. Afterwards he increased the area by adding another bigah of land, and he made his garden a garden of three bigahs instead of two. According to the present definition he would be assessed on two different holdings, and the assessment on the additional bigah might be made very high assessing it separately, whereas if assessed as a part of his whole garden, the assessment might fall short of such assessment. The Hon. Member in charge of the Bill said that one holding might include many buildings. That was the very object of the Advocate-General's amendment. If the definition of holding, as given in the Bill, included many buildings, then no possible objection could be taken to the rider proposed to be added to it; the object of the amendment was simply to make the definition clear. But the Advocate-General did not think the definition in the Bill meant what was supposed by the Hon. Member, as that definition said a holding meant lands held under one title and surrounded by one boundary. But suppose a holding had ten titles and one boundary. One boundary was hardly a correct mode of expression: one set of boundaries would be clearer. According to the definition a case could not be conceived of two buildings held under two different titles and surrounded by a brick wall coming under it, because they would not be held under one title.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said he had already stated that the remarks of the Hon. and learned Advocate-General would not apply to rating, unless a maximum to the amount payable by one holding were imposed. The amendment in Mr Dampier's name did not profess to impose any maximum in respect of assessments on land, but only in respect of buildings which stood on the land. Now, there being no maximum in regard to the assessment on land, the Hon. the Advocate General's amendment would not make any difference in the total amount to be assessed on a given piece of land, whether it was all held under one title or interest, or whether it was held under several distinct titles. Even the maximum to which Mr. Dampier's amendment was directed would not touch the assessment on land. But when it came to the buildings which stood on the land, no doubt it became an important question whether the maximum to which his amendment was directed should be applied to the premises which were used for a particular business as a whole, or whether that maximum was to be applied separately to buildings which stood on each plot of land held on a different title or interest.

His Honor the President concluded from what had transpired that the sense of the Council was that the consideration of the Hon. and learned Advocate-General's amendment should be reserved until the proposal to amend section 100 had been considered and determined.

The further consideration of the motion was postponed.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose withdrew the amendment of which notice had been given that, in the proviso to section 15, line 1, the words "not being a municipal officer" be inserted after "male person."

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose moved that in clauses (1) and (2) of the Proviso to section 15 the words "except in the municipalities mentioned in schedule 2 A, where it should not be less than four rupees," be inserted after the words "one rupee eight annas." The Council would observe that this Bill made no distinction between the qualification for a voter, and the qualification of a candidate for election as Commissioner; the same qualifications applied to both, and with regard to both these classes, the standard of qualification, so far as property qualification was concerned, was the payment of an annual rate of Rs. 1-8. He was not aware until that morning, when he found it amongst the papers sent to him on the previous evening, that a petition had been received from the Suburban Rate-payers' Association, one paragraph of which mentioned as a matter of fact that the lowest rate paid for house-service in the suburbs was Rs. 1-8 per annum. The petitioners said—

"The total number of holdings recorded in the register of the municipality is about 44,000. Out of this number, those of which the annual valuation does not exceed Rs. 3, are not subject to assessment in any way; and as regards the rest, the house-rate is levied nearly upon 35,000 and the house-service cess upon 32,000. The difference between these two figures is owing to the fact that the cess is levied within certain prescribed limits, while at the same time the rate is not imposed upon holdings whose annual valuation falls short of Rs. 12. In other words while among the holdings exempted from the operation of the House-service Act there are some that pay the house-rate, there are others among the holdings not so exempted which are not required to pay it But the difference is so small that for all practical purposes your memorialists may safely assume that every holding which pays the one is also required to pay the other. And none of these holdings pays less than Rs. 2-6 a year, for the minimum rate and cess levied in this municipality are 14 annas and one rupee eight annas, respectively. Thus the Hon. Council will at once perceive that under the rule in question the franchise will practically attach to every assessable holding within the Suburbs; and your memorialists will leave it to them to consider whether it will be safe or prudent to convert all at once a system of pure and wholesale nomination into one of universal household suffrage."

He presumed the petitioners meant to say that the lowest amount of the house-service tax was Rs. 1-8 a year; and if that figure was correct, and if the word "rates" in section 15 of the Bill were taken to comprehend house-service rates, then the figures they had given were conclusive on the question he had laid before the Council; for, according to that section, any person who had paid during the year in respect of any of the rates imposed by the Act an aggregate amount of not less than Rs. 1-8 would be eligible both for election as a Commissioner and to vote for the election of Commissioners; so that practically, as shewn by the petitioners, it would confer universal household suffrage, and that, in the judgment of Baboo Chunder Madhub Ghose, would not be desirable. It would permit a very large class of people to vote for election as also to stand for election as Commissioners, and he had no doubt that election agents and other persons canvassing for votes would impose on these ignorant people to make returns in favour of particular individuals, which would be certainly objectionable, and wholly prejudicial to the interest and well-being of municipalities. His motion therefore, in the first place, was to make the qualification in the Suburbs Rs. 4 per annum. He would also ask leave to put an alternative amendment, if that was not agreed to, namely that Rs. 4 be laid down as the qualification for election as a Commissioner, for he thought there ought to be a distinction between the qualification for voting and the qualification for election as a Commissioner. In Calcutta the one was fixed at Rs. 25 and the other at Rs. 50, and he thought that was a wholesome distinction. He would bring forward the motion as regards the other municipalities mentioned in his schedule afterwards.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said he thought it was not desirable to consider this question with reference to the qualification for voting in particular municipalities. The amendment if adopted might be successful in the Suburbs, but it would involve the necessity of adopting other standards of qualification in other municipalities If in a matter of this kind unanimity could be obtained, he considered it ought to be secured, because the Council had not before them the figures necessary to shew the incidence of taxation in respect of the substantive proposal before the Council. They had, however, the figures for the Municipality of Patna, and they showed that the result of introducing a higher standard of qualification in that town would probably be unsatisfactory. The total number of rate-payers there was 28,963, the number who paid rates respectively to the amount of Rs. 4 and upwards per mensem, being 2,197; Rs. 3 and upwards 3,068; and Rs. 2 and upwards 5,047. For Dacca he found from the statement of the Magistrate that there would be only 1,600 and odd persons paying Rs. 6 a year. But however that might be, the figures to which MR. MACAULAY had referred on a different occasion of the effect of precisely the same rate as was now proposed on the operation of the elective system at Serampore ought to be conclusive of the exclusion of that municipality as well as Barrackpore from the higher rate of qualification. It was found that when there was no limitation of qualification in Serampore the number of voters was about 7,000, and the subdivisional officer described the result to be a success; but in 1880 Mr. Carstairs proposed to raise the qualification to Rs. 4, and the result was that the number of electors fell to about 600, and the elective system simply became a farce. It was extremely unpopular, and the people, in order to shew their sense of the unpopularity of the change, declined to vote for any candidate. Mr. Macaulay did not think the Council ought to revert to a state of things which had been tried and had failed at Serampore. Now, as regarded a household franchise, Mr. John Beames, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, had reported that in his judgment the reason of the success of the elective system in Burdwan was that there was no limitation on voting beyond that the franchise was confined to male persons. At the same time MR. MACAULAY would not object to raise the rate from Rs. 1-8 to Rs. 2, and to make that qualification applicable to all municipalities. The Council had not before them sufficient information to enable them to fix differential rates of qualification, and the result of fixing a qualification of Rs. 4 for certain municipalities would, he feared, be precisely the same as in the case of Serampore.

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY said he should oppose the amendment in its present form because he was of opinion that it was neither necessary nor expedient to provide in the Act different qualifications for different places. Section 15 merely laid down a maximum limit when it said that every person who paid rates to the extent of Rs. 1-8 should be entitled to vote. It was open to the local Government, however, by the rules to be framed under that section, to reduce that limit, and to say as regards any particular Municipality that every person who paid Re. 1, say, should have a vote. If, therefore, it was thought that the sum fixed (Rs. 1-8) was too low a limit for any place, the proper course would seem to be to raise the limit generally, and leave it to the local Government to reduce it where it thought fit If the hon. member opposite (Mr. Macaulay) would agree to this course, and raise the limit generally to Rs. 2, 3, or 4, he should be happy to support him.

It had been assumed by the hon. mover of the amendment (and a good deal of his argument was based on the assumption) that fees for house service, levied under Part IX of the Bill, would be taken into account as rates under section 15. It seemed to MR BEVERLEY that this was open to question; and if it was the intention of the hon. member in charge of the Bill that such fees should be taken into consideration in estimating the property qualification, MR. BEVERLEY would suggest the expediency of amending the wording of the section to that effect.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he was not in favour of the amendment. The Hon. Member had confined his present proposal to the Suburbs of Calcutta, that being just the municipality for which Mr. Reynolds had not received definite information from the Magistrate. With regard to Howrah he had got the figures There were 15,196 rate-payers, of whom 8,000 paid rates of from Re. 1 to Rs. 4, and 4,700 from Re. 1 to Rs. 3. But this alteration, it appeared to him, would be inconsistent with the principle of the section which the Council had already accepted. The section did not contemplate any necessary property qualification: it merely provided that if any property qualification was imposed it should not be more than Rs. 1-8. With regard to the memorial of the Suburban Rate-payers' Association he must say he could not appreciate the argument therein used. The house-service of which the memorialists spoke, and which brought within the franchise such a large number of holdings, was really only a charge for service done. It was one of the voluntary parts of the Bill: it was not necessary that such service should be done, and it was possible that it might be done away with altogether. Leaving out the fees paid for house-service it appeared that the minimum rate paid in the Suburbs was 14 annas, in which case the rate paid by a large proportion of rate-payers would be below Rs. 1-8, and a considerable number of holdings would not be entitled to the franchise with the minimum of Rs. 1-8 fixed by the Bill. But as the matter stood at present those men who paid not less than Rs. 2-6 were persons who ought to have a voice in the election, having decidedly a substantial interest in the good government of the municipality; the fact of their being ignorant men was not sufficient for their exclusion, so long as they had an interest in the municipality being well governed. With regard to the suggestion made by the Hon. Member opposite to raise the minimum qualification from Rs. 1-8 to Rs. 2, Mr. Reynolds was willing to accept it, but he should object to any differential scale in particular municipalities. In answer to the Hon. Member on his right (Mr. Beverley) he said he certainly understood that rates included the payment of fees.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said it was as well to call the attention of the Council to the fact that this memorial should not be spoken of, however loosely, as a memorial from the Rate-payers of the Suburbs. It was a memorial from the Committee of the Rate-payers' Association; it was from those who belonged to what he had distinguished as the governing class; those who spoke and made themselves heard in that Council, as distinguished from the rate-payers, who would belong to the governed class. It was a petition from a certain class of the rate-payers to disfranchise other classes. The mirage was beginning to dispel as it was approached. Those who had been so anxious for this extreme freedom of self-government were already beginning to realise that it was only a first step, and that those who at first would be the governing classes would no longer monopolise that position after a certain number of years. The amendment divided itself into two very distinguishable points—first, whether the limitation of the qualification for voting should be raised; and secondly, whether any one who could vote should be eligible as Commissioner. On the first point he was willing to vote with the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Macaulay) if he thought proper to propose a limit of Rs 2.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY moved by way of amendment on the motion before the Council that Rs. 2 be substituted for Rs. 1-8 in the first and second clauses of the proviso to section 15.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE by leave withdrew his amendment, and moved that Rs. 3 be substituted for Rs. 1-8 in the first two clauses of the proviso to section 15, in regard to all municipalities generally.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that the Local Government, with respect to each municipality, would make rules for the qualification of voters, fixing the qualification of voters in regard to every municipality in the province; therefore it would practically be in the hands of the Government to decide what limitation should be put, and personally he would have no objection to the higher rate of Rs. 3 now proposed, if power was given to the Government, on the advice of the local officers, to make the rate lower. He should certainly prefer Rs. 3 to Rs. 2 or Rs. 1-8.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE's revised motion to substitute the words "three rupees" for "one rupee eight annas" in clauses (1) and (2) of the proviso to section 15 was then put to the vote and carried on the following division :—

So the motion was carried, and the section as amended was passed.

The Hon. Mr Dampier said :—It has been agreed that the amendment which stands in my name shall be put to-day and discussed to some extent, particularly with the object of gathering further information and bringing all classes of thought to bear upon it. It has been suggested that I should state the position of the question. I wish it to be understood that I am now speaking of those municipalities in which the rating according to the value of the property is in force, the rate being payable by the owner. My amendment applies to all holdings of a certain value, for whatever purpose occupied, whether as domestic holdings or otherwise—whether the property of the Government or the property of a firm or of individuals.

Now, under the present Act, a holding is to be assessed at its probable letting value. The value of buildings standing on land, and machinery within those buildings, is included in the valuation on which the assessment is made. In the progress of this Bill objections were made to the inclusion of machinery in the valuation, and as the Bill now stands machinery is to be excluded.

Next, the objection was made that in the case of every large building erected for special purposes, be it for a gun foundry belonging to the Government or for a jute or cotton manufactory, or large golahs, such buildings have absolutely no letting value, and therefore to say that they should be assessed upon their letting value is only a specious way of getting rid of the difficulty of saying plainly that they should be assessed at the absolute discretion of the Municipal Commissioners. Then an attempt was made to meet this objection by a limit on the rate to be imposed upon the buildings, and the effect of the limiting proviso as it now stands in the Bill is this. The Municipal Commissioners will primarily assess the holding, including the buildings, but excluding the machinery, at what they may choose to call the annual letting value. If no one is dissatisfied, well and good. But that assessment may be challenged by the person who will be liable for the rate in this way :—He may call upon the Commissioners to apply the maximum, which is 7½ per cent. on the original cost of construction of the buildings. The land on which they stand will always be liable to assessment in addition to this. That is the Bill as it now stands before the Council.

Then the further objection was made by a special class. They said that "even with the maximum calculated on the cost of construction of the buildings there will be no guarantee against our premises being assessed at amounts which will be altogether disproportionate, taking a general view of the objects of municipal taxation and of the benefits which we, as the owners of these holdings, receive from municipal arrangements." The Hon. Member, Mr. Alexander, therefore moved his amendment in favour of the special objectors.

As it appeared that the Council was against legislation for a special class, and against any absolute maximum, after some informal discussion I suggested what appeared to me might eventually bridge over the difficulty between the Council generally and those who held Mr. Alexander's views. It seemed to me that, generally speaking, after the value of the buildings had reached a certain amount, it would be reasonable that the percentage of assessment upon the excess value should be less than the ordinary original percentage of assessment upon property throughout the municipality. The consideration of this suggestion was put aside for one or two meetings, the object being to see how the application of such a principle would affect the circumstances and incomes of particular municipalities. During the last week I have been trying to collect these statistics, and I have got now a number of figures, but it has been impossible to complete the information in such a way as to enable me to lay it before the Council, except in the case of four manufactories or mills only. I have asked the owners of property, and I have consulted the Magistrates of the 24-Pergunnahs and of Howrah for information. The information is in a forward state, but something is generally missing as regards each item which prevents my shewing what the effect would be. In four instances only have I been able to bring it out. A certain manufactory in Howrah, which now pays Rs. 2,335 a year of house-rate assessment, including the value of buildings and ground, would have to pay for its buildings annually, if calculated under the amendment which now stands in my name, Rs. 1,054 a year, and the assessment on the land would be in addition to this.

In the Suburbs one manufactory, paying Rs. 1,575, including the assessment upon land, would, under the maximum, have to pay Rs. 1,106, besides assessment upon land. Another one pays Rs. 1,725, and it would have to pay Rs. 984.

One, in Serampore, which is prominent in advancing these objections and calling for a limit, has to pay Rs. 1,007, and would be liable under the working of my maximum even to about Rs. 1,402 in addition to the assessment of the value of the land on which the buildings stand.

Another question, as affecting the income of some municipalities, is to ascertain how this or any other maximum would apply to the case of Government buildings, which contribute very large amounts to municipal income.

If the Council would be pleased to put off the discussion, I hope next Saturday to lay before them a statement which will give particulars as regards a good number of buildings—whether they belong to Government or to private individuals. With these remarks I beg formally to move the amendment which stands in my name for discussion :—

"Section 100.—After the first Proviso of this section, add the following :—

"And, further, that where the actual cost so ascertained or estimated shall exceed the sum of one lakh of rupees, the percentage to be levied on the excess shall not exceed one-fourth of the percentage determined by the Commissioners under section 101."

*NOTE.—"The following tables will shew the effect of the above amendment :—

I.—Table shewing the maximum rates that can be levied under the Proviso to section 100 as it stands :—

N.B—The rate on the land will have to be added to the above, which is only the rate on the buildings."

* This note was annexed to the amendment when circulated to the Members of the Council.

The Hon. Mr. Beverley said:—Sir,—My Hon. friend has given the recent history of this amendment in the Council, but I should like to carry the Council back a little further in its history with the view of showing the necessity of some such amendment as he has proposed. My hon. friend has already pointed out that in the existing Act there is no such proviso as is found in the Bill before the Council. Section 92 of the present Act simply contains the first clause of section 100 of the Bill, and under that section the gross annual rent at which any holding may be reasonably expected to let is to be taken as the annual value thereof. With reference to that section a memorial was presented to the Council by Mr. Birkmyre. I was not a member of the Council at that time, but I believe I am correct in saying that it was that memorial which led to the proviso being annexed to this section. In that memorial Mr. Birkmyre states that mills at home are assessed at considerably lower rates than house-holders or other domestic rate-payers, and he gives certain other reasons why some consideration should be granted in such cases. The Select Committee in their preliminary report said:—"Under Part IV we have considered whether the amount assessed when a rate is levied on the annual value of holdings should be subject to any maximum in the manner provided when a tax is levied upon persons. We have made some enquiries on this point, and have ascertained that while any such limitation would be operative in only a very few municipalities, it would in those municipalities have a very injurious effect. At the same time our attention has been called to cases in which the annual value of holdings has been determined in what seems a very arbitrary manner, and we are of opinion that some rule should be laid down for the guidance of municipal authorities in making valuations. We have therefore inserted words to provide—1*st*, that the value of machinery shall not be included (a provision which also finds place in the Calcutta Municipal Act); 2*ndly*, that where the cost of erecting the buildings can be ascertained or estimated, the valuation shall not exceed 7½ per cent. on such cost, together with a reasonable amount on account of ground-rent." When the amended Bill was published with this proviso, a memorial was presented by Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, complaining of the proviso, and pointing out that it placed them in an infinitely worse position than under the existing law. In their memorial (paper No. 81) they say that under this proviso they would have to pay about four times the amount of taxation that they are paying now under the present law. That memorial was made use of at a recent debate by the Hon. Member opposite (Mr. Macaulay) to show that municipalities were not at present levying the full rate of assessment that they were entitled to levy. That is not quite a correct representation of the argument; because what is referred to in the memorial is not what municipalities may levy under the existing law, but what they may levy under the new proviso to section 100 of this Bill. I shall refer to this argument again in support of what my hon. friend (Mr. Dampier) and I have adopted as the basis of our amendment, namely, that above a certain limit one-fourth only of the full rate should be assessed, when the tax would be much the same as at present, or perhaps something more.

I think, then, Sir, that this memorial shows—and Hon. Members may easily work it out for themselves—that the effect of the proviso as it stands will really enable Municipal Commissioners to impose a very much higher rate than they can under the existing law. Under it the last state of the memorialists will be worse than the first. It therefore seems to me that some maximum is necessary to qualify the proviso, supposing that the Council think it necessary and desirable to retain the proviso at all. It may be said that the proviso merely lays down a maximum in certain cases, and that it is not necessary to act up to it in every case, but it seems to me that it will in practice become the rule, and when the difficulty is considered of estimating what the gross annual letting value may be, an assessment on the value of the buildings and the land will be held to be the simplest way of getting out of the difficulty, and moreover a way that has been distinctly pointed out by this Council.

Now, there are strong arguments in favour of the amendment now before the Council. In the first place it seems to me that there is an essential difference between buildings used as residences and those which are occupied for purposes of trade. To tax the buildings used for industrial purposes is virtually to tax the industry itself. Beyond a certain point such a tax becomes a tax on profits no less than if it were levied on the machinery. In the memorial I have already referred to, Mr. Birkmyre states that at home mills are assessed at considerably less rates than house-holders or domestic rate-payers. I have made enquiries on the point, and cannot find any authority for that statement as regards England. But I find that in Scotland a classification of the rates is in force according to the nature of the occupation. Residential occupancies may be charged at a high rate, whilst occupancies for the purpose of farming, business or manufacture, may be charged at a comparatively low rate. Thus I find from the evidence of Mr. F. J. Cochran before the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Local Taxation, 1870, the following rules are laid down for the classification of lands in Old Machar—a parish containing nearly half the city of Aberdeen and five or six miles of farms outside it:—"The lands and heritages in the parish of Old Machar shall, for the purposes of the assessment on the tenants or occupants, be distinguished into three separate classes; the first class consisting of dwelling houses, and all other lands and heritages except those mentioned in the second and third classes; the second consisting of shops, warehouses, and stables used solely in the occupier's trade or business, business offices, spinning mills, manufactories, brick-works, quarries, water-powers and railways, gas-pipes, water-pipes and ground used for such pipes; and the third class consisting of farms, cultivated grounds, and fishings; and that the rates of assessment upon the tenants or occupants as such shall be so fixed as that the rate upon those of the second of the said classes shall be as nearly as possible one-half, and the rate upon those of the third class as nearly as possible one-fourth part respectively of the rate upon those of the first class." Thus the Council will not be legislating without precedent if it agrees to this amendment.

But we may look at the question from another point of view. The sole object of the proviso is to get at the real letting value of the premises—the gross annual rent at which the premises may reasonably be expected to let. That letting value has been assumed in the proviso to be represented by 7½ per cent. on the cost. I think Hon. Members will bear me out that this may represent a very fair return for house property in Calcutta; but to lay it down as a fair return for the whole of Bengal seems to me to be legislating somewhat in the dark. Beyond a certain point this general rate will not apply. Large mansions and palaces cannot be expected to bring the same return as a reasonable house of moderate size. Tenants have to take into consideration the expense of keeping up a large house. Some of us know of many large places which are lying vacant because they cannot find tenants rich enough to keep them up. The same argument applies to large offices and large godowns. The letting value of a building depends upon the demand for such buildings, and where there is no demand there can be no letting value. Buildings are often adapted for particular purposes, and it is not every one who has the capital or the enterprise to use them for the particular purposes for which they are adapted, and if let as buildings for general purposes they cannot be so valuable as for that particular purpose. I think it may be said that beyond a certain limit buildings alone, independent of the purpose for which they have been erected, cannot be assumed ordinarily to yield a return of 7½ per cent. The amendment takes one lakh of rupees as that limit, which seems reasonable enough, that being a high estimate of the cost of ordinary residences of gentlemen in Calcutta. Beyond that it is proposed that the rate shall be levied at one-fourth only, and the reason for taking that proportion is, as I pointed out before, that Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co. have shown that, under the proviso as it stands, they will have to pay about four times as much as at present. It seems to me, therefore, that up to a lakh of rupees the full rate may be paid, but beyond that limit the rate should be levied at one-fourth, which would yield about the same amount as is levied at present. I shall therefore support the amendment.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai said:—I beg most respectfully to oppose the amendment. Municipal rates press more hardly on poor persons than on the rich. Hitherto, as far as I have been able to study the law, one uniform form of assessment by way of a percentage on the letting value or the cost of a building has been all along adopted: there has been no varying percentage as is now proposed. The amendment, it appears to me, will virtually benefit rich owners of manufactories or other very costly buildings. I am also afraid that, under the proposed amendment, some municipalities may lose very large sums, and I am equally afraid that they may try to make up their losses by imposing additional taxation on the poor, and that is a result which I believe no member of this Council will desire. As far as I have been able to hear and to see in the memorials before the Council, no strong case has been made out for proposing any amendment in the existing law. It has not been shewn that any real injustice has been done to mill owners or the owners of other large buildings, or that any kind of damage has resulted to either. Under these circumstances, I urge for the consideration of the Council that we are rather unnecessarily interfering with the existing law, which, as far as we are aware, has been working smoothly and satisfactorily. The tables which have been prepared by the Hon. Mover of the amendment shew that, in the case of a building which has cost ten lakhs in its construction, as the law at present stands, or according to the present Bill, the owner may be liable to pay Rs 5,624, whilst under the proposed amendment he will only have to pay Rs. 1,827. Of course the rate on the land will have to be added, and what that may amount to I am not in a position to say, as no facts or figures have been given. There is no certainty therefore that any relief will be practically afforded to the owners of large buildings, and therefore, even in their interest there is no necessity to interfere with the law. If the owners can afford to spend so much money in the construction of buildings, they could equally afford to pay a fair rate of tax upon them. If, on the contrary, it is said that the case of mill and other owners would be rather worse than better, I will equally raise my voice against the amendment. Under all the circumstances I think it will be better to leave the law alone, there being no necessity to vary the rate of assessment in respect of any class of holdings.

The Hon Mr. Miller said:—I wish to trouble the Council with but few remarks to-day, as I think it wise, as we are promised further information, that we should abstain from making any comment at any great length, until we have all the facts and figures before us which we are promised. I feel rather at a disadvantage as this is the first time that I have had the honour of sitting here and have not of course had the opportunity of hearing the various discussions which have taken place on this provision and the other parts of the Bill which may have a bearing upon it. But I thought it right to put myself in communication with the special class who think that they are likely to be injured by the special provisions of this Bill now under discussion; and although I can in no way say that I represent this class, yet in a certain degree they have my sympathy, because it also is in accord with my judgment, when they complain that they are rather unjustly treated by this provision of the Bill. We are, in legislating in this direction, contravening the canons of taxation which prevail at home, and which have to-day received illustration from my Hon. friend to my left (Mr. Beverley). The proposition is laid down by Stuart Mill in unqualified terms that all buildings used exclusively for business purposes ought to be exempted from taxation, qud industrial holdings; in other words, that they ought to be treated as occupancy holdings, and merely assessed on the rental they would pay if they were let as occupancy tenements. Now, some of those gentlemen who have communicated with me in regard to this question have pointed out very emphatically the grievance that, in calculating the cost of the buildings which have been erected, depreciation is not taken into account. We are all acquainted with the famous Berhampore barracks which cost thirty lakhs in construction. The present value, I take it, would be under two lakhs. These barracks, or a large portion of them, at one time, I believe, were purchased by a private individual, and their present value would not be now two lakhs. Now, supposing the municipality were to assess the rate on these buildings at the cost of construction, I need hardly say what an injurious and oppressive rate that would be. The Hon. Member to my right has pointed out that municipalities would probably lose a large income simply because, if the Hon. Member's amendment was carried, Government assessments would be very much curtailed. All I can say is that, that appears to me one of the strongest arguments for supporting the amendment. It does appear to me that no municipality ought to be privileged to levy black-mail, as it were, upon the general tax-payers for special purposes of local taxation. But if the statement is correct a very manifest injustice is perpetrated, and it is clear that municipalities must look for their revenues elsewhere. We have seen certain papers circulated by the mill-owners and agents representing important commercial industries. It has been pointed out that no objection has been made to paying fair rates equally and equitably levied; but a very strong objection is expressed to the proposal to tax heavily, unduly, and unequally mills and other industrial holdings. It is complained that the industries derive little or no advatange from municipal administration. It is shewn by figures that in certain municipalities, if rates are to be levied on the scale provided in the Bill, two or three mills will be liable to pay half the revenue. That, surely, will not be fair and just to them. The present is a time of depression. Most of these industries are pulling a labouring oar. If now they are to be handed over in this arbitrary manner to a liability to arbitrary and exorbitant taxation—because it must be remembered that this Bill provides for no appeal, and that we are deprived here of the safeguards which prevail in England against the abuse of the powers of local taxation—then in that case the working of the Bill might be attended with very great injustice. There is no tax-paying community in England which does not possess the right to appeal outside the rating authority. Here we have nothing of that sort. It is a presumption in legislation that if you give arbitrary power you ought to presume that it may be exercised in an arbitrary manner, and therefore it should be fenced round with legal precautions. Nobody can for a moment doubt the enormous advantages which have accrued to the country from the fact of the establishment of these industries. In one of these memorials it was pointed out that upwards of four crores have been invested in these industries, and that they give employment to more than 100,000 men. There is another consideration which I hope will induce the Council to pause before accepting the present principle of rating proposed, and that is that there is no doubt at the present time a feeling of soreness in mercantile circles that these industries are to be made a sort of scapegoat for the working of this municipal scheme. That feeling may be unfounded; but in the interests of the municipalities I would ask the Council to remember that when the various municipalities ask for money loans, it is to the European money market they will have to go, and if these disturbing elements are introduced, the friction indeed might be calculated to wreck the success of the Bill.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose said :—If I was satisfied in my own mind that the amendment proposed to be made would not have the effect of lowering the amount of revenue now obtained in the municipalities under the Government of Bengal, I should have no hesitation in voting for it. But we have not got proper figures and facts before us, and I do not think it would be at all wise to determine the value of the amendment before the Council without having more materials before us than there are at present. Perhaps the Hon. Harbans Sahai was labouring under a mistake when he assumed that the result would be to considerably lower the amount of revenue that was now obtained. The figures which are to be found in the notice paper of the amendment of the Hon. Mr. Dampier show in the two tables, first, what would be the maximum amount of rate which might be obtained under the Bill as it stands, and, secondly, what would be the result if the amendment were to be carried out. The figures which are now supplied show to some extent certainly that the amount of revenue might be lower if the amendment was carried, but as the Hon. Member states that he has not been able to obtain all the materials and lay them before the Council, I would beg the Council to guard itself against an amendment the result of which might be to lower the amount of revenue from what is now derived by any one municipality under the Government of Bengal. In the Suburbs and other places there are large mills and factories which pay very large amounts, and if the result of this amendment will be to curtail those payments, I should fail in my duty if I did not oppose its passing. I would therefore suggest that the proper figures and facts be given.

The Hon. Boykantonath De said :—Although the amendment now proposed appears more general in its application, I have still doubts as to the propriety of such an amendment. It has been urged by an Hon. Member that a certain Government godown not far away from this place has been assessed by a certain municipality at Rs. 15,365 a year. It is to be assumed that the assessment was made at the full rate on the entire value of the holding, and that no objection was ever made to such an assessment. It has also been urged that practially the assessment on jute mills never exceeded Rs. 1,000 or so, although they could be legally assessed at over Rs. 4,000. Am I to understand from such assertions that jute mills had hitherto been underassessed by the Commissioners? If this be so, it does not speak very well of such Commissioners, who, in the case of a public holding, made an exorbitant taxation, while in the case of jute mills they made a nominal assessment only. I really do not understand the principle of taxation followed by such Commissioners. I don't see how a course, apparently unjustifiable in itself, can furnish justification to a measure equally objectionable. The present law, which is applicable alike to public buildings and manufacturing establishments, ought to be enforced equally in both the cases. When the absence of a limit of assessment in the case of higher value has had no effect in preventing under-assessment, the laying down of a limit would on the contrary give rise to a greater chance of under-assessment. The result of such a measure would, at the outset, be a tremendous falling off in the income of a municipality, and an increase in the long run of taxation of the very classes who are least able to bear it. Under the circumstances I regret I cannot give my assent to such an amendment.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said:—I am extremely glad that this discussion has taken the turn which it has. I am extremely glad that it was postponed in order that the subject of the present discussion may be put on the footing of a definite principle. Some days ago I pointed out that manufactories in this country were a young and growing industry, and if they were subjected to a heavy burden of taxation such a step was calculated to hamper the efforts that are being made in the direction of improvement, and retard the prosperity of the country. I put it to Hon. Members as a simple elementary proposition in political economy, but I did not get any reply. I have not sufficient time at my disposal to look into authorities, and we ought to be extremely obliged to the Hon. Mr. Beverley, who has put the matter on a sound footing, as well as to other Hon. Members who have addressed the Council. I certainly thought that the discussion of this matter, which is primarily a commercial one, should have been proceeded with on the question of principle; and I think that the arguments which were on a former occasion put forward that hitherto no injustice had been done, or that this is class legislation, are wholly irrelevant. We have to consider whether we shall make a law which is just and righteous in principle, or whether we shall enact something which is based on no principle at all; and I deny that the subject on which we are called upon to legislate, viz. to deal with the particular subject of mills and manufactories, can at all be regarded as class legislation. It is not because it so happens that Europeans are the owners of mills, or the Government happens to be the owner of manufactories and workshops, that any legislation in regard to them must be class legislation. If native gentlemen of wealth and enterprise should embark in undertakings of this description, the legislation will equally apply to them. I therefore fail to see that the argument of class legislation has any force, and trust we shall hear no more of it. The Council is called upon to pass a law which is just and righteous; to take the whole matter into consideration; and to base their action on some recognised, intelligent, and civilised principle, and they ought not to be thwarted in their good work by the assertion that nobody has complained of injustice. The fact is that at times no complaint of injustice is known to the Council, but it does not follow that nobody has complained. We are now giving municipalities larger powers than they have hitherto possessed, and the fact that past experience has not shewn many blots in the conduct of existing municipalities is no sufficient reason for supposing that in future powers conferred will be properly exercised by members of a new system which is about to be introduced, as it appears to me, as an experimental measure. The question is not whether any injustice has been done, but whether we ought not so to provide as to prevent injustice in future.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said that he had intended only to offer a brief explanation with reference to a remark which had been made by the Hon. Mr. Beverley. He could not, however, refrain from noticing the speech which had just been delivered by the Hon. and learned Advocate-General. A great deal of what had been said by the hon. gentleman might with consistency have been said on a previous occasion, but it had no connection with the subject now under consideration. The Hon. gentleman had referred to an expression used by him (Mr Macaulay) and concurred in by his hon. friend Mr. Reynolds in the course of a previous debate, and characterized it as irrelevant to the amendment before the Council. He thought the irrelevancy lay wholly with the Hon. and learned gentleman himself. He was astonished that the Hon. gentleman had not observed that the expression had no reference whatever to the present amendment. He had said that the amendment previously proposed by his Hon. friend Mr. Alexander, with the view of protecting manufacturing premises only, would be a piece of class legislation. He contended that this would be a correct description of it. It would have protected a jute mill, but would not have protected a building used as a store or warehouse. The present amendment, however, had no reference whatever to class, but would apply to all buildings alike. Why the Hon. gentleman should think it necessary to support it by denouncing an expression used in regard to a wholly different matter, he could not understand. He had said nothing whatever about Europeans and Natives, and had not referred to class legislation in any such sense.

With reference to the Hon. Mr. Beverley's remarks that he had overlooked the fact that the figure given by Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co. was the rate at which the mill might be assessed, not under the old law, but under the present Bill, Mr. Macaulay said that he was well aware that the petition referred to the present Bill. But that only made the case stronger. In the old law machinery was not excluded, and a rate of 7½ per cent. for valuation was not fixed. All was left to the discretion of the Commissioners. According to the valuation given by Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co., they might have charged over Rs. 9,000 at 7½ per cent, had the cost of the machinery been included. The Commissioners only charged Rs. 1,000.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said in reply:—When in an unguarded moment I threw out a suggestion which I hoped would smooth matters between those who were represented by Mr. Alexander's amendment and the general sense of the Council, I little knew what I was undertaking. I expected that my suggestion, if adopted at all, would be taken up and the details worked out by some Hon. Member who identified himself with the views which the Hon. Mr. Alexander's amendment represented. But that Hon. Member has left the Council, and circumstances have thrown it on me to carry my suggestion through its details. I feel something in the position of Sir Isaac Newton's dog: "thou little knowest what thou hast done, Diamond." I can only say that I shall collect all the statistics I can in the very short time which is allowed me for a conclusion to be arrived at by the Council, so far as it affects the income of municipalities.

As to the principle which has been advocated to-day in some of the speeches, that the assessment on holdings occupied for industrial purposes should be lower than that on domestic holdings, I hope that any Hon. Member who wishes to press it will put it in the shape of an amendment of which perhaps more than two hours' notice will be given to the Council.

I omitted at first to mention that, in making what enquiries I have, I have been much assisted by my Hon. friends Mr. Beverley and Mr. Miller, the latter of whom has been the channel of communication with the private firms from whom I sought information

And lastly, I have to say as to the statement that no hardship had been done under the existing law, that it must be remembered that under the law as it exists, if anything unreasonable had been done, the Government of Bengal, which has been my panacea throughout, would have known how to deal with individual cases of hardship and apply a remedy, whether by way of exercising its influence, or in the exercise of its constitutional powers. The Hon. Member opposite (Baboo Harbans Sahai) has told the Council that it is necessary to provide checks against arbitrary and unreasonable action of the Municipal Commissioners in respect to their Chairman. If such conduct can be anticipated, how much more necessary must it be to provide safeguards against it where it affects the rate-payers? The Bill is giving very arbitrary powers to the Commissioners without leaving to individuals any right of appeal. When you say that the letting value of such large buildings, which are adapted to special purposes only, is to be the measure of assessment, it is only a euphemious way of saying that the rate shall be assessed on any sum which the Commissioners choose to name as the letting value, against which no constitutional remedy is given. Therefore, it is, and I think not unreasonably, that some of those who are subject to the tax say "if you do not give us the protection of appeal to an independent authority in the matter of assessments, give us some safeguard in the Bill itself." In matters of revenue settlement by officers who are not connected in any way with the department which spends the money derived from these assessments, we are told daily that the revenue officers are nevertheless biased, and that the munsif is the only man who can be trusted to judge of the fairness of assessments because he has no bias. Now, if revenue officers who have no interest, either official or personal, in the amount of revenue assessed by them (except in so far that the lighter the assessment, the less trouble there is to them in collecting the rents or revenue which they have to hand over to the Financial Department) are not to be trusted as being biased, it must be admitted that Municipal Commissioners are much more interested in making assessments, and in getting as much money as possible to spend for the benefit of the municipality, and therefore it must be still more dangerous to trust them with arbitrary power.

His Honour the President said:—I understand that it is the wish of the Council that the question which has been raised upon the amendment should stand over for decision till next week, and that the week should be employed in securing further information or a series of further information both as to the figures and facts elicited in the important question which is now under consideration. I am sure I may add that I am very glad that the discussion of to-day has taken place, as it has elicited earnest, independent, and able speeches on a Bill which is of very great importance indeed; and though I reserve my own judgment till we have heard further discussions upon later facts and figures, I am bound to say that my own feelings are in favour of the argument which has been commonly pressed by some Hon. Members to-day, and that the objection as to the impoverishment of municipalities does not carry with it much weight. I do not see that we have only to look to Municipalities being supplied with funds; if these funds are based on a system of assessment or rating which creates friction, and if there is injustice in that form of assessment, we shall be obliged to limit the powers which they are now able to exercise, and we will be right in doing so, either by some limitation as to the amount of assessment which they can impose or by some form of appeal to a higher or different authority which will be able to pretect individual assessees from the exercise of arbitrary powers in this way. I hope, however, that the whole question will be settled and come to an end by next Saturday, and with the disposal of that question and the cognate question connected with section 84, and section 6, we shall see the end of this large measure.

The further consideration of setion 100 was then postponed.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier moved that the following new section be insorted after section 103:—

"If the annual value of any holding assessed under this Part shall exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him."

He said that in the existing Act and in the Bill as it stood the rate on the assessment value was payable by the owner of the holding. That had been the law in the mofussil since 1876. Before that there was only an assessment payable by the occupier. Suppose A. was the proprietor of land on which stood a building. He gave a long lease, say of 30 years, at a low rate of rent—the rent which prevailed at the time of giving the lease. The value of premises had been increasing very rapidly in some municipalities, and when the Commissioners now came to assess the property they would assess it at its present value, and the owner would have to pay the rate on a much higher valuation than was represented by the rent which he was receiving on the long lease which he had given. He thought it was obviously unfair that one man should enjoy the benefit of the increased value of property and another man should have to pay the higher rate of taxation. The amendment which Mr. DAMPIER proposed would affect only contracts made before 1876. The amendment, as it was drawn, might however disturb the division of profits as arranged by contracts made after 1876, if they were made on the presumption that the owner would have to pay on the increased rate of taxation that might be afterwards payable; and therefore to get over that difficulty he proposed, with the permission of the Council, to add to the amendment the following proviso :—"Provided that this section shall not apply to any holding which at the time of passing this Act might be held by the occupier on a rent which was determined after the passing of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1876." MR. DAMPIER found he had to correct himself. A rate on the assessment on holdings had been in force in a few municipalities since the passing of the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, and the wording of the proviso would have to be reconsidered with reference to this.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he could not agree to the proposed new section. He thought the Council ought not to be asked to pass an amendment of this kind, unless some representation had been made to it that owners of property were injuriously affected by the working of the law. The Hon. Member wished to insert this section, which was taken from section 90 of the Calcutta Act, merely because it might be assumed that the Legislature had accepted the justice of the principle; but the course which the Hon. Member should have taken was not to insert the section after section 103 of this Bill, but in lieu of that section. Section 103 reproduced the essence of section 90 of the Calcutta Act. Mr. Reynolds could not say that he had taken into consideration the contingency which the Hon. Member put before the Council of a long lease of thirty years, because such leases were by no means common; the common case contemplated by section 103 was the letting of land for building purposes, and as regards such cases it was provided that the shares to be borne by the two parties should be determined by the Commissioners. The amendment, as he had suggested to the Hon Member, would interfere with existing contracts, and therefore he could not support it. But the Hon. Member wished to add a proviso which would save existing contracts. In that case the proposed section seemed unnecessary, because, if the Legislature was not going to interfere with existing contracts, future contracts would be made with the knowledge that the specific provisions of the law would apply.

The HON. MR BEVERLEY said he would vote against the amendment on the ground that it was opposed to the principle of the Bill which threw on the owner the liability to pay the rate. The amendment assumed that in every case the owner really recovered from the occupier the amount of the rate paid by him, but that was an assumption which was not borne out by enquiries made in other countries. The Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed in 1870 to enquire into the question of local taxation in England, which was known as Mr. Goschen's Committee, examined very carefully into this point, and they reported as follows :—"Your Committee have examined many witnesses, and received at their hands very conflicting opinions as regards the proportion in which the burden of rates at present falls relatively on owners and occupiers"; and although they made a recommendation that the rates should be levied partly on the owner and partly on the occupier, that recommendation was made with the view that both classes should be represented in local self-government. Under this Bill there are other rates which fall upon the occupier.

After some conversation the HON. MR. DAMPIER withdrew the proviso which he proposed to add to the section, and the original motion was put to the vote and negatived on the following division:—

CALCUTTA TRAMWAYS.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was agreed to.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR said he had to ask the permission of the Council to move a small verbal amendment, of which unfortunately notice had not been given, because the necessity for it was only brought later to his notice. The Select Committee in their report said:—"We deemed it desirable that the provisions of the Bill should not apply to the Fort, and have amended the definition of the word 'Calcutta' in section 2 with the object of giving effect to this conclusion." The alteration which the Committee had made consisted simply in the addition of the words "but not Fort William" at the end of section 2. "Fort William" was rather an elastic term. Sometimes it included only the Fort, and sometimes it included the Esplanade and the Fort. As the object of the Bill was to exclude only the Fort, but to include the Esplanade, he moved, with the view of making that perfectly clear, to insert the words "the area included within the fortifications of" after the word "not" in line 5 of section 2.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill as amended was passed.

AMENDMENT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876. He said that the application which he had the honour to make was based in a great measure on the circumstances which he had detailed to the Council some months ago, when he asked for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water for the Suburbs. He then explained that a scheme had been adopted for doubling the filtered supply of the town and providing a supply of 4,000,000 gallons for the Suburbs. He need hardly say that the carrying out of such an undertaking must necessitate the raising of a large money loan; and as the present condition of things was unfavourable to such an operation being carried out in India, the Commissioners had applied to the Government for permission to enlarge the area of their borrowing operations in order to enable them to raise a Sterling loan in the English market. As the law stood, the Commissioners were only able to contract for rupee loans, and until the law was altered no action whatever could be taken in the direction desired. He was not then concerned with the general policy of raising Sterling loans for Indian public works: the decision on that point rested with the Secretary of State. He would now merely ask the Council to remove the legal disability and assimilate the Calcutta Municipal law to the Port Commissioners' Act, by providing that the Commissioners should not be debarred from borrowing out of India in Sterling currency should the Supreme Government give permission to do so.

The motion was agreed to, and the rules having been suspended, the Bill was read in Council and referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon Messrs. Reynolds, Chunder Madhub Ghose, and the Mover.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES.

On the motion of the HON. MR. REYNOLDS the clauses of the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities was further considered.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he had been considering the definition of "holding" further, and it appeared quite clear that, under that definition, three conditions must be satisfied to constitute a place a holding,—the land must be held under one title or agreement; it must be surrounded by one boundary, or, more properly speaking, one set of boundaries; and, lastly, it must be occupied by one person, firm, or family. The definition would not hold good if any one of these conditions remained unfulfilled, as for instance if the land was held by more persons than one not being members of a firm or family. He proposed the definition thus:—"'Holding' means land held under one title or agreement, surrounded by one set of boundaries, and occupied by one or more persons, firm, family, or company."

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS suggested that the last clause of the definition as to occupation be omitted.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he had no objection to the amendment suggested; and (after some conversation) he moved the following definition of the word "'holding' in lieu of the definition contained in the Bill:—"Holding" means land held under one title or agreement, and surrounded by one set of boundaries."

The motion was agreed to.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL then moved that the following proviso be added to the definition:—

"Provided that, where two or more adjoining holdings form part and parcel of the site or premises of a dwelling-house, manufactory, warehouse, or place of trade or business, such holdings shall be deemed to be one holding for the purposes of this Act, other than those mentioned in clause (a) of section 84.

Explanation.—Holdings separated by a road or other means of communication shall be deemed adjoining within the meaning of this proviso."

He said he had added the explanation to make his intention more clear. The proviso in itself would be of very limited application. As far as section 84 was concerned, the general provision would apply, but in respect of other portions of the Act the definition of "holding" would be controlled by this proviso.

The HON. MR BEVERLEY thought that the difficulty of framing a suitable definition of the term "holding" should suggest the expediency of avoiding the use of the term altogether. For his own part he thought it would be quite possible to avoid the use of the term. Section 84 of the Bill authorized the Commissioners to impose an alternative too—either a rate on the annual value of all immoveable property within the Municipality, the said rate to be paid by the owner; or a tax upon the occupier according to his circumstances and the property he occupied within the Municipality. As regarded the rate, it was quite immaterial whether the property rated was comprised in one or more holdings, the rate being assessed upon the annual value. As to the tax on occupiers, it was considered necessary to fix a maximum limit, and that limit was fixed at Rs. 84 for each single holding. It thus became necessary to define the term "holding." But section 89 provided that, when a person was assessed at more than Rs. 84 by reason of his occupying more than one holding, he might elect to be rated at 7½ per cent. on the annual value of his holdings; and MR. BEVERLEY would extend this principle. He would abolish the limit of Rs. 84 per holding, and he would allow any person who was dissatisfied with his assessment to claim to have the property occupied by him rated under section 89. It would thus be quite unnecessary to speak of holdings at all; it would be sufficient to substitute the word "property," with possibly the addition of a definition of immoveable property.

After some conversation the Advocate-General's motion was carried on the following division:—

Ayes 7.	Noes 4.
The Hon. Harbuns Sahai.	The Hon. Kumar Boykantonath Dé.
,, Mr. Miller.	,, Chunder Madhub Ghose.
,, Mr. Beverley.	,, Mr. Reynolds.
,, Mr. Macaulay.	,, Mr. Dampier.
Col the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
The Hon. the Advocate-General.
,, the President.

On the motion of the HON. MR. MACAULAY the words "this Act comes into force" were substituted for "passing of this Act" in line 6 of section 13, and the words "not exceeding seven and a half per centum may" were substituted for "seven and a half per centum shall" in lines 7 and 8 of section 88.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS moved to substitute the following proviso for the proviso to section 84, clause (a):—"Provided that the amount assessed on any one person in respect of the occupation of any one holding shall not be more than eighty-four rupees per annum." He said that this amendment was rendered necessary in consequence of the amendment which had been made in the definition of "holding," the effect of which would be to diminish the total number of holdings in Municipalities. There was some danger in retaining the words in the first part of the proviso:—"The total sum to be raised by the tax in any year shall not exceed the sum which would be produced by an average rate of two rupees and four annas per annum for each holding."

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said that he thought the amendment unnecessary, because the definition of "holding" did not apply to clause (a) of section 84, which imposed a tax upon persons according to their circumstances, and not to the rating of immoveable property.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER moved that the following paragraph be inserted after the first proviso in section 100:—

"And, further, that where the actual cost so ascertained shall exceed one lakh of rupees, the percentage on the annual value to be levied in respect of so much of the cost as is in excess of one lakh of rupees shall not exceed one-fourth of the percentage determined by the Commissioners under section 101"

He said that this amendment was before the Council at the last meeting, and he promised, with the help of certain hon. members, to collect what figures he could to satisfy the Council as to the effect of the amendment on the income of Municipalities. The time which he had had was very short, but the papers which were in his hands were available to hon. members who wished to look at them. The conclusion to which he had come was that it was desirable to put the amendment to the Council. A maximum of assessment on buildings was imposed by the proviso to section 100 as the Bill now stood, and such lower maximum as his amendment proposed would have been unnecessary if anything like an appeal had been provided against over-assessment. The ordinary mode of taxation provided in the Bill was an assessment on the annual value at which holdings might be expected to let. If an appeal had been provided, the Commissioners would have had thrown upon them the onus of showing that the particular holding might reasonably be expected to let at the amount at which they had valued it, and then no further precautions would have been necessary. But there was no appeal, and the valuations upon which some Government buildings had been assessed as being the amounts at which they might reasonably be expected to let were absurd: therefore he thought some check to over-assessment should be imposed in the Bill. The proviso as it stood imposed a limit of taxation so much higher than the actual amount of taxation in general at the present time that he thought that limit would be practically useless as a protection against over-assessment. The effect of the proposed amendment would be to lower the maximum, and in his judgment this further proviso was necessary.

The Hon CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE said the Council would observe that the proviso in the Bill as it now stood was not contained in the present law, which simply provided, as in the first paragraph of the section in the Bill, that the gross annual value at which a holding might be reasonably expected to let should be the annual value thereof, the letting value being taken in every case to be the primâ facie standard on which the assessment should be made. The proviso in the Bill would only come into operation in the event of a dispute arising between the Commissioners and the owner of a holding as regards the real letting value of the holding, but in 99 cases out of 100 the letting value would be taken as the standard. It was only in cases of dispute, that 7½ per cent. on the actual cost of erection of a building would be taken as the letting value. Therefore there seemed to be no cause for apprehension that the proviso would operate injuriously either on the Government or a private individual. But it might be that in the case of large buildings, in regard to which a man had not to pay the same amount as if there were a number of small holdings in the same area, the proviso would work prejudicially. It was from this point of view that he would agree to the amendment before the Council, with the modification that the percentage should be raised to one-half. He must, however, say that the figures which the hon. member had placed before the Council were not very satisfactory, and he wished more time had been given to examine them, but on a cursory glance of those figures he was not satisfied that the amendment would not result in a falling off to an appreciable extent of the present revenues of the Municipalities. If the modification he had suggested did not meet the approbation of the Council, he would throw out for consideration another proposal: to remove the hardship of the valuation being taken on the original cost of the building, the valuation might be put at 7½ per cent. of the cost, minus the amount of depreciation and the cost value of repairs.

The HON. Mr. DAMPIER said, if the proposal to deduct the amount of depreciation from the cost of a building commended itself to the Council, he would not oppose it.

The HON. HARBUNS SAHAI said he was entirely opposed to the amendment. The figures which had been just supplied to the Council, he must confess, were not very satisfactory, and on those figures he was unable to form any judgment. They did not supply the material and data necessary to come to a correct conclusion. The reason of his opposition to the amendment was that, as a general rule, the annual rent at which any holding might reasonably be expected to let should be taken as the annual value. It was only when the cost of erection could be ascertained or estimated that the annual value of a building was to be taken at a value not exceeding 7½ per cent. on the cost, in addition to a reasonable ground rent. It was not in every case that the Commissioners would ascertain or estimate the cost of erection, but in cases where it was practicable it would be used as a check on the annual letting value. Therefore, he thought the section as it stood was better than the amendment proposed. He did not think the bearing of section 100 was entirely understood.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said that section 100 first referred to holding, and holding meant land. In cases where there were buildings, there would be a further assessment: there was nothing in the section to indicate that the proviso would only take effect where there was a disagreement about the valuation.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said the amendment before the Council, he understood, was the amendment of the hon. member on his left (Mr. Dampier). He was ready to admit the fairness of the principle of the amendment, namely that when the valuation exceeded a certain sum, which was proposed to be taken at Rs. 1,00,000, then the percentage on the sum in excess should be less, but he was in considerable doubt whether three-fourths was not too large a reduction to make. He understood that the Hon. Mover was not willing to accept the suggestion of the hon. member (Baboo Chunder Madhub Ghose) that the reduction should be one-half, but he might accept a valuation of one-third on the cost of erection in excess of Rs. 1,00,000. If he accepted that modification, the HON. MR. REYNOLDS would vote for the amendment.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said that, as far as he could gauge the sense of the Council, he thought he should not be justified in retreating from one-fourth to one-third.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said there were practically three proposals before the Council, but they only referred to the percentage which should be taken—whether one-half, one-third, or one-fourth—as the basis of valuation when the cost of a building exceeded Rs. 1,00,000. He would put the amendment as it stood in the name of the HON. MR. DAMPIER first, which was as follows:—

"And, further, that where the actual cost so ascertained shall exceed one lakh of rupees, the percentage on the annual value to be levied in respect of so much of the cost as is in excess of one lakh of rupees shall not exceed one-fourth of the percentage determined by the Commissioners under section 101."

The motion was carried on the following division:—

[MR. MACAULAY voted subject to the introduction of an amendment fixing the reduction at one-third.]

The HON. MR. BEVERLEY said that, while discussing this section, he would like to take the sense of the Council on the question of allowing for depreciation in the value of a building. The question had been raised by the hon. member on his left (Baboo Chunder Madhub Ghose), but he was not prepared to press his amendment on the point. With the permission of the Council, MR. BEVERLEY wished to transfer the amendment to his own name, and moved to insert the words "less the amount of depreciation" after the word "cost" in the 7th line of the first proviso. He thought for himself that the proviso should be restricted to the valuation of buildings, and that no reference should be made in it to the land. But he would not press that point if the Council would agree to make an allowance for depreciation.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said he was not prepared to accept the amendment, as he was not sure what the effect of the amendment, if it omitted all reference to land, might be. The amendment would be altogether opposed to the principle on which the proviso was based. The first mode of ascertaining the value of a holding was its letting value, and in that way depreciation would be taken into account; but if the owner was not satisfied with the decision of the Commissioners as to the letting value, he was at liberty to have recourse to the mode of valuation prescribed in the proviso, and that necessitated that the assessment should be on the actual cost of erection. Great advantage had already been given to owners of buildings by the amendment which had just been passed, and he should not have supported it if he had known that this further amendment, allowing a reduction on account of depreciation, was to be proposed. The hon. member who had originally suggested this amendment told the Council that it was proposed by him as an alternative to the amendment of the Hon Mr. Dampier, and therefore to pass it now in addition as a further reduction from the ascertained or estimated cost of a building would not be right. MR. REYNOLDS, therefore, could not agree to the amendment.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he thought the amendment very fair. The life of a building in this country, and especially of mills and manufactories, was not very long. He therefore thought it fair that an allowance should be made for depreciation.

The HON. HARBUNS SAHAI remarked that, as he had said before, he thought the case was covered by the words "the gross annual rent at which a holding might be expected to be let." A building which had been recently erected would command a higher rent than one which had undergone some depreciation. If the owner objected that the assessment was not made on the amount at which the building might be expected to be let, there was the option given to him of having the assessment made on the cost of erection.

The motion was then put to the vote and negatived on the following division:—

RESOLUTION.

READ the following—

No. 18, dated Calcutta, the 5th March 1884.

From—A. RITZ, Esq., Acting Consul for Austria and Hungary,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India.

THIS Consulate having received by the last Austrian Lloyd Steamer from the Imperial and Royal Austrian Minister for Foreign Affairs at Vienna some printed papers, relating to the "General National Exhibition" to be held in 1885 at Budapest (Hungary), opening day 1st May 1885, requesting me to forward these documents to the Indian Government with a prayer on my part kindly to give these documents the widest publication, in order to secure, if possible, the participation of Indian Exhibitors in that Exhibition, I have the honour to forward herewith five forms each of the respective Government Notifications on the subject, viz.:—

I of General Regulations;
II of International Section;
III of Form of application;

and shall feel extremely obliged by giving this official communication your earliest and best support in the interest of Indian commerce.

General Regulations for the International Section of the General National Exhibition at Budapest, 1885.

(III. Special Exhibition.)

I.—The Objects and the Direction of the Exhibition.

Simultaneously with the General National Exhibition to be held in the year 1885 at Budapest, and within its own precincts, will be organised a Special Exhibition to which all Motors, Engines, and Tools for artisans, also all Agricultural Machines and Implements of the latest and most improved construction, and important patented Inventions and Improvements will be admitted, from all countries.

A Special Committee has been intrusted with the immediate management of the affairs of this Special Exhibition, who will communicate with the Exhibitors in the name of the General Commission of the General National Exhibition. Only the General Commission retains the right of accepting the Applications and the rents for space, as well as the decision of doubtful questions, also all that belongs to the general management of the Exhibition.

II.—Permanence of the Exhibition.

The Special Exhibition, as well as the General National Exhibition, will be opened at Budapest on the first day of May 1885, and closed on the 15th day of October 1885.

III.—Object of the Special Exhibition.

The object of the Special Exhibition is to promote the improvement and development of the smaller trades, by exhibiting all the resources by means of which they can be improved sufficiently to compete with the powerful wholesale Manufacturers, and properly occupy the place designed for them by nature; and especially to promulgate in Hungary, and in the adjacent countries to the East and South, the progress that has been made in Western and Northern countries, in the manufacture of Machines and Implements of Husbandry, together with their inventions and improvements; to offer opportunities for Inventors to bring their Machines, Tools, Improvements, or Inventions before the Public; to encourage the improvement of Motors, Engines, Tools, as well as Agricultural Implements; and to advance the realisation of new Industrial ideas; finally, to bring Consumer and Producer, Contractor and Inventor, into closer connection, for their mutual advantage.

The better to realise this project, arrangements have been made that, as far as possible, all machines to be exhibited, shall be erected in such a manner that they, in conformity with the Regulations contained in the Special Rules, may be set in motion on the Exhibition premises.

IV.—Grouping of Objects.

The Special Exhibition comprises the following First and Secondary Classes:

FIRST CLASS (A).—Motors (Engines), Work Machines, and Tools for Artisans and the Smaller Trades.

I.—SECONDARY CLASS.

Engines to be set in motion.—By Gas, Water, Steam, Hot air, Electricity, Carbonic gas, Carbolhydrogen, &c.

II. SECONDARY CLASS.

1. Machines and Tools for working in Wood.—For Joiners, Turners, Carpenters, Wheelwrights, Coopers, Lastmakers, all wooden-ware and toy makers.

2. Machines and Tools for Working Metals.—(a) For Blacksmiths, Locksmiths, Gunmakers, Cutlers, Zinkworkers, Carriagemakers, &c., &c. (b) For Boilermakers, Coppersmiths, Tinsmiths, &c., &c. (c) For Braziers, Brassfounders, Plumbers, and Gasfitters, &c., &c. (d) For Goldsmiths, Silversmiths, Goldbeaters, Jewellers, &c., &c.

3. Machines and Tools for the Production of the following Articles:—Tacks, Screws, Bolts and Rivets, Pegs, and Needles.

4. Machines and Tools for Mechanicians.—For Watchmakers, Scalemakers, Mechanicians, Instrument manufacturers.

5. Machines and Tools for the working in Leather.—For Tanners and Curriers, Saddlers, Trunkmakers, Shoemakers, Glovers, &c., &c.

6. Machines and Tools for the Consumption of Tissues, Spinning and Weaving of Textiles.—(a) Sewing Machines, Knitting Machines, Worsted Machines. (b) Looms of all descriptions, Looms for girths, hoses, &c., &c. Machines for shearing cloth, &c., &c. (c) Thread Spinning machines, Combing machines for hemp and flax, &c., &c. Machines for Ropemakers.

7. Machines and Tools for Hatters.

8. Machines and Tools for Brushmakers.

9. Machines and Tools for Potters and all Sorts of Earthenware.—(a) For Potters, Glass grinders and blowers, for the Production of Cement. (b) For the working of stones.

10. Machines and Tools for working in Bones and Horn.—For Buttonmakers, Combmakers, Turners in bone, &c., &c.

11. Machines and Tools for the Production of Victuals and Food.—(a) For Millers, Bakers, Confectioners, Preservers. (b) For the Production of Ice. For the Production of Artificial Mineral Waters, &c. For the Production of Sparkling Beverages.

12. Machines and Tools for Multiplying Trades.—For Printers, Lithographers, Photographers, Typefounders.

13. Machines and Tools for Bookbinders, Fancy workers in Leather and Paper, &c.

14. Transmissions, as far as is necessary, for the driving of Machines on Exhibition.

REMARKS.—Besides Machines of the Secondary Classes, all such articles may also be exhibited, which have been produced by these Machines on Exhibition, provided they have not been worked otherwise.

FIRST CLASS (B).—Agricultural Machines.

These Machines are only admitted to the Exhibition, if they be of the newest and most improved construction, or if they show essential alterations.

FIRST CLASS (C).—Inventions and Improvements.

All Inventions are accepted, if secured by the Patent still in force of any Country at the time of Exhibition.

The grouping of objects belonging to First Class C will be carried out only after all Exhibitors have sent in their applications, as it has been reserved to the Special Committee to place them in groups and divisions according to their nature.

In this First Class C not only perfected objects, but also their models, will be admitted.

V.—Certificates.

In the Special Exhibition no Prizes will be awarded by a Jury

During the permanence of the Exhibition, however, a Technical Scientific Commission of Experts will be constituted, based on regulations hereafter to be issued; which Commission will examine the Articles exhibited, and will issue Certificates in the name of the General Commission.

VI.—Reduction of Tariffs and Fares.

The Special Committee will take the necessary steps to procure favourable reductions of Tariffs and Fares on all Lines throughout the Austro-Hungarian Territory; as well on the carriage of all objects to the Exhibition as, if necessary, on their return journey.

VII.—Duty free.

The importation of objects free of duty has already been provided for by the Act of 1882, §. 10, Article XVI.

The Royal Hungarian Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce will claim the assistance of the Imperial and Royal Ministry of Foreign Affairs, to endeavour, whenever it shall be found necessary, to pass free of duty, to their respective countries, all exhibited articles which have not been eventually sold during the Exhibition.

VIII.—Protection of Patent-Rights.

Should an Exhibitor claim the privilege of having his patent-rights protected, he must send in a petition, enclosing vouchers, properly filled out, to the Royal Hungarian Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce, before sending in his objects.

Further particulars as to the steps to be taken, can be obtained from the Special Committee on either verbal or written applications.

IX.—Applications.

Applications must be written on special Forms, which will be forwarded to Applicants in duplicate, free of charge, by the Special Committee, which Forms must be filled out properly, written clearly, and filed at the Office of the General Commission, at latest, by the last day of February 1884. The said General Commission will be answerable for a prompt and quick despatch of all applications and will pay every attention to the Correspondence with Exhibitors.

Exhibitors of Inventions and Improvements must annex to their Application an authenticated duplicate of their patent.

X.—Applications for each First Class.

Exhibitors, intending to exhibit in several "First Classes," must file two vouchers for each and every class.

XI.—Acceptance and admittance.

With regard to objects announced for exhibition, the Special Committee has to decide whether they will be accepted or not, as far as the object of the special Exhibition is concerned; but as a superior court the General Commission has the right of final decision. Neither the Commission nor the Committee are obliged to give reasons for refusal. To facilitate the examination of the applications, every application must be accompanied by a drawing with detailed explanation, and, with regard to machines, it must be stated how much water, steam, gas, and how much driving power is required.

In case of acceptance of objects for Exhibition, the Exhibitor will receive a Certificate of Admittance within 30 days after filing his application.

XII.—Rent for Space.

The rent for space has been settled as follows:—

(a) Entirely covered localities per □ m. floor area at 12 fls. Aust. Curr.
(b) Ditto ditto per □ m. floor and wall at 9 fls. Aust. Curr.
(c) Entirely covered localities per □ m. wall surface at 4.50 fls. Aust Curr.
(d) Half covered localities per □ meter area 4.50 fls. Aust. Curr.
(e) In the open air per □ m. 3.—fls. Aust. Curr.

The height of objects to be exhibited in the localities (a) and (b) must not be more than 3 meters, otherwise an extra rent must be paid.

No space less than a meter can be hired.

Half the rent has to be sent in to the General Commission of the Exhibition, after receiving the Certificate of Admittance, and the other half, at latest on the 15th day of July 1884.

If the rent be not paid in due time, the General Commission is entitled to dispose otherwise of the place claimed. If the first part of the rent has been paid, and the applicant does not exhibit, or should withdraw, no money will be returned.

If, after the placing of articles, it should appear that more space had been occupied than stated in the application, the difference must be paid up to the 1st of June 1885.

Exhibitors raising buildings on an open space, after receiving the permission of the Special Committee, must make special agreements with said Committee, as regards the rent to be paid. Likewise where complicated Erections are put up, special agreement must be entered into with the Special Committee.

XIII.—Propelling power and its Transmission.

The propelling power (water, steam, gas) and the transmission from the main shaft for putting in motion machines, will be given free of cost and be at the disposition of the Exhibitor; yet the expenses of mounting and keeping in proper order of all the gear for transmission from the main shaft, must be borne by the Exhibitor.

The time of motion during the Exhibition will be fixed by the Special Committee at the proper time.

All Steam Engines will be examined before they are put in motion by the Special Committee at the expense of the Exhibitor.

XIV.—Supervision and tending of Machines in motion.

The keeping in motion and the supervision of the machines on Exhibition can be given in charge of hired men, or can be done by representatives of the Exhibitors; in which case the appointed persons have unconditionally to conform with all the regulations of the Special Committee. On the other hand, the Committee will take care to appoint skilful machinists, and these appointed men of the Committee will take charge, for a moderate remuneration, of the putting in gear and the conduct of work intrusted to them by the Exhibitor.

The arrangement for the mounting and putting in motion of machines will be fixed by the Special Committee on receipt of application, upon which the Exhibitors will receive more particulars about the pullies and the belting to be furnished.

XV.—Transport of Objects.

All articles to be exhibited will be sent free to Steamship or Railway Stations of Budapest. Particulars about addressing and marking of parcels will be sent in due time to the Exhibitors. The transport of articles from the Stations to the Exhibition grounds, or if necessary on their return, will be entrusted by the Special Committee, and at the charge of the Exhibitor, to some forwarding and commission house, which will have to charge as moderate rates as possible.

Boxes and other materials for packing will be taken care of during the time of the Exhibition without any charge whatsoever.

XVI.—Directions concerning the Packing.

The use of good boxes and careful packing of objects is always to the interest of the Exhibitor.

Inside and on the top of every box should always be placed instructions concerning the unpacking, raising, and mounting of objects; besides these, a list of all parts or numbers of pieces contained in every parcel.

Those sides, which are to be opened, should not be nailed but screwed down.

In one box only objects belonging to one group can be packed.

XVII.—List of Objects. Sending in.

Before forwarding Articles, bills of delivery must be sent in to the Special Committee, enclosing all particulars. Blank forms will be supplied, without special application from Exhibitors.

All objects for Exhibition must be sent in between February 1st and March 1st 1885, and all must be arranged in their proper places by the 20th April, at the latest. This circumstance should be taken into consideration, especially where the objects require much time for erection.

XVIII.—Objects to remain on Exhibition.

No object exhibited will be permitted to be removed before the Closing of the Exhibition, that is, before the 15th October 1885, except with the permission of the General Commission. All articles produced by permission of the Commission on the premises being excepted.

XIX.—Decorations, Cases, &c.

With regard to Decorations, Cases, Tables, and Shelves, the general rule is, that they be erected by the Special Committee, according to the prescribed uniformity, at the expense and in conformity to the wishes of the Exhibitor, on moderate conditions. If the Committee should consent to the use of special tables, cases, &c., then a drawing of the same must be sent in in time for examination. The same refers to plans and drawings of Pavilions or other buildings to be erected in the open air.

XX.—Rails or Palings.

The Exhibitors have to fence in with rails or palings all articles on exhibition, for the protection of themselves and the public. On demand, the Committee is willing to supply the same, at the expense of the Exhibitor.

XXI.—Care taking and Cleaning.

The General Commission will provide trustworthy persons for the custody and cleaning of the articles exhibited, for which service a moderate fee will be charged to Exhibitors. No guarantee or compensation will be given for losses or damages happening on the premises.

XXII.—Fire Insurance.

The General Commission will undertake to insure all objects against fire, at a premium in proportion to the stated value in the application.

XXIII.—Copying and Photographing Objects.

No object on exhibition can be copied or photographed, without the permission of the General Commission, and the assent of the Exhibitor.

The General Commission reserves the right of having photographical groups taken, for the purposes of sale.

XXIV.—Commercial Agents.

The Special Committee will provide active and experienced Agents, to act as the Commercial Representatives of Exhibitors. The place at which to apply for Agents will be found noted in the form of Application.

Exhibitors, represented by their own agents, are requested to announce them, in time, to the Special Committee.

XXV.—Selling Objects exhibited.

The Exhibitor must state in the Form of Application, whether the object exhibited be for sale or otherwise. If for sale they can be labelled "For Sale" with the price attached.

XXVI.—Tickets for Agents of Exhibitors.

Free Tickets will be issued to all Agents and employés of Exhibitors during the continuance of the Exhibition. The tickets only to be used by those in whose name they are issued.

Abusing this privilege, the owner of the ticket loses all rights of free admission.

XXVII.—Special Catalogue.

A Special Catalogue will be issued for the International Section of the Exhibition.

It is at the option of Exhibitors with regard to admission in the Catalogue, to supply, besides the Name of their Firms, and the objects exhibited, in good time, to the Special Committee, any Statistical or Descriptive data of their productions, inventions, and trades, in as concise a form as possible; the Special Committee reserving the right either to shorten or revise them.

Drawings and Sketches, only in special cases, will be received into the Catalogue by the Special Committee. For exact Advertisements in the Catalogue, cheap tariffs will be arranged.

Besides Exhibitors, such persons who have especially distinguished themselves in the manufacture of articles on exhibition, may be mentioned in the Catalogue.

XXVIII.—Shops for repairs.

On the Exhibition grounds, as far as room will allow, shops, properly fitted for all kinds of repairs, will be erected, where all necessary repairs of objects exhibited, can be carried out by the mechanics appointed by the General Commission, at a very moderate price.

XXIX.—Balancing Accounts.

The balancing of Accounts between the Exhibitor and the General Commission will take place three months after the opening of the Exhibition.

XXX.—Subsequent Publications.

Further special Regulations, and any other publications concerning the Exhibition, issued by the Special Committee, will be either forwarded direct to the Exhibitors, or through the Agents who will be nominated in the different countries.

XXXI.—Acceptance of Regulations.

Every Exhibitor, on sending in his Application, must accept in his own name and that of his representatives and employés, the Regulations cited above, and submit to all further directions which may be issued by the General Commission, or in their name by the Special Committee.

The General Commission of the General National Exhibition, at Budapest, 1885.

MATLEKOVITS, President.
COUNT EUGEN ZICHY, Second President.

International Section of the General National Exhibition at Budapest, 1885, for Motors, Working Machines, and Tools for Artisans; as well as for Agricultural Machines of the latest and most improved constructions, and also for important Patented Inventions and Improvements.

In conformity with a Bill submitted to the Hungarian Legislature by Count Paul Széchényi, Royal Hungarian Minister of Agriculture, Commerce, and Industry, the Bill No. XII of 1883 has been passed for the purpose of instituting a "General National Exhibition" to be held at Budapest, the same having received the sanction of His Apostolic Majesty the Emperor Franz Joseph the First, King of Hungary.

By this Act the General National Exhibition to be held in the year 1885 at Budapest, has not only been placed under the patronage of the Hungarian Government, but has been declared a National question; the Government being invested with the direction of the Undertaking, to propose and organise the same.

A General Commission has been appointed by the above-named Minister and intrusted with the immediate management of the affairs of the Exhibition.

The General Commission is composed of the following Members:—President, Dr. Alexander Matlekovits, Secretary of State; Second-President, Count Eugen Zichy, President of the National Industrial Society; Director, Dr. Julius Schnierer, Counsellor of the Ministry.

It has been decided and decreed by the General Commission, in consideration of the limited character of the Exhibition, it being intended to produce as complete and faithful a picture as possible of the productions and handiworks of Hungary, to organise simultaneously with the General National Exhibition, and on the same precincts, a separate International Exhibition of Motors and working Machines, Tools, and Implements for Artisans and Traders, as well as Agricultural Machines of the latest and most improved constructions, and all important Patented Inventions and Improvements.

It has accordingly been taken into consideration to propose the participation of Foreign Countries in this Special Exhibition, and to make arrangements for the exhibition of their superior productions.

The General Commission in coming to this decision has been chiefly guided by the consideration of the importance which must be ascribed to the exhibiting of Machines and Tools, as well as the latest Inventions in the construction of Agricultural implements, as prime factors in the sphere of Industry and Agriculture.

In consequence of the magnitude and rapidity of progress in the sphere of Technics and Communication, a change has taken place in the industrial productions of Hungary, similar to that which has been wrought in the Northern and Western States of Europe. For the last Decennium the greatly improved means of communication, and the great increase of International intercourse, have exposed Hungary to the competition of the more advanced Foreign Industry; on the other hand a very important tendency has appeared, for raising Industrial Establishments on a very large scale, by the more intensive application of the powers of nature, and a more extensive employment of the principle of division of labour, which tendency is thrusting the smaller artisans rapidly into the background. With regard to the wholesale production of cheap manufactured goods not only is it a pressing necessity, but perhaps the most important problem of the political economy of our times, to find ways and means of saving the smaller industries from certain extinction, to preserve and advance the material welfare of craftsmen, by enabling them to fill up the place in the circle of Industrial Productions, which the large manufacturing establishments, wanting in individual character, and bent on only wholesale production, are unable to occupy.

In order to solve this highly important question of political economy, it is essentially requisite to put into the hands of intelligent and assiduous craftsmen, such motors or perfected working machines and tools as are at the disposition of the wholesale producer, or that the methods and implements used by the wholesale producer may be so modified as to be used by handicraftsmen, and put into motion as easily and cheaply as by the wholesale manufacturer. Should this succeed, then the regeneration of the humbler trades is to be hoped for, and that they may be able to exist even side by side with the powerful wholesale manufacturer, since innumerable and important branches of industrial production exist, which can only be cultivated by individual hand power, and must always remain in the hands of mechanics.

These general points are the main cause which have induced the General Commission to organise a Special Exhibition of Machines and Tools for Mechanics in the precincts of the General National Exhibition at Budapest. It is the intention of the General Commission to bring before the public all such machines in motion, in order that the public may judge for themselves, and be convinced of their advantage.

Hungary, notwithstanding her Industrial advancement, still remains an Agricultural country. Consequently the production of Agricultural Machines forms the most important branch of her machine industry. Now there is no doubt, this branch of industry has lately made very satisfactory and noteworthy strides, and the Exhibition will, consequently, give a complete picture of the result. Notwithstanding, it is not only in accordance with the general object of the Exhibition, but it is also desirable that an opportunity should be offered to foreign manufacturers to bring such Agricultural machines of their own making to the Exhibition which can show some important ameliorations or innovations. By admitting such machines to the Exhibition, the Commission thinks to render an important service, not only to the country itself, but also to the manufacturer concerned, as well as to industry in general.

As the representation of the progress made in Industrial Undertakings is the main object of Exhibitions, the progressive Inventions and Improvements have naturally taken a leading position in all great Exhibitions, at least so far as their importance, adaptability, and usefulness are verified and protected by being patented by some one country. In Exhibitions a mechanic is principally enabled to have an insight, not only into what has already been attained, but also into what has been attempted; the Capitalist is enabled in the Exhibition to look for the best possible means of investing his Capital in some useful and profitable industrial concern; and finally, the Inventor or Patentee himself will be enabled to avail himself of the opportunity for the propagation of science and the appreciation of his invention in the widest circles of society, which the Exhibition offers.

The General Commission are justified, in considering as well founded and deserving of support, the bringing of these three branches of Industry into one special Section of the Exhibition, by the insight into the progress and development which their union will simplify.

It is perfectly natural that this Special Section of the Exhibition must be of an International character, since the Industrial productions of Hungary proper are only the commencement of the creating power mentioned above, and consequently the objects to be exhibited are mostly, if not exclusively, to be expected from Foreign Countries which are in a more progressive state.

The General Commission have the hope that the Foreign exhibitors of Engines, Tools, and Agricultural implements, as well as the possessors of Foreign patents, will embrace the opportunity offered them, the more so as every possible facility will be given them to profit by not only the general advantages which the Exhibition may offer, but also by the prospect of having opened up to them a market not only in Budapest and Hungary, but farther abroad, which will bring them into closer connection with the neighbouring countries on her eastern and southern frontiers, and give them the opportunity of carrying on large business transactions.

With regard to the important question of the International Section of the Exhibition, above alluded to, the General Commission have intrusted a Special Committee with the management of the affairs of this section.

This Special Committee will consider it their duty to secure the success of the Special Exhibition in every possible manner, and to facilitate to the utmost the representation of exhibitors at the Exhibition.

The printed Rules, Regulations, Communications, &c., &c., of the Special Committee will, on demand, be forwarded; and may also be obtained from agencies appointed in the more important cities, as well as at all the Austro-Hungarian Consulates.

Issued at the Meeting of the General Commission of the General National Exhibition 1885, held at Budapest on the 16th of August 1883.

CALCUTTA,
The 25th March 1884.

Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 21ST MARCH 1884.

THE past week has been one of slight atmospheric disturbance. Pressure was considerably below the normal, and the fluctuations were rapid and greater in amount than usual. Bengal is during the hot weather months an area towards and into which three sets of winds of widely opposite characters converge. These are moist southerly winds from the head of the Bay of Bengal, dry hot westerly winds from Upper India, and easterly winds from the Assam valley, which are moderately warm and moist. There is therefore a large amount of ascensional motion of the air over Bengal, somewhat irregular in character, but probably strongest in the afternoon when the lower air currents are undoubtedly most powerful. Hence the tendency at this time to the occurrence of local storms with thunder, more especially over that part of the Province which is affected by s utherly winds. The past week has been an example of this, local storms having occurred in Orissa. South-West Bengal, and East Bengal. They have been most severe in East Bengal, where the atmosphere is least influenced by the dry westerly winds coming from Upper India.

Air pressure.—The barometer fell rapidly on the 15th and 16th, on which day it was about a sixth of an inch below the normal. It increased quickly until the 19th, when it was slightly above the average. It then gave way and continued to fall until the 22nd, when it was about a tenth of an inch below the normal over the Province. The mean pressure of this week was 05″ below the average, except in the Chittagong and Durbhunga districts, where it was barely ·03″ below it.

Temperature—Was above the average except in those districts which received heavy local rain, or in that portion of East and South Bengal represented by Chittagong, Dacca and Jessore. The mean temperature of the week was from 1° (at Berhampore) to 3·7° at Saugor Island) above the average in South-West Bengal, and from 1° (at Purneah) to 2·3° (at Durbhunga) above it in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The greatest deficiency of temperature was at Chittagong, where the mean temperature for the week was 2½° below the normal mean for the same period. The highest maximum temperatures observed during the week were—

104·0° at Chyebassa, 103·1° at Balasore,
103·0° at Cuttack,
101·0° at Raneegunge, and
100·2° at Gya.

Chutia Nagpur, the western and northern districts of Orissa, and the adjacent districts of Behar and South-West Bengal were thus the hottest parts of the Province.

Winds—Were generally normal in character and direction. They varied in strength, increasing with a falling barometer and diminishing with a rising barometer. They were southerly in South Bengal, westerly in Chutia Nagpur and Behar, and easterly in the northern districts of North Bengal.

Rainfall.—The rain fell as local showers generally during thunderstorms between the 16th and the 20th. In East Bengal the day of most general rainfall was the 17th. The largest falls on that day were 2·28 inches at Rangamati and 2·05 inches at Agartola.

In South-West Bengal and Orissa the 19th was the day of most general rainfall. Amounts exceeding two inches fell at Busseerhat (3·3 inches), Cuttack, Chandbali and Kooshtea. A local storm occurred on the 20th in the Backergunj district, which gave Burrisal 4·05 inches of rain.

The distribution of the rainfall was very irregular. The rainfall of the week was much above the average in all districts of Eastern Bengal excepting the Dacca district, in the Jessore and Nuddea districts and the 24-Pergunnahs of South-West Bengal, and in the Cuttack and Balasore districts of Orissa, whilst it was below it in other parts of the Province. No rain fell in Chutia Nagpur and Behar, with the exception of very light showers of no importance in the Motihari and Shahabad districts. North Bengal received a few light showers of little value.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 21st of March 1884 :—

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 24th March 1884.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

MEMORANDA.

THE returns of the first class Municipalities in Bengal, for the week ending 8th March 1884, disclose the following results :—

(1) That births and deaths were recorded in these Municipalities at the rates, respectively, of 26·4 and 29·2 per 1,000 of their population, as opposed to 23·9 and 27·3 per 1,000, respectively, during the week ending 1st March, indicating an improvement in the registration of both events.

(2) That the highest proportions of births and deaths were returned from the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Comillah	57·8	Ranaghat	71 9
Purneah	48·5	Gya	48·5
Ranaghat	41·9	Suburbs of Calcutta ...	42·4
Durbhanga	38·5	Purneah	38·1
Chittagong	35·2	Poori	34·2
Bhagulpore	34·4	Patna	31·5
Arrah	33 5	Midnapore	31·0
		Kishnaghur	30·3

(3) That the mean mortality from the principal death-causes stands as follows, in comparison with the mortality during the preceding week from the same causes :—

	Ratio per mille during the week ending—
	8th March 1884.	1st March 1884.
Cholera	4 0	3·0
Small-pox	3·1	2·5
Fever	10·6	11·7
Bowel-complaints	3·8	3·5
Injury	·3	·2
Other causes	7·4	6·4

The figures indicate that, in comparison with the preceding week, there occurred during the week under notice a sensible increase of mortality from cholera, small-pox, and the diseases classed under the head of "Other causes" with a decline in that from fever, the fatal results from the rest of the death-causes exhibiting fractional increases.

(4) That while bowel-complaints and injury were nowhere conspicuously active, cholera, small-pox, fever and "other causes" proved most fatal to life in the Municipalities named below :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Small-pox.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 80 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
